GREAT SEA SAGA STILL BEING UNFOLDED

Britain Makes Sharp Protest To Egypt

Labor Urges Eden Retaliate As Suez Seized By Egypt

Proposals Are 'In Our Minds' Says Eden, As Cabinet Meets

LONDON (AP)—Britain formally warned Egypt today her "arbitrary" seizure of the Suez Canal "constitutes a serious threat to the freedom of navigation on a waterway of vital international importance."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd summoned Egyptian Ambassador Samy Abou-Fetouh to his office and official sources said he handed over a sharp note protesting the one-sided Egyptian action.

Earlier, Labor Party members of the House of Commons had urged that the government retaliate against Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal by financial measures and an embargo on arms sales.

Prime Minister Eden replied cautiously that both measures are "in our minds" but his cabinet still had to decide on its course of action. He summoned that to a cabinet meeting from the House of Commons.

Other suggestions in a brief discussion in the House were that the matter be raised in the United Nations Security Council and that the government might exercise its right under the Suez Canal Convention to place two warships at each end of the canal.

MAY HOLD FUNDS

Eden hinted in reply to a question that retaliation was being given to the possibility of keeping blocked Egypt's sterling balances —funds held in London. But he stressed no decision has yet been taken.

Asked whether Britain now would cut off arms supplies to Egypt, Eden replied: "That matter also has been dealt with."

Britain was estimated to hold blocked Egyptian sterling balances of £110,000,000 at the beginning of this year. She was committed to release £20,000,000 of the blocked Egyptian sterling under an agreement made in August, 1955.

The sterling balances, accrued through British purchase of cotton in Egypt during the Second World War, were to have been freed entirely for taking out of Britain by the end of 1963.

BEING CONSIDERED

Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the Labor party opposition, described Egypt's decision to nationalize the canal as "high handed and totally unjustifiable."

He asked if prime minister Eden consider the possibility of blocking Egypt's sterling balances. Eden declined to make a direct answer but said the point "has already been in our mind."

He said the British government was consulting other governments immediately concerned with regard to the serious situation that has created. The consultations would cover the "full effect of this arbitrary action with regard to the Suez Canal and also the wider questions which it raises."

Today's Chuckle

The new recruit didn't salute the colonel. "Do you realize who I am?" snapped the colonel. "I run this entire regiment on a charge of twenty-five thousand soldiers!"

"You got a good job," replied the recruit. "Don't loose it up."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Warm, humid air which covered most of United States and Canada east as far north as Windsor Thursday will push northward to cover most of southern Ontario this afternoon. Temperatures were expected to reach the mid-80s across the lower Great Lakes area. However, cooler air which now covers northwestern Ontario, is moving southward and will reach the southern Ontario area overnight. Showers and a few thunderstorms will occur in advance of the cooler air.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt has announced she is taking over full control of the Suez Canal and will use the revenue from the vital waterway to finance her billion-dollar Aswan dam project.

The United States and Britain last week withdrew offers to help build the giant dam.

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam," President Gamal Abdel Nasser said Thursday night in a speech to the people's Liberation Square. "We'll build the dam ourselves and with our own money."

Minutes after Nasser announced nationalization of the internationally-controlled canal, officials seized offices of the Suez Canal Company in Cairo, Ismailia, Port Said and Suez.

Nasser said he used the United States and Britain of trying to use the Aswan project as a lever to gain domination over Egypt.

SEES HUGE REVENUE

Nasser predicted that by taking over the Suez waterway linking the Mediterranean to the Red Sea, Egypt could derive $100,000,000 in annual revenue.

"This money is ours," he said. "The Suez Canal belongs to us. The Suez Canal was built by Egyptians and 120,000 Egyptians died building it. Thus we shall build the high dam our own way. We shall rely on our own strength our own muscle, our own minds."

It has been estimated that the dam would cost $1,130,000,000.

Nasser announced the canal seizure after dissolving Egypt's arms-for-cotton deal last fall was concluded with Russia, not Czechoslovakia as earlier believed. This linked the Russians for the first time with the deal which rocked the Middle East.

Nasser said Daniel Solod, former Russian ambassador to Egypt told him last December that Russia was ready to finance the Aswan dam. Nasser added that Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov during his visit to Egypt last month offered Soviet help in an unspecified way. It was through unconditional long term loans.

Grand Bend Businessmen Protest Police Actions in Beach "Clean-Up"

GRAND BEND (CP) — Amid allegations of misconduct against the Ontario Provincial Police including claims of officers drinking on duty and illegal discourtesy driving out tourists—and counter-charges that the complaints are founded, this Lake Huron resort village today is split down the middle over the police-clean-up vehicle crackdown "to clean up resorts."

Incensed over police action, which they claim is ruining their businesses, more than 200 of about 50 concession operators, resort owners and others attended a stormy informal meeting Thursday night, drafted a resolution of protest.

Garage owner Joseph Masorer, an ex-councillor who was chairman of the session held at a beach-side refreshment booth, said a delegation would present the protest to Monday night's village council meeting.

The resolution, proposed by concessionaire Tom Oleksiuk of Woodstock, and supported by the meeting, expresses "disapproval" and asks "an explanation of current police actions such as discourteous treatment of tourists, indiscriminate searching of cars, use of so-called blanket search warrants, and early clearing of the beach."

On the other side of the fence, Reeve James Dalton expressed faith in the village police department and supported their actions. The reeve, who declined an invitation to attend the meeting, said that the municipality is "entirely behind the by-law the manner in which the police have "cleaned up the village and made it a place for decent people."

The reeve is supported by Grand Bend Ratepayers' Association, a group of "60 to 70" owners of permanent summer homes and full-time residents.

Grand Bend, with a normal 700 population swollen as high as 20,000 on summer holidays, is policed by a six-man OPP detachment throughout the week, augmented by an additional three officers on weekends.

ITALIAN LUXURY LINER SINKS AFTER COLLISION IN ATLANTIC

Her main deck almost at water level, the Italian ship Andrea Doria wallows in the Atlantic a few miles off Nantucket Island, New York, just before she sank to the bottom, after a collision with the Swedish liner, Stockholm, in a dense fog. The Doria listed so badly that the passengers had to be lowered over the side to lifeboats dispatched by other rescue ships. Of 2,384 persons aboard the ships, eight lost their lives. The Doria, a $27,000,000 luxury liner, was in service only a few years.

MARTIN DENIES HEALTH SCHEME ELECTION BAIT

Not Trying to Delay Action Until Vote

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has been accused of dangling its health insurance proposals as election bait, but Health Minister Martin denies it.

On a CCF charge that the government wants to keep the plan hanging fire until election time, Mr. Martin replied Thursday night that it hopes the provinces will accept its proposals as quickly as possible.

He added the federal plan—under which the treasury would assume half the cost of initial stages of health insurance in conjunction with the provinces—depends for its realization on provincial acceptance.

ONLY THREE ACCEPTED

The federal condition is that a majority of the provinces representing at least half the country's population participate. This calls for either Ontario or Quebec to join. So far, only the three far-west provinces have accepted.

The health insurance discussion developed as the House opened debate on Mr. Martin's departmental spending estimates for 1956-57, which continues today.

Mr. Martin heard a variety of suggestions from opposition members.

Dr. William Blair, Lanark, Ont., Progressive Conservative, asked for more government sponsored

At Least 4 Canadians Hurt In Night of Terror at Sea

NEW YORK (CP)—Eight Canadian passengers from the sunken Andrea Doria relaxed in New York today, still affected by memories of the terror-filled night when the Italian luxury liner, mortally wounded in a fog-shrouded collision off the Massachusetts coast, lay helpless as her passengers were taken to safety in an epic sea rescue.

Others of the 16 Canadians known to have been aboard the Andrea Doria may have arrived and mingled unnoticed in the tumultuous scenes at docksides where frantic relatives broke police lines as rescue ships arrived with hundreds of survivors.

Still others were reported aboard the crippled Swedish liner Stockholm, the vessel which collided Wednesday night with the Andrea Doria.

The Stockholm, outward bound from New York, had 30 Canadian passengers. Like the rest of the Swedish vessel's complement, they remained with her as she struggled back to New York, her bows a twisted mass of wreckage.

It was known the Stockholm carried 533 survivors from the Italian liner, Officials hoped to have a list of these survivors before the ship's expected arrival here later this afternoon.

Four of the Canadians arriving Thursday night were taken to hospital with slight injuries. They were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gladstone and Mrs. Giuseppe Rizzi, all of Toronto, and Mrs. Louis Grossi, of St. Catharines who suffered a broken ankle.

Gladstone was able to leave the hospital during the evening. His wife, Frieda, remained overnight with back injuries but her condition was reported good. Mrs. Rizzi, suffering from burns to the hand, also was in good condition.

Among the other Canadian arrivals was her husband, a street department worker for the city of Toronto for the last few years. He was unhurt, along with their two Italian-born children whom they were bringing home to Toronto.

The children had been in Italy with Mrs. Rizzi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adagio Palliadon. The grandparents too were aboard the liner and arrived safely.

'Absolutely Cannot Accept' Egypt's Action Says France

PARIS (Reuters)—Government chiefs today decided they "absolutely cannot accept" Egypt's unilateral nationalization of the Suez Canal.

Foreign Minister Christian Pineau told reporters that this decision was reached unanimously at a meeting of government ministers at Premier Guy Mollet's residence.

M. Pineau said his government has started consultations with Britain and the United States. Asked whether he envisaged military action, the foreign minister said:

"Let us talk about military problems before they arise. I cannot make any statement on this subject."

He said cabinet ministers consider that the nationalization of an international company "is not the same thing legally as the nationalization of a national company."

Earlier, he summoned the Egyptian ambassador and lodged a strong protest. An Egyptian Embassy statement later said the ambassador could not accept the terms of the protest.

Government circles said Pineau told the ambassador France could not accept the principle and methods of the nationalization.

The government, he said, reserved the right to take "appropriate measures" to defend French interests and the security of French citizens and the freedom of transportation on the Suez Canal.

Pineau was also reported to have protested to the ambassador about Abdel Nebi against reference in Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's speech Thursday to French policy in Algeria.

Government circles also claimed Nasser had broken his word, given "as a soldier" when Pineau visited Cairo last year, that Egypt would not intervene in the Algerian question.

The government earlier today issued a communique saying it was "taking all measures to insure the protection and respect of French nationals and interests in Egypt."

Paris newspapers reacted sharply to Egypt's announcement.

The conservative Figaro says: "Colonel Nasser acted cynically. Is this an act of rage of a megalomaniac in reply to the refusal of the United States and Britain to finance the Aswan Dam? Or has the dictator not undertaken this adventure with the support of the Soviet Union?"

The left-wing France-Dimanche says: "The nationalization of the Suez Canal is a veritable declaration of war on the West. . . ."

STEEL STRIKE SETTLEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Terms of Agreement Not Yet Made Public

NEW YORK (AP) — A settlement of the 27-day country-wide steel strike was announced today but a formal end to the strike will not come until sometime early next week.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, announced at a press conference the settlement had been reached with John A. Stephens, chief industry negotiator, following beside him and nodding agreement.

McDonald said that it will take "several days," however, before individual contracts with the steel companies can be completed and signed.

He said a return to work of the 650,000 striking steelworkers must wait until the signing of those contracts.

The terms of the settlement were announced.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The separated Hutchens Siamese twins went home Thursday. Gary and Larry were separated by surgery just a week ago at Grossmont Hospital, where they were born July 2. Surgeons who severed the spinal channel and nerve connection predicted the twins would grow up normal and healthy if no complications develop within two weeks.

Lost Liner's Crew And Officers Both Praised, Blamed

Canadian Says Many Left Vessel Before Passengers

NEW YORK (CP)—The saga of a sea rescue in fog and darkness—perhaps destined to go down as one of the greatest in maritime history—was still unfolding today in the wake of the collision of two famed Atlantic liners.

Hundreds of survivors of the sunken Andrea Doria, 30,000-ton pride of the Italian line, arrived in New York Thursday night. Scores more were taken to hospitals with varying injuries. More than 500 others were due some time this afternoon aboard the crippled 12,000 - ton Swedish liner Stockholm, second party in the Wednesday night disaster off the Massachusetts coast.

At least eight persons died in the high-seas drama, whose cause is still a mystery.

BOTH HAD RADAR

Both ships were ocean ships equipped with radar, designed to warn its carriers of the approach of any other ship or obstruction for miles around, even in conditions of zero visibility.

The toll of fatalities could have run into the hundreds but for the prompt rescue operation in which several other ships joined. There were 1,706 persons aboard the Italian liner, passengers and crew and almost all were taken safely off before the stricken vessel went to the bottom just over 11 hours after the collision.

While there was generally warm praise for the conduct of the Andrea Doria's officers and crew, one group of survivors Thursday night accused the ship's crew of "complete negligence" at the time of the crash. A statement, signed by 17 persons, made no such charge by 90 persons brought here, was given to a reporter by Arthur Fisher of New York City.

A spokesman for the Italian line, informed of the complaint, said the line would launch an investigation.

CREWMEN DESERTED

A Canadian passenger of the Andrea Doria who arrived here Thursday night said his only complaint about the crew's action was that many had left the ship in the lifeboats ahead of passengers. On one part of the deck, sodded Nicholas Massaro of Montreal, there was not a ship's officer in sight as women and children waited to be rescued.

The Stockholm, a 40-foot hole in her bow, docked in New York this morning escorted by two United States coast guard cutters. The Swedish ship was bringing 533 survivors of the Andrea Doria—320 passengers and 213 crew members—in addition to her own 535 passengers and 241 crew.

Fifty of the Stockholm's passengers were Canadians, who had left New York Wednesday morning, many of them bound for gay summer vacations in Europe.

Canadians known to have been aboard the Italian liner when she left New York numbered 16. Eight of them were known to have arrived safely in New York. None of the Money Makes The Mayor Go-Into Ecstasies

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP) —Money by mail continues to pour into the city coffers!

Local officials hadn't figured out how to dispose of $1,-000 received this week when another $500 came in.

The latest contributions— five $100 postal money orders —was received at the Jersey City Medical Centre from a grateful patient who was treated gratis.

The money orders were bought in a New York post office by "Thomas Howe." He enclosed no name in accompanying note:

"Never mind the name. It doesn't matter, you would not get the right name anyhow."

Mayor Bernard J. Berry announced Wednesday receipts of 19 $100 bills by a man who said he had "borrowed" the money from the city.

The mayor was delighted with this chain reaction.

"I hope it doesn't stop," he said.

others were on the list of dead or those injured.

STOCKHOLM STURDY

The Andrea Doria went down with a 40-foot slash in her starboard forward side. The Italian liner was steaming back from Italy, while the Stockholm was bound for Copenhagen.

Survivors' sources noted that the Stockholm's prow was built to eight feet thick to combat northern ice packs during winter runs.

The Andrea Doria, which made her maiden voyage in 1953, had been considered almost unsinkable. She had the latest safety locks designed to make her compartments watertight.

The master of the Andrea Doria, Capt. Piero Calamai, arrived in New York aboard the American destroyer escort Edward H. Allen, which brought in 76 crew survivors.

Calamai, haggard and worn, shed no light on the cause of the collision.

One of the crew of the Andrea Doria said he saw the vessel's radar screen operating after the collision, but heard no alarm before the crash.

MANY AID RESCUE

The tabulation of survivors arriving from the Andrea Doria today night:

The French liner Ile de France, 728; United Fruit freighter Cape Ann, 175; the military transport William H. Thomas, 186; the Edward H. Allen, 76; and the destroyer escort Robert Hopkins, 1.

SMOKE AND FLAMES

Smoke and some flames swirled through the corridors of the plush liner.

Lights went out. Cries and shouts filled the darkness. Bewildered and frightened passengers prayed and groped as they tried to crawl up the steeply sloping decks. Searchlights of rescue ships played on the scene until dawn came and the sun broke through.

Stories of Heroism, Tales of Chaos Told by Survivors of Italian Liner

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 700 of them. Most were half clad. Some were still dazed and many were exhausted.

Passport requirements were waived for their arrival and public inspection was suspended. There was no need for customs, for they had no baggage.

Throngs cheered or wept as they arrived Thursday night aboard the French liner Ile de France. They had left Europe last month aboard the ill-fated but sent the Andrea Doria to the bottom of the North Atlantic and damaged the Swedish ship Stockholm.

Nearly all of the Andrea Doria's 1,709 passengers and crew members were saved from the crash in a dramatic rescue operation by the Ile de France and other vessels. Most of them were Americans returning home from European vacations.

Their stories were different. Some told of nerves of steel, of heroism, of sacrifice. Others recalled screams and chaos.

There were stories of death, too. Mrs. Ruth Rosenberg of Upper Montclair, N.J. told how his wife was crushed to death in the collision as she was under a life jacket.

In the next cabin, he said, he discovered the bodies of Camille M. Cianfarra, Madrid correspondent of the New York Times, and his daughter and stepdaughter, Frances Grimes, who were drowned by fallen timbers. It took hours before Peterson and crew members could get to them.

As for his wife—"she went down with the ship," he added.

Actress Ruth Roman met reporters aboard the French liner clad in an improvised costume of a white polo shirt and men's trousers—gifts of Ile de France passengers. She said she had to discard the torn, and oil-stained evening dress she was wearing at the time of the collision.

Motorist Convicted of Slow Driving On Main Highway, Pays $8.50 Fine

Provincial police are checking on the slow drivers as well as on the speeders in their stepped-up campaign to reduce highway accidents.

Thursday in county magistrate's court a district motorist was convicted of slow driving on No. 2 highway and was assessed $8.50 fine and costs by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

Police evidence was that the motorist was driving at about 20 miles per hour with result that a long line of traffic was piled up behind.

This is the second case in recent weeks where a slow driver has been fined in local court. Police said in other instances they have told motorists to get a move on when their slow rate of speed was found to be impeding normal traffic.

175 4-H Club Members Enjoy Tour to Kemptville, Seaway Project

Approximately 175 Hastings county 4-H Club members left bright and early this morning for a one-day trip to the Kemptville Agricultural School with an afternoon visit to the St. Lawrence Seaway project thrown in for good measure.

Five buses were chartered for the trip, which is under the supervision of associate agricultural representative Allan Francis of Stirling.

One bus left the Belleville Collegiate, another left from Shannonk, and still others from Frankford, Stirling and Madoc, with all meeting at Actinolite to make the trip together to Kemptville.

Following the stop at Kemptville the junkers were scheduled to go to the Long Sault lookout to get what in many cases undoubtedly will be a last look at the Long Sault rapids before this section of the river is buried by the artificial lake due to be created by the Long Sault dam and the big powerhouse dam near Cornwall.

Later in the afternoon the juniors were scheduled to take in the guided tour of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission's mighty construction work on the huge international powerhouse now being built just upriver from Cornwall.

The juniors will leave for home shortly before five o'clock.

Fire Threatens Mallorytown

MALLORYTOWN (CP)—A volunteer brigade and fire departments from three neighboring cities extinguished a blaze which at one time Thursday threatened the village of Mallorytown 14 miles east of Brockville.

The fire is said to halt the spread of the fire, which started in the three-storey Oddfellows Hall were located a mile west of a town water system.

As the fire leaped from the hall to a nearby general store and private home, a bucket brigade of 100 citizens battled them with water drawn from wells and cisterns.

Professional fire fighters from Brockville, Gananoque and Athens helped prevent serious damage to the store and dwelling. The threestorey hall was levelled.

ANAF Veterans, Families Hold Annual Picnic

Approximately 800 members and their families of the Belleville unit of the Army, Navy and Air Force veterans in Canada enjoyed their annual picnic at Crystal Beach, near Maden, last night.

The weather was ideal and the facilities of the beach were utilized to the utmost. The children received favors and consumed amazing quantities of free ice cream and soft drinks.

Clowns were in attendance distributing candy, peanuts and bubblegum. Races were held for children of all ages and the usual hilarious baseball competition was staged for the net young.

The Quinte Highland Pipe Band was present and entertained the crowd with its usual fine music, one of the highlights of the day's agenda.

The baseball game between the C.N.R. and A.N.A.F. was won by the latter team, 10-9, the score has been tagged "lazy scot".

Results of the races were: Girls 7-8, Judy Robinson, Patsy Burns, Ann Burns; 9-10 — Phoebe Keegan, Mary Ann Sherry and Rosebush; 11-12 — Joan Herrington, Jewel Stevenson, Annabelle McNaught. Boys — 7-8, Richard Adams, Garth Muir, Carl Hannaford; 9-10, Richard Eves, Monty Flindall, Richard Herrington; 11-12, Fred Spafford, Scott Frechette, Jack Andrews.

Lucky attendance prize winners were: Mrs. Ann Law, Mrs. R. Carmichael and Mrs. J. Foxon.

BY-LAW CATCHES UP

GANANOQUE (CP) — Town councillor Archie Lucy, 76, was convicted Thursday of soliciting and importuning under a revised municipal by-law. The week after the veteran boat line ticket salesman voted against the by-law change which made it unlawful to solicit on a street and shout or wave. Magistrate J. B Garvin of Kingston imposed a fine of $15 and costs.

Obituary

LATE THOMAS PATRICK DOYLE

The funeral of Thomas Patrick Doyle, 80, who died Tuesday at his home in Marysville, was held Thursday morning from his late residence to Holy Name of Mary Church where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. I. Donoghue, who also recited committal prayers at the graveside in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Napanee.

Also present in the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. E. M. Lacey, Very Rev. L. B. Garvin and Rev. E. Briceland.

Members of the Holy Name Society formed a guard of honor.

Bearers were Thomas Barrett, John McDonald, Harold Maloney, Ambrose McAlpine, John Whelan and William Breeze.

LATE MRS. SHEKEMAN BRADY (Stirling)

The funeral of Mrs. Sherman Brady, (formerly Bessie Almira Alcombrack) was held on Thursday, July 25th from her late residence to the Church of St. Paul's United church, Stirling.

Rev. Arthur Packman was in charge of the service.

The bearers were: Messrs. George Carlish, Wesley Lake, James Bailey, Ray Shortt, Earl Wallace and Raymond Cooney. The interment was made in Stirling cemetery.

Small Girl Hit By Car While Chasing Ball

Darting out from behind a car as she chased a ball in the street near her home, Lois Ann Wannamaker, age 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wannamaker, 24 John Street, suffered head injuries Friday afternoon when she was struck by a passing car.

The little girl was taken to Belleville General Hospital where it was found she had suffered facial injuries, a cut on her forehead and the loss of a tooth. At first it was thought the girl may have had a fractured skull but X-rays were said to have shown this was not the case.

Police said that Mrs. Jennie Snetsinger, 57, 41 Queen street, was southbound on John St. when opposite the little girl's residence the child darted out in pursuit of a ball and was struck by the right front fender.

Two other motor accidents were investigated by police on Thursday evening, one of them on Bleecker street opposite the arena.

Mrs. Marion Ellis, 133 Hudson wood, was westbound on Bleecker street, when she was struck in the side of her car driven by Lois Helen Morrison, Harold, Ont., who was backing out from the curb. Damage of close to $300 resulted, most to the Ellis' auto.

The other mishap occurred on Cannifton Road where two vehicles collided causing damage of less than $100.

Also last evening, at the intersection of No. 33 highway and the Batawa turn, cars driven by Fred S. Carpenter of Batawa and Lawrence Sprague of Picton collided. Police said only property damage resulted with occupants of the cars escaping injury.

Juan De Fuca Claims Another

VICTORIA (CP)—A husky Victoria chef failed in two rides in the currents of Juan de Fuca Strait for 12 hours and 35 minutes Thursday in a vain attempt to swim the 18.3 miles between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

The 370-pound swimmer, Ben Laudrum, at one point was forced within a mile of his destination. He was forced to give up after rip tides and 5-mile-an-hour winds carried him nearly seven miles backward from his goal.

Reveal Marine Corps Given 90 Days to Clean Its House

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—The contraindicated of Staff Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was in sadbarrassment until Monday. But this big Marine base was humming after these two developments Thursday:

1. The testimony of Col. David Silvey, last prosecution witness, who said he never heard of a "Section 8" discharge for crooning and he has been here since Sept. 21, 1953.

2. A document produced by the defence which indicated that the House of Representatives armed services committee in May gave the Marine Corps 90 days to clean house.

The court is concerned with a single disciplinary matter involved by McKeon in which six recruits were drowned.

The House armed services committee's ultimatum was in a report which said in part:

"The picture which is forming shows our recruit algebra as repeated pages of callousness and brutality in an atmosphere of sadism and fear."

HAD 90 DAYS

The incidents of such things as forced marches to exhaustion, punishment duck-walks and other "harsh, abusive, inhuman and personal indignity of heads in the Marine Corps as a whole, public ridicule for receipt of personal and private letters, all incidents of old order appear to be known.

"We must be able to clearly demonstrate that we have the situation completely in hand.

"If at the end of 90 days we are unable to show that we have corrected the situation to the satisfaction of the House armed services committee, we can be sure that the committee will take action to see that the matter is not swept under the rug."

The court adjourned until Monday to permit defence lawyer Emile Zola Berman to go on an inspection tour of Parris Island. He was of "utmost importance in this case."

Tourist Killed By Rifle Shot From 'Indian'

HUNTINSVILLE (CP) — Barney Vincent, a 38-year-old United States tourist who was taking photos of a spawning salmon Thursday, was shot and killed when his rifle, in the hands of a companion, accidentally discharged, police said today.

Vincent, of Toledo, Ohio, oldman died when a bullet from a .30-30 calibre deer rifle struck him in the back as his wife looked on.

Police said Vincent asked Lloyd Ellis, who was driving the car, to shoot a Dwight, 13 miles east of here. Ellis took the rifle from the automobile and carrying the souvenir rifle he frequently uses for this purpose.

Insp. Joe's real name is Eri Bird. He is not an Indian but makes many of his wares himself.

The merchant had taken up the weapon believing it to be unloaded. Jack Hawke, 14, who works in Injun Joe's shop, was quoted by police as saying he had loaded the gun a few days earlier to scare off hoodlums who had been prowling around the place.

Police said the film recording of the slaying would have to be processed before a decision could be made on the possibility of an inquest.

Cats Run Wild In Basement Of Restaurant

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Winnipeg restaurant is in desperate need of a Pied Piper who has a way with cats.

Twenty to 30 cats have gone municipal and are prowling the basement of the restaurant. No one can get near enough to catch them.

"I'm at my wits end," Sally Sarnock of the Humane Society said Thursday.

The restaurant owner was reluctant permission to shoot the animals. A veterinarian has advised against poison because the cats would crawl into inaccessible places before dying.

The situation had its beginning several months ago when several cats entered the basement through a hole. The population increased quickly.

The health department has given the restaurant owner one week to get rid of the cats.

18,000 END STRIKE

OSLO (Reuters) — More than 18,000 Norwegian paper and pulp factory workers, who have been on strike for higher wages since July 7, are to go back to work at once, it was announced Thursday. A national arbitrator's proposals won majority acceptance in a union vote.

Would Deprive Girl, 5 Months Of Cigars

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Charles (Mickey) Norman, tabbed "Paterson's puffing prodigy" for smoking cigars at 5 months, says he won't let his daughter smoke.

"It is not ladylike," he said.

Norman, 25, used to get his picture in the papers on every birthday until he was six with a cigar in his mouth. He also smoked cigarets and pipes, and still does.

His wife doesn't smoke, the six - foot plus mechanic said, and he doesn't want their daughter, Anna, to smoke either. Anna is five months old.

Find Skeletons In Rice Lake Serpent Mounds

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A Royal Ontario Museum field party digging in the Serpent Mounds near here since June, has unearthed two skeletons. One of it says may have been an Indian sacred burial ground.

The discovery is considered the first of any importance to throw light on Ontario's early history since the mounds were discovered in 1905.

The mounds, on the shores of Rice Lake 18 miles southeast of here, are believed to have been built about 55 BC possibly by early Iroquoian tribes.

Almost 190 feet long and five feet high, the serpent - shaped structures were discovered by David Boyle, first director of the then Ontario Provincial Museum.

This year's party, directed by Richard Adams of Toronto, is making the first large-scale study. Mr. Adams said it may take weeks to uncover any significant finds.

Near the skeletons, one of an adult male and the other of a child were polished wolf jaws believed to be used as ornaments by the mound builders.

Baby Snatched From Mother By Moving Car

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 23-month-old baby survived an incredible accident in Brandon, Manitoba, Thursday. He was snatched from his mother's arms by a moving car.

Joseph Grabb's mother started to cross a street at the lights changed. At the same time a car driven by Mrs. Lillie Tuller was completing its crossing.

The car's door handle caught the baby's coat and whisked him away—held against the moving vehicle.

Mr. Tellier's daughter, Coreen, a passenger in the car, noticed the kid and held the child against the car until it stopped.

The baby suffered a greenstick leg fracture, a "break" in which the soft bone bent but did not crack.

PASTE-UP JOB

EDMONTON (CP) — The third counterfeit $20 bill in six days turned up here Thursday. A cafe operator told police the bill was passed by a man in payment for a cup of coffee. He was given $19.90 change. The bill was found to be the front of a $20 bill pasted on a $1 bill.

Youth Stabs Man He Claims Was Hitting Own Wife

TORONTO (CP)—A 29-year-old mill worker was stabbed Thursday in the parking lot of a west-end tavern by a Guelph youth who, police said, claims he was trying to protect the victim from hitting his own wife.

In St. Joseph's Hospital in serious condition is Albert Giroux.

Carl Stahlen of Guelph, 17, was charged with wounding. He was arrested in front of the tavern not far from where police found Giroux lying on the sidewalk with a deep chest cut.

McCrae claimed he was sitting in a car on the parking lot when he saw Giroux and his wife Margaret coming from the hotel. They appeared to be arguing, the youth claimed. The man pushed the woman down, then pulled her to her feet and followed her to their car, parked near McCrae's.

"POLD TO STOP"

He said the man pushed the woman into the car, then reached through the window and shook her.

McCrae told Giroux to stop. The older man turned on him, told him to mind his own business, then struck him in the face, McCrae claimed.

The younger man pushed Giroux. He had been examining a hunting knife in the McCrae's cold police, and had it in one hand. He said the other ran into the knife. "We weren't trying to kill the victim's wife. "I don't know how anyone could claim to know we were fighting or arguing because we were taking French."

Criticizes Sale Of Quebec Plant

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's decision to sell the Quebec "favoritism" in the sale of a Canadian Arsenals Ltd., plant for $17,700,000 to Ontario textile company, a Commons opposition member said Thursday.

J. Wilfrid Dufresne (PC—Quebec West) said the government spent $261,000 to convert the former CNR car shops at Riviere-du-Loup, Que., in 1953, Canadian Arsenals, a crown corporation turned out $3,850,000 worth of small-bore ammunition at the plant and then sold it last May to Turnbull Ltd., of Galt.

Mr. Dufresne said the price paid by the textile company was "ridiculous." The government should have set a minimum price before selling the plant.

The Turnbull company was the only firm to offer a tender for the plant.

Magazine Tax Bill Is Ready

OTTAWA (CP) — The current session of Parliament is moving towards an end, but there still is no sight of the government's bill to tax special Canadian editions of foreign magazines.

Officials said Thursday the legislation is ready and it still is the government's intention to introduce the measure before the House prorogues, probably in about two weeks.

But there is no indication of when Finance Minister Harris will bring the controversial measure forward for debate. The bill was first announced in the March 20 budget.

FAIL TO FIND LINK

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Russian scientists at the International Radiology Congress told a news conference Thursday they have not found any proof that smoking causes cancer. No relation between the two has been proved, they said.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were strong and higher on top grades and barely steady to lower on the Toronto livestock market this week. Calves were 25 higher. Hogs gained 50 cents a hundredweight, and sheep and lambs were $1 lower.

Cattle receipts were 300 head less than last week. Western receipts totalled 1,106 head, a decrease of 125 from last week. The westerns were mostly replacements.

Shipments to eastern Canadian slaughterers were five carloads, compared with three last week. There were no exports to the U.S. An estimated 1,000 head will be sold at the close, mostly common and medium replacement cattle.

Great numbers of good and choice slaughter cattle met a broad demand with buyers having to pay a premium on these grades of steers and yearlings. Good and choice heifers were steady.

Common and low medium heifers were in numerous and sold at a sharp discount. A quantity remained still unsold at the close.

Cows and bulls were unchanged and sold on a steady demand.

PRICES

Choice steers $21.50-22.50, sales to $22.85; good steers $20.50-21.50; medium $18-20; common $16-18; good heifers $19-19.50, odd choice to $20; medium $16-18.50; common $14-16; boner steers and heifers $19-14; choice feel yearlings $21.50-22.50, steer calves $23; odd lot of 12 778-pound Angus steer yearlings $23.20; good yearlings $20.50-21.50; medium $18-20; good cows mostly $12.50 down to $12; good light heifery cows up to $14; medium $10-12; common $8-10; canner and cutter $7-8; good heavy bologna bulls mostly $14; common and medium light bulls down to $9.

Replacement cattle: This class was slow with buyers and sellers and feeders scarce. Good stockers and feeders $18-19, at reference top of $20; medium $17-18; common $14-16.

Calves: Choice vealers ranged from $23 to $24.50; good vealers $20-23; medium $16-20; common $12-16; grass calves sold for slaughter $9-12.

Hogs: Choice A hogs $29.25; sows $17; stags $13 on a dressed-weight basis.

Lambs: $1 a hundredweight lower with choice ewes and wethers $15 a hundredweight, buck $24, medium and good lambs $20-24, cull lambs down to $16, 50-60 pound feeder lambs $15-18, sheep $3-9 according to quality.

Garage Is Sold To Make Way For Modern Store

TRENTON, (Special.)—A garage owned by C. V. Graham on Dundas and Quinte Streets has been sold and will be torn down to make way for Eastern F. W. Woolworth store. With entrances on both streets. The Graham business will be carried on from showroom and offices alongside until a new garage is built elsewhere in the locality.

Work of razing the old garage building will commence immediately. Tatham Construction Company of Belleville has the contract for erecting the new store. Latest in architectural and merchandising conveniences will be incorporated in the building, to be 85 feet across the front and 180 feet deep.

Gas Well's Pressure Said Undiminished

TRENTON, (Special.)—It's been nearly two weeks now since a natural gas well blew in on the Art Holsey property, RR 1, Trenton, and the pressure of the well is still the same, according to Mr. Holsey. Report of the find, unusual in this district, created considerable interest and attracted many curious people.

A photographer for the Federal Department of Mines and Resources who worked 10 years in the Yukon, now at Ottawa, Stanley Hutton is visiting his brother and sister here. He is retired after 54 years in photography. He started to learn his trade in Trenton under the late Bill Reynolds.

As a hobby Mr. Hutton turned to art and is active in the Ottawa Art Association. His sister, Mrs. Neil Duquette, and brother, Bill Hutton, live in Trenton. Mr. Hutton has formed a fishing club here and in the northern part of Hastings county.

Mayor Rose Burt, ordered by his doctor to take a rest for a month is feeling better and is eager to get back in the harness again.

Pulp and Paper Unions Sign With 50 Mills

MONTREAL (CP)—Three unions have completed negotiations for new contracts covering workers in 50 pulp and paper mills in eastern Canada.

Signing of a contract at the Canadian Keyes fibre mill in Hantsport, N.S., wound up negotiations with the companies. The unions are the International Paper Makers, the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, and the International Association of Machinists (all CLC).

The plants involved stretch from Three Falls, Man., to the Maritimes.

Opposition Fails to Reduce Defence Spending

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition attempts to cut the spending of the defence production department were defeated Thursday in the Commons.

The House knocked down two tries by the Progressive Conservatives to whittle Production Minister Howe's proposed 1956-57 estimates.

It approved the government's request for $2,000,000 after a series of scraps between Mr. Howe and opposition members that stretched over several days.

Both tries Thursday were made on motions of Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto-Eglinton), who first moved to chop $200,000 from a $500,000 estimate for maintenance of stand-by defence plants and then attempted to have $1,000,000 sliced from Mr. Howe's request for $7,500,000 for capital assistance to defence industry.

The first Fleming motion was defeated 92 to 79. The other lost by 93 to 11. The 263-member House was sitting in informal committee session, accounting for the small numbers voting.

The Social Credit group voted with the Liberals on both occasions. CCF members abstained from both votes.

Shouting Gunman Robs Toronto Bank of $2,000

TORONTO (CP) — A Scottish girl who had been a bank teller for less than a week was faced Thursday with a shouting gunman who threatened to shoot her unless she gave him "all the big bills." He escaped with $2,000.

Marion Stewart, 28, thought the shabbily-dressed man in the horn-rimmed glasses was joking when he told her to fill up his "big bills."

When she didn't hand over the money he jerked a pistol from a bag he held in his hand, and pointed it at her. She screamed.

Bank manager Charles A. Henderson told the distraught teller to hand over the bills.

"I didn't want to see anyone get shot," he said later.

HIGHWAY FATALITY

STRATFORD (CP)—One woman was injured fatally and four others hurt in a two-car crash Thursday night on the Perth-Huron boundary road about 15 miles northwest of here. Mrs. Aletta McNaughton, 70, of Stratford, died in Seaforth Hospital an hour after the accident. Two other women from the same car are in hospital with undetermined injuries, not believed serious.

Korea Is Divided in Half By Strange and Deadly Zone

EDS Note: In the three years since the arms went silent in Korea, a special United Nations force has patrolled the 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone set up under terms of the armistice. Here's a report on the tensions that still prevail along that 200-mile-long line.

By JIM CARY

DEMILITARIZED ZONE, Korea (AP)—Across the fertile green hills of Korea is strange and deadly twilight zone of suspended war stretches from coast to coast.

Beneath its tangled stands of rice, grown wild on abandoned farms, the rusted debris of war lies scattered. The undergrowth hides jagged foundations of villages and a vicious maze of uncharted mine fields, booby traps and unexploded shells.

There was ago today, this 2½-mile-wide zone was created by the Korean Armistice as a buffer against friction between Communist and United Nations armies.

Superficially it is a peaceful no-man's-over land—but it crackles with menace and tension. In theory it belongs to no one, but it is actually it is the property of both the Communist and Western powers who fought in the Korean War, because it is under their jurisdiction.

A TENSION SITUATION

Troops of both sides hull eye each other suspiciously across the buffer zone and improve their patrol along its 200-mile length. And from its high points, every foot of ground is under constant surveillance.

It always been a ticklish situation," said American Capt. Jac. Cunningham. "But it is particularly so now that truce inspection teams have been pulled out of both the North and South."

The commander of the UN company says the Communists never miss a chance to remind his more than 100 volunteer troopers that they are near.

"This is North Korea calling," says a strange voice, speaking into the communications net. "We are going to play a record for you. It's called, 'Oh, Why Don't You Go Home?'"

On a note written in oriental characters is found pinned to a bush. Translated it reads, "Go home, Yankee. You are the reason we're in Korea."

MUST NEVER ANSWER

And sometimes Communist and UN patrols make contact, particularly at one point where they are different sides of the same road.

The Americans are under strict orders never to answer.

Sometimes the days drop off into a dull routine, but the lull seldom lasts.

Last February fire broke out in the nearby Samichon River valley. Winds of a rising blizzard whipped the flames into the demilitarized zone. Mines began to explode. The ground shook with repeated, thunderous explosions. Small-arms ammunition scattered through the brush crackled like firecrackers. Tracer bullets arched across the sky. Old dud mortar shells erupted and the sharp crack of discarded hand grenades, and booby traps added to the clatter.

Soon it sounded as if a full-fledged battle were under way. Soldiers of both sides watched in amazement as the fire swept 10 miles up the neutral zone.

SEE STRANGE LIGHTS

More recently a strange nighttime mystery has arisen to occupy the soldiers' attention. A series of flashing lights has been seen on several occasions near the demarcation line. When a patrol goes to check the scene, they are always gone.

Are the lights mirages up to something? No one knows. The shrewdest guess in theory is that the lights are pure Communist harassment.

Rusting tracks of The Glory Railroad that brought back bodies of soldiers from North Korea prison camps are a reminder to the UN troops of the serious nature of their task.

But it is doubtful if one is needed.

"We know our mission is ticklish," Youngblood says. "Every man here knows he is in a tough outfit."

Howe Reveals Military Secret About Radar Line

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Production Minister Howe has disvulged that the defence department regarded as highly-secret information, it was learned today.

The minister told House Commons Thursday in the Commons that the mid-Canada radar warning line will go into operation next Jan. 1, 1957, 20 minutes line stretches along the 55th parallel.

Defence department security officers said he had never been intended that any announcement be made on the line's starting date until after it was actually in operation.

Commonwealth Should Draft Common Views

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Menzies of Australia said Thursday that the Commonwealth must hammer out common views it can constructively present to the world if it is to remain a world force.

He indicated dissatisfaction with results of the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in London a month ago.

He said it tried to cover too much ground instead of concentrating on one important problem or a group of problems and trying to reach a unanimous view.

The conference, he said, should not issue a communique after its deliberations unless it has some common view to present to the world. The communique issued by the latest meeting, he said with a broad smile, was chiefly a collection of clichés. This was because clichés were something everybody could agree on.

NOT OTTAWA IN WINTER

Mr. Menzies, making a five-day visit to Canada, supported the view of Prime Minister St. Laurent that the conference site should rotate among Commonwealth capitals. It should not be held in Ottawa in winter, though, he added.

STASSEN HAS MISGIVINGS

Harold E. Stassen, one-time boy-wonder of the Republican Party who was expected to come riding out of the West like Lochinvar to rescue the GOP from its wanderings in the Roosevelttian desert, has suddenly re-appeared in a new role, trying to play the part of a trusty mahout to the new-frisky Republican elephant. Stassen, a member of Eisenhower's team as the President's assistant in the thankless job of devising some formula for world disarmament, has come forth with the proposal that the Republicans drop Vice-President Richard Nixon from their 1956 ticket and substitute Christian Herter, Governor of Massachusetts.

Eisenhower, who apparently is well satisfied with Nixon as his understudy, is reported to have indicated his reaction to the proposal by greeting Nixon warmly, as the latter waited to welcome him on his return from a Pan-American conference at Panama, and by displaying considerably more reserve in his treatment of the also-waiting Christian Herter. Party leaders, on the whole, are evidently annoyed by the suggestion.

Stassen says that his reason for advancing the proposal is that surveys have shown an Eisenhower - Herter ticket would command more votes than the Eisenhower - Nixon pairing. Eisenhower's personal feelings about Nixon might account for his reception to the proposal, but the party leaders would probably turn thumbs down on the suggestion if they thought Stassen was accurate in his appreciation of the situation. It appears that the GOP leaders believe strongly in the theory that one ought not to break up a winning team.

As for Stassen, it would appear possible that he had his tongue in his cheek when he referred to the greater vote-getting ability of Herter as a running mate for Eisenhower. It may be that the former governor of Minnesota, a man whose record suggests that he is more concerned with the welfare of the nation than with personal or party fortunes, has misgivings as to Nixon's ability to assume satisfactorily the duties of president. That the man who is elected vice-president of the United States next November will become president before Eisenhower's second term expires, if Eisenhower wins the expected re-election to office, is self-evident. The President's health may not be sufficiently robust to withstand the strain of another four years in the world's most responsible job.

Thus, for the second time within little more than a decade, the future of the world may depend largely on the man a single political party, at a disqualifying convention, selects for nomination to what is normally a post for a figure-head. The difference is that the Democratic party had a President who was willing to back Harry Truman, had no hint that the vice-presidential candidate would be called upon to seize the reins dropped by Roosevelt in the midst of a most critical period in the world's history. The switch was made was more luck than good management.

IT IS SAFE IN EXPLOSIVE PLANTS

Want a good safe place to work? Hunt up the nearest high explosive plant.

No, we are kidding. "Accident Facts," the U.S. National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, is just off the press and it shows that for the 1953-55 period the average accident frequency rate for high explosive plants is less than a quarter of that for all industries combined.

"Apparently the very nature of the work makes everybody concerned more careful," sagely observes the Council.

That, must be part of the explanation for the fact that it is safer to drive in urban areas, where traffic is heavy, than out in the country. Of course, speeds are lower in the cities than in the country, but the roads there are smoother than country roads. (Hey, Bub, you what are writing dis trash, you been riding around Belleville lately.) Then, too, the observed before were so rudely interrupted, lower speeds and better roads in the urban areas are offset by a much heavier flow of traffic, so that one is forced to the conclusion that the city driver, like the worker in an explosives plant, recognizes the danger and acts accordingly.

It is too bad, therefore, that so many people do not seem to realize just how dangerous our highways are. In 1955 there were 38,300 traffic deaths in the United States, or 5,000 more than the number of American battle deaths in the Korean War. In the same period "wounded," on the highways almost certainly outclassed Korea. There were 1,350,000 injured on U.S. roads in 1955, or 25 injured for every person killed. That is almost certainly a much higher ratio of injured to fatalities than that which existed in the Korean War — in the First Great War, an "old sweat" tells us, there were only five wounded for every two killed.

The only safe thing to do is to get off the highway? Well, that is rather drastic — and it is no cure. A thousand people are killed in tractor accidents every year, and only one-third of these perish on the highways. Considering the way some farmers drive tractors, and the way some motorists act when they get behind one of these slow-moving vehicles, the two-to-one-edge held by the open fields strikes us as miraculous.

Safest days to drive, as one might guess, are Tuesdays and Wednesdays are the killers, with Saturdays a close second and Fridays a happily - poor third. Mondays just edge out Thursdays for fourth place in the race to the undertaker.

THE GROOM TALKS

Don't pause to say a word to me,
But pass right on and kiss the bride;
Tell her that she is fair to see
And stand a moment by her side.
'Twould be a dreadful break if they
Who chatter gayly in the room
Should see you talk with me.

I say,
Remember, I am just the groom.

I say,
And I am grateful to you, too;
Remember it, I ever shall;
But, hurry by, whatever you do,
It's not the style to talk with me.

The job of duty is my doom.
Pass on at once the bride to see.
But recognize me not until After wedding journey's ending I am groom.

If your your social standing prizes,
Leave me alone in splendid gloom.
Good breeding do not jeopardize;
Remember, I am just the groom.

Mr. Roy Milner, transport controller, advised the parliamentary agricultural committees last week that the Board of Grain Commissioners will not entertain any more applications for such emergency storage.

On its face, that means that no matter how bad the harvesting situation may be this fall and winter rural communities will not be able to take this action to

No Hole Fits Thatcher Peg

(Montreal Gazette)

Mr. W. Ross Thatcher, after an interval as an Independent, has once again become a party man.

He says, of course, he thinks best. Perhaps the decision is inevitable, in these days of party organization, when the way of the party transgressor is hard. But it is hard to believe that there is not a place in our parliamentary system for Ross Thatcher's views, even where they contrast with factual independence, speaking with considerable emphasis, of the strong restraints that normally be-set party allegiance. Such members ought not to be subject to a party Whip, however discreet. Yet a Whip must be employed.

In his speech in the House in the spring of last year, when he declared his departure from the CCF Party, he had this to say:

"I regret to say that recently there have been growing differences between myself and the leagues on matters of major public policy. At one time I had hoped that these differences could be resolved. However, the present session of parliament has convinced me that such a hope is futile."

But it is, perhaps, hard to believe that the policy matters that feel differences on certain matters of principle, and, possibly, on new colleagues, and resolving these differences may not prove altogether.

In looking back upon the points of difference between Mr. Thatcher and Mr. Diefenbaker has raised, it will be found that they do not fit neatly into the policy pattern of any party he has now joined.

The last case, for instance, that old age pensions and family allowances ought not to be paid to those who do not need them. He questioned the need for more civil servants, pointing to the last few years of the war He has attacked the Government for spending about half a million dollars to buy the ailing aluminum pails for the maple syrup industry. He has sped with the Government to cut down on the number of publications it issues, most of which end up in waste paper baskets from coast to coast.

And so it goes on. His pleas have always been for economy and restraint, for sounder policies. The Government has always adopted and even resisting policies that it might have to adopt.

It is easy to see that as a member of the CF Mr. Thatcher was a square peg in a shapeless hole. He could never have passed an aptitude test for such holes. The criticism in the House has been mainly directed against the new party he now joins. It is hard to see that this admirably square peg will have four-square holes to fit last.

If Mr. Thatcher, despite his new party obligations, continues as independently as before, it will be highly creditable not only to himself but to his party. But for independence on the scale, within party limits, there is insufficient precedent. He can exist within his new party, it would appear, only on the basis of an agreement to disagree, and this openly.

It is a singular type of agreement. Such members, finding the unity to disagree with their colleagues, adopt the same practice that the late Senator Arthur Hardy Van Loon, used to adopt whenever he felt the urge to take exercise. He used to lie down quietly, and he generally found that the urge passed gradually away.

It was the unforgivable offence of Mr. Thatcher that he refused to lie down. And it has been, politically speaking, the unforgivable offence of many Members of the House of Commons who have refused to lie down. Ross Thatcher is not the first friend of the taxpayer. For in the House of Commons one friend for taxpayer is none too many.

Explosion Will Come

(Windsor Star)

A Canadian newspaper man who recently visited South Africa is reported as saying that the Union government's racial problem and the increasing resentment of the activities of the natives who outnumber the whites about six to one in that area is being exploited where no non-European may vote. This resentment is spread against a summary order to move from their homes and sometimes to another part of the country. The writer quotes from a responsible African leader who probably never was the confidence of a native in any government at so early a date.

There can be little doubt the Sir Godfrey Huggins was building up for an explosion, nationalist feelings being what they are today. This was the keynote of Commonwealth Asia. At the recent meeting of Commonwealth Prime Ministers in London some concern was expressed that South Africa may withdraw from the Commonwealth. The concern should be over the fact South Africa as a member of the Commonwealth acts this way. Some of the blame for this situation lies in Britain's bound to wash off on other Commonwealth countries.

Granaries Become Rinks

(Regina Leader-Post)

One of the brighter aspects of the farm cash situation over the past fall and winter was the completion of hundreds of new granaries and townfolks in many areas in improvising emergency wheat storage in streets and other places for curling or skating rinks.

This was made possible in conjunction with the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool or other grain handling agencies. The granaries, delivered in the normal way to the elevator and the grain shovelled out to the farmers. Then it was taken to the off-site storage.

The rink was, in the nominal owners of the rink, received about half of the storage earnings of around 10.5 a bushel, the balance being retained by the organizations to defray the cost of the extra handling.

This arrangement conferred a two-fold benefit on the community and the surrounding farming area. Storage earnings helped pay for the rink, and the cash contributed from the delivery of the grain helped keep the local economy going.

How Humans Foil Robots

(Hamilton Spectator)

In the midst of complicated electronic devices that can divide the atom, find the cause and root of the national debt, and give you an answer illogical enough for human in the modern decisions section of your income tax form, comes evidence that it is too early to write off human beings as just another type of mammal.

For instance, take that machine in Hot Springs, Arkansas, purchased by the world department to test the degrees of accident-proneness of drivers of arrested motor car drivers. The city judge was all set to have the "drunkometer" tested by a volunteer who had imbibed himself with whisky, vodka, rum and moonshine. But the tester lapsed into unconsciousness just before the show was to go on, and the test was postponed. Temporarily at least, the machine was as helpless as it volunteer was.

But in Milwaukee, on the other hand, no wonderful machine complicated the case of Mr. Archie Ramon, who was suspected of driving while under the influence of just one of the beverages mentioned in the preceding paragraph.

The police simply asked him for a sample of his handwriting. Mr. Ramson wrote on the pad: "I love you, I love you." The judge in the case just figured that a man who would show such affection for the police was in no condition to drive a car, and the fine was $150.

We must offer these rather sordid examples only to show that the human element persists supreme in some phases of life. After all, if you want to "speak to you" into the electronic ear of a drunkometer, it would probably just raise its eyebrows and give you one of those dubious looks.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOVE'S REALITY

I have no lotion as to who gave birth to that idea that love is blind. Love is full of eyes, and that's why it travels around the world over, it sees everywhere that there is a need for love, and love does it.

It hunts out lonely people, those who are discouraged and those clinging to their last hope, and finds them and medicates them with its own personal touch. And this love sends a message to one of its extra stars in the firmament, and that star comes immediately to the hungry, wounded in spirit person, and the heart of both is warmed and given new life and new incentive.

Our friend the dog has this love but can only show it in deeds of love or sacrifice. The love knows what love is, for he can see nothing else but perfect beauty in the one loved. All through human life it spreads and lives and does its glad things.

Pills Solve Race Problem

(Chicago Defender)

Cheer up boys. The race problem has been solved.

A British dermatologist, Dr. F. R. Bettley, has been quoted as saying that black people can be made white and white people can be made brown.

The London Sunday Times last week that within 20 years scientists will have pills perfected to change a person's color by swallowing the right pills.

"Color," says the Sunday Times, "may yet be easier to change than to get rid of."

From all the sun worshippers we've noted stretched out on the beaches of America it seems to us that a large part of the white population is already trying to hasten the color process.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

The Best Health Beverage

It devolves upon me, as I was afraid it would, to speak out against the American Heart Association in accessory, the consuming of half-baked theory that American should consume less milk, butter and cheese, to prevent hardening of the—oo, I won't say it.

The oracle from the American Heart Association told the Wisconsin Heart Association that (1) hardening of the arteries is the result of old age; (2) that the condition can be produced in animals in various ways; and (3) one of big causes of hardening of the arteries is the high fat content of the American diet.

This last assertion is theoretical and arbitrary. There is no convincing evidence that drinking lots of whole milk, and eating plenty of butter and cheese causes or predisposes to any kind of heart or artery disease. In man, that is. The effect of feeding these dairy products to laboratory animals is not valid as far as the Heart Association's expert says it is, but we suspect the studies well know, you can't apply such knowledge directly to human nutrition.

Although the newspaper report didn't mention them, the Heart Association's expert seemed to be concerned about their importance and, if you take the newsscientist too seriously, frightful substance, cholesterol.

Cholesterol is normally a constituent of every body cell, particularly in brain and nerve tissue. It is normally present in the blood and in the bile—and of course in gall stones. From fact that most gallstones are composed principally of cholesterol some doctors inferred that the cholesterol probably caused gallstones to form. From this assumption it was easy to postulate further afield and first theorizing of the same kind that cholesterol causes hardening of the arteries and heart disease.

Unfortunately for the health and welfare of the nation, the Heart Association has discovered that milk, butter, and cheese contain more or less cholesterol, and so the Heart Association's spokesman advises the dairy people not to worry about distribution of their wares. "Figure out what can be added so people will be induced to make it innocuous."

My first faultaken was to keep out of this argument and cry a plague on both their houses—but my interest in the issue is about as much as the dentists do. But I still insist on that—

Milk is the most nearly perfect food.

Every individual needs not less than 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk daily. He could vibe.

3. If a growing youngster does not like or will not take whole milk, then skim milk is still a fine health beverage.

Professional and trade associations very often publish annual reviews or even more frequent publications, and except in the case of fairly wealthy organizations, the work of preparing these reviews is sometimes a burden. There is little or no money in it. Members of the association are delegated to do the job.

In one such body that included architects, builders, paint manufacturers and others dependent on the building trade, it was decided that the review was not justified, the job, however, will clear close to $350.00 as the result of hard work at the Victoria Park during the visit of the Old Boys and Girls from Toronto recently.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

THE NEED FOR NATURE

Not long ago a clergyman walking through the streets of East Harlem stopped to talk with a six-year-old whose family things which he discovered about the living conditions which the child shared with her parents and brothers. To him, But nothing struck him with more force than the fact that never in her life has she seen a cow, a horse, or even a single real tree.

One of the dangers of our highly metropolitan civilization is the divorce of man from nature. We have many children grow up believing that milk is made in bottles and that vegetables grow in cans. Much of our modern life is still a fine health beverage.

Professional and trade associations very often publish annual reviews or even more frequent publications, and except in the case of fairly wealthy organizations, the work of preparing these reviews is sometimes a burden. There is little or no money in it. Members of the association are delegated to do the job.

Carswell's advice was two seniors' ces long. It may not be new, But it is the first time Carswell had expressed it, so that I had not heard it.

"What you do for pay," the person his friend, "belongs to the person who pays you. What you do without pay belongs to you and to you alone."

And the younger man took the job at once.

This principle probably accounts for the fact that many jobs done by church workers, members of service clubs, social workers of all kinds, including those who collect for charitable funds. It may also account for the fact that the rather old-fashioned men and women to be found in business and industry who are in the habit of giving their jobs a little more time and attention than appears to their fellow-employees to be called for. In newsprint once worked for, there was a quiet, elderly man who was a hybrid of a reporter and a clerk. His willingness to do far more than he was expected to do. There was no time, apparently, when he did not accept, however trivial, however beneath his dignity, any kind of local news newspaper experience. There was great affection for him in the office and he was a curious sense of reproach. Sometimes we even thought him a fool.

But when illness retired him, and before he died, I was visiting him and heard praise and mentioned our admiration for his tireless generosity.

"Well," he said, "I like to think I have had a personal share in the success of my paper. I have had a sense of personal possession in the paper, simply because I gave it unstintingly more than I gave me. In a small measure, I have been part owner!"

LABOR URGES

He told the House of Commons that the British government had already been in touch with the United States and France and other governments including those of the Commonwealth."

HOUSE UNANIMOUS

Eden said a special meeting of his cabinet would be held later to make decisions on certain matters connected with the new development.

Gaitskell's denunciation of the Egyptian action was greeted with cheers from both government and opposition ranks.

Clement Davies, leader of the Liberal party, associated himself with Gaitskell's statement.

Capt. Charles Waterhouse, leader of the Conservative "rebel" Suez group that opposed evacuation of the canal zone, noted that a convention of October, 1888, required the contracting powers to respect the plant, establishments, buildings and works of the canal and gave each of the contracting powers the right to put two warships in both ports at either end of the canal. He said and cheers.

Reginald Paget, Labor, said Egypt's action was "a threat to strangle the whole of industry of Europe since there were not enough tankers in the world to move the oil required by Europe without using the Suez Canal.

"Is he (the prime minister) aware of the consequences of not answering force with force until it is too late?" he asked amid cheers.

Eden replied: "I have made my statement and I have answered questions with some care and I think it would be the wiser judgment of the House that I should not go beyond what I have said."

PRICES FALL SHARPLY

Prices fell on the London stock exchange in the first hour of trading, shares of the big oil companies leading the decline. They knocked off millions of dollars in the valuation of these shares. Other sections of the market also declined, but oil took the big hammering.

The 103-mile-long Suez Canal, between the Red Sea and the Mediterranean, is a vital link in the transportation by tanker of Middle East oil to the British industry.

Before the cabinet met, Lord Home, Commonwealth relations minister, consulted with the high commissioner of all the Commonwealth countries. The canal is often referred to by the British as "the lifeline of the Empire."

Injury to Eye Restores Sight To Other One

STANDISH, Mich. (CP)—An accident that injured the right eye of a 17-year-old Bay City, Mich., girl has restored sight to her blind left eye. It was learned Thursday.

Dr. Richard Rusak said that while he was treating cuts around Janet Bertram's left eye, suffered in an automobile accident in which a girl companion was killed, Miss Barber suddenly cried out she could see from the other one.

It had been blind since she was cut across the bridge of the nose by a fly can thrown by another child at the age of 2.

There was no general panic, and crew members of the Andrea Doria said nothing but praise for the conduct of their passengers.

Capt. Raoul de Beaudean, 53, substitute master of the Ile de France, described the crash scene as "horrible . . . like being back in the war years."

De Beaudean said the fog was so thick he couldn't see the bows of his own ship from the bridge.

FOG WHEN CRASH

Fortunately, the sea was smooth when calamity struck. And the fog "lifted like a curtain" as the rescue work went on, said actress Madeline Carroll, aboard the Ile de France.

A group of Roman Catholic nuns said they were asleep when the crash impact hurled them to the cabin floor.

Almost all survivors were in borrowed clothing and many were barefoot.

After the last rescue ship docked just before midnight Thursday, the coast guard said all the Doria passengers had been accounted for. At that time they listed the dead as Camille Ciamfarra, 69, Montreal correspondent of the New York Times, and his two children; Mrs. Y. D. Gattenger of Upper Montclair, N.J., Mrs. Walter J. Carlin, wife of a Brooklyn, N.Y., civic politician; and Johannes Jan, a Swedish member of the Stockholm's crew; plus two unidentified bodies believed to have been crew members of either ship.

"I threw off my shoes because of the high heels," she said, "and ran two decks below to the cabin to my son, Eddie, who is only 3½. He and his nurse were barely awake.

"I pulled out three life preservers and dragged both, or them to the upper deck and told them to stay near the grand staircase.

"I then thought it was terribly exciting."

"I handed him to a sailor who strapped him to himself. They got into the boat, but it left before I could get aboard. Later the Coast Guard fetched Miss Rosalie Biddle was safe aboard the Stockholm.

SAVED DAUGHTER

Two-year-old Maria Dooner survived the crash because her mother is a good swimmer. Mrs. George Dooner, 34, of Arlington, N.J., plunged into the water after the child fell overboard. For a few minutes they were alone in the sea. Then a lifeboat came alongside and took them aboard.

Passengers from the lower decks recalled screaming, fright and terror as the big ship started to list.

Recalled Charles Annino, 39, a former Chicagoan now living in Italy:

"The hallways and stairs were jammed with people pushing. . . . They were pushing up as others pushed to get down. When I got to the lifeboat, I passed our baby, a man tried to shove me out of the way. We made it, though we lost everything we had."

AT LEAST

Of the other unlisted Canadians aboard the ship early night, a Montreal family of three and a Roman Catholic nun from London, Ont., were reported safe with reporters.

There was no comprehensive list of the uninjured survivors—hence the prospect that other Canadians had been saved.

The known unlisted Canadians besides Rizzi were Sister Mary Callistus of the St. Joseph's Order, who had been studying music in Italy; and Nicolas Massue of Montreal, coming back from Europe with his 19-year-old mother, Mrs. Alexandrine Massue, and his 15-year-old niece, Josette Massue.

That left the three unidentified Canadians in the Andrea Doria's passenger list.

DEAD IDENTIFIED

Alderman Frank W. Clifton of Toronto; John de Mayer, Toronto importer; Dr. Harvey Hollinger and Mrs. Hollinger of Montreal; and Milton Babic, Edo Colagrand; Adolf Grubenman and Violet Grubenman, whose addresses were not immediately known.

None of these was among the dead injured who survived here Thursday night, nor were any of the Stockholm's Canadian passengers on the injured list.

The dead in the crash had all been identified late Thursday night except for two bodies believed to have been crew members.

Besides the Canadian passengers, the disaster struck home in several parts of the country where friends or relatives awaited loved ones back from Europe on the Andrea Doria.

One was Guido de Giacomo of Windsor, Ont., who was expecting his wife and daughter, whom he had not seen in five years.

Flying to New York, he arrived at the French Line pier an hour after the Ile de France docked with rescued passengers.

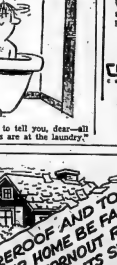
He was told that his wife and child were safe and had been sent to a hotel. Maria di Giacomo, the wife, and 5-year-old Nella, who would barely remember him, were saved after they had exchanged two hours in the sea where they had tumbled from the listing ship.

Di Giacomo travelled to the hotel and had the pier to pier search that proved fruitless. Then he phoned his brother in Detroit. by the Italian Welfare League of New York and informed that the wife and child were waiting at league quarters on the opposite side of Manhattan.

Mrs. Gladstone was injured when she fell from a mesh-rope ladder and landed in a lifeboat. She suffered injuries to her back.

Sister Callistus, attired in borrowed clothing given her on the Ile de France) told of praying with a fellow nun during the Rapids. Mich., as the passengers waited to be rescued.

In the bizarre surroundings of the hurriedly-cleared ballroom-deck lifeboat muster for crew and nuns, in night attire, passed among the frightened passengers with an unidentified priest who gave general absolution.



"We said the rosary for the passengers and they seemed to be grateful," the nun told reporters.

Massue, a former opera singer with the La Scala Opera in Milan, Italy, who retired last year from his job with the federal labor department in Montreal, was en route home from an Italian visit with his elderly mother and his niece.

Along with a number of American survivors, he had some criticism for the crew of the Italian ship, which he said had left the sinking vessel in advance of passengers, and that no officers were in sight at deck area crowded with women and children.

The 77-year-old Mrs. Massue climbed down a Jacob's ladder into a lifeboat followed by her young Josette.

Massue himself shinnied down a rope — "Something I haven't done in years and I hope I won't have to do again."

"I forgot to tell you, dear—all the towels are at the laundry."

Rossmore

ROSSMORE—Wednesday morning at Rossmore was one of extra heavy traffic between the hours of 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. when the bay bridge was impassible due to mechanical difficulties. Cars were waiting one-half mile back on both the Picton and Redneresville roads, with impatient drivers anxious to get to their place of business in the city, many even going via Trenton, which added miles to their trip.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Rod. Thurston in the afternoon, with a fair attendance. Business was transacted and a social hour spent over delicious refreshments.

Mrs. Wes Maxie has returned to her home in Lindsay after spending two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. J. Empey and family of Rossmore, and relatives in Belleville.

Mrs. Art Welland, of Port Credit, spent the weekend with her aunt, Mrs. Maude Vandenwater.

Mrs. Paul Wyrott spent a day recently with Mrs. Stan. White.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollitt spent Sunday in Brighton, guests of their son, Fred, and family.

Mrs. Vandenwater is visiting Mrs. Hogle at Corbyville for a few days.

The Bell Telephone Company has completed their work in the vicinity, and the Mount Mountain View telephone system to their system.

MARTIN DENIES

disease prevention research.

Alfred Dubuc (PC — Quebec West) said family allowances should be hitched to the cost-of-living index and that old age pensions should be increased.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) suggested old age pensions should be boosted in line with the rise in gross national production since 1949, which would increase the federally-paid pension of $40 a month for those over 70 to around $60.

Mr. Martin rejected the idea of substantial increases in old age pensions if health insurance was to be achieved.

He said Mr. Knowles' pension proposal could knock out the insurance plan—also sought by the CCF—since it would impose too great a burden on the taxpayer.

"If he wants to stop this health insurance program, all he has to do is to go on making extravagant demands that can't possibly be met," the minister said.

NO DELAYED PLAY

He also rejected a suggestion from A. M. Nicholson (CCF—Vancouver) that the government is deliberately slowing up implementation of the health insurance plan.

"The federal government is not dragging its feet in this matter" Mr. Martin said. "We believe this proposal is a good one, and we want to see it realized."

On the prospects of the key provinces of Ontario and Quebec in insurance scheme on the federal terms, Mr. Martin said at one point that indications are Premier Frost's government is giving "sympathetic consideration" to the federal proposals.

He said he had a "very useful conversation" with Mr. Frost a few days ago and hoped that Ontario's decision would be forthcoming without undue delay. He said Premier Leslie Frost the kind of co-operation calculated to achieve results.

Lover Slays Jealous Husband, Held 'Justifiable'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The slaying of a jealous husband by his estranged wife's sweetheart was termed "justifiable homicide" by a coroner's jury Thursday.

The wife, Mrs. Alicia Golstab, 31, told the jury Alexander Golstab, 36, had threatened that "sooner or later he'd kill me and our three children."

Golstab was shot to death early Wednesday when he broke into an apartment Mrs. Golstab was sharing with Marvin Hyman, 33, a college student.

Stuck for Money?

Let Miss Craig!

Miss Craig* had a new job—as a dentist's assistant. It was the job she'd always wanted but it had one drawback. It was in the city and Miss Craig lived out of town with her aunt. A car seemed the perfect solution to her problem but she didn't have quite enough cash. Happily, a friend told her about Citizens Finance. She discussed her problem with our loan manager and in short order she had the money she needed. She's in her new job now, driving in every morning. And she finds that she saves enough money by living at home to easily cover the repayments of her loan. "Everything worked out fine", she says. "I'm so glad that I went to Citizens." We can help you too, with a timely loan for any useful purpose. Drop in today.

Hears Talk on 'Stellite' Process

MARSH HILL. — The July meeting of Pine Grove W.I. was held at the school house with Mrs. Charles Rose as hostess.

The president, Mrs. Allyn Pinkle opened the meeting.

Twelve members and five visitors were present.

The correspondence was read, letters referring to the Folk school which is to be held at Stow Lake, and the holiday at Kemptville. Miss Sandra Thibaudeau is to succeed Miss Irvin as home economist.

Mrs. Bartindale thanked the Institute for the gift received while sick and also cards from the members.

Mrs. Bartindale reported on the C.A.C. bulletin and Mrs. Frank Pinkle on the Home and Country, urging each member to read it thoroughly.

Current Events were given by Miss Barbara Brown.

Mrs. W. Slater, Canadian Industries convener, was in charge of the program.

After the singing of "The More We Get Together," Mrs. Slater introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Thompson of the "Deloro Stellite" who said that every industry uses Stellite sometime during the manufacturing of their articles, and a great many of the household articles have been made with the use of Stellite or have parts that are Stellite. Mr. Thompson also showed interesting slides.

Refreshments were served at the close.

ROOF RAFT

A helicopter may hover like a bird, but when it comes down to roost on a roof it weighs plenty, and sets up quite a strain. So engineers have devised a gimmick. The whirly-bird lands on an aluminum raft floating in a shallow pool of water. The machine's weight is spread over the area of the raft instead of just that covered by the landing gear.

No doubt they figured out, too, how passengers can get "ashore". Certainly men who work with aluminum are mighty resourceful. In fact, they keep us busy supplying them with this versatile modern metal, at home and in foreign markets.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carey Gavey are pictured cutting the wedding cake following their marriage in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Shirley Marie Adams, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Adams, of Belleville, and the late Mr. Adams. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gavey of Aylmer, Ontario. GAVEY—ADAMS

White and pink gladioli adorned the altar of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, on Saturday, July 7, at 10.00 a.m., for a lovely wedding, when Shirley Marie Adams, of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Adams of Belleville, and the late Mr. Adams, became the bride of Donald Carey Gavey of Aylmer, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gavey. The Rev. W. McGee officiated. White satin bows decorated the guest pews.

The Rev. Sister Mary Wilhelmina rendered the wedding music which included "Ave Maria", "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother", "Lord, I Am Not Worthy", and "On This Our Wedding Day."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Allen Adams, the bride wore a lovely bridal gown of white, imported hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin fashioned with fitted jacket having a Peter Pan collar studded with pale pink and blue sequins and seed pearls. The long sleeves ended in lily points over the wrists. The gathered bouffant skirt was enhanced with seed pearls. She wore a fingertip veil of embroidered nylon net and lace held by a coronet of encrusted iridescent sequins and seed pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of red roses with white satin streamers.

Miss Nancy Adams, niece of the bride, was maid of honor, attired in a ballerina-length gown of mauve lace over taffeta with net skirt over taffeta and lace jacket. She wore matching shoes, headdress and mitts, and carried yellow roses and mauve 'mums.

The senior bridesmaids, Miss Noreen Kelleher, wore sea green lace over taffeta with net skirt and matching lace jacket, shoes and mitts, and Mrs. Larry Nelson, in yellow lace over taffeta. Both carried baskets of mauve and yellow 'mums.

Miss Jo Anne Adams, also niece of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, wore pale green net over taffeta with matching taffeta jacket, headdress, shoes and mitts, and carried a basket of yellow and mauve 'mums.

Mr. Douglas Bates of Niagara Falls, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Joseph Adams, of Belleville, brother of the bride, and John McGillvary, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Kiwanis Centre, Belleville, after which the guests were received at the new home of the bride and bridegroom, 38 Hillside Street, where the gifts were displayed. Later, the guests were entertained at luncheon at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride's table was appointed with white damask centred by a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by vases of pink and white flowers, and the bridal bouquets. Tall pink and white candles added a pretty accent.

The bride's mother, wearing flowered nylon with white picture hat and matching accessories, with corsage of yellow and mauve 'mums, received. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in pale blue nylon with pink accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

The bride chose for her wedding trip to Hamilton, Niagara Falls, and Buffalo, New York, a gown of ice blue nylon over taffeta with white lace picture hat, white accessories and corsage of deep rose carnations.

Guests were present from Niagara Falls, Aylmer, Ontario; Trenton, Read, Wooler, Kingston, Halifax, N.S., Paris Ontario and Toronto.

Several showers were held in honor of the bride previous to her marriage; a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Larry Neilson and Miss Noreen Kelleher; a cup and saucer shower by Mrs. Larry Nelson at the home of Mrs. Harry Semark as co-hostess.

The gifts to the attendants were, to the maid of honor, gold compact; to the bridesmaids, rhinestone necklace and earrings; to the junior bridesmaid, daisy missal; to the groomsman, silver tie pin and cuffs links; to the ushers, gold tie pins and cuff links and lighter. The bride's gift to her bridegroom, luggage and the bridegroom's gift to his bride, wrist watch.

SILLS—BRYAN

Baskets of pink peonies and white delphiniums adorned the chancel rail of Trinity United church, Grand Valley, Ontario, on Saturday, July 21, at 1.30 p.m., when Betty Ruth Bryan of Grand Valley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bryan, became the bride of Douglas Roy Sills, of Galt, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sills, of Halloway, Ontario. The Rev. George Lock, pastor of the church, officiated.

Mr. Bruce Small rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloists, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Mitchell, who sang "The Wedding Prayer," and "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a ballerina length bridal gown of white summer lace over layers of net fashioned in princess style, featuring a bouffant skirt, and fitted bodice with scalloped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a circular illusion silk veil in chapel length, which fell from a matching headdress encrusted with sequins and rhinestones and carried a cascade of pink roses with white stephanotis and trailing ivy. Matching gloves completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Richard Heard, as bridesmaid, was gowned in summer lace in style similar to that of the bride, in puff pink with matching gloves and floral headdress of pink and white carnations. She carried an irregular Colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Little Susan Chappel, as flower girl, was dainty in her aqua nylon frock with matching headband of pink and white carnations. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Jack Sills of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Stan Bryan of Odessa, and Mr. Don Sills of Halloway, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the church parlor, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who was attired in navy and white nylon with white accessories, and corsage of red carnations. Assisting in the receiving line was the bridegroom's mother, gowned in aqua taffeta with white accessories, and corsage of red and white variegated carnations.

For travelling to the Eastern United States, and the Maritimes, the bride chose a brown and white embossed nylon ensemble with white accessories and corsage of yellow carnations. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Sills will reside in Galt, Ontario.

GOOD MANNERS

SEATING THE GROOM'S DIVORCED PARENTS

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

I married my present husband five years ago. His former wife has not remarried. She was the guilty party in the divorce suit. What I would like to know is: At the church ceremony where my husband's parents will sit? Will his mother walk down the aisle on the bride's side (being escorted by her husband) and sit with her, or will she walk down the aisle on the groom's side (being escorted by her husband) and sit with him?

—(Mrs.) Catherine

PROPER SIGNATURE FOR AFFIDAVIT

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

A is writing a letter applying for a job, and she uses the letter head of Ada Thompson. I insists this is not correct, that she should sign her name with Miss in parentheses before her name—(Miss) Ada Thompson. Who is right about this?—B and C

A is definately not correct . . . because a wife should not be a direct part of a business. Both B and C are correct, but as C indicates, it is frequently for Ada's Job. It is usually wise to include the "Miss," writing it in parenthesis before her name . . . (Miss) Ada Thompson. Then the person to whom the letter is written knows how to address the applicant.

WE SHOULD SEND HER OWN PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

For years my family have been going with a young man, but we are not engaged and we have never discussed marriage. My brother is to be married soon, and I asked him to ask his fiancee if she would mind my friend as invitation to the wedding. He received the invitation, but has made no mention of sending them a wedding present (and I think he should) so I should send a present separately, and with his card enclosed.

—Puzzled

FLOWERS FORBIDDEN MARK FIRST SOCIAL MOVE

Dear Mrs. Beechnam:

I have known this young woman for over a year, and we have had quite a few dates. She took me home to my home only once. Now we want to have our engagement announced, very soon. My parents have told me they thought the girl's parents should take the first step in the announcing of both sets of parents. My girl friend says she thinks it is proper which is supposed to make the first move after our second home about the engagement. What's right about this? — Jim M.

It is the fiancee's parents who are expected to make the first social move as regards announcing your mother if it is not convenient for your father), as soon as you tell a definitely about your engagement, should go at once to call on your fiancee and her mother, to make that extremely important, Welcome-into-the-Family call. If a personal call is not possible, because of distance or other reason, your parents either their welcome to your fiancee or telephone to her and her family. It is important that this relationship between-the-two families be established. After this first gesture of "meeting" has been made, either family may invite the other for a social gathering of the members of the two families.

BEAUTY

SUMMER HAS ITS "DANGER SIGNALS" WHERE WEIGHT'S CONCERNED

Crisp salads, without rich dressings, and iced tea, make the perfect summer luncheon.

All through the winter and spring we hear women say, "Oh, I know I should go on a diet. But I'm going to wait until summer. It's so much easier to diet then." And they proceed to tell you how appetite's fancies turn to thoughts relatively infrequent and, to hear them tell it, practically all the temptations do vanish as if by command.

Well, yes and no.—True, appetite is less than half during the riper months. And, generally speaking, there are far less luncheons to attend . . . the kind, we mean, where heavy foods are served, making the midday meal more exciting than other dinner . . . and cocktail parties, with their tempting morsels of canapes, are reduced to a minimum. But . . . and there is a big but! The summer foods which we think of as cooling and refreshing, often contain more calories by weight than the foods we eat in winter time. And it's wise to be on the alert!

Consider an ice cream soda for instance. Nothing sounds quite so cooling, does it? Couldn't possibly add to your weight, you think? Well, take another guess. In just one soda with ice cream there are from 330 to 400 calories, depending upon the type of flavoring used. On the other hand, a long, cooling glass of iced tea has practically no calories. If you use a tablespoonful of sugar, the calorie count will only reach 50; if you use saccharins or one of the other sugar substitutes, the drink will contain no calories at all. So, instead of having an ice cream soda when you're thirsty, have a glass of iced tea, iced coffee or a fruit juice. Depending on the fruit, these run from only 60 to 85 calories per half cup are equally as cooling as the soda and provide extra nutrition if you're really trying to lose.

And what about salads? They're on most menus in hot weather and, remember, they're just what the doctor ordered to keep slim. But it's not what goes into the salad but what goes on top of it that adds pounds. We refer to rich dressings. Avoid them if you're a weight-watcher. Take your raw vegetables or raw fruits with lemon juice and or a bit of vinegar, but skip the mayonnaise and other calorie-laden dressings which make your weight go up.

With a little care on your part, summer can be the season in which to slim down since you don't have so much appetite. But you must choose your foods with care. It's not a case of how much you eat, but what you eat that counts.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WILL HE WALK DOWN THE AISLE IN MOCCASINS?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I've been going with a boy of 17 for a year. We're planning to be married in two years.

All the time I've been going with him, this boy has continuously worn moccasins. Everywhere we went, including church and at the theater, even if I wore a party dress and high heels, he would have the moccasins on. I've gone with quite a few boys and they have never the occasion on a date with me.

I've asked my boy friend many times to stop wearing them, because it's embarrassing when you're much in front of my friends when they are all dressed very neatly. His just laughed and said he liked to wear moccasins.

This fall, he will start college, and I've been telling him that he'll have to wear slacks and dress shoes there. Yesterday he went to buy clothes for college and came home with several pairs of blue jeans and a new pair of moccasins. I got very mad at him, because I don't like him in jeans and a shirt. I've told him several times to grow up, but he is not the type who will listen to anyone.

Will you give advice for me? I'm going to feel very funny walking down the aisle to be husband-to-be who is dressed in blue jeans and a western shirt with a pair of sloppy moccasins falling off his feet.

—C.W.

Dear C.W.:

This boy seem like a very minor problem to some, but I realize how much it can get on one's mind. You're very fond of this boy and you want to be proud of him. You also want everybody else to think well of him. If he makes you feel he's giving people the impression that he doesn't care how he looks when he's out with you, it naturally hurts and embarrasses you.

You say this boy is the type who won't listen to anyone, so it's not likely you're going to get anywhere by nagging at him. But might, though, have some effect on him if you began to notice—out loud—how more some of the others look when you meet them on the street.

Don't make a big thing of it so that he'll catch on right away what you're up to. Just make some comment on the other boy's neat appearance and let it go at that. He'll do it too often, either—just often enough to remind him now and then that you definitely notice when a boy is nicely dressed.

See how this works and let me know, will you?

QUESTION:

I have been looking a long time for a really good recipe for meat loaf. I wonder if you have one; also a recipe for a good stew and a meat pie made with ground beef or ground round steak.—Norah M.

ANSWER:

See how you like these Norah.

EPICURE'S MEAT LOAF

Four slices of side bacon, 1 cup half-stale breadcrumbs, 1-2 cup hot water, 1 lb. ground round or shoulder beef, 1 egg, 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each pepper, thyme, sage (or rosemary leaves), allspice, 1-8 teaspoon celery salt. Chop bacon small and saute until just crisp. Add breadcrumbs and mix. Add hot water, stir. Turn into mixing bowl and mix in meat, egg and seasonings well and shape into loaf. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour on a shallow pan. When done lift loaf to hot platter. Add flour to gravy and stir until thick. Strain if desired. This loaf is good sliced hot or cold. It may be baked in individual cakes, for a shorter time.

I'm not sure that the following type of stew is what you are after but it is so good I'm yielding to temptation. Please let me know if you meant the ordinary meat—onions—carrot kind.

PARTY STEW

One lb. lean chuck beef cut into thin stripe 2 inches long, 3 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 1 medium onion sliced, 2 tablespoons fat, 1-2 cup tomato juice, 1 3-4 cups hot water in which 3 beef bouillon cubes have been dissolved (or 1 3-4 cup meat stock), 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 cup sour cream (commercial), optional; six 1-4 lb. mushrooms. Mix the flour with the salt and pepper and dredge the beef strips in it. Brown them on the onions in the hot fat for about ten minutes. Add tomato juice, water and bouillon cubes or stock and sugar and bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until meat is tender-time depends on quality of meat—could be 1 1-2 to 2 hours. Stir in cream and add mushrooms. Serve this in a deep casserole or buttered noodle ring or with a crisp green salad. Serve simply on rice or noodles. If fresh mushrooms are used stew should be simmered for five minutes after they are added. If a small can of mushrooms is used stew merely needs to be brought to boil.

BEEF AND KIDNEY PIE

One of the best I know—but if you do not like kidney substitute with beef—flank steak is a good substitute. Soak 1 small beef kidney in salt water 30 minutes, drain and cut into cubes. To it add 2-4 cup meat stock), 1 teaspoon salt, 3 medium onions chopped, 3 medium potatoes chopped, 1-4 cup parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper and turn into pyrex or earthenware baking dish and add enough cold water to cover about ten minutes. Add tomato juice, water and bouillon cubes or 1 2-3 hours, stirring occasionally. When done add more water to cover and sprinkle with 1 tablespoon flour. Cover with your very best pastry well gashed and fluted and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 15 minutes. Wonderful rice or buttered noodle ring or with a crisp green salad. Serves

Faith Brings Message of Hope

By ROY L. SMITH

The Christian faith makes a good gospel for dark days, for it was born in the midst of the wilderness, fear, and hopelessness, and it came to the first century, as it also comes to the twentieth, as a message of hope. There is no room in the pulpit of any church for a pessimist.

BEGAN WITH HOPE

There are two stories in the New Testament concerning the birth of Jesus, one of them telling about the coming of wise men from the East who came in the hope that they would find the long promised Saviour of the world. The other tells the story of angels chorusing over the Judean hills, urging men to hope that a leader of peace and good will had been born. The whole story of the birth of Jesus is saturated with the spirit of hope.

JESUS PREACHED HOPE

Edwin Markham, the poet, once told the story of a man who went through life blowing out other men's candles, leaving them in the dark. He was the embodiment of evil.

Jesus of Nazareth, on the other hand, went through life lighting other men's candles, said the poet, and He has become the embodiment of hope. This is the essential message of Christianity.

The Uniform Sunday school lesson for July 29: "Witnessing Through Suffering." Acts 12:1-3; 1 Peter 1; 4-13—5:14.

One cannot read the Gospel story without becoming suddenly aware of the fact that everywhere Jesus went He raised hopes in the hearts of the stricken and the afflicted. One of the most effective testimonies ever offered, concerning Him was the word of the two disciples on their way back home following the crucifixion, who said, "We had hoped that He was going to be the One who was going to redeem Israel."

WHAT IS GOD GOING TO DO?

Sit with any group of people—men or women—in this day, and before long the conversation gets around to the question, "What are the Russians going to do?" And it is a serious subject.

But a much more significant question is, "What is God going to do?" This world has vastly more at stake in what God proposes, than in what Russia plans.

And the moment we get any basic understanding of the message of Jesus it sets us on the way of hope. His assurance concerning God's good plans, and His confidence in the ultimate victory of God, is the inspiration this terrified world needs in such an hour.

HOPE AND SUFFERING

The Sunday school lesson of this week was written by an ancient Christian who was living through terrible days. The hand of Rome was gripping the church everywhere, and threatening the Christian movement with extinction. But the writer of our Scripture, imbued with the spirit of a confidential hope, wrote to reassure the Christians.

Nothing could blind him to the grim and awful facts with which he was surrounded, and neither could anything smother the hope which sustained him. He had known of one who had died upon a cross as a felon, who had risen from the dead and gone on with his work of redemption.

GOD IS IN THE DARK

One of the great words that the Christian church has to offer to a world of torment is best expressed in the words of an unknown poet who wrote, "God is in the dark, too."

Black as the outlook may seem in vast areas of the earth, and dreb as the skies are for many of us, we have this confidence—God is in the dark, at work just as He is also working in the light.

An old Negro preacher once said, "God never gets through until He has finished what He set out to do."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, July 30, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't make conversations too long or excited. Communicate ideas with your followers in a friendly manner. Enjoy some outdoor fun.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Have plans; don't be indecisive. Showing an ill temper if you do not get what you want may cause trouble. Listen to good music, get rest and be temperate in all things.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your aspects augur well for personal achievement, perhaps advancement in activities connected with advertising, promotion, journalism, generally. Agreeableness will aid you.

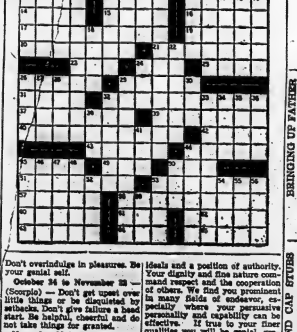
June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — At with most of us today, you will gain more, and quickest, if you maintain harmony and take just criticism and dun orders as well as give them. A day for keen thinking, smart management.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Moderation and an even temper will be important standbys this day. Don't try to override others. It will pay to cooperate sensibly with employers, employees, associates.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Even if your goal has been reached quickly, foolish and waste time. Go after another one but don't overtax yourself. Virgoans often overwork for loved ones, others. Enjoy more relaxation.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Hard work and dedicated purpose can do wonders toward promoting your happiness. Ideals and a position of authority. Your dignity and fine nature command respect and the cooperation of others. We find you prominent in many fields of endeavor, especially where your persuasive personality and capability can be effective. If true to your finest qualities you will be genial, gracious, generous. Curb any tendency to domineer; realize that kindness and love beget kindliness and love and both will aid you in any walk of life. Develop constantly your talents, better your education by good reading, observation, study. Birthdate: Alexandra Dumas, "the younger," French novelist and dramatist.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Don't get upset over little things or be disquieted by setbacks. Don't give failure a head start. Be helpful, cheerful and do not take things for granted.



November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Conversation is a work of art. Develop your vocabulary to the utmost. Daydreaming is not conducive to productivity; waste time only by resting. Enjoy the companionship of loved ones.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Whatever your talents, big or small, use them to best advantage. Don't belittle the efforts of others; offer constructive criticism. Make new acquaintances and renew old ones.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — A healthy mind is just as important as a healthy body. Wholesome entertainment is advised. Keep abreast of new trends.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Be yourself in whatever you do. Don't develop a counterfeit personality. Harmonious living (avoiding extremes) is more satisfactory than radicalism. Avoid greedy tendencies.

Your born today are proud, ambitious, usually aspire to high

Don't overindulge in pleasures. Be your genial self.

WELL - DESERVED

How to successfully operate a community arena, or don't do as we do, imitate your neighbors.

Take a few thousand energetic town and district citizens, well-stuffed with community spirit. Dead lightly with "We Need It" powder. Let simmer for a short time. Then turn 'em loose and await results.

It worked perfectly down Napanee way. Within an amazingly short time, the good burghers of that town, ably assisted by their outer fringe and rural neighbors, raised well over $100,000, enough to build a community centre.

Then somebody had the bright idea that the centre would not be complete without an artificial ice plant. So the boys again shed their coats, went to work and raised some $30,000 to instal the ice-making paraphernalia.

Today if they're walking around with their collective chests tossed out to the button-breaking point — well — you can scarcely blame 'em.

For their financial statement of the first six months of operation reveals the new project grossed almost $30,000 with a net operating profit of $2,218. That should cause mouth-watering envies and envious looks on the part of the greater majority of operating arenas in the province.

The actual net profit is $2,218 after capital expenditures of $5,044 and $1,000 was set aside for depreciation.

Actual gross receipts of the arena during the six months was $29,903 with total expenditures running to $26,726.

And some 8,833 population, according to the last census, must like their hockey. For profits — that's right, profits — from industrial puck-chasing amounted to $1,715 while the junior-chasing amounted to $1,000. Even the first year of operation chalked up $3,000 on the right side of the ledger. The downstairs canteen showed $234 in the "black" while the Women's Community Centre Group turned over $3,000 from its efforts to the kitty.

Other major items of revenue were: skating, $3,550; season skating tickets, $1,031; ice rental, $1,803 and advertising $1,306.

The pleasing financial statement of the arena's first six months of operation is a well-deserved climax to the whole-hearted community effort of the people of Napanee. It is proof that shoulder-to-shoulder effort, community co-operation and the will to work together can move mountains if necessary.

But the story is different elsewhere. Peterborough's Civic Arena showed a $6,000 deficit from last year's operation. However, this was largely due to capital expenditures totalling $4,878 and loss of one month's use of the arena.

The total receipts were $39,116 with total expenditures $36,115. Salaries formed the largest item amounting to $11,969. However the arena shows a current surplus of $19,487.

Peterborough winter sports enthusiasts apparently like plenty of food around when they indulge in arena pastimes. The biggest revenue of the arena came from the booths and amounted to $10,248. Ice skating brought $3,230, roller skating, $1,217. Dances revenue's $1,598.

And Peterborough hockey fans again demonstrated they like the upper brackets kind. The smart little junior "B" club, which was lumped with a Trenton loop, brought in only $1,561. Other hockey, whatever that was, there was no senior "B", accounted for nearly $7,000 through the turnstiles.

WHIP TONIGHT

Then there is that matter of Senor Roberto Pico getting his come-uppance at the hands of Whipper Billy Watson in Maple Leaf Arena tonight. The Impetuous Whip will reach his highest pedestal here if he—and five gets you ten he does—makes the bad man of the Mexican Sierra Madres say "uncle" in Spanish.

But it won't be any Moore-Parker affair. The Whip had better be on his guard for this senor stops at nothing after he gets into action. He'll probably try everything but machetes and lazoe for he would like nothing better than to horizontal a proud world champion.

And don't forget the strutting Gallaghers. They, too, will be in action against Dick Byers and Brian Clarey. Mike and Doc are toughies and they tell us that even the mosquitos in their native New Jersey refuse to take the odd sip at their blood. And as short matters off on the right foot are Mark Lewis and Jan Gotch who have yet to be admitted to the Hale Society of Clean Wrestlers.

Braves Extend Victory String With Brooks Nudging Redlegs; Williams Powers Boston Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Last week Joe Adcock was spraying home runs. This week Bobby Thompson is swinging the heavy bat as Milwaukee Braves strengthen their first - place hold in the National League.

Thompson recently came off the bench, where he had been parked for weak hitting, and won the left field position. He had two home runs Sunday, and a grand slammer Wednesday. He hit his 16th homer of the year Thursday for the final run as the Braves mauled the last-place New York Giants 11-0.

DODGERS SWEEP SERIES

The Braves, now on a five-game winning streak, are 2½ games ahead of Cincinnati. Brooklyn Dodgers are third, a half-game back, after completing a three-game sweep by downing the Redlegs 5-3 Thursday.

The sixth place Phillies were thumped 14-0 by St. Louis and the seventh-place Cubs beat the Pittsburgh 4-0.

The Braves, who have won 21 of their last 30 games, made it nine-in-a-row at the polo grounds by battering their ex-boss Leo Johnny Antonelli, for a 5-0 lead in two frames. Hank Aaron drove in four runs with a home run and two singles that put him in the league batting lead again at .346. Thompson's homer was a 415-poke, as the Braves swung for 18 hits in support of Gene Conley's fifth victory.

CANEY BREAKS OUT

Roy Campanella swatted a three-run homer to trigger the Dodgers. It was his first in three weeks. The Brooks had nine hits, but Carl Furillo's hit streak was ended at 12 games. Don Newcombe, making only his second major league start as a reliever, was the loser.

Roger Craig picked up the Redlegs' his 10th victory and a 10-0 record at Ebbets Field since coming up last summer. Frank Robinson tagged him for his 22nd home run and Ted Kluszewski poled his 20th, breaking a tie with Duke Snider for the league lead.

The Cardinals routed Robin Roberts with a four-run sixth to make a 6-0 win. Then scored six in the seventh with winning reliefer Herm Wehmeier hitting a home run and two singles to drive the big frame. Bob Miller lost it.

Rookie Fred Waters won his first major league start giving the Cubs just four hits before Howie Pollet came on for a two inning relief job.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York Yankees must surely have convinced Chicago White Sox that this is another pennant year for the Bombers.

The Yanks used 11 singles Thursday to down the Pale Hose 8-5. It was New York's 11th victory over the Chisox in 17 starts.

About the only non-believer left in the league is Hank Greenberg whose second-place Cleveland Indians made it six straight wins with a 1-0 victory over Washington. The Indians still trail New York by 8½ games.

Rain halted the Cleveland game, scheduled as the opener of a doubleheader, in the seventh inning.

WILLIAMS POWERS WIN

A 10th-inning home run by Ted Williams gave Boston a 5-3 decision over Kansas City. And Ted Simons grabbed seven hits, a shade off fifth place from Detroit, beating the Tigers 11-4.

The Yankees bunched five singles and a walk for five runs in the fourth for a third straight Chicago's Jack Harshman. Mickey Mantle had driven in three hits, as Don Larsen won in relief.

Gene Woodling's two-out home run in the 10th off Ray Narleski and gave Bob Lemon his 13th victory.

George Kell, Gus Triandos and Tito Francona homered for the Detroit Tigers in the third inning for seven runs in four innings and his ninth defeat. Billy Wight won it. Ray Boone and Harvey Kuenn hit Tiger homers.

Jim Piersall's two-run double gave Boston a tie in the eighth off reliefer Bobby Shantz. Then Williams won it with his ninth homer, following a walk. Mike Debock got the decision with three innings of one-hit relief.

Riders' 'Reds' Wallop Whites

OTTAWA (CP) — Approximately 4,000 football fans saw Reds defeat Whites 27-7 Thursday night in an intra-squad game by Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four.

The squads used a still-shaky split T and belly series offensive based on that of Edmonton Eskimos.

The winners, led by quarterback Hal Ledyard, former San Francisco 49er, led 20-14 with two minutes to go. Then, Tom Harkins, an end from Vanderbilt University, took a touchdown pass from quarterback Chuck Harding, former Regina Roughrider, to tie the score.

The convert put the Whites one point ahead with seconds to go but halfback Tirrel Burton from Ohio's Miami University caught a Ledyard pass downfield to score a touchdown which was converted.

"Rifle" Wins Inter Squad Game

MONTREAL (CP)—A team directed by Sam Etcheverry defeated a squad quarterbacked by Jeff Nagel 32-0 Thursday night in the Montreal Alouettes' first intra-squad game.

An estimated 12,000 fans turned out to help Pascal, import from Duke University, scored two touchdowns, while Bob Jamese, an import from Auburn, and Hal Patterson and Montrealer Charles Shiffle got one each.

Bill Newby converted two of the five majors.

Income Taxmen, Cop Sit in On Division of "Fight" Spoils

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—It was just as tough Dewey Soomes's character had time to take on King St.

A policeman, brandishing a loaded revolver, sat at a desk in a small office in full view of the beautiful sidewalk crowd in downtown Toronto. Reporters, fight managers, trainers and the usual fight mob hangers-on swarmed in and out of the room.

Two men from the income tax department sat around. They were there to check the books after Wednesday Night's Archie Moore-James J. Parker fight last at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The cop-cop-fight "just in case" someone had notions about handing up the place. A lot of money was at stake. Moore got from the fight that saw Archie, the California veteran, flatten Parker a fearful beating in a bout called at 1:27 of the fifth round of their scheduled 15-rounder.

A man carrying a suitcase entered the stewards' office, headquarters for the fight. The final figures on attendance, gate receipts and fighters' purses.

Early soon, the promoters said.

Outside, leaning against a parked car, Dave Rush of Toronto the man who promotes the extravaganza, skthused: "It's getting better every minute. You know, I don't think I'll lose a cent on the production."

Earlier in the day Rush said he had $13,000 sponsoring the outdoor bout.

"I'll tell you," he said, "I don't care about the money but I'm proud of the fact that I've proved because I proved to the people of Toronto that this is a big-league sports town—one of the best in the world."

The income-tax men left and the figures were ready to be announced.

SOLOMON GIVES 'DATA'

"The approximate gross gate," said promoter Jack Solomon of London, England, "was $148,300. Gross receipts $43,000 and Parker $28,000. The attendance was approximately 30,000."

Sleight of hand was deducted from the gross gate—the nine-per-cent Ontario hospital tax and two-per-cent to the Ontario Athletic Commission.

The policeman put his gun back in his holster and left. The crowd outside thinned out. King St. was almost normal again.

Play Better Golf

By Tommy Armour

Selecting the correct club for a bunker shot shouldn't confuse you a bit if you'll just think of the angle of the club face required to get the ball over the bank of the trap. If it's a trap near a green with no lip at the edge of the trap, and the ball is lying clean, play the shot with a putter. If you are close to the bank of a green trap you may have to play the ball about opposite your left heel, as the wedge will almost come in to its rising arc under the sand and will pop the ball up with a sharp rise. In playing out of fairway bunkers select a loft to clear the bunker bank.

Moore Predicts Victory Over Floyd Patterson

By JACK HAND

TORONTO (AP) — Smiling Archie Moore, unmarked in his ninth - round technical knockout over James J. Parker, predicted he would beat Floyd Patterson in September and listed California as his favorite site.

"California is ripe for a title fight," Moore said Thursday as he held court for reporters in his hotel room. "I'm a Californian (last year it was Toledo) and maybe a little change of scenery would be good for me after the Rocky Marciano fight last fall."

Charlie Johnston, Moore's manager, said he would be willing to go to California, either in the Los Angeles Coliseum or the Rose Bowl, if the offer was better than New York. However, he will sit down with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, in New York next week to talk terms and site.

A Sept. 18 date at Yankee Stadium still is being regarded as the probable schedule for the Moore-Patterson match for Marciano's vacated heavyweight crown.

Asked if he considered Patterson a good puncher, Moore replied, "I never saw him hit a man with one punch and leave him flat on his back. That's my description of a puncher. Maybe he did, but I never saw it."

Moore worked at the same training regalia watched a month ago when he was getting ready to box Nino Valdes, a defensive, his light-heavy title. Incidentally, he isn't giving up the 175-pound crown, now that he's claims the heavyweight title.

"You don't give up an old suit, case when you buy a new one, do you?" he asked. "Do you get the message?"

Johnson doubts wether Patterson's a match for Moore. "He wants to go through with a September match. Patterson broke his hand beating Harrison Jackson earlier this year but doctors say it will be all right.

Basilio to Fight Saxton

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York state boxing commission has given world welterweight champion Johnny Saxton the go-ahead and so he'll give Carmen Basilio a chance to reclaim the crown in Syracuse, Sept. 19 or 19.

Saxton, who lifted the title from Carmen in Chicago by decision last March 14, previously had been banned in New York state since his commission headed by Julius Helfand had refused to license his manager, Frank (Blinky) Palermo. The ban was lifted when Helfand decided it was preventing Basilio from trying to re-win the title.

Saxton, 26, was allowed to set up the fight for himself, although Helfand in the past has criticized such arrangements.

Russians Want Hockey Trophy Not Imitation

OTTAWA (CP) — The world champion Soviet hockey team should have the right to possess the genuine trophy emblematic of its victory and not a replica for the Soviet embassy here said Thursday.

He was commenting on the discussion at the Penticton Vs. the British Columbia team which won the trophy for Canada in 1955, hoodwinked Russia by switching trophies.

Player Bill Warwick of the V said the trophy his team won, and which Canada's Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen took from Russia this year, still is on display in his Penticton restaurant. He said the Vs forwarded a copy of the original when the Russian team beat the Dutchmen.

Secretary of the Russian embassy, said he had been unaware the Russian team had only a replica of the genuine trophy. The actual trophy should be returned to Russia, he said.

Secretary-manager George Dudley of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association earlier he feels "the right trophy must be sent back." He said at Midland that he is "not amused" by the incident.

Vaughans Lose To Stewart-Warner

Jackie Elliott scattered four singles and drove in a pair of his team's runs last night at the Fairgrounds as Stewart - Warner midgets blanked their arch-rivals, Vaughan's, 6-0.

This was the final regular scheduled game and assured the Stewart - Young boys of undisputed possession of first place.

In one of the better relief games played this season, the victors tallied three runs in the fourth frame of the seven-inning contest. Keith Dickey singled the first marker into centre and Elliott followed with a sharp single through the centre for two more.

Elliott gave up the four singles but was only in trouble once when he walked three men in the inning. He had 10 strikeouts and walked only the three men. Dave Coe was his receiver.

Cordie Vaughan tossed good ball for the losers, allowing seven safeties. He fanned nine batters while passing but one. Bill Brennan was his battery-mate.

Elliott was the only player with two hits. Hurst, Coe, Downs, Dickey and Boomhower each had one single. Brennan, Vens, Acker and Asselstine claimed the Vaughan hits.

Reay to Coach Rochester Club

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Billy Reay, former star with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, will coach the Rochester club in the American Hockey League.

Reay's appointment was announced by Frank Selke, Canadiens managing director.

Selke also announced Rochester had signed goalie Charlie Hart, formerly with Seattle in the Western League, defenceman Tom Williams and centre Joe Crozier, both obtained in a deal with Cleveland of the AHL.

Mexican Wins Junior Scull Singles Unknown Crew Takes School Eights

By GEORGE HANCOCKS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—Spectators at the Royal Canadian Henley regatta watched an important events fall Thursday to unseeded scullers, one to a 26-year-old Mexican who had never rowed outside his home country before, the other to an unknown high school eight from Buffalo, N.Y.

Deserting their traditional favorites, the crowd cheered Roberto Retolaza of Mexico City's Club Espana to victory in the final of the junior singles.

The handsome Mexican sculler, who eliminated Canada's Olympic trials winner Jon Farrow, rowed to victory over Art McKinlay of Detroit Boat Club with a winning time of 8:37.4. McKinlay was only a foot behind at the finish.

Today Retolaza moves up to senior competition.

The other upset occurred when an unknown eight from St. Joseph's High School, Buffalo, shot to victory in the North American high school eights championship, a bare half-length ahead of the Mt. Carmel High school eight from Wyandotte, Mich.

The St. Catharines crew, which has won the event for the last seven years, was last.

The Calder Cleland Memorial Trophy, a $5,000 gold cup once owned by Princess Eugenie, will depart from the hallowed place in the St. Catharines Rowing Club's trophy case. The trophy was donated in 1945 by the late W. B. Cleland of St. Catharines in memory of his son, lost while flying with the RCAF in the Second World War.

In other events, St. Catharines made a good showing against its traditional competitors, Hamilton Leanders, Buffalo Westsides, and New York Athletic club.

In the eight quarter-mile dash it smashed its own Henley record of 1:22.3 with a winning time of 1:18.8 although it was bucking a strong wind all the way.

Hamilton Leanders lead in the point race with 68.3 New York Athletic Club has 45 points and St. Catharines, 33.

The prize for the most points in the Maple Leaf Trophy which St. Catharines has won for the last two years.

Canada, US Davis Cup Teams Open Important Round Today

By AL MAKELE

VICTORIA (CP) -The business of mingling at reception and dinners is over and members of the Canadian and United States Davis Cup teams buckle down today to playing tennis.

Both groups attended a Thursday night dinner given by the City of Victoria. This afternoon the teams start the three-day North American semi-finals.

The first singles match pitted Don Fontana of Turodto, one of Canada's best singles men, against powerful Ham Richardson of Westfield, N.J.

GIVE BEDARD EDGE

Canada's top-seeded Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., was to meet Herbie Flam in the day's second singles match.

Observers gave Bedard a slight edge in this match, due mostly to Flam's difficulty in adapting to the grass courts after winning the U. S. claycourts championship last month in Chicago.

Further draws, subject to change, send Bedard against Richardson, and Fontana against Flam in singles matches on the last day.

Jim Bolton, non-playing captain of the Canadian team, did not game Lawrence Barclay or Paul Wilter, both of Vancouver, in any match.

US ROOKIES IN DOUBLES

He scheduled Bedard and Fontana to play against U.S. rookies Ron Holmberg and Barry MacKay in the doubles match Saturday.

He said circumstances could easily change the schedule.

The captain Billy Talbert, who said earlier he was satisfied with the draw, has the option of pairing Richardson and Flam in the doubles if the Americans fare badly in the opening matches.

Winner of this tourney will meet Britain in August to decide who will meet the European champion.

Marlins Edge Toronto 4-3; Tie for Second

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Marlins got back in the thick of the scrap for first place in the International League by again beating the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night, 4-3.

The victory, achieved in the last of the ninth when Toronto pitcher Lynn Lovegath walked Glenn Gorbous with the bases full, gave the Marlins a 5½ edge in the three - game series and put them in a tie for second with Rochester Red Wings, 2½ games behind the Leafs.

Rochester lost in 10 innings to Columbus 4-3 as the Jets broke a six - game losing streak. Buffalo ended Richmond's eight-game winning streak, 7-2, and fourth-place Montreal climbed a full three games back of Toronto by nipping Havana 7-6 in 11 innings.

Yoyo Davalillo's double followed by an infield out that advanced him to third and the single by Roman's winning run after Toronto had tied the score at 3-3 in the top of the ninth. Two intentional walks to Bob Bowman and Woody Smith loaded the bases and Lovegath replaced for a possible double play. But Lovegath walked Gorbous and walked Gorbous to force Davalillo home with the winning run.

Columbus blew a three-run lead in the ninth as Bob Kuzava was knocked out of the box after one out in 10th to beat the Red Wings and their ace general, Lou Deal. Consecutive singles by Curt Roberts, Russ Sullivan and Butch McCord accounted for the Rochester run in the overtime frame.

Singles by Jim Hamilton, George Shuba and Bob Wilson drove home the two runs in the 11th for Montreal against Jim Suttles in relief. Singles by Sugar Cain and Ike Boone started Richmond's winning rally behind Fred Hahn's three-hitter. One of Boone's hits was a double, his 21st homer, a 375-foot blast.

Argos Seek Deal With Alouettes

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, unable to reach contract terms with Quinite tackle Jim Bennett, are trying to trade him to Montreal Alouettes.

Jack Gotta, Argonaut coach, said Thursday that Montreal wanted his full salary guaranteed him should he be injured in training. Argos were agreeable if he would take a $500 cut in salary.

Bennett was willing to take a $250 cut, but the club refused to meet him halfway.

Bout Fiasco Not Fight Say Americans

NEW YORK (CP)—The consensus among New York sport writers Thursday seemed to be that Wednesday night's Toronto bout between Archie Moore and James J. Parker was more of a fiasco than a fight.

Moore scored a technical knockout over Parker in the ninth round after giving the Canadian a terrific beating.

Caswell Adams of the Journal-American, writing from Toronto, said Moore was great.

"But his opposition was not of a calibre to prove a darned thing. Parker not only couldn't punch nor box, he couldn't think."

Dan Daniel of the World-Telegram and Sun, who did not attend the fight, commented:

"Now that Moore has taken 'the tucker' without mishap, the International Boxing Club will go ahead with plans for his fight with Floyd Patterson in Yankee Stadium.

Daniel called the Toronto match an "assisted encounter." He said Parker was "inexperienced and confused."

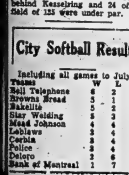
"As a medium for Moore's demonstration of his all-around superiority over Parker, the scrap in Canada was most convincing. As a contest, the affair left much to be desired."

CONSUEGRA TO HAVANA

CHICAGO (AP)—Pitcher Sandy Consuegra, who protested when his contract was sold by Chicago White Sox to Vancouver Mounties, has been sold again, this time to Havana in the Sugar Kings, team of his choice. Announcement of the new sale was made Thursday.

Leads Eastern Golf Tourney

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Knight of Springfield, Ill., a late comer to the professional golf circuit, shot a five-under-par 67 Thursday to take the first-round lead in the Eastern Open.



A stroke behind him was Jerry Kesselring of Toronto at 68, another of the first-round tie when he was trapped on the 18th hole and took a five, one over par. Knight and Kesselring had 36-hole birdies.

Fifty-six were tied a stroke behind Kesselring and 24 of the field of 125 were under par.

Agricultural Federation Urges Research

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — The Canadian Federation of Agriculture has called for stepped-up research in agriculture, scientifically, economically and socially, and more comprehensive study courses in farming.

The board of directors of the federation is holding a national convention here which ends today. Their recommendations are based on proposals made by the federation's policy - making committee.

The board said important improvements and expansion of present research and extension programs, particularly at agricultural colleges and universities, are necessary if progress in agriculture is to keep pace with the rest of the community.

Centenary

CENTENARY — Mr. H. Curran, Chatham, and Mr. G. S. Martin, Frankford, were in charge of the Sunday morning service at Centenary Church. During the service, Mr. Curran contributed a solo, "Living for Jesus", and Mr. Martin used as his theme, "Going His Way" in a most interesting address on the power of prayer.

Centenary Young People visited Trenhman's for a ball-game on Friday evening.

Mrs. A. Sills and Miss Peggy Sergeant attended the Wilson-Faul wedding in Stone Church, on Saturday afternoon.

Urges Canadians Cut Construction Plans for Year

OTTAWA (CP) — James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada, has called on Canadians to trim their construction plans to ease the threat of inflation.

He warned Thursday that useless work on some projects is postponed or stretched out this year, Canada will be in for a "substantial" boost in prices.

He set an example by announcing that work on the central bank's new eight-story regional office at Toronto will be reduced to half-pace. The big granite, limestone and marble building was to have been ready for opening in October, 1957. Completion will be delayed one year—until October, 1958.

CUT FEDERAL WORKS

Mr. Coyne's statement was based among reports of growing federal concern over rising prices. Federal works projects may be reduced this year by some $20,000,000 as a result of a tightening labor market and a scarcity of construction materials, particularly steel and cement.

POLICE DILEMMA

TORONTO (CP) — In an attempt to spare the feelings of a group of children, police Thursday kept a horse standing for 90 minutes with a broken leg, but were finally forced to shoot it as the children watched after adults complained of the delay.

The horse had run away and dashed against a moving car. Police waited in vain for a van to arrive to take the injured animal away.

TRAINING FOR PASTORS

GUELPH (CP)—About 85 rural clergymen this week exchanged their clerical collars for overalls and took a course at the Ontario Agricultural College which concerned the saving of soils rather than souls. College chaplain Rev. W. A. Young said the course is a "great thing" for rural clergymen, "because a minister who doesn't know anything about farming sure isn't going to get too far in a rural church."

Coast Guard Says 34 Missing Italian Line Reports Seven

Docker Defends Expenses for Gin and Cigars

LONDON (AP) — Sir Bernard Docker, portly deposed emperor of one of Britain's biggest manufacturing combines, Friday stoutly defended the bills of cigars, cigars, whisky and gin in expense accounts.

"No one can reasonably deny the importance of such articles in the day-to-day contacts of high-level business," said the former chairman of the Birmingham Small Arms Corporation.

"Any businessman knows that the courtesies of life are of considerable value in his endeavors to increase trade."

Sir Bernard's view came in connection with his struggle to regain the BSA chairmanship.

Docker was fired from the job he had held since 1941 in a tussle of personalities and amid charges of overspending. He and his wife, and his socialite wife, the blonde Lady Norah Docker.

Brothers Killed In Car Accident At Smith Falls

SMITH'S FALLS (CP) — Two brothers were killed and the wife of one of them critically injured early today when their car jumped off a straight stretch of road near here and struck a tree between two trees.

The dead were identified by police as Ralph Condie, 72, and Cecil Condie, 64, both residents of neighboring South Elmsley township.

Mrs. Cecil Condie, 50, was brought to hospital here with both legs broken and possible internal injuries. Her husband was not severed from the leg.

Mrs. Condie lay helpless in the wreckage for nearly six hours. Residents said they heard a crash about 5:30 a.m., but could see nothing. The car was found in the ditch about 7:30 a.m. by a farmer on his way to milking.

Polish Airmen Flee to Austria

VIENNA (Reuters)—Two student airmen landed a Polish military plane near Krems in Austria, today and asked for political asylum, according to the Austrian police.

They said they fled Poland because of the bad living conditions there.

They were identified as Bogdan Blahnicki, 20, and Jan Pacek, 21. They said they had been stationed on an air base near Warsaw.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Italian Line sought today to untangle the knot of confusion reports on how many persons are missing in the Andrea Doria disaster.

Friday night the line assigned 11 employees called by its name as accurate tabulation of the passengers and crew rescued before the sleek luxury liner went to the bottom of the Atlantic after a collision Wednesday night with the Swedish ship Stockholm.

The Italian Line's death toll stands at six. Five crew members of the Stockholm, which limped into port here Friday with the last of the Doria's survivors, also died.

The Italian Line said before the 1,706 passengers aboard the doomed ship, seven are accounted for. Coast Guard figures outlined 34 persons as missing. On the basis of New York police figures, no one is missing.

CANADIAN MISSING

The arrival of the Stockholm left all but one of 19 Canadians or Canadian residents known to have been aboard the Doria accounted for.

Not accounted for is Milan Babic whom friends in Canada described as a Yugoslav immigrant who lived in Toronto until about a year ago when he went to Rome.

Babic was the only Canadian to be accounted for was Ezio Colegrandi, 23, who came to from Toronto, who turned up after the arrival of the Stockholm. There were 30 Canadians aboard the Stockholm's passengers.

Meanwhile, the captains of the two ships kept silent about a possible cause of the crash. Both ships were equipped with modern radar sets.

Capt. Gunnar Nordenson, 52-year-old skipper of the Stockholm, told reporters the radar on his ship was working before and during the fog-cloaked collision.

The veteran seafarer declined, on the advice of counsel, to say whether the electronic eyes were in use aboard the big fog the at the time of the crash.

The Italian skipper also is fame for the collision.

Capt. Piero Calamai, 58-year-old Genoese master of the luxury liner Doria, conferred with Italian Line officials Friday. He, too, was tight-lipped about the cause of the disaster.

TALES OF DISORDER

The final group of survivors brought more tales of the disorder that reigned during the sinking 30,000-ton Doria.

Some passengers said the first lifeboats away from the Doria were filled largely with crew members. Other survivors said the crew performed well in the emergency.

Crew members bitterly challenged the charges that they had failed in their duty.

Some of the Canadian survivors also blamed apathy by crew members for the confusion but said many of them were waiters and stewards and not trained seamen.

Toronto Alderman, W. Frank Hales, one of the last to leave, said the crew were the first in the lifeboats, said "it was the law of the sea."

"In fairness to the Italian crew on my lifeboat, they believe they were sailors," he added.

Fantasia Knifes Way Into Blueland In First Heavy Morning Star Action

By STEWART MacLEOD

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) Infantrymen representing the fictitious country of Fantasia knifed across a neutral zone Friday night and mixed it up with the Blueland troops in the first heavy action of exercise Sunday Morning Star.

There were few details about the first skirmish but officials at exercise headquarters, 12-15 miles from the front, said action would not reach its peak until Sunday or Monday when simulated atomic bombs are used in the army's biggest peacetime exercise.

After that the 200 umpires—many from the Canadian staff college—will be busy with casualties.

Maj-Gen. J. M. Rockingham, commander of the 1st Canadian Infantry Division which is staging the exercise, is here at the front since early this week.

The exercise is being directed by Maj-Gen. E. C. Plow, chief of the Army's eastern command.

When action reaches full speed, the type of fighting will likely undergo a complete change. Umpires will study wind conditions before they assess casualties.

Six prisoners were captured Friday and held for questioning, but officers said all prisoners would later be returned to their respective armies. Because of limited food rations issued to each unit, too many prisoners could upset the food system, they said.

Concealment of troops is one of the main objectives of the exercise, and Maj-Gen. Rockingham says atomic warfare "requires tremendous concealment."

'SEVERAL DAYS' NEEDED TO DRAFT STEEL CONTRACT

Three-Year Agreement Boosts Wages 28 Cents

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel negotiators worked today to translate into contract language a three-year agreement which will end the crippling country-wide steel strike.

A settlement of the 28-day strike was announced in New York Thursday but formal end will not come until next week when the pact actually is formally signed. Union president David J. McDonald said it would take "several days" to complete the contracts with the 500 companies.

The contract — longest negotiated in the union's 49-year history—calls for a direct wage boost of 10.5 cents an hour in the first year, 5.2 cents in the second year, and an additional 9.1 cents in the third year. This adds up to an over-all total in wages of 28 cents per hour.

The union pegged the over-all settlement at 45.6 cents an hour. Industry sources estimate the three-year "no strike package is worth 24 cents and 55 cents."

HIGHER PRICES

A price increase of $10 or more a ton on steel—now costing an average of $124—is widely predicted. This would hike the U.S. steel bill by about $1,000,000,000.

Many steel producers' must wait until the signing of the contracts before they can go back to their mills. Others, however, are prepared to resume operations as quickly as possible once the agreement is signed. Industry sources estimate it will require from three to 10 days to get steel into full production.

Besides the wage increase, the union also won a 52-week layoff pay plan providing benefits equal to 65 per cent of take home pay; a union shop clause, and a review every six months for a cost-of-living increase if warranted.

There is no provision in the new contract for reopening of wages.

Bill Is Passed To Allow Chicago Divert Water

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Friday night passed a bill to permit Chicago to divert Lake Michigan water from Lake Michigan. Opponents contended the bill violates an agreement with Canada on waters of the Great Lakes.

The bill now goes to the White House, consumed much of the House and Senate's harshest words as the chamber pressed to finish its business and wind up the 84th congress.

The measure, vetoed in another version by President Eisenhower in 1954, would authorize the Chicago sanitary district—for a three-year test period—to divert 1,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan, in addition to 3,200 feet a second.

STATES OPPOSED

It was opposed by other Great Lakes states, whose spokesmen contended it would lower water levels and thus harm lake shipping. They also contended against the bill is that Canada has an interest in the lakes and opposed the increase diversion at Chicago.

Nasser Orders Mobilization Will Meet Force With Force

CAIRO (Reuters) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser told cheering crowds today that Egypt has proclaimed a general mobilization and will "meet force with force."

The president, returning from Alexandria where he announced the nationalization of the Suez Canal, addressed the crowds from the presidency.

"Britain has no right to interfere in Egyptian affairs, including the Suez Canal," he said.

"As for France, leave it to the Algerian to reply to give her a lesson," he said amid cheers.

Crowds earlier had converged on the main station from all parts of the city and hailed Nasser as "the champion of nationalization."

Nasser angrily attacked Britain for sending a note protesting Egypt's nationalization of the canal.

Nasser also fired a salvo of criticism against French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau for "insulting" the Egyptian ambassador to Paris.

He said since Egypt nationalized the canal 40 hours ago, navigation has been running smoothly and orderly.

"We shall not interfere with navigation in the canal; on the contrary, we will offer all facilities. I strongly warn the imperialists against any idea that their interference will cause obstruction of navigation in the canal, or on the fore put all responsibility on Britain and France for any obstruction of navigation which may result."

U.S. Business Braces Self For New Wage-Price Jumps

NEW YORK (AP) — United States business braced itself this week for another round of higher wages, higher costs and higher prices.

Steel set the tone.

Steel industry leaders served notice they would "absorb" the "substantial" price boosts as soon as the ink was dry on new three-year contracts with the United Steel Workers Union.

Settlement of the month — old strike was expected to be followed by a hectic scramble for hard-to-get steel with hungry customers willing to swallow hefty price increases.

Prospects of an early return to capacity operations boosted steel share prices and helped set the up business sentiment all along the line. There was a rosy tinge, too, to forecasts about the industry's long-range outlook. Vast tonnages would be required for a government - backed highway building program; expanded oil drilling operations would consume unprecedented pipe. The big auto industry would soon be in the market for steel for its 1957 models.

States Democratic Congress Backed Eisenhower Program

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Dem., Tex.) claimed today the Democratic - controlled 85th Congress gave President Eisenhower "substantially all of what he wanted.

But Senator William F. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader, said it could have done better with Republicans in command.

The record of the two - year term, which ended last midnight, shows that on some sharply-divided issues, Democrats furnished the president the votes he needed to enact his programs into law.

On the other hand, the Congress killed, ignored, or altered many of his requests.

Two Railroad Brotherhoods May Join Labor Congress

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — An independent railway brotherhood potentially certain to join the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress has set the machinery in motion for membership.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, which has 12,000 members in Canada and 84,000 in the United States, decided in Winnipeg this week to seek affiliation with the CLC in line with the AFL-CIO in the U.S. It is expected to be accepted into the Canadian group.

The more powerful Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which has 31,000 of its 237,000 members in Canada—is considering the CLC and AFL-CIO affiliation with a good possibility of action, it was learned.

The two brotherhoods are among the few railway unions independent running trades unions—whose members work on the trains and tracks—that have refused to join or from joining central labor bodies. Their main objection has usually has been spurred by recent amalgamations of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations in the U.S. and of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor.

CLC officials said Friday the congress has not yet received a formal application. But a spokesman for the firemen-engineers said he received a letter from Winnipeg saying an official application will be made shortly.

GOES TO COUNCIL

The application is expected to be before a meeting of the 16-man executive council of the congress Aug. 13-14. The council is empowered to admit individual unions to the CLC.

Secretary - Treasurer Donald MacDonald of the CLC says the congress welcomes the move of the railway enginemen, who would be the first all-running trades groups to affiliate with the congress.

A. J. Kelley, Canadian head of the AFL-CIO railway employees' union, said there is "some possibility" of the BRT booking up with the AFL-CIO and the Canadian congress.

"However, there are several details that will have to be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned," he said. "In the meantime we would have to be under understanding on the extent of autonomy the congress would accord the brotherhood.

Shark Carrying Explosives Kills Two Men

PLYMOUTH, England (Reuters)—A shark, toting two pounds of high explosives, turned on four men in a dinghy and caused the death of two of them, a coroner's inquest was told Friday.

The men were killed when the explosives went off as the shark swam underneath their boat.

A Royal Navy officer told the coroner that the shark was spotted while preparations were being made for diving operations.

The men tried to scare the shark off by throwing stones at it.

The officer said the line linking the bomb to the beacon tangled around the shark, who turned and attacked their dinghy.

IS NOT ASHAMED OF PENSION LEVEL DECLARES MARTIN

Rejects Opposition Appeals for Increases

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin says the Liberal government "isn't afraid to go to the country in an election on its old age pensions record.

That was his comment in the Commons Friday to repeated opposition demands for an immediate increase in the $46-a-month pensions paid to all over 70.

"We have no reason to be ashamed on our federal account of what we are doing for our senior citizens," Mr. Martin said replying to opposition criticisms during debate on his departmental spending program.

NOT DRAGGING FEET

The federal government was not dragging its feet as both progressive Conservative and CCF spokesmen charged. On a per capita basis, Canada was spent more and did more for aged persons than any other country in the world.

Commitments this year for old age security totalled about $360,000,000, almost $12,000,000 more than last year.

Opposition members described the government's payments as being in an "impossible" position and leading "a miserable existence."

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) said it might be wise to raise the pensions in view of approaching general elections.

Dealing with pension regulations, Charlie Gillis (CCF — Cape Breton South) said Commonwealth countries should make their social security program reciprocal. Canada should extend such reciprocity to the United States.

MARTIN UNPERTURBED

Mr. Martin said the matter was discussed in London recently, but there were many difficulties involved because of differences in the various schemes. The same problem would be discussed with the U.S. next week.

Liberal opposition members appealed for less restrictive limitations in the definition of "totally and permanently disabled" persons that qualify for disabled persons allowances.

Mr. Martin said the regulations were eased last winter, with the result a few hundred more were mentally deficient persons, got increased allowances.

Dr. Dan McIvor (L—Fort William) argued against spending more money on social security.

"Sure, we'd all like to see all pensions raised to $100 a week," 70-year-old member. "But what taxes would be increased to raise the money? An increase in the sales tax would hit everybody. I'd like to see more for the veterans and others, but where are taxes to be increased?"

3-Week Human Problems Study Ends With Duke Delighted With Results

By ROBERT RICE

OXFORD, Eng. (CP) — A rare Commonwealth experiment has ended with the Queen's husband and 220 others returning from her domains at least a little wiser about man and his world.

With a special banquet Friday night, like a graduation party, the Duke of Edinburgh closed his conference on the human problems of today's communities. Everyone, including the Duke, had said it had been more than were a success, but few could say exactly why.

"This wasn't the kind of conference where you add two and two and get four," explained Richardson Phillips, a Brockville, Ont., electrical manufacturer who felt everything he learned in three weeks will be repaid with interest in the future.

"The full fruits of this conference are still to grow and still to ripen," said Sir Philip Morris, Bristol University vice-chancellor when he summed up today the work of three weeks.

During that time, the conference members heard leading British, Canadian and overseas speakers, talked to their Commonwealth colleagues and even sat around Britain to see for themselves what makes industry tick. Many a man can get the best out of it, in conference and recreation.

Typically a representative of each of the 20 study groups set up by the Duke sat back to back for the full plenary session. Each had special subject—from satisfactions at work to social life and loyalties.

It was a friendly three weeks. As a warm English sun roasted Oxford where the conference met for final meetings, the Duke

Great Britain Applies Sanctions Against Egypt

Pineau And Lloyd Invite Dulles To Parley On Monday

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today applied economic sanctions against Egypt in reprisal for seizure of the Suez Canal Company by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

After urgent cabinet meetings the government announced it had decided to deny Egypt access to sterling. The measure also freezes Egyptian sterling balances in London as well as the assets of the Suez Canal Company in Britain.

At present Egypt's sterling balances stand at £100,000,000. The next release of £20,000,000 is due next January.

Of more immediate effect will be the impact on the Egyptian government's current account in London.

Prime Minister Eden called a further emergency meeting of the ministers this morning to discuss the Suez crisis. Military chiefs of staff were also present.

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd have invited State Secretary Dulles to join them in London Monday for a full-scale meeting on the Suez Canal crisis, authorized sources said today.

It was not known whether Dulles, who is in Lima, Peru, could reach London in time for the meeting. In any case it was expected a U.S. representative would be there.

An international tug of war over the assets and future of the Suez Canal Company was shaping up in the wake of Egypt's abrupt seizure of the great waterway.

A British protest against the takeover met a sharp rejection from the Egyptian government.

British officials were said to feel that with joint backing it would be practicable to challenge Egypt's control of the canal by sending through a British ship which would refuse to recognize Egyptian sovereignty.

Egypt announced Thursday the canal has been nationalized and military law imposed on the canal zone.

BANKS WARNED

French financial and diplomatic circles speculated, meanwhile, that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser intended to enforce his decree freezing foreign assets of the Suez Canal Company and demanding that they be turned over to his new nationalized firm.

Canal company directors in France and Britain met all banks on notice Friday that the company's holdings were being shaped and wherever they be" are still its property. Directors warned the banks to ignore any orders given them by the Egyptian government.

The company is French-controlled with the British government holding 44 per cent of the stock.

Officials also wondered what Nasser intended to do about the established practice of most shipping firms to pay canal transit charges in Paris and London—not in Egypt—to the credit of the company. This practice has been followed by canal vessel users of the waterway.

Another war speculation whether Nasser would go so far as to constrain shipping firms to pay off in Egypt, under threatening to deny them access to the canal. Such action would violate the 1888 Constantinople convention guaranteeing free access to all ships in peace time.

BLAST ACTION

British newspapers continue to blast Nasser's action. They declare the Egyptian leader has forfeited the seizure or risk their political and economic position in the Middle East.

The Egyptian press and radio hailed Egypt's move and both thousands of sympathetic words. They also pointed at length the unfavorable reaction in Washington, London and Paris.

Indian newspapers generally conceded that Egypt had the right to nationalize the canal but they deplored the manner and timing of Nasser's act.

Army and RCAF Officers Retire

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian armed forces announced retirement of their most brilliant officers to-day.

Retirements of Maj.-Gen. Elliot Rodger, 48, vice-chief of the army general staff, and Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant, 46, chief of the air staff, as the air force's principal command, were announced Friday by defence department.

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

BLAMES PEDESTRIAN FOR CAR ACCIDENT

Driver of car unfavorably involved in a Front street crash this morning blamed a woman for the mishap.

John Williamson, RR 4 Trenton, told police he was driving south along the main street when near McAnnany street a woman dashed out in front of his automobile. Swerving to avoid her, he said, he crashed into a parked car owned by Percy Gryce, RR 3, Belleville.

TWO PERSONS HURT WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Two persons were injured, one of them receiving slight concussion, early Friday afternoon as the result of a two-car collision at the intersection of Church and Dundas streets.

In the R.C.A.F. hospital at Trenton is Wallace Hawken, 21, who suffered scalp lacerations and slight concussion when he slammed against the windshield of the car in which he was riding.

Also injured was Elizabeth G. DeForge, who suffered scalp lacerations.

Hawken was passenger in a car driven by George G. Wafler, of No. 6 Jr. R.C.A.F. station, Trenton. Church street, while the other injured party was in a car driven by Margaret Quantrill, of Belleville.

Police said Wafler was northbound on Church street and on entered the intersection at Dundas street was struck by the other vehicle westbound on Dundas.

Extensive damage resulted to both vehicles.

Prowler Turned Out To Be Tomcat

There are all kinds of prowlers but it isn't often that city police get a call to chase away a cat.

Near midnight last night the city desk sergeant received a call that prowlers were operating outside a West Hill residence.

The police car made a quick trip to the address and officers scouted the premises without finding a trace of the suspected prowler.

What they did find, however, was a tomcat scratching at the screen of a back window.

COPPER PIPE STOLEN

A daylight theft of 66 feet of 5/8 inch copper pipe from a job on Victoria Ave. was reported by the public utilities commission. The pipe was taken during the noon hour on Friday.

Veteran Conductor, John Tanner, Retires After 46 Years on Railroad

JOHN TANNER

With a record of 46 years' service behind him, John Tanner, 162 Yeomans street, retires today as conductor on the Canadian National Railways.

Classed as one of the CNR's senior conductors running out of Toronto, Mr. Tanner completed his service on the Lakeshore Express, crack Toronto-Montreal holiday train, when railway officials were on hand at the north station to offer him congratulations and wish him the best of luck in retirement.

Born at Smeaton, 10 miles north of Stirling, Mr. Tanner has been a railroader since December 1910, when he started on the CNR at Belleville as brakeman. He was classed, as conductor in 1918 and since 1936 has been continuously on passenger service.

He has been on the Toronto-Montreal run for the past five years and now is along with his career was four years on the Detroit-Niagara Falls, N.Y., International run.

ALWAYS LIVED HERE

A bachelor, he has always made his home in Belleville where he is well known. He says he will keep completing four or five runs on the Lakeshore Express which passes through the city about noon.

He classes the Lakeshore Express as the "crack" train operating between Toronto and Montreal.

Extensive changes have taken place in the railroading industry during the years Mr. Tanner has been on the railroad, he says.

Contrary to the general opinion that long runs have become more sharply reduced train travel, the veteran conductor claims that the best trains are those which are regionized.

"You never see empty coaches on the Lakeshore Express," he says. "Despite bus and air travel there seems to be a demand for runs for everybody."

Owner of a cottage on Crowe River at Allan's Mills, Mr. Tanner is going to get in a lot of fishing there, which, in the past, his regular railways runs have interferred with.

Mr. Tanner's sons are about 300 lakes in the north in which I haven't fished as yet, and I'm going to try as many of them as I can."

He specializes in muskie, pickerel and bass fishing and also likes to do a bit of hunting. "At least now I'll be along with his boys," he says.

WORKED AT HOME

A former shantyman, Mr. Tanner, in his early teens, was a timber topper with a lumber company in the Buckhorn district near Peterborough.

But he decided that the life of a lumberman was not for him and has never regretted his decision to sign on as a railroader.

He is a life member of The Moira Lodge No. 13, has been a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Workers for the past 45 years, and proudly wears his 45-year pin on his conductor's uniform.

Great Variety Of Produce On City Market

Trading was active and produce plentiful on a typical midsummer local market this morning.

Raspberries were in good supply, particularly the blue variety, with reds selling at 55 cents and blues at 50 cents a quart.

Elsewhere other small fruit also sold well with red currants bringing 35 cents, white currants 25 cents, strawberries 17 cents and Montmorency cherries $1.50 per basket with stems, $1.00 without stems. A good offering of huckleberries sold at 60 cents a quart, $3. a basket.

Potatoes continued to sell up to $1. a basket and $4.50 per hamper. Carrots were in demand, a bunch three for 25 cents; beets sold up to 15 cents a bunch while radishes were five cents a bunch. Celery, of light supply here, sold at 25 cents a bunch, two for 25 cents. Cucumbers, all slicers, sold from 10 cents each up to two for 25 cents, according to size. Lettuce was 10-15 cents per head with cabbage 10-25 cents. Pencil-pod beans sold for 25 cents a quart while peas brought 25 cents a quart, $1. a basket.

Tomatoes, in good supply by one vendor, met a ready demand at 35 cents a pint, $2.50 a basket.

Eggs continued unchanged in price from last week, with extra large bringing 70 cents large, 65 cents; medium, 60 cents and small, 40 cents. Poultry was 50 cents for fowl and 35 cents for spring chickens.

Canon J. Brownlie Leaving Marmora Parish Pays Tributes at Reception

Popular rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, the Rev. Canon J. M. Brownlie leaves shortly to take up the rectorship of Holy Trinity Church, Chippawa, Ont.

Canon Brownlie has served St. Paul's parish for the past twelve years. His new appointment is his first outside his diocese since his ordination 39 years ago.

Members of the congregations of St. Paul's Church and St. Thomas' churches paid tangible and other tributes to Canon and Mrs. Brownlie at a "farewell" reception tendered them in St. Paul's Parish Hall Thursday night.

Evidence of the high esteem and respect in which the rector and Mrs. Brownlie were held in St. Paul's parish was given in a summer of beautiful gifts including a purse containing a substantial sum of money.

Recovering from the element of surprise Canon Brownlie gracefully expressed the appreciation of Mrs. Brownlie and himself. "Really I didn't know we had earned this respect and deep affection so manifested," he said.

Canon Brownlie leaves to serve an old historic church built on crown lands given by William IV.

He told the Ontario Intelligencer today that he is not only leaving a parish but tearing up roots in his home town of Marmora, where he served all his ministry, leaving close friends among many of the Marmora branch of the Canadian Legion.

Following ordination, Canon Brownlie's first charge was at Bloomfield but soon moved to three years. He went to Wellington, where he served St. Andrew's Church and Hillier for seven years then going to Athens and where he spent the next seven years. He has been rector of St. Paul's Church, Marmora, since that time.

Canon Brownlie will deliver his farewell sermon to St. Paul's parishioners on Sunday.

Simple Acts of Courtesy Smooth Hurried Life of City

For those that think some city folks have hearts as hard as the pavements they pound, here are two stories that might help a change of mind . . .

Friday morning on North Front Street, across from King Edward School, a north-bound driver suddenly stalled his car at the head of a line of traffic and flung open his door, causing traffic on both sides of the street to halt. Any traineau drivers in the lineup might have felt over as apparently stupid act was dissipated when a two-year-old boy climbed across the road in front of the stalled traffic.

Had it not been for the presence of mind of the unknown driver the child might well have been killed, or at best suffered serious injury.

A driver of a city bus let a blind man off at the CNR north station about 1.15 p.m. yesterday. While counting change the driver noticed his blind passenger standing on the pavement undecided on his bearings.

The driver forgot about his time schedule, climbed out of the bus and guided the man across the street and well up the sidewalk leading to the station.

Colored cheese brought a high of 33 5/16 cents and a low of 32½ cents. Only 4,613 boxes were sold with 532 colored cheese being held.

Judith Sargent Killed Beneath Farm Tractor

Judith Sargent, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sargent, 2nd concession of Sidney township, was fatally injured Friday afternoon when she was crushed beneath a farm tractor which she was operating on her father's farm.

Miss Sargent was cultivating with the tractor when she apparently backed over a hill and close to a ditch running across the top of the field. The tractor slipped and turned over, pinning her beneath the machine in the bottom of the seven foot ditch.

No one saw the accident but children playing at the barn happened to look down the ditch and found the overturned tractor.

The girl's father lost an arm some years ago when as a lad he was injured by a gun.

Provincial Police Constable Ivan Tilley, who investigated the accident, stated there would be no inquest.

Born and educated in Belleville, Miss Sargent had attended St. B. Seminary and last year went to Belleville Collegiate.

She attended Christ Church and was a member of Sunday School.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sargent; two sisters, Peggy and Patsy; three brothers, Jack, Peter and Fred, and a grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Sargent.

Trenton Airmen Jump to Safety As Jet Crashes

EDMONTON. (CP) — Two RCAF officers from the Trenton air force base parachuted to safety Friday minutes before their T-33 jet training plane crashed 12 miles north of Bonnyville, Alta., 150 miles northeast of Edmonton.

The two were identified as Flt.-Lt. Len Wilson of Woodville, Ont., and Flt.-Lt. Jerry Pinder of Mount Forest.

An RCAF spokesman here said the plane crashed shortly after take-off from the Cold Lake, Alta., base on a flight from Winnipeg.

Cause of the crash was not determined.

Will Start Drilling on Nickel Discovery Found in Raglan Twp.

BANCROFT Staking has been extended for a distance of some 30 miles along the strike of the nickel-copper discovery on the property of Bagamac Nickel Mines Ltd., located in Raglan twp., some 25 miles east of here. Raglan is one of the string of townships under the general control of Little Long Lac.

Meanwhile the list of companies in the rush to state ground are Frobisher, Rio Tinto Mining Co., of Canada, the Headway-Coulee group, Chimo Mines and Roche Lake Lac Minerals, International Nickel representatives have been on the ground investigating.

Some government geologists were sceptical when first informed of the nickel-copper discovery, as indications of mineralization of this kind were misleading on geological maps. However, representatives of the companies who visited the Raglan area were quick to state staking ground in the area.

WILL DRILL

Gordon Watts, engineer, would not comment definitely regarding the grade of ore disclosed by exploration so far, on the ground that there was altogether too limited. Drilling to confirm the extent of the ore body is being carried on by a number of crews in a series of trenches will help tell the story. But a look into the formation that cut across the one zone shows widths of 50 to 100 feet and that the zone is at least open at both ends. Nickel appears in pentlandite, which is rich in chalcopyrite, with borazite plentiful.

The ore picture disclosed to date has sufficient dimensions and indications consistent to warrant drilling and the machines are scheduled to go into operation shortly. Drilling under a 10,000-foot contract.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

A geological survey under way, covering the entire 1,000-acre property, is expected to be completed this week. This promises to give leads for future work, including the diamond drilling program.

Of the 3,000,000-share authorized capital, 1,050,000 shares, of which 600,000 shares are pooled, have been issued for the property. Little Long Lac has purchased 150,000 shares at a dollar a share and optioned 1,400,000 shares th provide an additional $4,150,000 if the options are exercised.

Gordon Watts, manager of Little Long Lac, is president of the new company, J. C. Hansberger vice-president, and S. J. Bird, Willard Gordon and Thomas Hodgson directors. D. Hellens is manager.

SEA COLLISION

John de Mayer, 37, an agricultural economist also from Toronto, smiled some of the tension but was critical of what he termed their "lack of organization."

"At no time was there a single police representative on board. It wasn't 3 a.m. that I heard the first announcement. It didn't was to the crew in Italian, calling them to assemble."

There were conflicting reports about the Doria's radar. A passenger said the radar equipment was not rotating hours before the wreck. But a crew member said it was working.

The hows and whys of the collision undoubtedly will be left to await formal investigations. Four probes are planned in the U.S. and elsewhere.

PRAISE FROM IKE

President Eisenhower praised the work of the rescue ships and their officers. He said the president had been carried out in "the finest tradition of the maritime service."

In Rome, the Pope sent a message to Italian Premier Antonio Segni, expressing his sorrow over the loss of life. The Pope also conveyed his apostolic blessing to survivors and their families.

Crew members of the Andrea Doria blamed the disaster largely by some passengers' that the crew panicked and failed duties.

"Were we cowardly?" asked Cadet Juliano Prelli. "Why don't you ask Rudy Bacco, whose baby I saved, if we were cowards?"

"We worked so hard to save so many lives," said another cadet, Mario Marucci. "Perhaps they didn't understand. The passengers were highly excitable, fighting among themselves. They made it difficult."

Marucci complained that passengers failed to understand the crew's inability to lower the Doria's life boats because of the heavy list of the ship.

Commander Piero Chiodi, chief crew member, maintained that orders did come through the public address system, contrary to stories from some passengers, but that they were largely ignored by the panic-stricken crowd.

Said the ship's Roman Catholic chaplain, Rev. R. V. Sebastian Natta:

"The men performed in the best tradition of the sea. They were courageous to the point of death in aiding passengers to escape unharmed."

Rollins Family Picnics at Tweed

Last Tuesday about 111 members of the Rollins family gathered at Victoria Memorial Park to hold their thirty-first annual picnic.

At noon the tables were well-laden with good things to eat and the call to dinner was given by the president. All enjoyed the social, self-satisfying feast.

Percy Rollins, president, later called the meeting to order and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many in attendance. The treasurer's report was read showing a balance of $40.00 on hand.

The slate of officers chosen by the nominating committee was accepted. The memorial service was consoling to the bereaved ones and was ably carried out by Rev. Mark Rollins reading two fitting poems.

MESSAGES ACKNOWLEDGED

The secretary read messages acknowledging cards sent to bereaved families and friends who are shut-ins.

Members attended this reunion from Montreal to St. Thomas, Mr. Cole and Mrs. McNeil from St. Thomas were considered to be among the kith and kin and made many new acquaintances.

The past presidents spoke briefly and all hoped for many more picnics. Mrs. Ina Rollins of Tweed, welcomed the Rollins to Tweed and hoped they would have a good time.

Mr. Albert McMullen said "he was glad to be at the reunion and mentioned the greater reunion beyond asking each and everyone to be ready, for the call comes early in life to prepare themselves for that great day."

Mrs. Will Rollins led in a singsong.

PRIZE WINNERS

Prizes were given out by the treasurer to the following winners:

The oldest married couple on the grounds—Mr. and Mrs. John Rollins, Plainfield, 53 years married.

The oldest man present—Albert McMullen, Ivanhoe, 91 years old.

The oldest lady present—Mrs. Sam Rollins, Tweed, 86 years old.

The youngest child present—David Fleming, nine months.

The person coming the farthest distance, —Mrs. Cole and Mrs. McNeil, St. Thomas.

The lady with the largest waistline— Mrs. Roy Wilson, Belleville.

The man with the smallest waistline—Wm. Rollins, Tweed.

The gathering moved to the ball field where races and ball game took place.

Boys' race: 6-8 years—Billy Tufts; girls' race: 6-8 years—Doreen Hubbel; boys' race: 9-12 years—Lynell McAdam; girls' race: 9-12 years—Joan Hubbel; minute race—Mrs. Roy Rollins.

A ball game finished a very pleasant day for the Rollins family.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

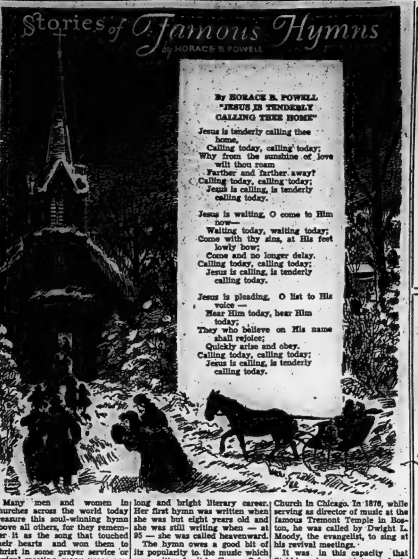
By WINNIFRED H. WILSON

There would never be enough oysters, pigs feet, tripe, or whatever the general choice happened to be, if we all had same taste. Fortunately, our likes and dislikes of what constitutes a good meal differ to an extraordinary degree, and so do the birds'. Even the insectivorous members of Birdland are quite divided in their preferences.

Absolutely no bird likes all kinds of insects, although some are less conservative in their tastes than others. Probably at least one reason why the Cardinal is able to remain in one spot all year round is because its taste is so versatile. It feeds on seeds, wild fruit, and many types of insects, including locusts, cicadas, and even potato bugs.

EATS BORERS

Nearly all kinds of Woodpeckers eat borers, but the Flicker devours ants almost exclusively. In fact, Richard H. Pough in his Audubon Bird Guide, tells us that the stomach of one single Flicker was "found to contain more than 3,000." While poor-wills go for all sorts of night flying insects which can be scooped up into their big mouths as they fly past, but they especially enjoy June bugs.



And finding Bunting is a speed-eater most of the year, but when in season, the injurious brown-tails moth is Baltic Warbler's favorite, particularly the Tennessee, Nashville, and Parula, like small weevils. The Woodcock really lives on ordinary earthworms.

Because of its small size, the House Wren can deal with the tiniest insects. It is expert at catching whitecabbage butter flies too, and little spiders. Another name for a Kingbird is Bee Martin, because of its propensity for eating bees. It is said that only the drones are taken, but if that is so, this must be a discerning bird.

Of all the great assortment of insect food, two kinds especially sold our locust. Apparently Rose-breasted Grosbeaks have a great hankeng for bugs. Terrence wrote, "If the number of Rose-breasted Grosbeaks could be greatly increased on the farms the potato bug scourges would soon disappear." And scientists tell us that tent caterpillars are particularly attractive to Cuckoos. These birds are almost the only ones that regularly eat hairy caterpillars, and they prefer much restrict their diet to them. It is said that the interior of a Cuckoo's stomach is so coated with the caterpillar hairs that it looks as though it had a fur lining. We wonder how many caterpillars could possibly be appetizing!

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

"JESUS IS TENDERLY CALLING THEE HOME"

By HORACE B. POWELL

Jesus is tenderly calling thee home—
Calling today, calling today;
Why from the sunshine of love will thou roam
Farther and farther away?
Calling today, calling today;
Jesus is calling, is tenderly calling today.

Jesus is waiting, O come to Him now—
Waiting today, waiting today;
Come with thy sins, at His feet lowly bow;
Come and no longer delay.
Calling today, calling today;
Jesus is calling, is tenderly calling today.

Jesus is pleading, O list to His voice—
Hear Him today, hear Him today;
They who believe on His name shall rejoice;
Quickly arise and obey.
Calling today, calling today;
Jesus is calling, is tenderly calling today.

Many men and women in churches across the world today treasure this soul-winning hymn above all others, for they remember it as the song that touched their hearts and won them to Christ in some prayer service or revival meeting, many years ago.

It is one of the best known and best loved of the many gospel songs which Fanny Crosby, the blind hymnist, wrote during her long and bright literary career. Her first hymn was written when she was but eight years old and she was still writing them — at 95 — she was called heavenward.

The hymn owes a good bit of its popularity to the music which was written for it by George Coles Stebbins. A native of Carlton, New York, Stebbins studied music and began his gospel singing career as a soloist at the First Baptist Church in Chicago. In 1876, while serving as director of music at the famous Tremont Temple in Boston, he was called by Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, to sing at his revival meetings.

It was in this capacity that Stebbins became interested in Fanny Crosby's hymns and, while he had given it song-wings, he used it frequently in his evangelistic services.

A Lift for Living

Hope Springs From God

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Why hope?—"Hope springs eternal in the human breast." Who wrote those words? A born optimist, one of those fellows who always look on the bright side of things? Not a child of fortune who lived in sunny circumstances. That poem was struck off — quoted lines of poetry was penned by Alexander Pope, whose body was deformed and whose physical infirmity rendered his life "one long disease."

The springs of hope lie deep below the surface of life. That is why they often flow freshest in the hearts of those who live under the hardest conditions. "Hope springs eternal" because it comes from an eternal source. It is like the hope people in a tough place that Saint Paul wrote: "May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing." And God did.

Hope is a compound of desire, expectation, patience and joy. As such, it is the indispensable medicine of the soul.

Although today is the actual anniversary of their first general's death, Jewish are observing all in 1956 as the 400th anniversary year.

NICODEMUS

Today honors Nicodemus, the "master of Israel" who came to Jesus by night and engaged him in the famous discussion of "how can a man be born again?". St. John, in his third chapter, tells that this important personage, a Pharisee, obviously representing other Pharisees who did not come, appeared before Jesus on some sort of secret mission which he never got chance to mention. The Lord dominated conversation from its beginning and we do not know what Nicodemus had intended to talk about.

We do know, however, from succeeding passages, that Nicodemus was much impressed. In John Chapter 7, verses 50-52. It is stated that Nicodemus, through his high rank among Jewish authorities was able to prevent temporarily the arrest of Jesus. In John, Chapter 19, verses 39-40, it is recorded that, with Joseph of Arimathea, Nicodemus got custody of the Lord's body, embalmed it and put it in the tomb.

The Church assumes, quite logically, that Nicodemus became a Christian.

DAYS AND CUSTOMS OF ALL FAITHS

Soldier Who Found Jesuits

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

One out of every seven Roman Catholic missionaries is a Jesuit, that is, a member of Rome's largest order, the Society of Jesus. In 74 countries of the earth are 32,000 members of the Society, operating more than 400 schools.

The reason for bringing up all these statistics today is that this is a very special day for the Jesuits the 400th anniversary of the death of their founder, St. Ignatius Loyola. They have come a long way since the stern, dynamic, and ambitious soldier, in 1534, gathered a half-dozen friends around him and began to devise the military type of spiritual discipline for which the Jesuits are famous.

Loyola's prominence as a church man probably surprised him as much as it surprised anyone. What he really wanted was the glamour life of a warrior, and it was for this that he trained himself. Born in Spain the year before Columbus discovered America, young Ignatius the son of an impoverished noble family, grew up as a page in the court of Ferdinand and Isabella. He mingled with the knights and dreamed of the day when he could ride off to battle.

A TURNING POINT

The military career he finally achieved was cut short when, in 1521, his leg was shattered in battle The long period of recovery was a turning point in his life. Lying helpless, he could do nothing but read, and finding nothing else available, he read and re-read the life of Christ and the lives of the saints. These books, and his reflections about them, made him resolve to give his life to the service of God. Into the religious life Ignatius brought the habits and psychology of the soldier. He developed a sort of mental manual-of-arms known as t's Spiritual Exercizes, a set of rules for posture, breathing, concentration and contemplation. When perfected, these enabled him to say "I can find God at all times, when ever I wish and any man of good will can do the same." All Jesuits are still required to engage in the disciplins of these same Exercises eight days each year.

Soldiers in those days were men of meagre education, and at 33 Ignatius went to college in Paris. It was here that he attracted his little group of 6 brilliant men two of them was the famous St. Francis Xavier). Out of this group grew the Society of Jesus, set up like a military body, with Ignatius as general.

By 1540, when Ignatius was 49, the Society had been formally approved and accepted by Pope Paul III. It had been adopted a special task—to combat the Protestant revolt that was sweeping Europe as a result of Luther's preaching in Germany. Wherever they were needed Jesuits went to fight for the Catholic faith, disciplined soldiers in the spiritual wars.

Although today is the actual anniversary of their first general's death, Jesuits are observing all in 1956 as the 400th anniversary year.

PREVENTIVE CRIME CAMPAIGN

Recent recommendations for changes in the criminal code emphasize a trend towards more lenient treatment of offenders. Reformation rather than punishment is the order of the day as places of confinement become reformatories rather than penitentiaries.

It is difficult to take issue with these recommendations based on the thinking of penologists, criminologists and officials of the John Howard Society who get to know of cases, either cautiously or unwittingly responsible for the unsocial conduct of their children.

The people of Canada should launch a frontal attack on the source of crime through formation of a governmental constitutive service through which it would be compulsory for altar-bound couples to have a heart-to-heart talk with a professional sociologist as a prerequisite to obtaining a marriage licence.

This expert, armed with all the knowledge accrued by the Children's Aid and other agencies in the parental field could warn the potential parents against the pitfalls of faulty child upbringing, such as failure to love, lack of guidance, cruelty, neglect, desertion, divorce, drunkenness and other parental vices which direct child crime down the path of evil.

This advisor would also point out that strains of criminality lurk deep in many children and parents can either train out or encourage the growth of such instincts so the children grow up to be normal, healthy adults, or by following an irresponsible course themselves the parents can precipitate these hidden tendencies and the child to ruin the life of their offspring and perhaps the lives of his potential victims.

All parents should at least have the privilege of being informed of their responsibilities towards their children and society.

Every year 100,000 Canadians go to jail. If their parents had known in time enough $8,000,000 that these persons with partially ruined lives would never have seen the inside of prison walls.

Controls are being increasingly exerted to prevent individuals from preventing those with tendencies to wreck our nation without depriving them of their basic freedom.

The good example of this progressive evolution can be well applied to prevent a small minority of parents from harming their children and society, the sanctity of which should be the first and foremost consideration.

POKER AT A HIGH LEVEL

Recently some neutrals and other nations requiring financial aid dreamed up a slick stratagem which worked wonders in the case of Germany.

Simultaneous appeals for loans from both the United States and Russia forced the ante up as both lenders bid furiously for leadership.

This canny manoeuvre was so effective that more ethical countries, failing to benefit from the two-way competition, launched a campaign to bring the United States into the fold by loyalty was costing them money, and that double dealing appeared to be the price of success.

Perhaps it was this highly justified reminder from the faithful citizens of the realization that the loyalty of nations resorting to such tactics is questionable that has caused the United States to do a quick about face.

The refusal to grant a moratorium on debts is seen in sudden withdrawal of a previously proferred loan to Egypt's wily Nasser.

From now on loan seekers can bid on their own merit.

Uncle Sam wants to see all the cards on the table.

WHAT IS PROVED?

We leave to others to explain what Airman Tiny Bird has accomplished by flying his plane non-stop for 72 hours and 30-minutes. He ended his marathon with a parsley'ed leg, swollen and bleeding fingers and in a state of coma — all for about as meaningless a world record as could achieve.

DON'T MAKE EXCUSES

"I like that little player," said the manager one day,
"He's always working for the team, with not a word to say.
He's playing baseball all the time, and does his best to win.
He always does the best he can to bring the runners in.
But if the pitcher strikes him out, he never makes to me
To make excuses, saying that the umpire couldn't see.

"He makes a lot of errors, but I notice in his work
He gets a lot of hot ones that the other fellows shirk;
And if he drops a liner or he bounces the ball around,
He never says the pebble gave the ball an ugly bound.
He blames not the bat he can and every chance he takes,
But says that he is playing for his faults he never makes.
I'll have to have more players far like the one I'm speaking of,
For he's a ball player, all right, and he's a man I love."

But faithful little worker's plenty good enough for me,
He knows he's there to get them and he knows the dangers,
too,
And ugly bounds will happen,
he's experienced a few;
And when he makes an error he keenly feels the shame,
But he never makes excuses—never tries to shift the blame.

Ah, life is baseball, after all, and often we are prone
To try to shift on other men the fault that is our own;
And unexpected obstacles in life
are often found,
And there are times when sexy things will take an ugly bound
If you are out to win in life, just do the best you can,
And when you make an error,
face the music like a man.

Education in the Army

(The Times of London.)

Those who possess a little specialised knowledge are usually grateful for an audience. The soldier has only too few opportunities, in the ranks and the officers' messes, alike, to spread groups not so fully informed as they might have been in my special subject. But they were not as receptive as could be wished and I learned to respect inexperience in others.

I had taken over a gun site in Orkney. Its condition was less good than it should have been; those practised in taking over sites will know that it is always so. The paths were inadequate and I set about improving them by sending the men with sand-bags to collect the stones which were abundant on the heath around us. It was not a popular fatigue.

It was at the time when we were told to "get education" into the men, with no books and no directions. But I had assembled them in a hut and tried to tell them of the geological history of the formation of the heath on which they lived. I hope it would be a steadying influence. They were all handy stone; laid down on the bottom of a land-locked lagoon 350 million years ago. First came chalk, limestone had once overlain it with millstone grit and coal measures between with other and younger, but still immensely old, formations. That was all.

They had risen from the sea, tremendous mountains had taken place and had left the Old Red Sandstone for us to live on and by above. First I concluded, "when next you go out with sand-bags be selfish and put into them a bugubrious gunner who was rarely moved from his couch and has no feelings." "Seems a shame to move 'em, don't it, Sir?" he said.

A fellow officer in a sister battery was interested in the fact that the ball, as it were, in the other court. Being told by his mother that he was going to a new station and that he would take geography, he had protested, "But I know no geography, Sir!" to be told, "Nor do I, nor does any other officer, you will take it."

He took it by assembling his men in a hut on a wall of which a map of the world had been pinned, and by saying: "Pay attention! We are going to do geography. There's a map of the world. Any questions?" It was a site if an over-simplified approach.

If I should have learnt not to pause, but I did not. On a lovely summer's evening I stood on an eminence provided by a prehistoric earthwork in Kent. I had told the hunter ants a few days before me, for the time being members of an education course, of a rather more remote past. I knew of the carnibrook and had gone on to ask if any of them had been Boers benga. None had and I described the inner circle of blue stones which had been brought from the Preseily hills in Pembrokeshire, and I allowed myself a question which was meant to be rhetorical: "How on earth did they ever get transport those large stones that great distance?" Again I paused, and again made a mistake, for a bombardier said: "I suppose they sent a — Infantry Brigade." It seemed inappropriate at the time, but I have since wondered if it was not a hint as far as it went.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast. It survived in mine when I was transferred to the position of adjutant of a battery in 1941 and saw, as I thought, and opportunity of talking about literature. I was shy of the girls, who were half age, the numerous girls called A.T.S. in the Army, and should try to overcome my shyness. Seeing two subalterns they had just collected from our exigvous battery library. I thought: "I must get a set with me under my command; here are two fellow officers who will have something in common with them."

I stopped them, told them of my interest in books, and asked to see those they had chosen. They giggled and shuffled, and the one who was not quite what I had in mind at last turned to the other. "Shall we had overcome her bashfulness she placed in my hand The Kiss of Youth, which I must say she found into difficulty in believing meant less to me than to them. My attempt to meet them in the field of literature was an experiment that had failed.

Neanderthal Centennial

(National Geographic Magazine.)

In August the world of science will celebrate the 100th "birthday" of a very ugly, bent-kneed, barrel-chested great uncle of the human race—Neanderthal Man, Europe's Ice-Age cave dweller.

Born known of all prehistoric humans, Neanderthal Man probably had a life span not of 100 years but of some 150,000. He roamed three continents was among the first to live in shelter and to control fire, and he left the world the use of fire.

His bones were found in Germany in 1856. In marking the centennial of that discovery, scientists look for the exact spot in which the first clear picture of Neanderthal Man was gradually to been pieced together.

In August of 1856, workers in a limestone quarry near Dusseldorf, on the left bank of the Rhine, 60 feet above the Dussel River and uncovered the fragments of a human skeleton. They found the head, but when the quarry owner interested in the find destroyed the bones collected. Eventually they reached a Bonn University scientist.

His report that the skull represented a human form, somewhat like in the most barbarous races" stirred up controversy and a flood of speculation, ridicule and fury by scientists. One passed off the Neanderthal skull as that of an individual affected with idiocy and rickets." Another authority proclaimed that the skull was that "one of the Cossacks who came from Russia in 1814."

The uproar was to continue for decades. Finally Neanderthal find claimed for the Neander Valley in which the quarry lay) was followed by others in Europe and later in Asia and Africa.

What sort of fellow was Neanderthal Man—the "Cave Man" of popular imagination? Generally depicted as carrying a club and dragging a fair by the hair?

From more than a hundred skulls and skeletons, anatomists have reconstructed him as a squat, with powerful physique, an enormous head of low sloping shape, massive bony ridges above the eyes, and almost no chin.

Though slow-moving and clumsy by modern standards, he survived by being one of the best big-game hunters of all time. He went after fearsome cave bears and woolly mammoths, armed only with a wooden spear tipped in his later days with a flint point.

As the third great advance of ice moved down across Europe, he took to living in the caves of limestone hillsides, learned to drape skins about him to keep warm, and discovered how to make and tend a fire. He also developed the art of "flaking" stones to achieve a sharp edge for weapons or tools.

In his caves he buried his dead with their implements, indicating a dim awareness of life after death. His 150,000 years ever savage, developed the first stirrings of religions in human history.

Neanderthal Man lived from perhaps 170,000 to perhaps 30,000 B.C., finally to disappear as successor species, Cro-Magnon Man — the first true homo sapiens, or modern man. Most scientists today, think that Neanderthal not in the direct line of human descent, but a branch that died out. Even as an uncle, however, he was quite a man.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For years and years, around the wood pile at the back of his summer cabin, a squirrel-like camper has allowed the chips to accumulate. Year after year, as he split the logs, he has neglected his duty to the wood did their chopping and splitting for today, the chips large and small build up a sort of carpet around the wood pile. The earth of the rock, becomes filled with debris. Much of it had literally gone back to Mother Earth.

Down the slope from the wood pile a distance of fifty feet and a gradual, vigorous little grove of pines, oaks and several very beautiful red cedars, all of them slender as European cypresses, flourished.

Two years ago, my neighbour's wife, who has been complaining about the chip yard for twenty years, staged a mutiny campaign to have the chips cleaned up. She pointed out that they would make wonderful kindling. She argued that they should have been consumed as kindling years before and instead of allowing them to lie and rot back into the earth. In all events, the husband surrendered. After all, he was getting a little old in the joints to go on piling the chips to the woods with a couple of bushel baskets. He had been doing for years, collecting dead branches off pines for their kindling. That had been one of his pet enjoyments.

So he got the rake and raked the chip yard. He made little piles of the less rotted chips and stacked them to dry for kindling. The older and more decayed strata of the years he shovelled into bushel baskets and carted back to the incinerator where he burned it all. Then he began the slow operation of industry and initiative, got the wheelbarrow out of the garage yard. When her husband sat down for a smoke, she seized the rake, and hushed by bushel, the ancient chips were unearthed, dug up, and carried.

There," she cried, when the job was done, 'doesn't that look lovely now?"

Indeed, the wood pile looked a little naked.

That was two years ago. This summer, when they arrived at their summer cabin, they were horrified at the sight of the grove down the slope from the wood pile. Every tree in it was pining: A couple of the red cedars were already half brown.

The chip yard had been the source of their health. Leached by summer rain and winter snow, the chip yard had been feeding humus and decay, which is the mother of growth, down into the grove.

Result: never let your wife chivvy you into tidying up a wood pile.

Quality Pays

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

Proof that quality pays the producer once again is afforded Nova Scotian farmers. Imported Alsykes are a popular wood with from five to eight cents a pound more than the best and several times as much as the poorest wool from native stock.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

A Real Doctor Has Something to Say

An eastern doctor writes:
Dear Dr. Brady:—

My wife is one of your most avid readers, and "Dr. Brady says" is common in our household conversation.

However, your views and mine in regard to the extra of tonsillectomy are divergent. My wife's sister had recurrent attacks of tonsilitis in '28, '40, '42, and finally in '46. Then came the trouble with the joint. The Ave, surgeon diagnosed the case as streptococcal infection and advised an operation as quick, as safe and as painless as extraction of a tooth, or distrable. If the youngster's breathing is obviously obstructed, and hearing impaired, if the voice thick and muffled, or his swallowing difficult. But before this is done the child should get a break—a summer in open. Often this summer vacation does away with about shrinkage of the enlarged tonsils and correction of the troubles mentioned.

The ideal treatment for an adult would be a holiday, as my wife's sister had. Doctor, I sincerely believe, would be electrocoagulation of the tonsils, with a view to disinfecting, sterilizing, pasteurizing, or whatever you call it, the whole of the all. This would be the method of choice for the permanent relief of the condition of the heart or pericularity if heart condition should be found to be present before the tumor operation.

I say again that in my opinion a doctor who performs tonsillectomy on a child who has merely enlarged tonsils perpetrates an atrocity.

More or less, to get over tonsillitis requires penicillin.

Except possibly in a rare case of malignancy, tuberculosis, scarlatina, ecstis, or bues with the ladies as yet apparently limited to the tonsil, the local clean tonsillectomy the doctor scribe would be atrocious. In my opinion. Why such medical mystery, Doctor? Is tonsil tissue in anyway harmful?

Instantaneous removal of the obstructing portion of enlarged tonsils (with the misnomer tonsillectomy) —an operation as quick, as safe and as painless as extraction of a tooth—is desirable if the youngster's breathing is obviously obstructed, and hearing impaired, if voice thick and muffled, or his swallowing difficult. But before this is done the child should get a break—a summer in open. Often this summer vacation does away with about shrinkage of the enlarged tonsils and correction of the troubles mentioned.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

VICTORY WORTH WHAT IT COSTS

We so often take religion as a matter of fact; think of it as a thing that is; it something vastly more than mere custom or mere belief. It is the victory which the soul wins over the body. It is the triumph of conscience over the disposition of sin. It is the opening up of a life of hope to those who have no hope. It is the calling of light to those who have spent so many miserable hour in darkness.

To untold millions of people, belief in Jesus Christ as a divine Person working in the midst of human affairs, has caused a change in life utterly stupendous. In some people this change has come about suddenly. Gross sinners and those addicted to evil habits have found the power to break with their chronic weaknesses, and to break it completely and finally. Some have been all but lost in the moral depths of their hearts. Others have turned from double-dealing to honesty. They have come from the midst of unlustly acquired and gone out of their way to make amends for their wrongs.

In the case, probably, of most people, the change of moral principle comes about gradually. Through the influence of the diligent reading of the Bible, people come to see and believe that Jesus knew exactly what he was talking about when he declared that all power had been given unto him in heaven and on earth.

Do you have that power if we want it. It costs the surrender of our wills to the will of God—but it is worth what it costs.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A MORNING PRAYER

To you, my Heavenly Father, I owe the light of this day, and it reminds me of every favour and every received and that each came from Thee. Give me, I pray Thee, the courage, and a renewal of faith that I may perform kindly acts unfaithfully each hour of this day. May I pass to others the many blessings that you have given to me, Lord. Keep me mindful.

Cleanse me in mind and heart, my Heavenly Father, and give to me the clear vision. Teach me tenderness and sympathy that I may make it easy for me to be kind and considerate toward all with whom I come in contact. Each new day may I dedicate my life anew to Thee and to those who need my help.

Give to me patience, humility, a devotion to the highest ideals, and help me to live the triumphant life from day to day, meeting all emergencies with courage and no complaints. Dear Father, walk with me, and talk with me, no matter where I may be.

Forgive me all my transgressions all my errors, mistakes and unintended injury in any manner toward others. May I emulate the teachings of Jesus Christ while upon His brief ministry here upon this earth. I pray my daughters in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

Hill Country Air Is Sweet

(Ottawa Journal)

It is not given to all to live in the hill country, but it is given to all to clean and sweet, where greyspurple ridges are silhouetted against the night's black velvet curtain, and where in autumn nature drapes an Oriental rug over upland shoulders.

But a man can escape for a time from the city-seeking and pressure, the turmoil and elbow friction of population centres, and experience a day among the hills if he will respond when the call comes.

Leave the hard arteries of macadam, the ever-moving line of peaceful country road that leads away from traffic, where the air is fresh the hill country and within a short time you are in a different world. Nature is kind and climb a hillside and find a pleasant spot to rest and relax.

Hills are friendly and serene. Hundreds of millions of years ago these ridges were thrown up when the earth, underwent a period of gargantuan travail. The hills have known the passing of long epochs and experienced great climatic changes. Now they breast beneath the summer sun. As one sits on an open hillside and looks across a valley with its winding silver thread of river, to the shoulders of other hills mounting in the distance, he can feel pressure and tension fade away.

Nature has two lessons for harried man, tangled in the complex web of city life. Nature is the one that both calmness and patience, the foundation stones of satisfying living. Impatience and speed are strengths as well as weaknesses, and to the human drive for improvement we owe much. But there are times when the gears whirl too rapidly. If you have a hill country splashed be, should, on occasion leave the maelstrom of daily life and answer the call of the quiet hills.

CAMPBELLFORD

Rotary Club Hears Talk on Classification

CAMPBELLFORD—Mr. Thomas O'Rourke, a recently added member of the Campbellford Rotary club, made his classification talk at the regular meeting this week.

Mr. O'Rourke chose to address the group on a hybrid wheat which he had obtained from the world's largest producing stock. The original seed was developed by Tyrell Bros. at King's Lynn, Norfolk County, England, which holds the world's record for production of 154 bushels to the acre. The Canadian record is about 72 bushels to the acre and because of the salts in the air over England, the most advanced methods of fertilizing the land and other factors, Mr. O'Rourke claimed the English record would never be approached in Canada.

He explained that he had attended the Royal Winter Fair in 1953 and had there contacted the growers of this strain. Subsequently he ordered two bushels and after a great deal of trouble had obtained the seed. He had to agree to wait three years before getting the seed. He is the only Canadian producer at the present time. The yield has been exceptional for Canadian production, about 65-70 bushels per acre and the extreme strength of the comparatively short stock assures the grower that the grain will stand anything except hail without going down.

The speaker was introduced by A. D. Bennett.

Oil Shares Drop Result of Suez Canal Seizure

(By WILLIAM L. RYAN)

NEW YORK (AP) — Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal jolted the oil industry around the world and lopped millions of dollars off the prices of stocks of companies dependent on the waterway.

Oil executives and others close to the situation believe the long-range result of President Nasser's decision may be a radical change in the political and economic picture in the Middle East. Some interpreted Nasser's action as a gamble based on power and frustration.

The Nasser situation may stimulate a program to build more pipelines through the Arab countries to the east, emptying into Mediterranean ports. Pipelines now carry a third of the Middle East's total oil production.

On the London stock exchange Friday British Petroleum, Burmah and Shell Oil shares dropped a total of £6,000,000. In New York, oil issues showed losses running from $2.50 to $8.50 as sizeable blocks changed hands.

Dives Into River As Police Arrive, Boy, 14, Drowned

OTTAWA (CP) — Body of 14 - year - old Marcel Charette, drowned Thursday night during a boyish prank, was recovered Friday night from the Ottawa River.

Police said the boy and two chums, fishing in the river, climbed onto an anchored cruiser. When they were surprised by police who had been called by scttgers, Marcel dived into the river. The other two got away.

Police began dragging the river after one of the boys, 16-year-old Robin Sullivan, told them of Marcel's disappearance.

The Charette boy was one of a family of 18 children.

APPEALS SENTENCE

LONDON (CP) — Cpl. James Clinton Gordon, 21, of the United States Air Force Friday lodged notice of his intention to appeal the death sentence he received last week for killing an Englishman in a berroom brawl.

MAST SHOWS ABOVE WATER, FOUR BODIES FOUND

A four-day search for the missing schooner, Karma, ended when the mast of the ship was sighted protruding from the water of Nottawasaga Bay, Ont. Hope has been maintained by relatives of the persons aboard the yacht that they found safety in one of the many islands, but of the eight persons missing, four bodies have been recovered by frogmen. The body of one man was strapped to the mast with his belt, a sudden squall is believed responsible for the disaster.

Three Killed In Car Accident

BERTHIERVILLE, Que. (CP) — Three persons were killed and three others injured Friday night when two cars collided near this town about 50 miles east of Montreal.

Dead are Raymond Dufour, 22, Mrs. Lucien Dufour, about 30, and Normand Gauvin, also about 30. All are from Quebec City.

Pierette Gendron, 20, and Lucien Gendron, about 6, both also from Quebec and Paul Truchon of Montreal were injured.

Conservatives Want Independent Radio Tribunal

OTTAWA (CP) — Establishment of an independent regulatory tribunal for all forms of broadcasting in Canada was urged in the Commons Friday night by the Progressive Conservative party.

Donald Fleming of Toronto Eglinton, the party's chief spokesman on radio-television questions, also called for an end of the government's policy of CBC monopoly on TV in six major centres.

"The Commons sat an hour beyond its normal 10 p.m. EDT closing time to hear Mr. Fleming, who wanted to leave Ottawa in advance of the normal time of a CBC debate tomorrow. This was by agreement with the government.

Mr. Fleming was preceded by Revenue Minister McCann, who read a summary of the CBC annual report tabled in Parliament last week.

Mr. Fleming said the Progressive Conservatives consider a regulatory tribunal apart from the CBC — which now controls broadcasting — would be in the public interest.

Dealing with the government's request for $12,000,000 from Parliament to cover the CBC's expected deficit in the current fiscal year, Mr. Fleming said this should not be regarded as anything but a stop-gap and should not be looked on as a new principle. He wanted to see a permanent solution to the CBC's financial problems in the next year.

RIFLE DISCHARGED

Injun Joe, whose real name is Eri Boyden, 60, was holding a souvenir rifle in front of his Huntsville, Ont., shop while a United States tourist took his picture when the gun discharged, killing the man, Barney Vincent, 35-year-old Toledo, O., oilman, died when the bullet struck him in the heart as his wife looked on. Boyden, shown in this photo, said he occasionally used the rifle to hunt deer.

Crucifixion Terminated

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP) — Tagore, the eventriquist who had himself nailed to a cross in the bullring here Sunday, ended his crucifixion "spectacular" Friday.

Lucio Medina, the promoter of the exhibition, said that he told Tagore "you can take the nails out if you want to."

He said a doctor was called, the nails removed and the actor's hands and feet bandaged.

After being nailed to the cross in the bullring, Tagore was removed to a room in a nearby house and persons wishing to see him were charged 25 cents. The cross was never upright.

Mayor Jesus Ramos Castineru who ordered the exhibition stopped last Tuesday, said Medina had a permit to put on a show in the bullring Sunday, but the permit was for a show "like a circus, not a crucifixion."

"As soon as we found out what was going on we stopped it," he said.

CFB Asks Increase

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—The Canadian Federation of the Blind will press for abolition of the means test and will ask the federal government for an increase of the basic blind pension from $40 to $60 a month, it was decided at the three-day national convention that ended here Thursday.

The 50 delegates said the means test added a hardship. They contended that the pension is not large enough.

Salvage Sailboat In Georgian Bay

OWEN SOUND (CP) — A 28-foot sailboat that sank Sunday in Georgian Bay with a loss of eight lives was salvaged Friday and towed to port, Bodies of four of the passengers have been found.

The Karma was in good condition and bore no marks of having struck a shoal or rock. Fishermen believe it must have capsized during a squall and sunk in 25 feet of water. There was no sign of the missing bodies.

The schooner's sails were unfurled. Found on her decks were the bodies of Harold Sanderson, 28, Ralph Gorsline, 20, and Adam Smith, 28, all of Collingwood.

The fourth body, that of Mrs. John Borland, 27, of Collingwood, was found Wednesday.

Still missing are: Mrs. Borland's husband, John, 28, Harris Jones, 28, of Collingwood, and Glen Hyland, 28, and his wife June, 25, both of Toronto.

Britain Bans Miller's Play

LONDON (AP) — Britain's censor of stage plays, the lord chamberlain, has banned playwright Arthur Miller's new play, A View from the Bridge.

Miller is here with his wife, film actress Marilyn Monroe.

"The play has a theme of incestuous love," said Miller. "That got by all right, but the censor objected to a scene in which two men embrace one another."

Miller said that he was told that if he wanted a licence to stage the play in a public theatre he would have to make important changes.

MIDGET HELICOPTER

Yacht Club Plans To Sell Building Ruined by Waves

TRENTON (Special)—The Trenton Yacht Club, whose members made great strides to establish an enthusiastic sailing and powerboat organization in Trenton and until a year ago seemed to be successful, is in dire need of a meeting place.

Although the club suffered a stinging setback due to a change of plans by the Federal government, some stalwart members continue to look for new blood and an answer to their problems.

The club lost money and many members by the change of plans. Its headquarters on the bayfront just west of the south park had to be abandoned, because there was no breakwall out in front to stop relentless waves from washing away the foundation. The fine building, 40 feet by 60 feet, erected by club members in their spare time, finally buckled in the centre and took on the appearance of a shelter. The members rather than accept a complete loss decided to dispose of their headquarters to the highest bidder. The building has not yet been sold.

Commodore Roly Whitley Mayor of Trenton during the centennial year, the undefatigable pilot of the club since the sudden increase in membership two years ago, maintains Trenton would have beautiful clubhouse facilities to offer visiting yachtsmen if the Federal government would live up to a promise that influenced the Yacht Club directors to decide on the site behind the Dover Lumber Co. working mill, then owned by R. E. Whitley and sons. Mr. Whitley claims the club, now more than 100 strong, was led to believe the government breakwall would be extended west across the front of his premises. It was with that thought in mind the directors went ahead with a progressive plan to build club members and interested parties in the future.

Commodore Whitley believes the club will lose half of the investment in materials and all of the time spent in erection, if and when the building is sold it is the intention of the directors to use the money as a down payment on premises on the river bank.

Unhappy Moment

TORONTO (CP)—It took a bit of doing, but they finally got the right man in the right spot to open the Thursday.

Highways Minister Allan of Ontario and Leslie Allan, the roads commissioner for Metropolitan Toronto, had the honor in function.

The minister took up position behind a microphone to speak. The crowd waited in happy expectancy. The minister looked blankly at the paper in his hand. It was the wrong speech; referred to something or other in Sudbury.

The commissioner rushed into the breach with a bundle of material and the minister got back on course.

PIONEER OF WATCH INDUSTRY

By Nicholas Mika

Most people agree that the best watches come from a small country in Europe, Switzerland. Her watch industry has grown during three centuries into the most famous one of the world. The skill and precise craftsmanship of Swiss watchmakers has been handed down from generation to generation.

Some of the first watches they built you now find in museums. They tell us the story of men who in painstaking work day by day perfected their trade. Have you ever looked at the tiny wonderwork of a watch? To a watchmaker it is like a living creature and its constant ticking is like the beating of a heart. You might be amazed at the fact that a watch ticks over four hundred thousand times a day and that its balance wheel makes a journey of three thousand six hundred miles a year.

Watchmakers today are equipped with the finest precision instruments, but the first great pioneer of the watch industry had nothing save simple tools, sharp eyes and an excellent talent for mechanics.

WAS A BLACKSMITH

Actually he was a blacksmith in Locle, Switzerland. When he was sixteen he happened to see for the first time a small watch and was so impressed with its mechanism that he decided to build one himself. He made a sketch followed by dozens of others, and then he began to shape each part, checking it and rechecking it a hundred times until he got the result he wanted. And from that day on watchmaking fascinated him.

His skillful "work soon was known all over Switzerland and he could hardly keep up with the steady growing demand for his watches. One of his trade secrets that led him to success was the fact that he used nothing but the best material. He did not hesitate to pay the highest price for a pound of Swedish steel. The gold watches that left his workshop were masterpieces of beautifully engraved designs.

When he first started to make watches, it was merely as a pastime. He had to combine with his job as a blacksmith. But with every hour he spent working on the tiny mechanism of a clock he became more and more wrapped up in his hobby until watchmaking grew into a passion that never was to leave him for the rest of his life. And because he loved watchmaking he wanted to share his own skill with others. So he taught all his five sons the trade.

SINCE EMPLOYEES

"As business grew he had to enlarge his shop and hire help. But he was very particular. Before he was extremely particular. Although he was a quiet and soft spoken man, he expected his workers to observe his iron rules. For fear it would influence the accuracy of his watches, he forbade the men in his shop to smoke as well as to talk.

He began a long tradition of the finest watchmakers in the world. When he died, his sons carried on, and so the Swiss people still do. They owe their good will and their prosperity and the reputation of being experts in their trade.

Certainly, the watch we know today has been perfected by the efforts of many men, but he was one of the best watchmakers and the father of a great industry. His name—Daniel Jeanrichard.

Daniel Jeanrichard appeared on Swiss stamps in 1941.

Bulbs, or tubers such as caladium that are lifted and stored should be dug before foliage dies entirely. They're hard to find when leaves disappear. Loosen soil with hand fork and start digging at safe distance to avoid bruising or cutting. If foliage is lost, scratch soil surface to locate and make note to mark site when planting next year. Let dry for few days, shake off excess soil and store in cool, dry, airy place.

Weddings

O'CONNELL—ROBINSON

A lovely double-ring wedding was solemnized on Saturday, July 21st, in St. Michael's Cathedral, Peterborough, when the Rev. J. B. O'Dette united in marriage Shirley Merle Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Robinson of Malone, Ontario, to Michael Gerard O'Connell of Peterborough and the late Mr. O'Connell of Peterborough, and the late Mr. J. O'Connell. Pink and white carnations adorned the altar.

Mrs. Robert Anan, church organist, provided the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Baldwin, who sang, "Ave Maria" and "Sacred Heart of Love Divine", "Panis Angelicus", and "Ave Maria."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. Edward Robinson, was radiant in her ballerina length gown of chiffon and lace. The fitted bodice had a scalloped V-shaped neckline accented by an over-band of tucked tulle, and the sleeves tapered to a point over the wrists. The bouffant chiffon skirt was enhanced by a matching lace band. She carried a cascade bouquet of French Illusion and Juliet cap, and carried the same prayer book crested with a white orchid.

Mrs. Keith Dunning, twin sister of the bride, was her only attendant, gowned in a floor length of mauve crystalette with matching mittens, headdress and shoes. She carried a bouquet of yellow Shasta daisies.

Mr. D. J. O'Connell of Steinburg, brother of the bridegroom, acted as groomsman and Messrs. John O'Connell of Peterborough, and Keith Dunning, also of Peterborough, were ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Hanlan Payne of Peterborough, where the bride's mother, attired in duco dot navy sheer with white accessories, and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses, received. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing navy sheer with navy and white accessories, and corsage of white feathered carnations.

For the wedding trip to Quebec and the United States, the bride chose a turquoise tie silk sheath dress with matching jacket, white lace hat and gloves with white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell will reside at 59 Sherbrooke Street, Peterborough, upon their return.

Guests were present from Thomasburg, Malone, Marmora and Peterborough.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained by her fellow employees of the "Outboard Marine"; also at the home of Mrs. Audrey Wickett of Peterborough, with a miscellaneous shower.

Quinte Gardeners Discuss Achievement Day Plans

The fourth meeting of the Quinte Gardeners was held on Friday, July 20, at the home of Mary Reid.

It was decided to hold the next meeting on Thursday, August 2 at the home of Mrs. Clifford Reid.

Discussion period included plans for Achievement Day, garden records up to date; quality in vegetables and home surroundings.

Planning a vegetable display was postponed until the next meeting.

The group work consisted of vegetable judging.

Home assignments were read and the meeting closed with the 4-H pledge after which Mrs. Reid and Mary served refreshments.

Beachcomber Costume

By ALICE ALDEN

Gals are funnily choosing vacation items that can also do service at home through the summer and well into autumn, if they so desire. And since many a girl likes to don something for home wear that is as cheery as it is comfortable, here's an outfit worthy of consideration. A sunburst of striped multi-color muslin the sailcloth Caribbean skirt and side-ties give it a look that is refreshingly new in its fitted, unfitted way. And don't you like the beachcomber pants with their jazzed edge that takes one mentally barking back to Hancock Cruise days? The whole thing, though, has a really up-to-date California look about it, and that's where it hails from. —Photo by Phil Rose of California.

Going Places

Air-Conditioning in Motel

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE.

A random collection of observations to round out our report on our most recent family motor tour:

Five years ago we made a three-week-end month trip and found only one air conditioned motel in Denver. Today it appears almost every town has at least one.

But, except in the south and southwest, where both hot weather and air conditioning have been taken for granted for a long time, the rates are inclined to be unchanged for the average family budget.

The tendency in motels is to charge by the room instead of the number of guests. Thus many motels charge $6 or $12 a night for as few as one or as many as four persons. This is fine for a group of salesmen travelling together, but can make a shambles out of one man's vacation pay.

Meanwhile, as everyone goes south and nail after the tourist's dollar, only the old-fashioned tourist home goes on unchanged. The kindly folks who rent out their upstairs rooms still charge only $3.50 to $5.00 a couple and $1.00 in $2.00 for a family.

No air conditioning, of course but while we're on the subject, we've seen few nights out in the country when it didn't cool off enough to sleep comfortably. The trick is to find a room, be it hotel, motel, or tourist home, with good cross ventilation.

The big drawback of a tourist home is the sharing of the bath, but often as not there are only one or two other rooms in the house and these may not even be occupied. Often there are 2 baths, so you've got a good chance of getting a private bath out of the deal anyway.

CHILDREN'S APPETIT

If you're travelling with children, one of the essentials is a supply of food in the car. Not just cookies or fruit but staples such as bread, luncheon meat, tomatoes, milk and the like. Children get hungry unpredictably while travelling, and it's just as well to feed them adequately instead of plying them with candies.

If you're worried about the children getting enough sleep while travelling, or otherwise not fulfilling their normal home routines, you'll probably discover that your kids, like ours, have a remarkable capacity for adjusting themselves. When tired enough they'll drop off on the back seat and sleep as long as they would at home. Insecurity feelings seem to be no problem at all, since they sleep in the same room with you.

For those of you who are dieting, you'll be interested to know that driving a car seems to use some calories, anyway, than most of us use on our regular jobs. Stick to a light lunch, modest restaurant portions at dinner, and avoid those midnight snacks that are probably the real culprits at home, and you' probably find yourself losing a little weight without half trying.

If you're a Jack Sprat team, as we are, you'll be happy to know this can work both ways. While Bob lost weight, Shirley, away from demanding household chores, ate more, and more often, than she had time for at home, and gained a comely five pounds in a month.

REGIONAL MAPS

With the long distances it's possible to cover in today's comfortable, dependable cars, road maps and routes are of ever-increasing importance.

We feel the big regional maps put out by some of the oil companies are your best friends. One company's, in particular, is very superior for legibility, and we'll be happy to tell you which if you write us. These show all the main routes clearly without the distractions of secondary routes. But we always keep a detailed state map handy for reference when we decide to go when driving in metropolitan areas, where detailed directions are important.

Routes are better posted than ever before throughout the country," even in cities. If you bear in mind that all routes cross each other at one point or another in cities, it is almost impossible to get lost. In addition, signs directing motorists to all the new toll highways are posted throughout each state.

By-pass and alternates of major routes to help you avoid city traffic are becoming more common all the time in metropolitan areas, frequently making it unnecessary to go through cities at all.

By sticking to obvious routes and avoiding the short cut suggestions of well-meaning local citizens, you'll simplify your trip and avoid the irritations of getting lost, losing time, and driving on bad roads.

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

A party of Canadian school boys from St. George's school, Vancouver, was given a civic welcome to Sydney, Australia, at the town hall. The boys will long remember July the twelfth when they were received by aldermen Kevin Dwyer, the Deputy Lord Mayor of Sydney. The headmaster of St. George's school, Mr. John Harker, and the president of the Australian-New Zealand Association of Vancouver, were present.

The visit is the first by a Canadian Rugby Union Football team to Australia and the Lord Mayor of Sydney, D. P. Dwyer, commented that everyone had been "most impressed not only by the outstanding appearance of the lads, but by their behavior, both on and off the field. . . . It is most important for the peoples of Canada and Australia to become better know to each other, and. . . the visit of this particular team is one of the best means of establishing this necessary and happy relationship."

As this column goes to press, Canada is welcoming the Australian Prime Minister on his visit to Ottawa.

Just a few days ago we were glancing through some quotations and our reading, for the moment, was at random—neither here nor there, this or that. Two lines struck us and made us conscious of all our talk about this year's unseasonal weather. "Two hundred years ago, Wm. Browne wrote . . .

"There is no season such delight can bring,
As summer, autumn, winter and spring."

And there is our thought for this weekend. Mr. Browne may have been known to his friends as an optimist but he was also a contain thing, he was a man who believed in accepting what the seasons provided and making the most of it. Surely he must have been a cheerful fellow.

U.E.L. ASSOC. MEETS

T & T was fortunate and privileged to have been present whether to the inaugural meeting of the Bay of Quinte Branch, United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada in the township hall, Adolphustown, last Wednesday. It was a memorable day for those descendants who have a right to be much towards the preservation of a valuable historical episode—"In the Canadian sense of the word" as Sir John A. Macdonald."

From the immediate environs of Bellevill and united Dr. S. S. Demorest and Col. H. Vandervaeter of Foxboro; Mr. Roy Sills, Adolphustown and Mr. Ross Frankford. We did not take names and addresses and it is memory which is st fault rather than intent.

Officers for the Ontario Intelligencer is read and perchance T & T, we would like to mention that the Bay of Quinte Branch of the UEL is desirous that its membership roll include every descendant of UEL stock. Write to Miss Edith Allison, Adolphustown, for application forms and further information. It is the hope that the new branch is be strong, active and a great asset to the whole Bay of Quinte district.

We drove to the Burying Place again and as we left this little spot of history we had a feeling that the Bay of Quinte Branch of the UEL would live up to the traditions buried here, but which are everlasting.

The Experts Say

Simply-Designed Furniture Hallmark of Modern Homes

By OLI DAUM
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Simply-designed furniture, Grecian in arrangement is the mark of a modern home, the experts say.

Spaces between furniture are clear; fabric of drapes and upholstery is modern in design; fur is as nobby as has been the vogue during the last few years.

Gleaming tiles, slate floor coverings and small rugs of muted tones replace large, lavish rugs. Lighting is generally direct from hanging lamps. Glass fronts front and of definite form such as the bullet, sphere or melon, and used for a specific purpose only for decoration. Knick - knacks are practical as well as decorative. Windows are large.

Everything is designed to give the uncluttered look.

INVITING LOOK

The woman living in a home furnished with comfortable, oversized chairs and cheerfulness, frilly curtains and all kinds of knick-knacks may say the modern home is uninviting and austere.

Not so, says Bob Jamison, interior decorator at a large department store here. A young man whose aptitude in the store's art department gained him a course in interior decorating, Mr. Jamison says the modern home is warm and relaxing.

It is light and efficient, providing maximum comfort with minimum effort. Mr. Jamison has illustrated his ideas in a model home now on display in the store's home-furnishing department.

While furniture design is simple, colors are strong and clear. The dining-room is grouped in light and dark-brown cork from Denmark and Spain and is furnished in walnut.

Pastel green walls blend with the chesterfield and chairs upholstered in deep night blue. Casualness is introduced by a low, round coffee table and yellow-top table used to hold a television set.

BIRD-CAGE VASE

A riveting color of brown and green predominate in the bedroom. The floor is carpeted in brown tweed to offset walls of antique white—and—maple sugar. On the bed is a tailored spread of beige cotton and rayon boucle and on it are three circular cushions in olive green to match a big, square ottoman near the doorway. A bird cage is used as a vase to hold a bouquet.

In the relaxation room, also carpeted in brown tweed, a wallpaper mural map of the world covers one wall. The map's background color matches maple sugar toned walls. Built-in units for television, recordings and radio are in mocha brown.

An upholstered sofa is in lemon-peel color to match chairs grouped around a black card table. The recessed window boasts a lavish arrangement of greenery as a decorative note.

Mr. Jamison has used furniture of Canadian design and manufacture with accessories garnered from the four corners of the world. This, he says, is a recognition of the existence of good, contemporary design the world over and is a practical illustration of the ability of all to blend.

Paris After Dark

By TRACEY ADRIAN

From the house of Pierre Balmain comes this luxurious ball gown—designed for sumptuous evenings on either side of the Atlantic.

Here, elegant evening dress, pictured, is one of the most striking of his after dark fashions and is an excellent example of French artistry. It is in subtle color contrast combining dark gray in the bejewelled draped bodice with a rich, off white satin of acrylic fibre and silk in the great belled skirt. Diagonally placed bows at the decolletage and the one side of the skirt are intriguingly asymmetrical accents. — Du Pont Co.

Women's Club Members Work Anonymously to Raise Funds

TORONTO (CP) — A group of women who help the needy, work anonymously and even club members know how much each contributes to their organization.

Toronto Community Welfare Council Service Club consists of 20 housewives and business and professional women who raise money by putting their talents to work.

Each member pays $10 a year and when she sponsors a person in need and whether she attends to confidential records no one knows to whom they give aid. Members decide whether or not to lend a helping hand by voting only on the particulars of the case.

The club, now helping 16 persons with $12 monthly each, aids only those who—are not assisted by private or public agencies. Members are also in competition with each other. The one who donates a dollar to the treasury is as important to the club as one who gives $100 and only the treasurer knows what each contributes.

One member of the club raises money by selling home baking to friends who entertain them. A literary member sells book reviews; an amateur artist sells her paintings; others give driving lessons, cut grass and help prepare income-tax forms.

The members say they find their work most gratifying.

One of their cases was a widow of 80 who lived only on her old age pension. Her only friend was a member who sponsors a person in need and whether she attends to confidential records no one knows to whom they give aid. Members decide whether or not to lend a helping hand by voting only on the particulars of the case.

The club, now helping 16 persons with $12 monthly each, aids only those who—are not assisted by private or public agencies. Members are also in competition with each other. The one who donates a dollar to the treasury is as important to the club as one who gives $100 and only the treasurer knows what each contributes.

One member of the club raises money by selling home baking to a secretary wife with five children who was not eligible for welfare when her husband had been ordered to contribute to his support. He avoided this responsibility most of the time so the Talents, Service Club sent the family a monthly food parcel, gave them clothes and bedding until circumstances improved.

Beneficiaries know the name of the club from which they received help but know no names of its members.

HOLIDAY TIME

Summertime is here again,
Let us take away
To the quiet countryside
For a holiday: . . .
Where we'll find sweet peace and calm
By a lake or stream,
Gaining strength from mother earth . . .
As we rest and dream.

Vanish every frown and fret,
Leaving care behind
All life's worry to forget,
Gain a tranquil mind:
Brown and spirit strengthened
Can we ask for more?
Turning to our daily task
With renewed zest.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THERE ARE THINGS YOU CAN DO ABOUT BOYS' YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I've been married for 10 years, and my husband never gives me any money. Also, he got drunk before he comes home from work. I'd get a job, but I never even went to high school, so I don't know what to do.

Should I leave my husband or stay with him? And if I leave him, how could I support myself?

I love him very much and I know he loves me.—Mrs. A.N.

Dear Mrs. A.N.:

First, let me say that if, in spite of his drinking habit, you still love your husband so much, and are so convinced that he loves you, you had better think a long, long time before deciding to leave him. Certainly it would be a serious mistake for you to walk out and leave him right now—and I say this more on your account than on his.

The reason is that, feeling as you do about him, you would be constantly tormenting yourself, if you were to live apart from him, wondering if he were all right or if some sort of trouble. Even in the happiest circumstances, a wife's love for her husband has a great deal of the maternal in it, and this is especially true if the husband has an illness, or even a weakness like your own husband, which, from a wife's point of view, means that he needs her care, even her protection.

So let's consider what you should do if you're to go on living as you are now.

First, I think, you should try to take some definite step to tackle your husband's drinking problem.

What I suggest along this line is that you write a letter to organization known as Alcoholics Anonymous, explaining exactly what his drinking problem is, and how far it has gone in his case, and ask if there is a representative of this organization in your city—and I'm certain there is—to whom you could go for advice and help. Address your letter to AA Intergroup Association, 133 East 58th Street, New York 16, New York, and you'll receive the information you need promptly.

When you receive it, lose no time getting in touch with the person whose name will be given you, and ask for a time to be set when you can see him, or her, and talk over your problem. This, I know, is the wisest and most hopeful thing you can possibly do, and if you have the patience and will power to carry out the program the AA representative will suggest to you, it may be that you will be rewarded by definite improvement in your husband.

Then there is the matter of your money problem.

You say you haven't even been to high school, but that doesn't make it impossible for you to earn. There are plenty of things you can do with your hands that, if you go at it right, will bring you in money.

There are two things you might do to find out about this.

One is to call the office of the Family Service Association in your city and ask for an appointment to see someone there about the problem you have. They will tell you when to come, and then you can explain your need to earn money and they will help you find a way to do this.

The second thing you could do is to go to the public library and get two or three books that have been written on how to make money at home, which might fit your needs even better than trying to go out to work.

I'd like very much to know how you make out with both your problems, and I hope that you'll care to write again and tell me.

GIVE CAREFUL THOUGHT TO VACATION SHOES

Leather spectator pumps with a substantial heel make summer sight-seeing a pleasure.

We don't know where you're planning to spend your vacation this year but one thing we do know is this: that whether you're going to a mountain resort, the beach or on a cruise which involves a lot of sight-seeing, you must give your shoe wardrobe a lot of thought. Every girl thinks a lot about the dresses she plans to wear during vacation days, the hats to go with them and the accessories that blend or mix-match beautifully. But all too few, we gather, give enough thought to their shoes. Or, why would we see so many gals repeat over and over: "Oh, my feet had a wonderful time, but, gosh! My feet are killing me!! All that glorious-ness!!"

So, if your vacation is still ahead of you, start planning your shoe wardrobe right now. And plan it certain to be—by comfort.

Begin at the bottom with flat heels. Wear them as often as either have no heel or have one no more than half an inch high. You'll want them to wear to the beach or pool, to go with shorts, to happily slip into after you've been on your feet for hours.

If you're the type of gal who's happiest walking in flats, you'll want them for sightseeing as well. If not, you'll invest in a pair of walking shoes. Leather spectator pumps with a substantial heel are your best bet, because they're comfortable and stylish. A broad heel that's about an inch and a half wide will do nicely.

In choosing shoes for walking, make sure they have a leather sole and welt. This will enable your feet to breathe. In the country, they'll resist sharp stones. In the city, they'll make it easier to pound the pavements.

Your third basic shoe is a leather open pump, in a casual style that does for informal occasions. For evening, you'll require a formal pump. These are especially lovely in leather colors that match the shade of your frock.

This basic shoe wardrobe gives you a minimum of three changes of heel heights for each day. If you wear your flats part of the day, your well-heeled spectators for a few hours, and get into your high heels for evening only, you'll find there won't be any strain on leg muscles. What's more, you'll discover feet are no trouble at all.

LIFE BAN RECOMMENDED

TORONTO (CP)—A driving ban against Roy R. McLarty, 19, "for the rest of his natural life" was recommended Wednesday by a magistrate after McLarty pleaded guilty to having a false licence and being a public mischief. He also was sentenced to 60 days in jail. Last week McLarty was convicted of careless driving under the alias of John G. Forrester. Last year he was convicted of being drunk while having control of a car.

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Would you please tell me what ingredients the candy makers use for their candy flowers. What does the batter use in his icing? Occasions? We would like to learn how to make the cake decorate the children's birthday cakes. We stayed up until midnight decorating our daughter's cake but the icing ran. We used icing sugar and water. It did not stand up well. We had a flower off our Easter egg to copy from. It was hard—yours were soft. What are the best decorator sets to buy? We have an aluminum tube with discs and different-shaped decorators. Hoping your family are well.—Maureen D.

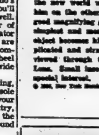
ANSWER:

Royal Icing is used for cake decorating and is made with fresh egg whites and sifted confectioners' sugar or meringue powder (which is made from dry egg whites) and confectioners' sugar. The meringue powder saves work and gives better results and may be purchased from bakers' supply houses. If desired the cake may be iced with buttercream or white mountain icing and decorated with royal icing flowers and lattice work.

ROYAL ICING NO. 1

One-quarter cup sifted meringue powder, 1/4 cup cool water, 2 3-4 cups sifted icing sugar. Combine meringue powder and cool water. Let stand 15 minutes until dissolved. Add 1-2 of sifted icing sugar and beat at high speed five minutes. Add remaining sugar, 1-2 cup at a time, and beat 1-3 minute after each addition. Cover with wax paper and damp cloth to prevent crusting while working.

ROYAL ICING NO. 2



(Fresh egg whites.)

(Not as desirable or stable as that made with meringue powder.)

One-third cup egg whites, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1 lb. sifted icing sugar. Egg whites should be room temperature. Add them to 1-3 the sifted icing sugar and beat at high speed 5 minutes. Add cream of tartar and remaining sugar, 1-3 cup at a time, beating 1-3 minute after each addition, at high speed. While working cover to prevent crusting.

Maureen you speak of decorating cakes with flowers as if it were something that you could do if you just knew the ingredients.

Decorating is a fine art and decorators in bakeries are trained for months and years. If you have a flair for this you could teach yourself, and if you would like to know where to obtain a book of instructions write to me again. You can make some lovely designs with the aluminum tube and discs but professional decorators use bags—often just brown paper rolled in a cornucopia shape, or bags of rubberized fabric. The more bags—often just at the tips are numbered and each one is used for a certain purpose.

HER REPLY TO TOAST PROPOSED AT DINNER FOR HER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In September a community-service club which I was instrumental in organizing is celebrating its twenty-fifth "birthday." The members are planning to give a dinner in my honor, and to announce a plan for the enlargement of our club service for the coming season. I imagine that the Chairman will propose a toast to me. Please tell me just exactly what to do (I must confess I've always been vague as to what one ought to do in responding to a toast.) I think I should say some words of thanks for the toast, but should I say anything at that time about the Club and its work and plans?—R.M.

The chairman will rise and propose a toast to you. All the guests (except you) rise, raise their glasses to you, and drink the toast. You not only do not rise, but you should not touch your glass. After the others have taken their seats, you rise and graciously express your thanks. You should say a few words of appreciation of the honor that is being given you, and unless you are to be one of the speakers later about the work of the club and the plans for the future) I think you should say something about the formation of the Club, of your abiding interest and pride in its work, and about your high hope for its achievement in the future.

HOSTESS SHOULD SIT WITH HER GUESTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am planning to give a birthday party for my husband, and I had thought it would be proper and very much more convenient, for me to serve the guests and attend to their wants and to assist me at the table for myself. But my sister thinks this is very bad management and would be unfairly incorrect. What do you think?—P.L.

I agree with your sister that such a service-plan would be "very bad management," and would be awkward in all concerned. A large part of the joy of any party is the participation of the hostess with her guests in all details of the party. It certainly is not a pleasant procedure to have the hostess absent from the dining table over which she should be presiding. Today's hostesses do not plan this way, ever. The fact that they have no service doesn't bother them, for they make simple plans for the service as well as simple menu plans. And of course for this easy, informal service buffet-parties are best. But if, as I judge, you particularly wish to have sit-down service, I suggest that you have only three courses: the first course a cold one, as it can be made ready for these days, or a fruit cocktail, already on the table when you summon the guests to the dining-room; then the main course; and the dessert course (the birthday cake and ice cream). Ask your sister to help you with the simple and easy-to-serve menu, and the uncomplicated service. I'm sure she will be eager to help.

I WONDER

I wonder if they miss me
From the old home on the hill,
My summer friends, the orioles,
Who used my heart to thrill?
Do they miss my gladsome greeting
As I answered to their call,
Singing in the apple orchard
When the evening shadows fall?

And the bob-o-link, so cheery,
Calling from the old plum tree,
Telling me his nest is hidden
In the grass where none may see,
Does he listen for my answer
To his swelling, bubbling song?
Does he wonder at my silence
When we have been friends so long?

And the robin and the blue-bird,
Do they miss the crumbs I threw
For their early morning breakfast
When the grass was wet with dew?
And the dainty chipping sparrow
As he hops about the door,
Will he say, "Now it is lonely,
Will she call me nevermore?"

Oft across the grassy meadow
Where the whitest picks his way,
Does he listen for my coming
To the field at break of day?
And the pretty king-bird fighting
All the starlings from his home,
Does he wonder why I linger
And why I no more come home?

Should I e'er forget these dear ones
And forsake my feathered friends,
Would they think me, cold, ungrateful,
For the gifts the Father sends?
Would they care if I should never Seek again, the old home, where
We for years had been companions?
Now I wonder would they care?

—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON — I miss the birds. Though there are birds here, and now and then one I cannot name, there is not the colony of birds that frequented my home at Conscon Lake. The proximity of the water of lake and pond giving them food and drink and building material may account for the large numbers. Another reason may be their response to human kindness — they are trusting and easily tamed.

Beside those mentioned in the poem, were the wrens nesting in the box on the verandah, the flicker in the hollow apple tree, the martins in the mail box and the cat bird in an outhouse. A happy company.

Feminine Figure.. Back After Hiding 2 Years in Sheath

PARIS (Reuters) — Christian Dior's new "magnet" silhouette for this winter returns to woman's natural assets.

The feminine figure is back after hibernating in the sheath for two years. There are wider skirts, full arched hips and a fitted shaped bodice marked by sharply sloped shoulders.

The natural waistline is indicated by obi belts or martingales set in the centre front, with one last tribute to the sheath in certain unbelted back treatments.

The lines are stable except for Dior's big surprise—a group of six street models, reminiscent of 1912 morning fashions, which drop the skirt to the ankle bones.

Suits continue a short basque, with light fitting through the midriff.

YOUR CAR

Air Filter Must Be Given Regular Attention

As a rule, every car owner realizes the importance of the oil filter and keeps inquiries out of the engine oil, and he usually will give it regular attention. The same should hold true for the filter designed to keep dirt and grit out of the crankcase ventilating air, but, actually, very few motorists are ever aware of their existence.

Whether the engine air intake is located at the oil filler cap or some other position, it contains an air filter which requires routine attention just as the carburetor air cleaner does. On many cars, the breather tube also contains a filter, and it, too, should be cleaned regularly.

BECOME CLOGGED

A good many complaints about high oil consumption arise because these filters or air cleaners are allowed to become clogged.

M.E. writes: "My car is equipped with the red oil pressure light, not the gauge. When I step on it fast for quick signal or intersection, the oil pressure light comes on for a few seconds, then goes off again."

(A) Very often, a faulty oil pressure switch is to blame for this and should be checked before suspecting little or no pressure.

E.Q. asks: "My engine uses far too much oil. According to the garage I deal with, my piston rings are to blame. The car is a 1953 model with only 18,000 miles on it, so I find it hard to believe that the piston rings are worn already."

(A) Wear is never nothing to do with it. Leaky piston rings can be due to gum and sludge deposits which cause sticking.

BRAKE GRAB

From S.S. "I had some difficulty with the brakes on my car. Each time it was found to be grease on a front wheel brake lining. If it were brake fluid, I could understand how it would get there—but where did this grease come from?"

(A) It comes from the front wheel bearings, escaping past the grease retainers. Usually, it's because too much grease has been applied when the bearings were repacked.

J.G. writes: "I have a 1954 sedan with automatic transmission and there is a halting or hesitation when I try to accelerate. Do you think the transmission is to blame or is a tune-up needed?"

(A) The carburetor accelerating pump is usually the troublemaker in such cases.

LOSES POWER

From J.S.: "When I hit speeds of 55-60 miles in my 1951 model, the engine misses and loses power. To date, I've replaced points, condenser, plugs, distributor cap, rotor, etc. I have even tried cleaning my carburetor, but none of these things has overcome the condition. At present, the engine runs very well. What would you say about the cause?"

(A) Check up on the fuel pump—very often it's to blame for high speed miss. And, make sure that spark plugs, you're using are not too hot.

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT!

Be careful about your driving—be sure about your car.

Garden Notes

Porch Boxes to Suit Your Mood

By FLORA SAVILLE

Concentrated, mobile flower beds—you could call porch boxes and planters just that. Both of these qualities make them adaptable and versatile. You can change their location as the weather or your mood dictates and the plant material in them can be changed readily to suit the season.

Plants can be placed in the boxes in pots, or set into soil. If you wish to leave plants in their pots pack sphagnum, or peat moss around and between the pots and keep the moss damp. Soil for direct planting should be rich loam. Set the plants in as you would in the garden, but much closer together.

Being crowded the plants will need more frequent waterings, and weekly or every two weeks feedings.

FOR THE PINK

Being close at hand the boxes will come in for close inspection. Keep them on the pink by going over them almost daily picking off dead leaves and flowers. Pinch back petunias frequently to keep the plants compact. Do not allow cosmos to become leggy. Pinch off a habit of going straggly, so watch them and prune back before they become unsightly.

Choose the color of your plants to suit their surroundings. Bright yellow, red and orange should not be used in masses; for close range use plenty of green foliage with them.

Give peach and pink blooms a lift with some white blooms. Do not mix too many colors in one box for the effect is anything but pleasing.

PLANTER BOXES

The planter boxes can edge the patio, embellish the railing on a basement porch or be set along the brackets on the back yard fence. Where the yard is very small this allows all the ground space to be used as an outdoor living room. It is also an excellent way to introduce color and interest in the yard space small children need for a pet dog needs play space.

On the porch the box may be a decorative wrought iron stand or table. Into this, or on the table you may place the more colorful and exotic plants you can find, or use the green foliage plants. Several pots of hush growing ivy, succulents, or a collection of begonias or coleus are a good choice.

Plants tend to develop unevenly. When they are grown in pots they can be turned, rearranged, or replaced readily. Then too, when an unseasonable frost threatens, tender plants can be brought indoors overnight.

When the season is over for outdoor plants the wrought iron stand, or table will grace the hall, or livingroom. The plants can then be changed to potted mums, bulbs, amaryllis or gloxinias.

ADDED COLOR

Wooden boxes can be painted to give added color, or to match the background, but a dark green, brown or black is usually best. Plant receptacles should not look more important than the plant material they hold.

There is a special paint which acts as a wood preservative, but this may damage the plant if used on the inside surface. Better have a tinsmith make a metal liner box to fit inside the wooden box. Pebbles, or moss can be placed in this and the pots set on top.

Potted roses set into planters can give you a rose garden right on the porch, or patio. Later potted asters mums may be used for a long season of brilliant fall color. The roses and mums must be carefully planted out in the garden for the winter and used again the following year. Remember all of these plants will need extra plant food, and water to thrive.

CLEARED IN DEATH

NORTH BAY (CP)—A Toronto motorist was cleared Wednesday night of any blame in the accidental death of an eight-year-old Timmins girl, Nedine Tellock, hit by a car July 13. An inquest jury decided Morton Kaschie, driver of the car, was relieved of any criminal liability in the accident. Evidence was the little girl dashed into the path of the car on her way to see some monkeys.

MELROSE

Cubs, Scouts Enjoy Combined Sports' Day

MELROSE — The Melrose Cubs and Scouts held a combined picnic and sports day recently near Kingsford, on the Salmon River.

Approximately 60 were driven to a bountiful dinner provided by the mothers. Grace was said by Cub Wayne Pascoe.

While the older ones took part in the sports events, the smaller children enjoyed wading in the shallow water.

With the assistance of Messrs. McLennan, Pascoe, English, and Clarke, the assistant Scout Master, Thomas Howard, conducted the races.

First on a day for children 6 and under, the winners were Ellen McLaren, Judy Fox, Judy Sager. The race was run by those aged 8 to 7. The winners were—Ronald Pascoe, Kenneth McLennan.

In the 8 to 10 group the winners were Barry Milligan and Bob McLaren.

In the 11 to 13 group, Andre McLaren and Garry Ross.

Boys' and over; this dash was won by John Ross, and Albert Harvey.

There followed the ladies' race, dash, with Mrs. McLennan and Mrs. Demille as winners. Ladies' shoe race with Mrs. Reg. Fox and Mrs. Demille as winners.

In the ladies' shoe race, Mrs. Reg. Fox and Mrs. Demille were winners.

In the men's dash, Earl Ross and Gordon Demille were announced winners.

Three-legged race the winning team were Barry Milligan and Andre McLaren, Wayne Pascoe and Bob McLaren.

Sack race: Andre McLaren, Garry Ross.

Albert Harvey won in the bean guessing contest.

A tug-of-war between the Cubs and Scouts was won by the former, since they outnumbered their others at least three to one.

The concluding event of the afternoon which had been most anxiously anticipated, was the tug of war, the Cubs and their mothers, versus the fathers. The easy victory the fathers had confidently expected (added by four scouts) was utterly disappointing, for they were completely routed.

Prizes for the above events were presented by A. C. M. Mrs. V. Pascoe (Akela) and A. C. M. Mrs. Thomas Howard (Bagheera).

Mrs. Dash English, Cub Mistress, appreciates the interest shown by the parents in making this a successful outing.

Plans are underway for a committee of interested fathers to organize ball teams for all boys over seven who wish to take part in this sport.

SOFTBALL

The latest standing of the Belleville District Softball League reveals the Ox Points with top spot clinched tighter than a dowager's corset with 13 wins and two losses.

Second place, however, is still in the balance with the Frankford Merchants at present holding down the place position with nine wins and six setbacks and Tompie's Bobcats nudging them in third spot with seven wins and six defeats.

The Trenton Juniors and Madoc follow in the order named with the town youngsters having won and lost ten and the villages crew three wins and a dozen defeats.

The all-important battle which will have a distinct bearing on second place takes place Monday night when the Cats battle Frankford on the latter's diamond. A win for the Merchants will clinch the spot for them with a final tally of ten wins and six losses.

The Cats, however, have three games left to play. They tangle with the loop-leading Ox Pointers next Wednesday night, Frankford Monday, and Trenton Juniors at CNRAA Park on Thursday. The Tompies must win all three to take over the place position, but they can tie Frankford by defeating them, and taking one of the remaining games.

If the Trenton youngsters take the measure of the Cats on Thursday, they will be "in" as far as the fourth and final playoff berth is concerned. If they lose, then drop their final game to Madoc on Tuesday, the squads will be all tied up.

The powers-that-be of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association are arranging playdown dates, etc, in the various classifications. A set of tentative dates have been drawn up which were published in Tuesday's issue.

There is not much to comment on as it is expected that several more teams will be included in later releases of playoff dates.

However, it is worthy of mention that the new industrial Belleville classification, has attracted quite a few more entries than last year, the first season of playing. It is recalled the Canada Cement Company Ltd. generously donated a handsome trophy for annual competition to the OASA and which, incidentally, was won by the club bearing the Paint Anne insignia of the company.

Last year, if memory serves, the Pointers defeated an Oshawa, br was it Toronto team and walloped plumb into the finals. This year it will be different, as several other clubs have taken the fancy of teams eligible and there should be a tighter struggle for the coveted trophy than that of last season.

However, the Pointers are confident they can defend their 1955 title. They have a much stronger squad than the one which brought the championship to the Paint last season. And they may need it. They are drawn against an Oshawa team, probably the General Motors, and with the latest available, the Motor City crew should field a strong aggregation.

If the Pointers hurdle the Oshawa barrier they will come up against a strong Toronto squad while western Ontario teams are settling playdown battles in their district. Windsor and Stratford are reported as having strong entries, and this industrial series might be productive of some high-class softball.

Paint Anne will, through CASA regulations governing the industrial series, have to drop some of their star cavorters, but they have replacements which, they feel, will not weaken the squad to any noticeable extent.

TRACK, FIELD

Youthful track and field runners are reminded to get their entries in as soon as possible for the various events being staged at the Fair Grounds on the first afternoon of the 164th Belleville Exhibition. There will be the Mead Mile for the handsome Mead-Johnson Trophy with the winner getting $10 in money and the next four finishing also getting cash awards.

There will be cash prizes for front finishers in the 220 yard relay and the 100 yard dashes. The events are creating quite a lot of interest in the city and district and fair officials in charge look for large entries in all events.

"Sam" Gault, last year's Mead winner, has fully recovered from a leg injury and has been in serious training for some time. Rumor has it "Sam" may not run in the mile, but is concentrating his training efforts with a relay team.

However, the main thing at the moment is to get the entries in, so please forward them to Lloyd G. Doran, City Hall so that officials can get on with the arrangements of the various fields and make the necessary arrangements.

AMATEUR WINS OPEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec amateur champion Joe Leblanc, playing on his home Montreal Whitlock course, shot even-par 144 for 36 holes Friday to top a group of professionals in the Quebec open golf championship.

Leblanc, who won the amateur title last weekend, had rounds of 73 and 71 to finish one stroke ahead of professional Jack Kay. Kay collected $9 prize money of $300 in the $1,000 tournament.

One stroke back of Kay was Stan Leonard.

New York Yankees had to keep working well after midnight to hang on to their American League lead.

The Yanks finally nosed out Kansas City Athletics 10-9 in a 14-inning ball game. The winning run came on a walk to Mickey Mantle followed by two errors by shortstop Mike Baxes that sent the slugger home.

Runner - up Cleveland Indians won their seventh straight, 3 - 2 over Baltimore. Boston defeated Chicago White Sox 4-3. Detroit took Washington 5-4.

WILD BATTLE

At Kansas City Mantle had walked with one away and Bill Skowron had been called out on strikes when Hank Bauer hit a ground ball between Baxe's legs. Mantle going to third on the error. Then Andy Carey walked and the shortstop muffed Jerry Coleman's grounder and Mantle came in second, with Mantle scoring home.

The two clubs staged a wild battle in which there was a combined total of 42 hits and five home runs. The A's collected 26 hits, the Yanks 16.

The A's, thrice coming from behind, had Vic Power's single, Hector Lopez and homers by Harry Simpson, who drove in four runs, and Vic Power, Vogt Lopez, Bill Skowron and Andy Carey homering for the Yanks. Tom Sturdivant Byrne winning his sixth after relieving in the ninth. Wally Burnette, a first baseman farmhand, lost it, also relieving in the ninth.

HOMERS HELP INDIANS

A pair of sixth-inning homers, a two-run shot by Rocky Colavito and a solo smack by Jim Hegan, won for Cleveland as Early Wynn got his second at 12-5. He needed help from Don Mossi in the ninth, however, after the Orioles got a man on third with one out. Mossi forced the runner at home on pinch-hitter Bob Hale's grounder, then retired Dick Williams on a grounder to end it.

Tom Brewer won his 14th, catching up with the White Sox on an eight-hitter. The Red Sox beaten the righthander in nine of 11 meetings, lost their 16th in the last 19 as Boston smacked 12 hits to hand Jim Wilson his 8th setback. Ted Williams's infield out scored the clincher.

The Tigers regained a share of fifth with Baltimore with a five-run fourth inning, triggered by Frank Kaline's three-run double. Frank Lary won his ninth, striking out seven in an 11-hitter. Bob Wiesler lost it.

Sleepy-time Saul Rogovin, the righthander who looks as though he's having trouble staying awake on the mound, turns out to be the guy who finally flagged down Milwaukee's pennant - dressing Braves.

The 33-year-old veteran, cut loose by Detroit, Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati and even Baltimore before catching on with Philadelphia Phils, had the Braves breaking their backs trying to hit his slow stuff Friday night and beat them 3-2. His pitcher ended the Braves' winning streak at five games and trimmed their National League lead to 4½ games.

Saul was practically the whole show, singling home two runs to break a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning after 13-game winner Lew Burdette had walked Solly Hemus purposely to fill the bases.

The defeat makes a sweep of the remaining three games in the weekend series with the Phils almost a "must" for Milwaukee before heading into Brooklyn for a three game set Monday. The Dodgers stayed within five percentage points of second-place Cincinnati by stretching their winning streak to six games with a 6-4, 10-inning decision over Chicago Cubs.

REDLEGS GAIN

The Redlegs gained on Milwaukee by beating Pittsburgh 3-2 on Wally Post's ninth - inning triple.

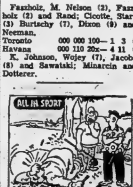
Three ex-Cardinals—Bill Sarni, Red Schoendienst and Jackie Brandt—drove in five runs among them as New York's pennant-leading Giants struck at eight games with a 6-5 victory over St. Louis.

Rogovin, who seven years ago starred while winning his sixth in 10 decisions, didn't allow an earned run. Joe Adcock's 22nd home run produced Milwaukee's pair followed Gran Hamner's error on a third-out grounder in the sixth. Both runs in the seventh came on a leadoff walk and single to Hamner. Solo-but he retired Ed Mathews, Hank Aaron and Adcock on popups.

Mike Jones had three hits, including his 10th homer, for the Phils—each with an RBI—as over the Braves this season at 9-6.

CUBS IN TANGLE

Brooklyn topped Chicago on Gil Hodges's scramble home from second with Koen's three-run double. Frank Lary won his ninth, striking out seven in an 11-hitter. Bob Wiesler lost it.



Carl Erskine won his eighth of the season and Dixon (9) saved it, striking out eight. Pee Wee Reese and Carl Furillo homered for the Brooks, Don Hoak for the Cubs. Relief ace Murk Lown, who had won six straight, lost his 10th as reliefer Elroy Face, Art Fowler won his sixth with a 5-hit shutout including Dale Long's 21st home run that had tied it 2-2.

Sarni delivered a two-run triple after Schoendienst had singled home the tying run in a three-run seventh - inning rally by the Giants. Jim Davis (9) saved for the Cards, who blew 3-2 and 4-3 leads. Reliefer Gene Conley let lost it and Joe Margoneri won it, with Bill White homering for the Giants.

Fazzholz, M. Nelson (2), Fazzholz (2) and Rand; Cicotte, Starr (3) Burtschy (7), Dixon (9) and Neeman.

Palmer Leads Eastern Open By Three Strokes

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the son of a pro golfer, added evidence to the belief he'll become one of the best by going into the third round of the eastern open today with a three-stroke lead.

The 26-year-old from Latrobe, Pa., plastered the 6,895 - yard Mount Pleasant course Friday for a 68, six strokes under par and one shy of the record.

He had trimmed par by two strokes in his first round and the second round left in his wake two other novice pros shooting for the lead, Jerry Kemelring of Kitchener and Babe Lichardus of Hillside, N.J.

Kemelring shot a one-under-par 71 for a 36-hole total of 139, five strokes per. He had a 66 in Thursday's opening round.

Kemelring was one over par on the first nine Friday and had to stage a second-nine comeback. He finished with 100-foot putts the remaining holes to the 18th where another birdie gave him the 71.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

International League Race Tightens Wings, Marlins Crowd Beaten Leafs

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The red hot International League pennant race is getting even hotter. Three teams are in the thick of things for first place honors and a fourth is within reach of the top spot.

As a result of league - leading Toronto's 4-1 loss to Havana Friday night, Rochester and Miami —virtually deadlocked for second place — moved up one notch. Rochester's victory was a manager - to - manager duel between Cal Ermer of Richmond and Dick Montreal, respectively.

While - Havana's Rudy Minarcin (11-6) was throwing the circuit leaders, his teammates pounded Ken Johnson (5-5) and Pete Wojey for 11 hits. The Cubans scored their four runs off Johnson in the first seven innings, and managed to get a man on base in every inning.

TORONTO NEMESIS

Minarcin, who has won nine of his last 10 games, has been the Toronto four times this year without a loss. The only run off him last night was scored by Carl Sawatski's 11th homer of the season.

Miami won it 18th game in its last 22 starts by defeating Montreal 5-2. Steve Ridzik provided ing Miami's power at the plate with a home run and a triple, pitcher Don Cardwell was able to rack up his 12th victor; of the season. He has lost only three starts.

Rochester beat Richmond 8-2 in a game played under protest by Virginians manager Eddie Lopat. Richmond loaded the bases in the second inning and Rochester manager Dick Walker brought in outfielder Mel Nelson to pitch and sent hurler Jack Fazzholz to right field. Nelson retired the next two batters and then Walker made his third trip to the mound to bring Fazzholz back to the mound. Lopat protested under a league rule which says a manager or a pitcher must leave the game if the manager goes onto the diamond three times in one frame.

Walker remained but was eventually given the thumb in the sixth when he was again involved over Nelson. Richmond now has lost two games in a row after winning six straight.

Columbia defeated Buffalo 3-2 on Johnny Lipon's three - run homer in the seventh inning. The Jets were trailing by two runs at the time but a walk, a single and Lipon's round-tripper gave Columbus the edge.

Hamilton Upsets St. Kitts 17-10

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Denny Peterson scored five goals in the lead Hamilton Burners to an upset 17 - 10 win over the league-leading St. Catharines Athletics in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A game Friday night.

Jack Sibbald and Skip Logan contributed three goals each in the winning effort and Leo Teatre collected two. Jim McNulty and Al Frick each had three for St. Catharines.

At Peterborough the Trailermen defeated Long Branch Monarchs 12-8 to move into a first-place tie with the Athletics.

Red Howell led the winners with four goals and Harley followed with three. Don Meek led Monarchs with four goals.

Pico Nearly Grabbed the Act But Forgot Whip Champion

By GEO. H. GARVEY
(Sports Editor)

Senor Roberto Pico almost grabbed the act in Memorial Arena last night.

He pioneered world champion Whipper Billy Watson very effectively in the first fall with the aid of the snow and gringo referee Sammy Gotter.

He discovered one of the reasons why Watson wears the world championship belt in the third hassle.

Gotter was looking for his wife's cane when it happened. El Senor placed the Boston crab on the champion while a near - stunned crowd gasped.

The next thing the senor knew he was gazing at the rafters from a prone position near the plinker of the front pew spectators.

That tried the ships jumping bean from Pancho Villa's hellwick no end.

Muttering something about "Hasta Manana" he slithered the Whip was of the ring onto the solid crust floor of the arena. But he forgot the Bride of Frankie's mark jumping-bean characteristics of his own.

While the senor glowered down at the fallen Canadiana, the Whip leaped to the apex of the ringpost a sock to the Mexican midriff, and in a flying leap cleared the ropes to spread-eagle the senor for the fall and match.

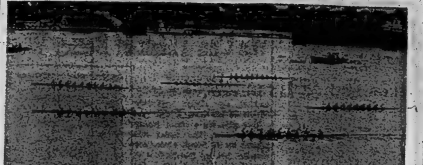
That was it. It took just five minutes to close the deal, and the large crowd went home satisfied after parading the senor to the to dressing room amid a shower of paper missiles and not-too-polite verbal tributes.

In the first fall Pico calmly tried to separate the Whip from his noggin with a corkscrew headlock. It worked fine for a while, at least ish minutes, when the champion took over, wrizled the senor high overhead in a series of body smashes, and called it quits.

But the fiery Mexican had some tricks left. He manoeuvred the Whip into a corner, braced his head against a ring post while Sammy was mat-praying and "crashed" the champion.

Gotter irked the crowd by his repeated warnings to the Whip regarding a "deadly" fist, flying his hair-pulling tactics went unnoticed.

Those Strutfin' Irish from New Jersey, the Gallagher brothers Dennis, Jack and Mickey—did a few new ones.



They strutted, butted and clobbered Brian Glover, Lou and Dick Byers as the official foil for their best referee-bashing trick, winning the thirty-minute limit fall in twenty.

Occasionally Clarey or Byers disinfected the ring. But they were no match for the wild tricks—and a few new ones.

Occasionally Clarey or Byers disinfected the ring. But they were no match for the wild tricks—and a few new ones.

Ruffy-tuffy Jan Golch out-villained Mark Lewin in the semi-finale liminary. The match went the limit but Gotter awarded the fall after parading the senor to the to Lewin on general principles.

It looks like a photo finish in the quarter-mile dash at the Canadian Henley regatta at Port Dalhousie, Ont., as six crews battle to the finish line. But the St. Catharines eight won by a length, smashing its own Henley record of 1:22.3 with a winning time of 1:18.9. They were followed by Toronto Argonauts, second; Toronto Balmy Beach, third; Toronto Scullers (nearest camera), Wyandotte, Mich., and two additional St. Catharines crews.

Canadian Game "Too Tough" For Rider Import

TORONTO (CP)—Sam Baker, former Washington Redskins and Oregon State halfback, Friday gave his version why he quit the Toronto Argonauts training camp.

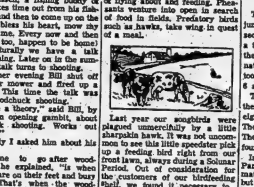
The 225-pound backfielder, an outstanding kicker who was expected to be Argos' first-string booter if he had stayed around, says he is pressured over the club's claims that he didn't measure up to expectations. He says the Canadian game too tough and that they made little effort to help him.

Baker said that he went to head Bill Swiacki and said whether they could talk things over.

"In view of the fact that our temperaments seemed to clash, I was of the opinion that you release," the player added. "In that way we could wind up our dealings graciously. I have no desire to be the cause of an outburst of speculation about dissension or anything of that nature.

"But, far from telling me could not have made the club anyway, coach Swiacki said he would bring in the club lawyers if I attempted to get my release.

Baker said he is not accustomed to being treated "like a child" and that he is attempting to make the high school team."



Swiacki could be further contacted.

The daily Solumar Periods affect, to a greater or less degree, all living things, even people. Fish, animals, birds, reptiles, insects and, for that matter, plants all react to the Solumar Periods according to their own particular capacities and habits of living.

Take Bill's cows and woodchucks, for example. Further investigation would have shown him other wildlife as well as woodchucks, eating and feeding when the cows were grazing. Deer would be found in the clearings and the fish would be removed from the safety of the weeds.

Only last summer I saw a fox busily engaged in hunting mice and grasshoppers in an open meadow during a Solunar Period. The animal evidently was used to automobiles, as it paid little of no attention to the fact that we had stopped to watch him.

Another indication of the existence of a Solunar Period is the behavior of birds, all kinds of birds. Song-birds sing and do a great deal of flying about and feeding. Phesants venture into open in search of food in fields. Predatory birds such as hawks, take wing in quest of a meal.

Last year our songbirds were plagued unmercifully by a little sharpskin hawk. It was not uncommon to see this little speedster pick up a feeding bird right from our front lawn, always during a Solunar Period. Out of consideration for the customers of our birdfeeding shelf, we found it necessary to move this cafeteria over beside the multiflora hedge. Even then, the hawk being bothered constantly by his unwelcome attentions.

Then he made a mistake. To keep our little parakeet, Gelsey, in his cage directly in front of our picture window of our living room. Evidently hunting was over, as the hawk decided to pick up George. Why he didn't break the window I don't know.

He recovered himself sufficiently to make his wobbly way to the three-spruce hedge while I ran for my gun. Now the birds can feed in peace. All this happened during a major Solunar Period.

Nearly always on our northstreams horsehoods there is a batch of insects during a Solunar Period. Moreover, the trout rise readily then and are not nearly so selective as they are at other times Then they will take artificials without hesitation.

One of the common characteristics of all wildlife during Solunar Periods is their evident lack of fear. So they are more apt to be hungry, they seem to lose all caution at these times. Animals and birds move into the clearings or open fields, fish swim about in the shallows, exposing themselves to their natural enemies.

So with all this in mind, I gave Bill quite a lecture about the Solunar Tables and the effects of the Solunar Period on wildlife in general. Now he can predict quality of his woodchuck shooting without driving out in the country to see what the cows are doing.

Solumar Solves Solumar Periods Also Govern Game

(By JOHN ALDEN)

(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables.)

Bill Russell, a fishing buddy of mine, takes time out from his fishing now and then to come up on the hill and, bless his heart, mow my lawn for me. Every now and then (when I, too, happen to be home) quite naturally we have a talk about fishing. Later on in the summer the talk turns to shooting.

The other evening Bill shut off the power mower and fired up a cigaret. This time the talk was about woodchuck shooting.

"I have a theory," said Bill, by way of an opening gambit, about woodchuck shooting. Works out good, too."

Naturally I asked him about his theory.

"The time to go after woodchucks," he explained, "is when the cows are on their feet and busy feeding. That's when the woodchucks are out."

"But if you see the cows lying down and taking things easy, you might just as well turn around and go home. You won't find any woodchucks—all hole-up. Works out that way every time."

I went into the house and brought out a copy of the Solunar Tables for Bill.

Far too many people regard the Solunar Tables as being useful in fishing and in that only. They call them "fish calendars" or "fish almanacs." Nothing could be further from the truth.

Teen-Ager Fails to Beat Lake Ontario Doreen George Pulled After 17 Miles

NIAGARA ON THE LAKE (CP)— Tough Lake Ontario conquered only twice, beat back another challenger today.

This time the victim was 16-year-old Doreen George of Toronto. The five - foot - one, 110-pound schoolgirl exhausted after fighting two-foot waves and upset by a nauseous swell, was pulled from the lake after swimming 17 miles of the 32-mile distance.

Miss George attempted to become the youngest person to make the crossing. Instead, she was the 45th to fail.

Only Marilyn Bell and 36-year-old swimmer John Kenney have swum the lake. Marilyn did it in 1954 at the age of 16. Jarmey accomplished the feat last Monday.

TAKEN OUT AT 1:45 A.M.

Doreen was taken into her guide boat at 1:45 a.m. Friday. She entered the water at this Niagara River town at 7:47 p.m. Friday. She had been in the lake just under 10 hours.

In her final hour in the water, Doreen made little or no progress. Currents and tides kept her repeated rests and several times appealed to her coach, Jim Currie, to be taken out.

Currie tried to reassure her that her weariness would disappear if she would continue on. Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto, veteran marathoner plunged into the lake to give Doreen encouragement. He stayed with her a couple of hours but it was no use.

Lumsdon, Miss Bell and Doreen are officials of the Lakeshore Swimming Club here.

WATER 70 DEGREES

The water temperature was a comfortable 70 degrees most of the time but the air temperature in the inky blackness was several degrees cooler. Miss George was shivering when she gave up.

During the severest weather conditions—a 25-mile wind was blowing against her—the tiny swimmer made the plunge her most difficult stroke. She set out at 60 strokes to the minute and never got below a 50-stroke pace until early today.

It was her first crack at the lake. Last year she completed the Atlantic City marathon.

Dutchies Nip Red Sox 5-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, though playing without a manager and at the end of a week of financial troubles, gathered extra strife, turned back Brantford Red Sox 5-4 Friday night in an Intercounty Baseball League senior game.

In other Ontario baseball action Coniston Red Sox, defending champions of the Nickel District league, moved out of the series cellar with an 8-6 win over Garson Greyhounds, while Creighton Indians suffered their fourth straight loss, a 2-1 defeat by Frood Tigers.

In the only Niagara District Senior game, Stamford Kerries took a slim lead in league standings with a 9-4 win over Niagara Falls Cataracts, the former leaders.

SPORT IN BRIEF

ZURICH PITCHER PROSPECT

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP) — Bill Zubyk, 15-yearpold pitcher from Zurich, is a likely candidate for a Cleveland Indians contract, scout Nap Ross of Detroit said Friday at the amateur baseball clinic. Recently he turned down an offer from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

More than 50 young players from western Ontario attended the session.

The husky Zubyk spent this day having on his father's farm, and then hitch-hiked through London to Tillsonburg, so he was on time for theschool opening at 10 a.m.

LEAFS PLAY INTERCOUNTRY

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs will be the opposition in the Intercounty Baseball League's annual all-star game here Aug. 3 Commissioner Hugh Gillis announced Friday night.

The Intercounty squad will be picked by sports writers and sportscasters and results of the balloting will be known within a week.

OTTAWA DROPS THREE

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders announced Friday that three United States players have been cut by the club to make way for a new tackle, 270-pound Charlie Dress, and report for practice this weekend.

Dress, a six-footer, was cut by Las Vegas Rams of the National Football League.

The three players released are halfbacks Ralph McAllister and Ray Taylor and tackle Jim Walker. McAllister was a teammate with Minnesota and Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Taylor is a former Texas Christian player and Walker was from Western Michigan College.

SEEK OSFU BERTHS

HAMILTON (CP) — Three imports who were cut from Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the CFL may say they will try to find berths with Ontario Rugby Football Union teams.

Halfback Bill Trawnick, formerly with the National Football League Philadelphia Eagles, and end Frank McDonald, an all-American with Miami University, are slated to join Sarnia Golden Bears.

The third import, Homer Jenkins, who worked as a passing tailback out of Colorado's single wing, will work out with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

EDDOLLS TO COACH

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Fred Hunt, retained as general manager by new owners of the club of the American Hockey League's Buffalo Bisons, announced Friday that Frank Eddols will continue to coach the team.

QUEEN'S DRAFT TO END

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Beasley, owner of Queen's Plate winner Canadian Champ, has turned over to Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association a draft for 50 guineas, which he received from the keeper of the Queen's privy purse.

Mr. Beasley requested the draft be sent to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, the favorite charity of the sportswriters and sportscasters. The draft is worth approximately $150 in Canadian money.

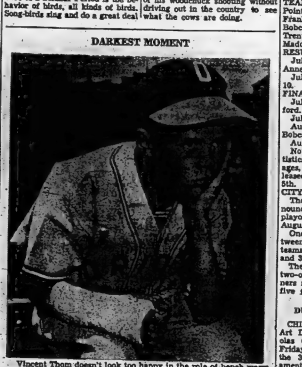
Struble to Swim Niagara In Straitjacket

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Wesley R. Struble Jr., who last Saturday swam across Lake Erie while wearing police handcuffs, has accepted a challenge to swim across the Niagara River in a straitjacket.

Struble, a 30-year-old salvageman from Newark, N.Y., said Friday he is "always happy" to accept the challenge of Harry Captain Clifford Stineberg of Irwin Steel Company of Lewiston and Cayuga Island in the Niagara River.

The Niagara Falls, N.Y., policeman, aged 50, issued the challenge after he successfully swam 12½ miles from Angola, N.Y., to Crystal Beach.

Struble said the straitjacket parts have to wait until he recovers from a lacerated thumb suffered when he fell at a swimming pool at the University of Rochester.



Struble's doctor said the thumb is broken in four places and may have to be amputated.

Top Golfers Enter Women's Open Tourney

WINNIPEG (CP) — Several top women amateur golfers from United States and Canada have submitted their entries for the Canadian Women's Open at Winnipeg's Niakwa, Aug. 13-18.

Pat Lesser of Seattle has entered along with Mary Patton Janes of Charlottesville, Va., British amateur runner-up, this year.

Defending Canadian open champion Marlene Stewart of Foothill also will be here for the open and also will defend her Canadian close title at the same course Aug. 9-11. Mary Gay of Kitchener, runner-up to Miss Stewart in both the open and close last year, and Rae Milligan of Jasper, who won the Alberta title Friday, also have filed entries.

Vincent Thom doesn't look too happy in the role of bench warmer as his little league ball club fights it out in a game at Saint John, N.B. A broken wrist will keep him out of action for a while. Vincent is an outfielder. (CP Photo).

American Davis Cuppers Take Singles Matches From Canada

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP) — The score was 3-0 in favor of the United States today as the Canadian tennis contingent was on its last chance to pull the 1956 Davis Cup Men's American semi-finals from the fire.

The U.S crew swept both singles matches Friday and needed only a win in the doubles today to clinch victory in the best-of-five competition.

The pairings called for Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., and Don Fontana of Toronto to go against Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn and Barry MacKay of Detroit.

Fontana fared poorly against Ham Richardson of Westfield, N.J. in the opening singles match Friday and went down 1-6, 6-2, 6-2 to the big former U.S. Davis Cup star.

Bedard's battle with Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., in the second match, was a different matter. Flam won 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 to stop Richardson's victory only after a marathon battle in the fourth set. The set went 20 games and ended 11-9 for Flam.

Bedard, displaying an impressive retrieving style, took the opening set 6-1 but lost the second and third 6-2 and 6-4.

The fourth set developed into an endurance test. Bedard let up till the sixth game when Flam tied it 3-3. From then on the score in games was tied at every turn.

Flay grew more erratic as the game dragged and lunged into the teens but the two continued serving up amazing returns and recovery shots which kept the audience of about 1,000 on edge.

Flam came close to blowing as important 16-9 lead when he double-faulted twice, once after the score had gone to deuce. Bedard forced deuce three more times before Flam caught him out of position and fired a ball low over the net to make the match point.

Sunday's singles pairings called for a reversal of Friday's play, with Bedard going against Richardson and Fontana against Flam.

Canada's Junior Golfers Win Over Americans

TORONTO (CP)—Eight Ontario junior golfers Friday scored their second victory in as many days over a team from Washington, D.C., in the annual renewal of their international series.

The Canadians took the Simpson Trophy with 6 and 4 triumph.

The Ontario youngsters clinched their victory off the morning and eight afternoon single match. They won three and halved two. They won three of four Scotch foursomes in the afternoon.

In the 16-year-old class, Boo Panaiotis of Windsor took his match with Doug Lindsay 4 and 2 but the Americans took the other. Ronald Ziegler winning 3 and 1 from Bob Borthwick of Toronto.

The 15 - year - olds also split, Chuck Lobar beat Rumsfeld's Bob Slatter 3 and 1 and Toronto's Phil Renwick won 8 and 6 over Carl MacCartee.

The only other Ontario win was by the 18-year-old bracket, a 7 and 6 triumph for Bill Bevan of St. Catharines over Manly Farr of Keith Bowie took the other match 4 and 3 from Doo White of Hranicky.

Both 17-year-old matches were tied, Gary Cowan of Kitchener drawing with John Grubb and Norman Goldman of Toronto with Chick Cullinane.

In the Scotch foursomes Cowan and Grubb were to reveal the damage, and a properly equipped yacht or service shop can make repairs.

A keel can be cut of shape without a mast, but a fin-keeled yacht is not to be stepped. Before you get on a spree, remember that wheels can have knocked out of shape by hitting a heavy, soft object such as a water-soaked cardboard carton. Sudden violent stopping of a thin-bladed propeller can force it out of shape, and necessitate removal by pounding, instead of using the unlocking device, can damage the transmission to the point of failure.

Outboard propellers, with their sheer pins, are saved some of the wear and tear that befalls wheels on bigger boats, but outboard propeller kicks and dents should be looked after when noted, and their pitch should also be checked.

A major sail water villain is the growth commonly known as the tropiyia. This is layman's language for the underwater process that eats metal and pits it like a wood cheese, with no discernible pattern or reason. It is the most come more and more loaded with propeller problems because it becomes more prevalent. Poor condition on board, improper grounding, or charging a battery from shore without disconnecting from shipboard circuits can cause leakage through the fittings, corrosion then is the process.

Mooring near a steel-keeled boat can lead to trouble, and in some areas, too near a dock or wharf, can cause electric leakage through the fittings, corrosion then is the process.

Mooring near a steel-keeled boat can lead to trouble, and in some areas, too near a dock or wharf, can cause electric leakage through the fittings, corrosion then is the process.

MAY PLAY TWO MEN

MILAN (AP)—Italy's European champions may not know what team if the Davis Cup inter-zone finals are held in the United States.

Nino Aldo Tolusso, president of the Italian Lawn Tennis Federation, announced Friday night that Italy intends to reveal the European cup finals against Sweden had been named for the inter-zone competition. He added that one—Giuseppe Merlo—would probably see action if play is in the United States, because his style is suited for grass courts. The others are Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli.

MRS. PYKE WINS

BOSCOBEL, Que. (CP)—Veteran Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal rallied on the last nine holes to defeat 36-year-old Janet McWha of Montreal 2-up in the 36-hole final for the Quebec Ladies' golf championship.

Hamilton Leanders Top Field Royal Canadian Henley Race

By GEORGE HANCOCKS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (CP) — The race for the Maple Leaf Trophy, emblematic of the points championship, will be decided in the senior events as the Royal Canadian Henley finals get today.

Hamilton Leanders pulled ahead of their nearest rivals in the junior race Friday. They scored 126 points with three fleets, two second and two thirds in 15 races.

Star of the powerful Leander entry was Jimmy Roche, 25-year-old carpenter who broke the junior 145-pound singles record on the one-mile, 550-yard Henley course. His time of 7:46 was one second better than that of Bill Lang of St. Paul, Minn. Lang set the former record in 1953.

WINS DOUBLES

In the junior doubles, Roche teamed second to Jon Pearce to pull to a one-length win over Detroit's Jack Sequette and Bob Hopman. There was no official time on the race.

Hamilton's third first came when the junior 155-pound four-oared shell beat two lengths ahead of Buffalo Westsides. Its time of 7:09.4 was short of the Henley course record of 7:08.1 set by the Westsides in 1941.

Hamilton scored seconds in the senior 155-pound singles, the junior 145-pound eight; thirds in the junior eight and the senior coxswain fours.

Following the Leanders with 127.5 points was the New York Athletic Club. Its scullers took third spot with 90.5 in the Buffalo club.

St. Catharines Rowing Club which Thursday held third place, dropped to a low fifth place with only 65 points, Toronto Argos stood fourth with 69.5.

The Brockville Rowing Club although it stands sixth in the standings and has no hope of overtaking the Leanders, turned in an excellent showing. Its junior light four, rowing in a new shell, turned in a 7:28.2 to top Toronto Argos, St. Catharines and Buffalo by a half-length. The record of 7:06 is held by St. Catharines.

Included on today's program were the senior doubles, fours and eights. The preliminary heats of the senior eights Henlan Memorial Trophy race were scratched from the program Friday. The race was to be run as a final today.

Berrios Wins Over Anahuac

NEW YORK (AP) — Miguel Berrios, a busy little Puerto Rican beat Kid Anahuac of Mexico City on a unanimous decision in a boxing bout Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Anahuac, unbeaten in his 15 previous starts, switched to a southpaw style in the eighth, claiming he had injured his right hand.

It took Berrios, 23, two rounds to solve the new style but he really raked the Mexican with everything in the tenth.

Although the unanimous verdict for the nationally televised fight drew mixed reception from the crowd of about 2,000, Berrios had a definite edge on the official cards. Referee Al Berl had it 5-4, judge Leo Birnbaum 6-3-1 and judge Bill Recht 6-3-2. The AP card was 7-3.

Aussies Trail In Test Match

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters) Australia had its back to the wall Friday night as a first - innings collapse produced only 84 runs in reply to England's 438 in the fourth test match.

Following on, the Australians scored 53 for the loss of one second-innings wicket to trail by 322 runs after two days' play.

Jim Laker, the England spin bowler, took nine Australian first innings wickets for 37 runs.

A victory in this test would give England a 3-1 lead, with one match drawn, in the five-match series.

England's remaining seven wickets Friday added 124 runs to the overnight score of 307 for three. Rev. David Sheppard signalled his return to the England side after an absence of two years by completing a century that gave Australia no chance for a catch. He made 113 in just under five hours and hit a six and 15 fours.

PIGEON CUTS POWER

BRANTFORD (CP)—Most of the city's 60-cycle power users were without service for 18 minutes Wednesday. Investigators found that a pigeon had contacted a main line, and in electrocuting itself had caused a short circuit.

Movie Column

Thomas Says He Likes Cliches We Can Think of Better Ways

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some columnists are always criticizing cliches on television. I love 'em.

They give me a warm feeling of recognition, like seeing and hearing an old friend. Among my favorites are the introductions to commercials. I'd feel lost if the star didn't say, "And now, stand by for a message you won't want to miss" (though usually I do want to). Or, "But first—a word from our sponsor" (though usually it stretches into many words).

Some day someone on TV is going to tell the truth: "We have to interrupt the show now for a commercial."

I'm also fond of the cliches on the quiz shows: "Well, Myrt, I guess you've had a pretty exciting week"; "And now comes the moment we've all been waiting for"; "I'm sorry, the answer is wrong; better luck next time." WHY A MASK

I'm against these newfangled "adult westerns." They're all tangled—up with psychological clashes and don't pay attention to the cliches we all know and love. Like, "I reckon Clem is just about the orneriest critter that ever come west." Or, "You get on back to town, Dale, and tell the marshal we got trouble out here."

My favorite for cliches is The Lone Ranger, who has more than anybody. Such as: "I don't trust nobody who goes around wearing a mask." (Why does he wear a mask, anyway?)

I don't want to slight the hour dramas. I especially like them when they're about "middle delinquency, which is almost every week. That gives an outlet for such old favorites as, "You never really loved me, did you mother?" or, "He's not a bad boy; he's just a little wild, that's all."

The variety shows provide a fertile field, too. I can hardly wait to hear such gems as, "You've been a wonderful, wonderful audience"; "And now, a great performer"; "Here's a song you may remember" (followed by applause when the audience remembers it).

Be critical but not narrow - mindwed. Watch personal appearance, manners.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Don't launch week's work with a haphazard program. Your talents are worthy of sturdy and commendable action. Saturate the atmosphere with cheeriness and a confident manner.

November 24 to December 21—(Sagittarius) — Wishing is not accomplishing. Be a go-getter without irritating others. Tremend ordinary routine and brighten the day with extra special performance. Taboo carelessness.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Tackle duties with vigor. Cooperate with those expecting your help. Much good may come from this. Reserve some time for family, loved ones. Listen well.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Be precise in execution of duties. Look for an opportunity to embrace ideas. Do not deviate from duly assigned tasks, rightly determined objectives. Incorporate new ideas, methods into routine.

February 20 to March 20—(Pisces) — A set back? Don't be discouraged — we all encounter them. The speed and thoroughness with which you get back "in the groove" is a measure of your worth. Do not fall on this invigorating day.

You born today are of Leo. Your idealism, impulsiveness, courage and ease in meeting adversity are outstanding. Your strong resolution is fine, but be sure that it does not become baldness. Control emotions, especially when you feel slighted or feel that wrong has been done. Through reason and steady courage you can right wrongs — but not by force or anger. Your intuition is strong, but heed knowledge, experience, too. Don't leap at conclusions. Develop your versatility.

Birthdate of: Henry Ford, American manufacturer of automobiles.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

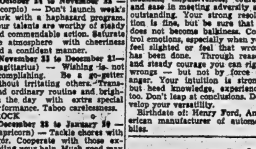
Look in the section in which our birthday comes, and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

For Monday, July 30, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't rely on instinct and intuition too much; concentrated thought and direct methods will work. Appearances may be deceiving; seek out the truth. Gain valued experience from your work.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Putting off things you should do now might result in loss of valuable time, prestige. Take an interest in unfamiliar matters; they may come in unusually handy sometime. Recognize the worth of hard work.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You born today can make outstanding advances if you concentrate and act quickly and conclusively (though not rashly). Promptness and neatness count. Don't put complete trust in untried schemes.



June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — If things are not going so well, don't be discouraged; self - pity should be avoided. Let superiors advise you on serious matters. Be relentless in pursuit of true achievement.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Take care that dreams of fame and distinction don't sidetrack you from developing your worth and merit. Beware of notoriety. Take some time out for sports, social get-togethers, etc.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Give credit to others credit is due; don't forget favors or help bestowed on you. Lackadaisical tendencies should be exchanged for those of vigilance. Be observant.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Don't be afraid to expound your views when you believe them to be correct; but avoid extremes and immoderate

NOTICE

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS IN THE COUNTY OF HASTINGS, IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

TO WIT:

By Virtue of a Warrant issued by Harry Hagerman, Warden of the County of Hastings, bearing date of the twenty-fifth day of June, 1956, and to me directed for the sale of the lands in the County of Hastings which are in arrears for taxes on the first day of January, A.D., 1956, and for the amount of the said taxes and costs thereon, I hereby give notice that I will offer for sale at the Court House in the City of Belleville on the 7th day of August, 1956, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, or so soon thereafter as the business of the Sale can be proceeded with, the lands set out in the following list, or so much of each parcel of land as may be sufficient to discharge the taxes in arrears and costs thereon up to the time of sale.

Dated at Belleville, this 25th day of July, 1956.

HILL TO RIDE RAPIDS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)— Major Lloyd Hill, Niagara river man, says he will ride in a barrel through the lower Niagara River rapids sometime today or Friday. He said he plans to leave from a hidden spot near Whirlpool Rapids bridge, disregarding police regulations against such stunts in the river.

On Honeymoon Minus Husband

VANCOUVER — A young Canadian concert singer is honeymoon-husband.

Theresa Gray, rehearsing here for a production of Moore's opera Cost Fan Tutte was married a New York plastic surgeon.

She slipped away between performances at the Stratford, Ont., festival to be married in New York.

"I just being married gives me a wonderful feeling," she said. "When we do have our honeymoon, we'll enjoy it that much more."

Little Benny's Notebook

Me was opening her mail at breakfast, sayeth pa pop. Oh dear, I have to qualify for jury duty. I always knew I'd be called sooner or later, but I must say this is a most inconvenient time, she said.

According to statistics, it always is, pop said, and ma said, Oh well, it's my civic duty, and personel convenience must take 2nd place to the public good.

That's the way to look at it pop said, and ma said, I dont mind so much that it will interfere with my personel plans of my own, but it will mean disrupting the Wednesday bridge game and depriving a perfectly innocent women of their afternoon's pleasure. Well, I hope they'll understand, she said.

I'm sure they will, my dear, you explain it very well, pop said, and ma said, Still, William, women are so unreasonable, they'll probably take the attitude that I ought to think up some trumpery excuse to get out of serving. But they can talk, I wont listen to them, she said.

Good for you, pop said, and ma said, The only thing is, William, I feel I ought to be absolutely honest and tell the judge about certain mental reservations that tempt me to sit there with a closed mind. I mean I'm against the whole idea of people dragging their personal troubles to law instead of settling them outside the courtroom like reasonable human beans with a sense of give and take. Do you think the judge would disqualify me on those grounds, William? she said.

I dont think so, my dear, I know he wouldn't pop said, and ma said, Oh dear, then I'll just have to swallow my prejudices and be as open minded as I can.

Morning she will serve on the jury if she has to.

FOXBORO

W.M.S., Baby Band, M.B. Combine Meetings

The July meeting of the combined W.M.S., Baby Band and Mission Band at Foxboro United church was held in the Sunday school room on Thursday afternoon.

The program was prepared by Mrs. Baby Band leader, Mrs. W. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Percy Kilpatrick, which consisted of the opening exercises.

Mrs. Prindle gave the lesson, found in the 18th chapter of St. Matthew. This was followed with prayer.

Mrs. Kilpatrick read a piece on "Mission Band Work".

Miss Tony Hall and Miss Nancy Allen Reynolds favored with a lovely duet "Sweet House of Prayer". Tony accompanied on the guitar.

Miss Mae gave a reading entitled "I'm Blessed Indeed", after which Mrs. W. Rombough, accompanied by her daughter on the piano, sang a solo.

The program was much enjoyed by the W.M.S. members.

While the children and leaders were enjoying a half hour of sports, Mrs. Wilson opened the W.M.S. meeting with a poem "Don't Find Fault", followed by the singing of hymn "Take Time to be Holy".

Mrs. George Priest gave the treasurer's report and also spoke on supply work in the absence of the supply secretary, Mrs. Merry. Other business of the meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Tummon read an item on "Temperance", a report given by Mrs. Farnsworth, after which Mrs. Wilson closed with prayer.

Refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed by the members of the Mission Band and the W.M.S. ladies.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Kilpatrick for the enjoyable program they prepared.

Massey-Harris Cuts Production

TORONTO (CP)—C. B. C. Scott, director of industrial relations for Massey - Harris - Ferguson, Ltd., says economic conditions in the United States have produced a shutdown of a number of its Canadian plants.

He said Thursday the shutdown would last one or two months and affect about 1,000 employees in the Toronto area.

The shutdown is effective in Toronto today.

"There just isn't enough business," said Mr. Scott.

Similar layoffs are planned for the company's three Brantford and one Woodstock plant.

The company's foundry in Brantford, closed for about a month, is expected to reopen in September.

GOD'S LOVE SHOWN

On Sunday evening the Rev. W. McMullen read several passages of Scripture using the books of Amos and St. John, and used as his topic, "How God used great teachers, and the example of those teachers, term he used in place of prophets, were taken from the old testament.

He mentioned Amos for his courage in condemning the nation for its sin; Hosea, who was not so harsh and showed that God "did not an return unto the Lord," Hosea, showed the long suffering of God; Isaiah received the call to the sanctuary and his teaching was "Faith — Faith in God." He showed the greatest forces are not the armed forces but spiritual forces.

Jeremiah stressed the close relationship to God in love and the blessing of suffering.

Jonah showed that God even loved His enemies.

In Daniel is found encouragement through suffering. God is on his throne and has supreme power and authority.

John the Baptist, called for repentance. All these teachers prepared the way for the coming of the Lord and Master. Their various contributions showed God as a God of mercy as well as love — a love in sinners, best of all seen manifested in the life of Jesus.

Favor Increase Of 12 Per Cent For Trainmen

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal conciliation board has recommended staggered wage increases totalling 12 per cent for 8,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.) employed by the CNR.

The three-man board proposed a seven-per-cent increase retroactive to May 1 and a second one of five per cent effective June 1, 1957. They would be included in a contract ending May 31, 1958.

The board also recommended an additional 30 cents a day for employees on freight trains for each 20 cars above 70.

Employees involved in the dispute include conductors, trainmen, baggagemen, yard workers and freight handlers.

The board was headed by Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville.

OLD RECORDS FOUND

GUELPH (CP) — The cornerstone of the Victoria Jubilee wing of the Guelph General Hospital was opened Wednesday and its contents—old newspapers, records and coins—removed. The hospital, erected 60 years ago, is being razed to make way for a nurses residence.

Wants Hospital Grants Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — A CCF member who still walks on crutches as a result of a knee injury suffered in a fall last winter urged the government Friday to increase its hospital construction grants.

Harold E. Winch, Vancouver East, said in the Commons that federal contributions are no longer adequate to meet present construction costs.

The rates set in 1948 when the federal program was started are $1,000 a bed for active treatment cases, $1,500 for chronic and convalescent beds and $500 a bed for nurses homes.

Mr. Winch said that in Vancouver costs were between $8,000 and $10,000 a bed in 1948, compared with $14,000 now.

PROPOSE INTERNATIONAL SUEZ CONTROL

Eden Says Export Of War Materials To Egypt Halted

Cheering Commons Is Told Of British Steps In Crisis

Cow Climbs Control Tower At Airfield

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden announced today that all exports of war materials to Egypt have been stopped by Britain.

Eden made the statement in the House of Commons in answer to a question.

He had briefly summarized Britain's actions so far in retaliation to the Egyptian seizure and nationalization of the Suez canal. The prime minister told of talks with French and British officials and then said:

"No, arrangements for the future of this great international waterway could be acceptable to Her Majesty's government which would leave it in the unfettered control of a single power which could, as in recent events have shown, exploit it purely for the purposes of national policy."

The British statement was made while Britain and France asked American support for a plan to set up an international board, on which Russia would be represented, to control the Suez canal and guarantee freedom of passage for ships of all nations.

This plan, in effect, would recognize Egypt's nationalization of the canal but would set up operating guarantees over international use.

Eden told the House of Commons of the first British steps against Egypt taken Friday. Then, Egypt's sterling balances and assets of the canal company were frozen.

When Labor member Bessie Braddock asked about war materials, Eden said:

"All exports of war materials to Egypt have been stopped."

This brought cheers.

Another questioner wanted to know about two destroyers recently sold to Egypt. Eden replied:

"I do not know where they are, but I think the Royal Navy can take care of them wherever they happen to be."

Eden declined to discuss the talks now under way with French Premier Guy Mollet and Foreign Minister Pinean and the U.S. deputy undersecretary of state, Robert D. Murphy, but the prime minister said he hopes it will be possible to make a statement on the results of the discussions Tuesday or the next day.

The Anglo-French proposals presented to the Americans were given in a joint statement.

REPAIRING WARSHIPS

LONDON (Reuters)—British today affirmed that two former British destroyers being reconditioned at Portsmouth are the south coast belong to Egypt.

A foreign office spokesman had been asked whether the two warships would be allowed to sail if the current crisis over nationalization of the Suez canal worsens. The destroyers are the Delight and Decoy, ex Al Quahir and Al Fateh, formerly with the British navy. Hyngs and Zenith, "belong to the Egyptian government."

BUS SINKS, 26 DROWN

ATHENS (Reuters)—Twenty-six persons were drowned Saturday when a crowded bus rolled off the side of a small ferryboat and sank near Kuopio, central Finland. Eight of the 38 persons aboard the bus were saved, including the driver.

Traffic Mishaps Across Canada Claim 30 Lives

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

An outbreak of traffic accidents across Canada accounted for 30 of the 36 weekend fatalities. This compared to 24 accidental deaths last weekend.

Quebec topped the fatalities list with 14 dead in traffic smashes. Two persons were drowned, two were killed in an air crash, one was burned to death and another person died in a fall.

Ontario followed Quebec with eight traffic deaths, five drownings and one fatality.

Ontario deaths:

John Neilson, 17, son of ice cream magnate Harley Neilson; when his sports car plunged off a highway near Dorset;

Theodore Lucivk, 44, of Toronto, at Lindsay of injuries suffered when his tractor-trailer crashed.

Ralph Contie, 72, a and his brother Gordon, 70, of Bayfield valley township, when their car crashed and wedged between two trees;

Leonard Ruby of Kitchener, when his car was rammed by another and smashed into a hydro pole at Hood Road, 10 miles north of Toronto;

Mrs. Hetty Walle, 29, of Beesemer, Muskoka, and her sister Shirley Dafoe, 19, of Canton, Ohio, when their car collided with a truck 18 miles east of North Bay;

Harriet Anderson, 20, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., drowned at Inverhuron on Georgian Bay;

Harry Zaiser, 39, of Canton, Ohio, drowned at Crowe Lake, near Marmora;

Lieut. Robert Quackenbush, 29, of Bellvale, N.Y. in a truck-car crash 18 miles north of Welland;

Louis Gyle, 19, of London and a newly-arrived Belgium immigrant, drowned in Lake Huron, at Ipperwash;

Harold Wittman, 17, of Chepstow drowned in the Saugeen River;

Walter Schmitz, 5, of Kitchener, drowned at Baysville, Lake of Bays;

PETROLEUM TANK EXPLOSION KILLS 19 MEN IN TEXAS

Fifteen Die Instantly Four Others Later

DUMAS, Tex. (AP)—A burning petroleum tank exploded into a towering mass of white-hot flames that seared 17 men to death in an instant Sunday. Four others died later.

At least 21 others were burned by the blast that shot an orange fireball thousands of feet high and scorched a quarter mile radius.

Hundred spectators saw friends and relatives stumble moaning and crying, their clothing afire, from the orange flames at the Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation tank farm. Clouds of explosions burned and shattered three other big storage tanks and blackened much of the area.

"The fiery blast snuffed out their lives and they crumpled at their tracks," editor Bill Lusk of the Moore County News said.

Hartley Sawyer was blown out with his naked back in flames. He said he dived more than once in a "pool of fire."

Some of the burning bodies set fire to blankets used to wrap them. A railroad bridge burned a quarter mile away.

BURNING AT MIDNIGHT

Bob Bower, Shamrock public relations official, said the men were fighting a small ground fire when the 80-foot-barrel tank containing pentane, a butane - like fuel, caught fire. Firemen who were attempting to douse other tanks were caught in the first explosion at 6:35 a.m. Greater loss of life was averted because many of the men had backed away from the tank because of the intense heat.

The other tanks, ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 barrels in capacity, quickly caught fire from the initial blast. They contained crude oil or its byproducts.

Nine of the dead were Shamrock employees and the others volunteer firemen from nearby towns.

Flames from the burning tanks were shooting 40 feet high as high as they were at noon. But winds of earlier had blown the flames away from the farm of 50 to 75 tanks and shielded it for the other tanks ignite. The fire was expected to burn itself out.

The Shamrock plant is located eight miles northeast of Dumas. Company estimated the damage at $500,000.

Aluminum Strike Now Threatens

NEW YORK (AP)—The possibility of an imminent strike faced a large segment of the United States aluminum industry today but one union spokesman said negotiations may avert a shutdown.

The threat arose on the heels of a settlement in the steel industry which was tied up by a 650,000-man walkout July 1.

Current contracts between the Aluminum Company of America and the Reynolds Aluminum Co. expire at midnight Tuesday. It was reported that the companies not agree to extension of the old contract past the deadline.

This would mean a walkout at that time.

Girl, Age 13, Is Suffocated by Snow As 18 Companions Fall on Mountain

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore. (AP)—One girl was killed and several others seriously injured Sunday when a band of 19 young mountain climbers slid 100 feet down an icy chute on Mount Hood and then plunged into a crevasse.

Rescuers worked all night on the mountainside in an attempt to save the injured who could not be moved immediately by snow tractor to a hut 2,000 feet down from the scene of the accident.

The group of teen-aged climbers, all joined by a rope, apparently lost their footing and pulled the others after them.

They came here from eastern and midwestern states during a bike-hosteling tour of the U.S.

Rescue efforts were organized swiftly. The U.S. Air Force sent a plane to drop planes and other medical supplies and the RCAF Search and Rescue Squadron was able to operate at high altitudes to McChord air force base in Washington. It will ship there as call it needed.

Lynn Kaufman, about 13, of Larchmont, N.Y., died of suffocation, said Dr. Matthew Mirkovich of Los Angeles. He was vacationing here and one of the first to reach the scene. She was buried deep into the snow as her companions plunged into a jumbled pile in the bottom of the crevasse.

Doria Owners Say 18 Missing Another 37 Unaccounted For

NEW YORK (AP) — A crew member of the Stockholm says the powerful engines of the Swedish liner were reversed before the ship plowed into the liner Andrea Doria in dense fog off the New England coast Wednesday night.

Bernabe Polanco Garcia, 36, also said Sunday he was sure the fogborn on his ship was silent before the disastrous collision which sent the Doria to the bottom of the Atlantic.

The Italian liner, meanwhile, listed 18 passengers as missing from the sunken Doria as known dead, 18 missing and unaccounted for and 37 unaccounted for. The sleek ship carried 1,706 passengers and crew.

The line trimmed the number of unaccounted for from 73 to 37 today. Many of the 37 are believed safe. They may have failed to register with the line in the confusion that surrounded the return of survivors aboard rescue vessels.

The captains of both ships have declined to make public their opinions as to how and why the accident occurred. They say the causes must be determined by official investigations later.

All 19 survivors on Canadian residents aboard the Doria have been accounted for. Several were injured and all but 19 received treatment after they arrived here.

There were also no Canadians among the Stockholm's passengers.

The 12,600-ton Stockholm suffered a crushed prow in the disaster but crept safely back to port here. The creamy-white liner now is in a Brooklyn drydock for repairs.

Five Stockholm crew members died in the crash and three others are missing and presumed dead.

Garcia said he could not be mistaken about the silence of the Stockholm's foghorn. When the horn is operating, he said, the noise is "unbearable."

He also insisted that the Stockholm's propellers were thrashed in reverse before the crash. He said years at sea had taught him to recognize the "feel" of reversation.

In the wake of passenger criticism and praise of the part played by the Doria crew after the collision, two Stockholm passengers said the officers on their ship gave no directions in the emergency.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Post of Farmington, Conn., said Stockholm passengers rushed to the deck after the collision but found no officers to issue instructions or describe the condition of the ship. However, the couple commended the officers and crew for their later rescue work.

Some passengers on the Italian liner have said there were no orders to abandon ship. But a number of the crew scrambled for lifeboats first. The crew denied the charges.

In Genoa Sunday, the Italian line announced that the 24,832-passenger ship Conte Grande is being switched temporarily from cabin-class sailings to the North Atlantic run to fill the gap left by the loss of the Doria.

TREND INDICATES CBC SPENDING MAY BE DOUBLED

Diefenbaker Opposes Twelve Million Grant

OTTAWA (CP)—The trend of CBC operation indicates its spending will be more than doubled in the next five or six years, an opposition Commons member contends.

John Diefenbaker (PC — Prince Albert said in the House Saturday the CBC's present trend could be a year by 1961 or 1962. In the fiscal year ended last March 31, the corporation spent about $38,600,000.

John Diefenbaker suggested the CBC should not be encouraged to overspend, opposing a $12,000,000 grant asked by the government to help finance construction of facilities for television development in the current year. He said it should be a loan.

In the Commons' first Saturday sitting of the session, the House also heard Health Minister Martin announce a civil defence policy calling for evacuation of major Canadian cities even before the outbreak of actual war.

CONSERVATIVE CRITICISM

Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, V.C., the Progressive Conservatives' chief military critic, said "reasonable steps" are being taken to evacuate cities that should be taken in the event of disaster resulting from an atomic attack.

But a party colleague, William Hamilton (Montreal—Notre-Dame-de-Grace) called Mr. Martin's statement "a dose of warmed-over soothing syrup." He said the government was nothing more than a rehash of what the minister has been saying for months. Mr. Martin is in charge of the federal part of civil defence.

In a night session of the Saturday sitting, Mr. Martin indicated the government is considering federation to increasing federal old age pensions and to paying volunteer fire workers called out in the event of an emergency. No decisions have been reached.

TEMPORARY METHOD

In the CBC debate on Revenue Minister Nowlan's budget speech, departmental spending estimates, the minister said the government has adopted a temporary method of an outright grant to meet an anticipated $6,000,000 deficit pending the report of the Fowler royal commission on broadcasting which is now touring the country. It is due to provide the corporation with funds.

The commission is expected to propose some long-term system of giving the CBC revenue.

Russell Reiske (L — Hamilton South) said that if the CBC could not pay its own way, it should get out of the broadcasting business and let private enterprise take over.

GRANTS ASYLUM

VIENNA (Reuters) — Austria Sunday granted political asylum to four Polish air cadets who escaped from Poland Saturday in two Russian-built aircraft. The Polish security police they had decided to leave Poland because they were fed up with the bad living conditions.

Britain, France Seek American Support For Plan

Would Include Soviet Union On Suggested Commission

BY HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—American support was asked today for a plan to set up an international board, on which Russia would be represented, to control the Suez canal and guarantee freedom of passage for the ships of all countries.

British and French sources said Britain designed the counter Egyptian President Nasser's seizure of the canal, was placed before policy makers of the three Western powers, meeting here in a crisis atmosphere.

In effect it would recognize Egypt's nationalization of the canal, but would superimpose a guarantee of its international use.

PRESS REMAINS FORCE

A rising clamor in the British press demanded the use of armed force, if needed, to answer Nasser.

Hundreds of onlookers thronged Downing Street where British Prime Minister Eden met with his cabinet and military chiefs.

The cabinet session preceded a second conference of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Robert Murphy, who arrived in the Suez question for five hours Sunday.

Informants close to the conference said the plan with the United States is being asked to support would give Egypt, as well as Russia, a place on the board international control board, and that Egypt would be guaranteed a share of the revenue from the operation of the waterway.

Russia was a signatory of the nine - power convention of Constantinople in 1888 which guaranteed the canal would be open to ships of all flags in peace and war.

Alarm of Britain and French over the first Soviet - Egyptian socialist revolutionary leader has their call for a special United Nations to the Middle East and Far East as his mercy was the basis of the proposal.

Legal, political, economic and military experts from the three power delegates were reported to have been working to find any strong legal objection to nationalization of the company itself.

American support for the plan was considered vital by London and Paris. President Murphy, it was reported, had to await approval from Washington.

In a speech in Paris, French Premier Guy Mollet told reporters France's policy toward Nasser's coup would be an "energetic and severe riposte," a fencing term meaning a quick thrust. He compared Nasser's methods to those of Hitler.

MEETS NASSER

If the three powers settled upon international control board plan, preparations would then be made to call for a conference of the world's chief users of the shipping aircraft, it was announced in London.

The plane, carrying veteran British diplomat A. White, 67, Thomas, Ont., and engineer David Stanley, 37, of New York, vanished on a 200-mile hop from Fox Harbor to Goose Bay, Labrador. A previous full - scale search was officially abandoned July 22.

The Norseman was fully fitted with survival equipment, which was sufficient to sustain the missing men for a month or more.

650,000 U. S. Steel Workers Await Back-to-Work Orders

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The 650,000 striking steel workers who will get a pay hike under an unprecedented three-year, no-strike contract are due back on the job.

Orders to return to work will be given as soon as industry officials and the United Steelworkers write the contracts to end the walkout now in its 30th day.

A memorandum of agreement on the master contract was initialed by the union and the largest producers of steel. Individual contracts have to be written with the steel companies which represent 90 per cent of the basic steel production in the U.S.

A union spokesman in New York City, where the union and industry officials are writing the contracts, emphasized Sunday night that it is not an easy job.

Most industry and union officials believe all of the involved contracts will be completed this week.

Under their old contract the strikers averaged $2.46 hourly. The new pact gives them an immediate wage boost of 10½ cents the first year, 9.1 cents the second year and 9.1 cents the third year.

In addition, the contract provides automatic wage adjustments every six months if the cost of living increases. The union also received Sunday premium pay for the first time, a seventh paid holiday, and a 25-cent supplemental unemployment benefit program payment for each day of basic pay in the event of layoffs.

The union estimated the value of the three-year package at 45.6 cents. Industry sources estimated the steel package at 39 cents.

Steel magazine, the metal workers weekly, estimates the pact already has cost the U.S. about $1,119,000,000 and that its influence will be felt into 1957.

The magazine estimates the loss it totalled between 52 and 55 cents. 000,000. It estimates steel workers will earn $4,800,000,000 in wages workers in other industries affected by the strike lost $38,000,000.

It is expected the steel industry soon will announce a price increase. Guesses on the size of the boost range from $8 to $12 a ton. The composite price of steel before the strike was $130 a ton.

13 Yachts Are Still Missing After English Channel Gales

LONDON (Reuters) — An air-and-sea search was intensified today for the ocean-going yachts still missing after weekend gales lashed the English Channel—and love a path of destruction through Southern England. At least 10 persons died.

At dawn today 13 of the 23 yachts racing from Le Havre, France, to England, were unaccounted for.

The gale, worst of the year, battered sea defences, toppled chimneys and trees, felled power and telephone lines and flooded streets.

Several persons were crushed by falling chimneys. Seven men drowned off the Isle of Wight when their yacht capsized. One man was killed when a tree was blown off a ladder in London.

Mountainous seas swept the British freighter Teekwood, and Royal Navy destroyer Cavalier, winner of the recent England-Portugal sailing race. The crews of both ships were saved and part of the Teekwood's crew died later.

Royal Naval destroyers and frigates combed the channel this morning in search of disabled vessels while overhead planes swept the still rough seas.

The storm warning shifted north and gale warnings were issued today in Scotland, The Netherlands and areas around the North Sea.

Well, How Deep Have You Gone Now?

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—"Sidewalk sup-a-ntendents" are being given a gentle hint at a well drilling project near here.

Near the spot where the drillers are working is a mound of earth about the size of a grave. A marker reads:

"Here lies the man that asked us how deep we've gone."

Kingston Man Dies at Crossing

KINGSTON (CP) — Fletcher Quinn, 33, of nearby Godfrey was killed today when his truck was struck by an eastbound Canadian National Railways train near Collins Bay, five miles east of here. The truck was demolished after being carried 220 feet.

Quinn, a father of three, was a construction company foreman. He was driving to the site of a

RCAF Flying Boat Rescues 3 Airmen Stranded for Weeks on Arctic Island

OTTAWA (CP)—An RCAF flying boat Saturday picked up three Canadian airmen who had been stranded for weeks on Melville Island in the Queen Elizabeth Archipelago more than 2,000 miles north of Ottawa. The three men now are on their way back to their Rockcliffe base here.

The three—Cpl. J. E. Titus, 30, Sarnia, Ont.; LAC J. A. Repath, 20, Toronto; and LAC J. J. Lavelle, Montreal—walked about 15 miles from their camp to the spot on the Canso landed on the sea. The plane could not get closer to the camp because of floating ice.

They had to leave behind all equipment and personal gear except for their sleeping bags. It will be picked up later.

The men were landed on Melville, far north of the Arctic Circle, in late May to operate a mobile radar station used in connection with an RCAF mapping survey. They could not be picked up earlier because of the spring breakup.

Cpl. Titus carried out the rescue from Resolute, 200 miles east of Melville. While the men were stranded, they were supplied with food by dropping cans of food and

Quit Smoking, Sure Long Life Is Not Result

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Keaton, 103 Sunday, says her long life has nothing to do with the fact she quit smoking.

She didn't quit until she was 99, Mrs. Keaton said. That was when she put her old pipe on a shelf and "just gave it up."

Bright-eyed and alert, she says she felt her long life was due to "faith in the Lord."

She was a church - going woman until she fell and broke her hip a few years ago. She now is confined to a wheelchair.

In 1917 she saw her first motion picture. She didn't like the show. Hasn't gone back since.

Ottawa Girl, 13, Fatally Shot at Lake St. Peter

BANCROFT (Special) — An Ottawa family's vacation ended in tragedy at Lake St. Peter, 23 miles north of here, when their 13-year-old daughter was accidentally shot and killed by her elder brother.

Dead on admission to the Red Cross Hospital here Sunday afternoon was Jean Reeve Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Ottawa.

Police said the fatality occurred when the girl's 14-year-old brother, James, picked up a .303 rifle leaning against the wall of a room in Hall's Hotel at the lake and cocked it. The gun discharged, hitting the girl in the chest.

There will be a post mortem and an inquest, Corporal Archie Grayling, Bancroft OPP detachment, investigated.

Will Continue Hunt for Plane

ST. JOVITE, Que. (CP) — Search for a Norseman aircraft missing since July 8 in Labrador will be maintained by Wheeler Airlines, owners of the single-engine aircraft, it was announced here.

The plane, carrying veteran British diplomat A. White, 67, Thomas, Ont., and engineer David Stanley, 37, of New York, vanished on a 200-mile hop from Fox Harbor to Goose Bay, Labrador. A previous full - scale search was officially abandoned July 22.

WIN GAME BY DEFAULT

The South Hastings Baseball League game between Belleville Juveniles and Frankford, scheduled for the Fair Grounds, Saturday night, was awarded to the Belleville team by default.

WESTERNERS HOLD REUNION AT OUTLET

Westerners in the Belleville area rounded themselves up into a big reunion party at the Outlet Sunday.

The idea first blossomed when friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis, Riverhurst, Sask., heard the couple was planning to visit Flight-Lieutenant and Mrs. C. R. Aikens in Trenton.

The friends included C. D. Lundy, local businessman and Bob Hamilton, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Hamilton also had originally come from Riverhurst. Good friends in earlier days, Mr. Lundy and Mr. Davis had not seen each other for 30 years.

Net result of the idea when Mr. and Mrs. Davis finally reached this district was the reunion at the Outlet Beach.

Also among the families present were Flight Lieutenant and Mrs. T. M. Hall. Mr. Hall also is a native of Riverhurst.

RCMP Musical Ride To Be Staged In Belleville

The famed musical ride of the RCMP will be seen again in Canada and the U.S. The ride will be one of the features of the Belleville Fair on Aug. 13, 14, 15 and 16. The troop is being trained in Ottawa and it will be the first staging of the ride since 1953 when it was seen during the coronation of the Queen. It was discontinued as the force found it interfered with the training of men for police duty.

Famed RCMP Musical Ride Will Be Belleville Fair's Four-Day Feature Attraction

With the famed Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride as the feature attraction for all four days, members of the Belleville Fair Board are expecting a record attendance for the big fun to be held August 13-14-15-16.

The famed Musical Ride will be a feature attraction both afternoon and evening in front of the grandstand.

In addition to the Musical Ride other special attractions at the fair will be George Hamid's variety show, direct from Atlantic City's steel pier. This show will also be staged afternoon and evening for grandstand patrons.

In addition there will be military bands every day. Conklin shows will have their big midway on hand and there will be horse racing on the last three days of the fair.

Every evening there will be a square dancing competition in front of the grandstand.

PRIZE LIST INCREASED

Fair President Dr. Russell Scott and fair secretary Ben Bleecker expect record entries for the four-day event noting that the prize list has been increased with additional prize money in some classes being offered. Classes in light horses have been increased.

Entries for livestock and agricultural products are now beginning to pour in to the secretary's office.

Always a big attraction at the Belleville Fair is the baby show and this year a brand new class for babies in the 13-18 months' class has been added.

Previously baby show classes have been in six months, and seven to twelve months, and twins. In charge of the baby show to be held Monday afternoon are Mrs. W. H. Rollins, Mrs. Eric Devere and Mr. W. K. Sandercock.

Mrs. Rollins noted that classes for the youngest babies will be judged starting at two o'clock, and the new older class at three o'clock.

DOCTORS DONATE PRIZES

Seven local doctors are contributing forward cash prizes augmented by the fair board, while in addition a series of merchandise offered by three local places of business.

These will be horse judging in front of the grandstand every afternoon and each evening will be days of farm products, school work, horticulture and hobbies.

Tuesday will be Junior Farmer day when juniors and 4-H club members from district exhibits will take part in judging competitions. Girls will have their display of garden products and canmaking club projects.

For the evening entertainment there will be displays of mechanized farm machinery; new cars, electrical appliances and household necessities will be on display.

"See you at the fair."

Trenton Man's Body Is Found, Rifle Nearby

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — RCMP have identified the body found Sunday on an abandoned road at the nearby Debert army camp as Craftsman Robert Joseph Malavin of Trenton, Ont., 2nd Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

The soldier, dressed in civilian clothing, had bullet wound in the right shoulder above the chest. His rifle had a 303 calibre rifle 30 yards away from the body near a parked car.

An inquest will be held Tuesday.

WMS Leaders' School Planned

The School for Leaders of the Bay of Quinte Branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada will meet at Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, August 20-24.

Mrs. H. H. Soper of Smiths Falls is Dean. She and her committee have planned an instructive program for the inspiration, education and Christian fellowship of all women over 19 years of age.

Dr. Winnifred Thomas and Mrs. W. A. Scott will lead the bible study. Study groups for sunday school circles, Canadian Girls in Training, Explorers, mission bands and baby bands will be under the leadership of Mrs. Steven Mather, Mrs. H. Bradshaw, Miss Mohrer, Mrs. Underwood, Miss Woods, Mrs. James Whyte, Mrs. A. Bertrand.

Miss Constance Wager, recently returned from Trinidad, will tell of her work there.

Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, registrar, of Roseneath, will receive the names of those wishing to register. It is not possible to attend all the sessions, only those wishing to do so may attend any desired number of sessions. Dr. Soper, principal emeritus at Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, should be notified two hours ahead if coming for only one meal.

Toronto Woman, Daughter Hurt In Huntingdon

A Toronto woman and her young daughter were admitted to Belleville General Hospital, Sunday night, with injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding left the road on West Huntingdon, ripped through guard rails and rolled 25 feet down an embankment.

In hospital with back injuries and injured chest was Mrs. Florence Breen, 32, of 31 Rushbrook Avenue, Toronto, and her daughter, Carol, 5, with a lacerated ear.

Driver of the car, Mrs. Theresa Nichol of Picton, sister of Mrs. Breen, was shaken up but was not admitted to hospital. The injured were taken to hospital by Bush's Ambulance of Belleville.

Driver of the car said she had been blinded by the light of an approaching car. Her car struck the guard rail just north of the railway bridge at West Huntingdon, rolling down the incline.

The car was a complete wreck.

Runaway Car Causes Damage

BRANTFORD (CP)—A driverless car owned by Bruce Stevenson of Paris caused $500 damage here Sunday.

Parked on a hill, it started away on its own, rolled downhill, hit a truck, struck a parked car, crossed a highway, jumped and crashed into the side of a freight car on a railway siding.

Lady Director Of Fair Honored By Associates

Lady directors of the Belleville Fair Board honored one of their members when, following a business meeting, they gathered at the home of Mrs. J. Fred Wiese where birthday congratulations were extended to Mrs. M. B. Weese, Dunbar Street, one of the oldest members of the board.

Still a lady director, Mrs. Weese has been on the board for many years and still takes a keen interest in the women's work of the fair.

Mrs. Eric Denyes spoke highly of Mrs. Weese's continuing interest in the fair, while on behalf of the members Mrs. James Garbutt presented Mrs. Weese with a gift. Mrs. Wilson pinned a lovely corsage on her dress.

At the end of the candles on her birthday cake, Mrs. Weese made a wish for the continued success of the Belleville Fair.

WMS Leaders' School Planned

The School for Leaders of the Bay of Quinte Branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada will meet at Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, August 20-24.

Mrs. H. H. Soper of Smiths Falls is Dean. She and her committee have planned an instructive program for the inspiration, education and Christian fellowship of all women over 19 years of age.

Win Florida Trip, Windsor Folk On Quinte Holiday

The day before they won a two-week all expenses paid vacation in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. L. Evans of Windsor, left for a holiday on the bay of Quinte.

The Evans were the lucky winners of a draw held by a Windsor sporting goods store. When a check was made Saturday morning after the draw had been drawn, store officials were told Mr. and Mrs. Evans had headed for Belleville, the night before.

Mr. Evans is a mechanical engineer at Ford of Canada. Company officials said he will be able to take the trip to Florida in midwinter if he so desires.

Runs Into Truck Girl, 6, Hurt

Darting out from between parked cars opposite the Standard church on Coleman street, Barbara Jean Meinsteenber, age 6, of 37 South Front street, suffered head lacerations Sunday morning, when she ran into the side of a passing truck.

The little girl struck the left rear section of the truck box and was knocked to the pavement. Driver of the Telephone Company truck was driven by Leonard G. Coughlin, 21 Station street.

Early Sunday morning provincial police reported that an empty truck was driven by Thomas Brennan of Toronto, went out of control on the four lane highway, two miles east of the city, when one of its wheels dropped off the pavement onto the soft shoulder. The big van slipped an elm tree and rolled on its side causing property damage of about $1,000.

The driver escaped with a few scratches.

Warehouse, Freight Shed Burn At Colborne, Loss Set at $150,000

COLBORNE (Special) — Two families were left homeless and a warehouse and railroad freight shed were burned Saturday in a fire that raged in the north end of this town.

Damage caused by the blaze has been placed at $150,000.

The fire started about noon Saturday in the CNR freight shed here, and lasted until 8.30 p.m. The local volunteer fire brigade battled by Cobourg, Brighton and Warkworth fire departments, in addition to this town's regular fire service.

The fire spread rapidly to a nearby warehouse owned by MacKenzie. Stored in the warehouse was canned goods and fruit packages and baskets.

From the warehouse it jumped to the frame shed of the Wellington and J. T. Thomas and gutted the houses.

Police Blotter

A complaint of window peepers at a third floor apartment on Bridge street, was received by police over the week-end. The "peepers" were said to be using the fire escape at the rear of the building as a vantage point.

Provincial police reported the arrest of Howard Babcock, wanted by Sarnia police on a theft charge. An escort from Sarnia will came to Belleville to pick up Babcock and return him to that city.

Deputy fire marshal for Northumberland county, Ken Bowen, estimated the damage at $150,000. Cause of the fire was either a spark from a passing locomotive or children playing with matches around the freight shed.

Obituaries

LATE JEROME HENDRICK (Contributed)

There passed away suddenly on July 13, in Oshawa General Hospital an esteemed resident of Whitby, in the person of Jerome Hendrick, (A.J.) in his 72nd year.

He was born in Murray township, the son of the late Clarence M. Hendrick and Annie Lohnes. He spent his early years on the family farm and began his education at the Gunter Settlement school, then at the 9th concession of Murray, finishing his education at Stockdale.

He was united in marriage on Sept. 5, 1906, to Alice Mabee. To this union were born four children all of whom survive, Cecil of Stouffville; Gerald of Edmonton; Sylvia, (Mrs. Arthur Hewitt) of Bismark, N. Dakota, and Donald of Toronto.

Mr. Hendrick was a pioneer in the car business, having operated successfully in Frankford from 1916 until 1929, when he moved to Niagara Falls. After one year he moved to Toronto, where he operated a very successful business until 1949 when he retired to his farm in Whitby.

The funeral was held from the Town Funeral Home on Saturday, July 14. The service was conducted by the Rev. Earl Whitmore of Petterlaw, assisted by the Rev. Murray Simpson of Nobleton, Ontario.

The pall bearers were Jack Hendrick, Elwood Adams, Clarence Whitmore, John White, Elmo Hendrick and Stanley Ring.

Interment was in Groveside cemetery, Brooklin, Ontario.

Besides his wife and children he is survived by brothers, Leonard M., of Belleville and Clara) Mrs. C. L. Adams of Campbellford.

The many beautiful floral offerings bespoke the sympathy and esteem of his many friends.

LATE ELWOOD HENDRICK (Contributed)

After a lingering illness there passed to his eternal rest at his son's home in Oshawa, Ont., on Sunday, July 17, Elwood Hendrick, in his 77th year.

He was born in Murray township, the son of the late Clarence M. Hendrick and Annie Lohnes. He grew up on the family farm and in decided to go to the Canadian West when he was 18 years of age. He then homesteaded at Stoughton, Sask., in 1903. Later he moved to Rosetown, Sask., where he married Nellie Haggerty on Nov. 9, 1918. He subsequently moved to Prince Albert, Sask., and later lived in Armstrong and Penticton, B.C., before returning to Oshawa, a year ago.

Left to mourn his passing are his three sons, Wesley of the RCAF, stationed at Comox, B.C.; Emory of Vancouver, and Clarence of Oshawa, one sister daughter Anna, (Mrs. W. Jackson of Saskatoon), a step-daughter, Mrs. Hazel Garbutt of South Burnaby, B.C., one brother, Leonard M., of Belleville, and a sister, Clara, (Mrs. C. L. Adams) Frankford.

Mr. Hendrick was a member of the Church of the Nazarene in Armstrong, B.C.

The funeral was held from the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford, on Wednesday, July 18. The service was conducted the Rev. Earl Whitmore of Petterlaw. Interment was in the family plot at Frankford.

Pallbearers were nephews of the deceased, Lloyd and Elwood Adams of Frankford, Donald Hendrick, Jack Hendrick, Clarence Whitmore and Lorne Bradley.

The beautiful floral tributes bespoke the sympathy of the many friends.

JAMES ANGUS CAMPBELL (Sidney township)

Suffering a heart attack while on his way home from a family picnic at Crystal Beach, east of Madoc, James Angus Campbell, 51-year-old Sidney township farmer, died late Sunday afternoon.

With his family Mr. Campbell had attended the Martin picnic at the Madoc beach and complained of being ill after taking part in a softball game. He died while being driven home by his wife.

Born at Ormsby in North Hastings, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James W. Campbell, he moved with his parents to Sidney township while still a lad and since then had lived in the district. For the past 23 years he had farmed in the Oak Hills district.

Widely known in the township where he was well liked for his pleasing personality, Mr. Campbell was a member of the township council, and took an active part in community affairs. He was a member of the Moira River Conservation Authority.

He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at Stirling.

He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys Pearce, a daughter, Joan, and son, Wayne.

Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. Charles Wannamaker of Ottawa; Mrs. Ernest (Margaret) Campbell of Trenton and Mrs. Larry (Barbara) Decker of Goshen, N.Y., a brother, Donald Campbell, died four years ago.

Resting at his late residence, the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. JOHN SHAPPEE

Resident of this city for the past 33 years, Mrs. Stella Shappee, 51 Grove Street, died suddenly in the Belleville General Hospital, Sunday. She was in her 83th year.

Born in Erinsville, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Stella Shappee, in Belleville from Napanee. A member of St. Michael's church here, she was active in church work and was a member of the Catholic Women's League.

Besides her husband, John Shappee, she leaves one son and three daughters: Clifford, Belleville; Mrs. I. W. (Margery) Egbert, Gilead, Man.; Mrs. Glen (Betty) Tripp and Mrs. John (Helen) Byers, both of Brighton.

Also surviving are two sister and four brothers: Mrs. W. D. Clark, Kingston and Miss Teresa Prue, Belleville; Sidney Prue, Tamworth, Oakley, Binghampton, N.Y.; Frederick, Napanee and Theodore, Gananoque.

Resting at the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

IN MEMORIAM

KELLER. — In loving memory of my dear father, Arthur Keller, who passed away four years ago.
He came, he came at Thy command.
He gave his spirit to Thy hand;
Stricken forth from those he loved,
And asked him in the last alarm.
Sadly missed by daughter Helen, son-in-law Max and grandchildren.

KELLER. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Arthur Keller, who passed away four years ago today.
Sweet memories are golden
Time cannot dim their shine
As a pleasure to ponder
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
—Ever remembered by wife Harriet and sons Bud and Mert.

BRITAIN, FRANCE

There were signs of revolt within Prime Minister Eden's Conservative party should he fail to produce effective retaliatory action.

The loudest demand came from Conservative Julian. Amery, who said Britain and France should use force if necessary, whether or not the United States joined in.

SEEK UNITED FRONT

Informants said Eden's government was pressing the United States and France to join it in a stiff warning that any Egyptian limits on shipping through the canal might bring Western military action.

Foreign policy leaders of Britain, the United States and France held an inconclusive five-power huddle here Sunday. They were to touch with Eden today before up other conference.

Britain is represented by Foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, France by Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and the United States by Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state.

Sub-committees for aides of the three diplomats were set up to analyze the military, financial and legal aspects of the crisis touched off by Nasser's abrupt action. A spokesman announced that Lloyd, Pineau and Murphy were "in agreement about the gravity of the situation and the need for preserving the canal as an international waterway, in accordance with the terms of the (Constantinople) Convention of 1888."

That nine-power treaty specified that the canal be kept open to all shipping.

TRAFFIC NOT IMPEDED

So far, canal traffic is reported proceeding normally.

But on the international economic front moves and counter-moves continued:

1. Britain and France already have frozen the assets of the seized canal company in Paris and London. The British treasury also blocked payment of all Egyptian funds, public and private, banked in Britain.

2. Egypt retaliated with an announcement that cheques drawn on British or French banks would not be accepted for canal tolls. The Egyptians said they would take cash in sterling or cheques on banks outside Britain or France.

3. Egypt today cancelled a short-lived ban on exports to the sterling area and declared that she has no intention of "freezing" British assets here in retaliation for British exchange control measures against Egypt.

Dr. Abdel Moneim Kassouny, Egyptian economy minister, in a midnight announcement said his country was rescinding the ban it imposed a few hours earlier on exports to Britain and the sterling area. The goods were to be banned unless they were paid for in "acceptable foreign currency" of countries trading with Egypt. As a result, four ships in Alexandria, which had started unloading consignments of Egyptian cotton and rice for Britain, will be able to begin reloading.

4. The Cairo government contended the British freeze on Egyptian sterling balances "has no legal basis whatever" and violates the British - Egyptian sterling agreement of 1951. But Nasser told reporters Egypt has no intention of freezing British and French assets in Egypt.

NO INTERVENTION CAUSE

The Egyptian embassies in London and Washington issued statements assuring that the flow of canal traffic will be maintained "in a most efficient manner, while the obvious objective of giving no cause for complaint or threats of intervention by any of the maritime powers."

Parliament member Amery, in demanding British-French military action if necessary, presumably was speaking for some 40 Conservative members of Commons who protested strongly when Britain agreed to give up the Suez Canal zone military base.

"Risks of meeting force with force are never negligible," Amery wrote in a letter to The Times. "In this case, however, they are infinitely less than the certain and disastrous consequences of cowardly submission to Col. Nasser's act of aggression. . . ."

GO WITHOUT U.S.

"If our American allies cannot or will not join us, then Britain and France must go ahead with out them," he added. "It will not be the first time."

London papers joined in the clamor for action.

Egypt's action won support in Soviet Russia, Yugoslavia and Asian countries.

In Cairo, Soviet ambassador E. D. Elyaev met for 1½ hours Sunday night with Nasser. There was no indication of what they said, but it was their third meeting in a week.

Meanwhile, some Middle East experts predicted Nasser's nationalization of the canal may well bring about his fall from power before many months.

Even before Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal and Britain retaliated by freezing Egypt's sterling balances, the Egyptian economic situation was bleak.

The United States' decision to withdraw financial support from the Aswan dam pulled the cornerstone from under Nasser's economic development program. Unless he can find some way to finance the dam, the growing Egyptian population faces increased austerity.

This has dual significance:

1. Nasser's many enemies inside Egypt almost certainly will take heart and screen their efforts against him. These include those still loyal to the old Wafd party of Mustpha Nahas Pasha, others never reconciled to the removal of Gen. Mohammed Naguib from power, and still others who feel that the revolutionary clique now in power is ruining the country financially.

2. To repress this growing opposition, Nasser must depend increasingly on dictatorial devices—the brute strength of the army, rabble-rousing speeches to arouse hatred against the West and fewer civil liberties, thus increases internal unrest.

How Low Can You Get In Bridge?

NEW YORK (AP)—The lowest bid in bridge history—"less than club"—was made Sunday in the national bridge tournament.

A dozer dropped his cards on the floor and said, "Oops." The next player thought he heard "pass," and bid one club.

The dealer protested an out-of-turn bid.

Said the referee:

"Players must not 'make misleading remarks.' Oops will be treated as a bid of less than one club."

Play continued.

Four Members Quebec Family Fatally Hurt

TOURVILLE, Que. (CP)—Four members of one family were fatally injured Sunday in a two-car collision near this community 15 miles east of Quebec.

Killed outright in the crash were Mrs. Amede Joncas, 36 and her children Jean-Claude, 10, and Edgar, 15. Josepy Joncas, 66, grandfather of the children, died in hospital in Jean-Port-Joli, 15 miles from here.

Four other children and Amede Joncas, 36, the father, were still in hospital, where officials described their condition as critical.

All the victims were in one car. The two occupants of the second car involved in the collision were not believed to have been seriously hurt.

Police Rule Out Slaying In Matinet Death

ARMSTRONG, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police have ruled out the likelihood of slaying in the death of Dominic Matinet, about 52, whose body was found Friday at Willet, a railway whistle stop 25 miles east of here.

After an investigation by Inspector P. R. Wright of Toronto it was decided bruises on the body indicated the youth had either fallen or jumped from a Canadian National Railways freight train near the station.

Matinet was a native of Mud River, Ont.

Flames Destroy Cornwall Cafe

CORNWALL (CP) — Fire destroyed a downtown restaurant and three overhead offices Sunday, with loss estimated at $100,000. No one was hurt.

The blaze is believed to have flare up in the women's washroom in the restaurant, the Chicken Palace owned by Frank Ash. It spread to the kitchen and burned fiercely through vats of grease. Firemen put out the blaze five hours later.

An appliance store and a shoe store, both adjacent to the restaurant, were damaged by smoke. Firemen gave the estimate of loss and damage.

The restaurant, on Pitt Street, was crowded with afternoon diners when the fire started. They left the building in orderly fashion. Two families abandoned second-storey apartments near the restaurant when the blaze threatened to spread to their dwellings.

OLYMPIAN NONSENSE

The International Olympic Committee has locked horns with the Maryiebone Cricket Club.

The MCC will probably not even deign to notice that it has been challenged. The MCC, in case you do not know, is the ruling body of English cricket, so supreme that it does not even bother to mention its authority in its official title but playfully masquerades as just another cricket club.

As if tangling with the MCC was not daring enough, the International Olympic Committee trained its guns on the MCC president, Field Marshall Earl Alexander of Tunis, who has been under fire before, both by a certain Secret Service named Rommel and, we doubt not, by the newspaper circles of Ottawa when he inhabited that capital as Governor-General of Canada.

Earl Alexander had the temerity to suggest, on a visit to Canada, that the Olympic Games should be reconventually will become, an open competition for the athletes of all nations, whether professionals or amateurs.

The International Olympic Committee sniffs that this shows he is not very familiar with the Olympic movement. Or nor does he understand the philosophy of amateurism in sport.

This is Earl Alexander's fight and we should leave it to him in supreme confidence were it not for the fact that the presidential organization which long ago recognised the desirability of co-existence for gentlemen players is quite likely to feel it beneath his dignity to joust with the International Olympic Committee.

We shall therefore risk taking up the cudgels in his defence.

First, let it be said that although Earl Alexander is probably not familiar with the Olympic movement, we are not, beyond a fleeting recollection from our high school days that the Olympic Games started as an assemblage of athletes of all nations to compete in honourable wisdom and morals but considerable beauty. In the course of the intervening centuries, the latter attribute seems to have suffered the customary fate of beauty exposed to the sun.

Any effort to pin the philosophy of amateurism on the Greeks is doomed to dismal failure, if we are to believe Frank Jackson of the Montreal Star in his book, "The Wonderful Encyclopedia of Sports," who describes Olympic Games as the good old days.

"The winner," he says, "was wined and dined most worthily by the city — at public expense. Gifts were showered on him. (Ed. Note — there were no Grecian Mr. Sundrages). He was exempted from taxation. All a city could do to honor the highest prize winner it considered human as an Olympic winner was done. As a climax he was permitted to build a monument to himself in any part of the city he chose. If he lacked funds, the community would subscribe whatever amount was needed."

The International Olympic Committee's definition of an amateur is not Grecian but of later vintage. It originated in the Middle Ages when some of the blue-blood gathered in the back room among their boar hounds, and started hunting for an alibi for their inability to run as fast as those fellows who pressured them into taking such practice. Two possible solutions suggested themselves, either to stop chasing the serfs with the boar hounds when the boars were not to be found, or to practice as the serfs did. Either solution was unthinkable as tending to hamper the lords of creation in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and serfs. Some solution had to be low-down, if you will. Why not divide the world into amateurs and professionals, those who ran for the love of it and those who ran for money or their lives? Thus was the philosophy of amateurism born.

There is another "philosophy of amateurism" in sport which could easily be defended. There are some men and women who refuse to make their living by playing games. They may be rich men who simply have no time for his or her keep by useful work. Surely, though, the International Olympic Committee does not believe that this tribe is so numerous as to preclude that it could stage any spectacle like the Olympic Games?

LOCAL DON CAMPBELLS

The point system of closer supervision of the vehicle driver, which has proved successful in Manitoba, has now been adopted in Nova Scotia and is being considered by other provinces.

In this system, each conviction places a specified number of points against the record of the driver according to the category of the violation.

Four points call for a letter, six for an interview, and 10 points for an order to monitor suspension of the driver's license.

If this system should be adopted in Belleville, we suggest a high point allotment for transport and other drivers who dash through the city as if they owned the place and as if pedestrians did not exist.

High points should also go to some local hopefuls whose disturbing habit of making like Don Campbell with screeching brakes and burning rubber at intersections and dashes suggests that some proof of emotional stability should be included with applications for driving licences.

EXTRAS

When you're building your house
take a warning:
Don't alter or change anything that you see.
When once you've agreed on the cost of the place
Go out of sight and don't show your face.

To the mason, the plumber, the carpenter's crew,
For the things they call "extras" will surely appear.

Should you say: "Put a hook
here to hang up my hat," You'll find as an "extra" they've charged you for that.
Should by chance you remark to the boss: "Do you think,
The gas range should stand where you're putting the sink?"
He will say with a smile: That's a very good change."
But, that's twelve dollars extra"
the moving the range.

Should you fancy white paint where you've ordered it
blue,
Right gladly they'll smear on the white stuff for you.
But they've somewhere in hiding
a bill which they keep Who counts up the nails and the bolts and the hooks,
And seeing white paint where the plan calls for blue,
He puts down as an "extra" and bills it to you.

That man is a marvel; he eats
not nor sleeps,
So strict an account of your orders he keeps.
Should you change but the type of the hinge on a door,
That goes down as an "extra"
and costs so much more.
So, when building a house after nothing you see:
But beware of the "extras" which bankrupted me.

Seven Pillars of Culture

By SANUNEE A. LIU in UNESCO Features

It is said in China that there are seven essentail occupations for the cultured person: books, painting, music, chess, poetry, wine and flowers. The breadth and depth of a person's knowledge on these subjects is to some degree a measure of his culture. Possessing no more than a superficial knowledge of these things—hence being a man of decidedly mediocre culture—I must confess to be indulging with me as I try to explain to yous what they mean to a person brought up in the Western countries. The variation is interesting from a sociological point of view, since, in the case of wine and flowers, the game centres around the capture of a commander-in-chief on each side.

First, I shall mention two general attitudes. The first is that of respect for the printed word. A person can usually win argument or dominate a discussion by citing a passage from a well-known book as, for example, the Confucian classics. The second attitude is that of reasonable scepticism. This is perhaps best illustrated by a statement attributed to Confucius (the classics): "If you believed entirely in books, it were better to have no books at all." This is a plea for the confession of a fifth century author that he has not always read books but did not seek to understand them thoroughly.

On the subject of painting, the style and delicacy of Chinese artists and connoisseurs seems to lie between the extremes of realism and impressionism. A friend once told me that he had spent years studying, taking lessons in art in another country, absorbing the beauties of the mountains and streams, observing the life of the birds and flowers, and the effects of sunlight and moonlight, only to find that unsatisfactory ways of reproducing, by line and colour, the beauties of these things. Only in portraiture does a traditional Chinese artist excel.

The relationship between painting and poetry has been well-summed by the following saying about Wang Wei, a famous poet-painter of the eighth century A.D.: "In his poems there is painting. In his paintings there are poems." As far as I know, it may have been a Japanese invention.

Finally, the cultivation of flowers dates as far back in Chinese history and a great number of the garden activities common to the world today had their humble origins in China. Perhaps the prize flower of the Chinese garden is the tree peony, a delicate plant requiring delicate care. The story is told of a capricious and aulocratic empress in ancient China who, being disappointed one day early in spring that the flowers in her garden were not in bloom, gave orders that they must hasten to bloom or face punishment. The gardeners did their best, the flowers cooperated in obedience to the imperial command all except the peony which refused to cater to the whims of a woman. As a result, the empress suffered that the peony be exiled for ever from the capital and, to this day, accordingly to all accounts, the peony has never been found again in the city of Loyang.

Old Papa Bear Is Like Dad

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

Evidently the children's story books are all, or largely, wrong.

One of the favorite subjects in these happy little tales which parents or grandparents are required to read over and over —without skipping a word, lest the little folks check them up— is the bear. There is the mother bear, the papa bear and all the little cubs. They are very busy and do all sorts of interesting things in these stories, sometimes trouble is overcome, but mostly happy.

No one would ever suspect from these stories that such a kindly animal would do anything like laying a siege to a forestry man in a cabin, making a captive or prisoner on his lookout tower until relief came by armed men on a helicopter faced with the necessity of shooting old papa bear.

But there is the word of honest, departmental officials for it and those who have been involved in real pranks by brutin will agree that it could be so.

Also there are the common reports about bears breaking into pig pens, or other shelters to carry off domestic animals, or breaking down the doors of cabins or summer homes in search of food.

In fact brutin is considered such a nuisance and threat to peace, security and property that the government will pay setters for killing him, while visitors who come with bow and arrow are encouraged to do their best to prove the efficiency of the ancient weapon of offense and defence.

However, it is not on record in Ontario that a bear has ever carried off a human being and the statement that there is no animal in these woods that will attack a man still stands, so long as it includes also the stipulation that they must not be molested, especially by men.

In that respect they are something like dad.

Farmers' Foe Is Unmasked

(Farm Journal And Country Gentleman)

When you can get one made with honest meat and a tender crust or roll the hamburger sandwich can be something to shout about. If slightly hungry you may look forward to two or three of them.

The prosperity of beef producers is being threatened though by the reprehensible inferiority of tasteless and inedible garbage masquerading as meat. Packers and city eateries under the noble name of hamburger or "ground meat" comes ready shaped to the consumer's hand, all ready to mud up and inserted in a soggy, flat sort of bun.

The flavor resembles that of a paper wad, though not so good. Even a starving man will not order a second.

Whoever makes and serves these horrors is probably most consumption. He is an enemy of farmers. The cattlemen and wheatgrowers' association had better take action.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

MIGHTY IN SPEECH AND INFLUENCE

Phillips Brooks, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church of Boston, was one of the greatest preachers of the nineteenth century.

Yet Phillips Brooks' life began with a huge and ludicrous failure. After graduation from college, he had only one desire, and that was to teach in a large and well-known school. He tried it and failed miserably. The headmaster dismissed him and sent him away with the declaration that it had been his observation that a person who failed in teaching failed in everything else.

Brokenhearted and dejected, Brooks went into seminary and prepared himself for the ministry. Within a few years after his ordination he was being spoken of in Philadelphia — where at different times he had two different churches — as one of the outstanding preachers in the East.

Then he was called to Trinity in Boston. For a whole generation he held the city spellbound. People came from the states everywhere and his influence on the city's life between the years was felt not only than his ministry of preaching on Sunday. People felt that the Spirit of the living God walked the streets of Boston as Brooks went about his daily work. The whole city honored him at death. The salute in front of his church shows him preaching and behind him the figure of Christ with the divine hand laid on the preacher's shoulder.

A saint whom God made artisan of humanity.

Yesterday afternoon the 155th Battalion, which was recruited in Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, received its colors which the members of the Argyll Chapter, I.O.D.E., daughters of the Empire of this city donated. The battalion arrived in the afternoon by special train from Kingston for the happy event. For several weeks the battalion has been in training at Barriefield Camp. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the battalion, which is about one thousand strong, was lined up on the armouries' lawn under the command of Lieut. Col. Adams of Picton, who is deservedly a popular officer. Following the singing of one verse of "Onward Christian Soldiers" the colors were dedicated by Captain the Rev. Thomas Dodds the chaplain of the battalion. At the conclusion of this part of the ceremony, Col. Putman and Major A. P. Allen came forward and knelt to receive the colors which were presented by Mrs. George Wheeler, first vice president of the Argyll Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire. Following the presentation a beautifully worded address was read by Mrs. A. H. Hinchliffe, the Regent of the chapter. At the close of the address Mrs. Vermilyes handed to Col. Adams an envelope which contained a cheque in the sum of $100.00, the proceeds of which are to be added to the battalion funds. The gift was from the Argyll Chapter. An escort was then marched to where the colors rested and they were placed in line outside of Mrs. Hinchliffe and Lieut. Wilson. A general salute was then given to the colors. Short speeches were made by Col. Adams, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, K. C. M. G., M.P., Col. Wilson, Mayor H. Freeman Ketcheson, Capt. the Rev. Dodds, Barragar and E. R. Horey. At the grounds Mrs. Agnes Ross served refreshments were served to the men by members of Quinte Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire of this city.

Newspapers Did it First

(Ottawa Journal)

Newspaper publishers will find special interest in the statement of Mr. Roberts, Ontario's attorney general, that the Canadian Press has a proposal to place "horror pictures" of traffic fatalities in courtrooms of the province and to supply magistrates with albums of such pictures to be shown periodically against the highways laws in the hope of impressing them with the potential consequences of their acts.

Newspaper editors especially are interested because not infrequently they have to meet criticism over pictures they print of automobiles smashed into scrap metal, vehicles in which human beings have died painfully. They are told these pictures are unnecessarily unpleasant and ought to be suppressed. It is bad enough, such critics argue, that things of this sort happen, but why make them worse by realistic human bodies, like creations of steel and rubber, can be broken into unrecognizable fragments?

The answer is given by the Attorney General — he would use pictorial evidence of highway traffic horrors as a means of bringing to their responsibilities. He is saying what the newspapers have been saying for years.

Personal Health Talks

The Tentative Diagnosis

By 5 p. m. a real doctor arrived, gave me some morphine, I believe, and arranged to operate in the morning. Eighteen hours after the very first symptom my gangrenous appendix was removed. So ends the story of my acute indigestion.

Not all cases of indigestion have such a happy ending.

The truth is, folks, that there's no such thing as a simple case of ascribing a serious illness to "indigestion."

Many serious illness I mean any spell or attack or episode that calls for medical attention or for a painkiller. You may get away with the deception once, but when the next spell or attack comes, you had better quit fooling.

Coronary occlusion or thrombosis, angina pectoris, chronic cholecystitis (inflammation of gall-sac), gallstone colic diseases are often unconscious, appendicitis, and other acute emergency illnesses are often unrecognized of doctor and or patient harbor the "indigestion" notion.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THINKERS

A most unusual conference was held in Pugwash, Nova Scotia, this summer at the suggestion of and as the guests of Cyrus Eaton, native Nova Scotian and noted American industrialist, who now home is in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Eaton invited sixteen college presidents to his former home and told them all to think! It was to be a Think conference, and it that there must have been little said and I am sure that the subject of anything new was discovered or turned up from one of the Thinkers. You can't expect that when you call a gathering, because when you Think you don't talk, and you have to sink into one's consciousness before it can be translated.

I trust that an enjoyable and profitable mental conference was achieved at Mr. Eaton's Pugwash. I met Mr. Eaton a few years ago and have always admired his initiation of ideas and never more than into the ordinary affairs of life, including many of the great corporations grow more and more into mere suburban bungalows, with electric stoves and all conveniences indoors. Wherever possible, the present generation collapses makes lawns in front of the premises and motor laws prevent them be heard making even in what, so short a time ago, were the vast areas we had to mow.

Thus we have a departing generation that finds its ceiling needs baths watching with dismay the tourist launches and fishing boats cruising slowly at two miles an hour, with five or six trolling lines dragging, on the rocks or beaches. It is a free country. The navigable waters of the land are open to the trouble and expense seeking a good location and there building a summer abode. The sportsmen of today in large numbers would never dream of settling down in any such fixed locality. It used to be an all day journey for gentlemen to reach their holiday destination by train, by horse, bus or wagon and by boat. The modern holidayer, free of the restrictions of motors to the jumping off place, has his yacht called tourist industry is very happy to accept it.

Wasps to Eat Hornets'

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

By no means everybody at summer resorts is interested in fishing. But it is reasonable to suppose that a very great many of the summer visitors to Canada's lakes and rivers, numerous and handy resort areas in the past seventy-five years are located by men in quest of a nice bit of fishing. Certainly the resort hotels that were built in large numbers about the start of the century and in the years between the wars, covered and developed by the cottagers, had more than mere scenery in mind when they chose their sea locations. They all advertised fishing. It is astonishing what any fishing remains. But it does.

And to get it, you no longer have to go to the trouble and expense of seeking a good location and there building a summer abode. The sportsmen of today in large numbers would never dream of settling down in any such fixed locality. It used to be an all day journey for gentlemen to reach their holiday destination by train, by horse, bus or wagon and by boat. The modern holidayer, free of the restrictions of motors to the jumping off place, has his yacht called tourist industry is very happy to accept it.

ROTARY STREET DANCE

STIRLING— The Stirling Rotary club held its annual fair and street dance Wednesday evening, with a large crowd of people in attendance. There were the usual games with many useful prizes, a fish pond for the children and a chance to ring a duck. In the special draw the winner the boat and trailer was Archie Herrington of Trenton.

Phil Saunders and his orchestra of Springbrook, furnished music for dancing and the guests enjoyed a delightful street dance. The venture was a financial success.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Warren and Marion enjoyed a delightful trip to Hay Bay on Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. G. Herrington of Keene were the host and hostess at the United church cottage and conducted a tour of the old historic land mark.

Mrs. H. H. Alger and Mrs. John Villeneve recently entertained Lieut. W. E. Bissel, Mrs. Bissel and John of Maryland state. They will leave soon to spend a two-year sojourn in France.

Doria Survivor Grilled 2 Hours About Politics

TORONTO (CP)—Milan Babic, 42, a Yugoslav-born Toronto man who survived the sinking of the Italian liner Andrea Doria off the United States coast Wednesday, said here Saturday he was held aboard a "rescue ship at New York for two hours as to whether he had ever been a Communist.

Mr. Babic was listed as missing until Saturday when he arrived here.

In an interview he said: "Some day I will forget the Andrea Doria tragedy, but I will never forget the treatment I got as a Canadian by the U.S. immigration officials.

"I was kept aboard the Ile de France for two hours and asked over and over again if I were a Communist, or had ever been a Communist.

"I am a good Catholic. I have never been a Communist. In fact I refused to return to my native Yugoslavia after the war because Tito was in power."

Weddings

BERRY—PUTNAM

White and pink peonies and orange blossoms adorned the altar, tall standards of red and white peonies and ferns the chancel rail in Christ Church, Belleville on Saturday, June 30, at 3.00 p.m., for a lovely double-ring wedding, when Annabelle Creeggan, rector of the church, united in marriage Leola Lee Putnam, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Putnam of Picton, Ontario, to LAC. Abraham Ernest Berry of Trenton RCAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Berry of Watrous, Sask. White satin bows designated the guest pews. Mrs. Jean Gardiner, soloist sang "O Perfect Love", "The Lord's Prayer", and "The Wedding Day", accompanied by the church organist, Mr. J. B. Herdman.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Frank Dale of Belleville, was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of white taffeta fashioned with strapless, fitted bodice in torso style, and nylon net skirt over taffeta with a redingote of white Chantilly lace having a stand-up ruffled collar and long fitted sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. The fingertip veil of nylon tulle was held by a small matching headdress of Chantilly lace in crescent form, embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. Pearl earrings and necklace completed her ensemble. She carried a shower bouquet of roses.

Miss Barbara Carr of Belleville, as maid of honor, was attired in a strapless floor-length gown of mauve taffeta with nylon overskirt; matching gloves and bolero. She carried a bouquet of ivory baby 'mums and light mauve carnations.

Miss Frances Connors of Picton, and Mrs. Frank Dale of Belleville, as bridesmaids, wore matching strapless floor-length gowns in pale green taffeta with nylon net overskirts, matching gloves and boleros. They carried mixed bouquets of ivory and mauve carnations and pale yellow Shasta daisies. All wore headdresses of yellow primroses.

LAC. Douglas Cooper of the RCAF, Trenton, attended the bridegroom, while LAC Bob Warren and LAC. Harold Woolds, both of Trenton RCAF Station, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Christ church parish hall, where the bride's mother, wearing pink sheer lace

Sunday School Picnic

UNITED CHURCH S.S.

SHANNONVILLE. — Over 80 children, officers, teachers and parents attended the United Church Sunday school picnic which was held recently at Point Anne Park.

The children enjoyed swimming during the afternoon, and a bountiful pot-luck supper was enjoyed by all present.

After supper, Mrs. Damon Hinchey, superintendent, spoke of the schools we are leaving the Sunday school. As the McFarlane children will be moving to Napanee, presentations of bedroom lamps were made to Bobby, a member of Miss Martin Austin's class; to Betty and Mary Anne, members of Tom Hinchey's class, and to Irene, a member of Mrs. Hinchey's class. As Miss Beverly Martin, Sunday school secretary, and faithful in attending each Sunday, is leaving to enter Belleville General Hospital as a nurse-in-training, she was presented with a piece of luggage by her teacher, Mrs. Shetler.

The Rev. T. Hogerwaard spoke briefly.

The picnic brought the Sunday school to a close, until the third Sunday in September, when the classes will again convene each Sunday morning at 10.30.

Bosom's Back With Emphasis At Jean Patou's

PARIS. (Reuters) — The bosom's back with an emphasis at Jean Patou's.

The Paris designer Saturday showed the profile line with interest centred in the front of the new fitted silhouette, subtly outlining the body.

Intricate shirred, gathered and draped treatment, starting from the neckline and worked throughout the bodice, are controlled by a naturally belted waistline.

Roomy fur-lined coats contrast the slender dresses.

The ankle-length dress, showing up all over Paris, is featured in the Patou evening picture. In the formal scene, there are also stoles and boleros of matching lace, sat velvets, or printed satin.

street length, black picture hat and accessories, with corsage of white pom poms and deep pink Sweetheart roses, received the guests.

The bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and flanked by orange blossoms and candelabra.

For the wedding trip to Toronto and district, the bride wore a baby blue sheath gown with duster, white accessories, and corsage of baby pink roses mingled with carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Berry will reside in Belleville.

Guests attended from Toronto, Picton, Trenton and Belleville.

The bride's gifts to her bridesmaids, matching pearl necklaces and earrings; to her maid of honor, crystal. The bridegroom's gifts to the attendant ushers tie clips. The bride's gift to her bridegroom, luggage; the bridegroom's gift to his bride, a sterling silver cross necklace.

DAINTY DISCIPLINE

By VERA WINSTON

Ideal for the young, slim figure that does, however, need a bit of control—and every figure is better for same—is this bra and girdle of polka dotted satin taster. Dots in assorted sizes in such colors as royal blue or red on a white ground take away the idea of figure discipline and make the garments seem so pretty and appealing. Scalloped stitching embellishes the edges, garters are optional and the bra is a simple bandeau with an inner padded cup.

Girl Sports Reporter Likes Her Work in Western Paper

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY (CP)—In the field of daily newspaper sports reporting on Canada's prairies, women are not entirely common—and Marilyn Cooper says she's fairly certain they're not native-born.

Miss Cooper, 23-year-old native of Toronto who says she fell in love with the west during a trip to Vancouver two years ago, came to Calgary last year to work as a sports reporter for The Albertan.

"Oh, it's been fun all right," said the pioneering Miss Cooper, an attractive girl with short-cut light brown hair and with a habit of squinting one eye and then the other as she counts up the months she has spent with The Albertan as the only female sports reporter in the city—and perhaps on the prairies.

"But it's been unfair. The men wouldn't give me equal rights."

TREATED WELL

That wasn't to say she hadn't been treated well by her fellow workers or by the people in the spo.ts she covered—such as basketball, trapshooting, tennis, track and field, softball.

"I'm not bitter about it at all," she laughs. "They got used to me after a while and then started treating me like one of the boys. Except, of course, no one thing—they wouldn't let me into the press boxes."

The Press-Radio Sports Club, an association of radio sports reporters and broadcasters in Calgary, set the rules, Miss Cooper said. She was allowed to purchase a membership in the club, but "they never told me about their meetings until after they'd held them and I never got to vote on anything."

She could get into press boxes for minor sports where few of the men attended regularly, but "I wasn't allowed near the press facilities in the football stadium or hockey arena when a senior game was on—not even if I was reporting the game."

"The men said it was for my own protection in case they might be swearing or something," Miss Cooper said. "But nobody was afraid to send me down to Lethbridge with a men's basketball team!"

TOOK JOURNALISM COURSE

Miss Cooper, one of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cooper, a former lawyer and now a retired farmer living in Willowdale, a Toronto suburb, attended school in Toronto and then took a three-year journalism course at Ryerson Institute.

There she became sports editor of The Ryersonian, a school publication, and it was this that got her the job in The Albertan sports department.

Two years ago, she and a girl friend travelled to Vancouver for a three-month holiday. She said she liked the country so much she determined to return, and six months later obtained the job with The Albertan.

On July 31, Miss Cooper quits from Vancouver for Australia, where she hopes to find employment in the newspaper field for six or eight months before going on to Singapore to visit friends and then to London.

"Then I'll have to come back to Canada and save up enough money to start again," she said.

"In the meantime, maybe The Albertan will hire another woman sports reporter to carry on the fight for equal privileges."

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE ARRANGEMENT SEEMS PERFECTLY FAIR

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

This is the story of a married couple in which each has been married before.

The man has two children by his first wife, whom he pays — a week for their support. He claims that, after paying his current household expenses and living costs, any money that is left should go into a bank account to be saved for his two children and himself. He has very good income.

The woman has three children by her first husband, whom she receives no money for their support. She claims that, after all current family expenses have been paid, any money that is left should be put into bank accounts and saved for equal distribution between herself and her husband, and the children of both.

When this couple was married, they agreed that each would keep for themselves and their children whatever property and money they had before their marriage. Then, later on, they could decide what should be done with whatever they acquired as a married couple. Now, however, they can't seem to agree on this matter.

Won't you please give me your opinion?—A.G.S.:

Are you putting your question in full or either party to the disagreement you describe, or is it possible that you yourself are the wife in this situation? I would assume that latter to be the case. But be as it may, it is pretty hard to form any definite opinion in this matter without knowing more details.

For example, does this second husband intend to do anything more for his three stepchildren beyond keeping a roof over their heads, and buying food and clothes for them? Does he give them any additional money needed, and is he expecting to pay for their education if it goes beyond public school years?

Since you say the father of the three children assumes no financial responsibility for them, it would seem likely that this second husband would have to take over all along the line.

Therefore, if it is going to be up to this second husband to assume the burden of all these expenses, I certainly see no reason why he shouldn't plan the disposition of any remaining money he may have in the way that seems best to him.

On the other hand, if the wife has money of her own in an adequate amount to meet her children expenses, I don't think the stepfather should be required to take over this responsibility. Apparently the second wife has not been asked to do anything whatever for his children, so, if she does have money of her own, I would scarcely be fair of her to expect her husband to spend his money children, so if she does have money on her children just because he is married to her.

Your question, apparently, boils down to the fact that the second wife feels that her second husband is not playing fair when he says the fact any money left over from their household expenses should be put away for himself and his own two children. Undoubtedly he would expect to care for you out of this fund as the years went on.

But if the status of their responsibility toward their respective children is as I've outlined above, I can hardly feel that either his second wife or his step-children are being unfairly treated.

The weekly manicure is a "must" if polish is to be always smooth and lovely.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

GOOD GROOMING ON SCHEDULE

Is your grooming a hit-or-miss proposition? Do you set aside certain days or certain hours each week in which to tend to shampoo, manicures, pedicures and the dozens of other little chores necessary to keep you looking lovely always?

If the latter, you're a smart girl, and as most experienced dads will find you with straggling locks, chipped nail polish or some other beauty liability which could prove highly embarrassing. If you haven't a schedule, why not plan one now?

Consider your shampoo, for instance. During these warm days it's especially necessary not to neglect your hair. Weekly shampoos are an absolute "must". Exposure to sunlight makes hair coarse, dry and brittle. Heat and perspiration make hair heavy with oil so that it becomes unmanageable as well as unpleasant to the touch. Don't therefore, skip the shampoo just because you're "too tired". Actually, aside from a fragrant sudsing in the hub or a brisk shower, there's nothing quite so invigorating as a thorough shampoo accompanied by brisk massage of the scalp.

Then there's the matter of the manicure. Another weekly "must". If you skip it even for a day or two, nails become rough, dull and chips. And are these things noticed! You bet they are. Chipped or not, polish is bright enough to catch the eye and, if it's going to be an eye-catcher, it should be smooth and lovely—always. The same goes for your pedicure. With toes exposed in summer sandals, hosiery and shoes and other open-work numbers, toenails are very much in evidence these days and they should look just as attractive as your fingernails. And this isn't possible unless they get weekly care.

Your daily bath or shower is something else that can't be postponed if you'd be dashing fresh from morning 'til night, and during these humid days, two baths are even better than one.

Make time, too, for such little chores as eye-brow brushing, a weekly facial, removal of superfluous hair from legs and underarms and, to be doubly sure you're always well-groomed, save a couple of hours out of every week to check hemlines, loose buttons, hooks and eyes, and other slight wardrobe damage that could spoil the picture of a pretty, attractive you.

The Unforgotten Picnic

By Mary Moore

This joke is on me.

Nobody can have too many friends, but when your daughter is only going to be in town for three and one-half weeks there are not enough days or mealtimes to go round for all the friends and relatives she wants to see.

So we have to double up and have breakfast parties, go out to lunch, have dinners with two or three families and have dessert gatherings after Gary's soiree.

But one brilliant plan I conceived finished. Eleanor had gone to Montreal for a long week—end and we had mentally promised to have her swordfish—Bruce, and David 8 and Roddy 5—for a meal in her absence. The only time available was Sunday lunch, so we decided to make it a cook-out picnic at a glorious spot we call the Devil's Punch Bowl, above a lacey falls that drops 250 feet.

When we arrived and had the car rug spread and the paper plates passed (I hate paper plates), and the fire going, the pork chops cooked, the wieners roasted—I asked Pete to serve the potato salad that it took me 1 whole hour to make. "Where is it Mum?" "Golly I don't know—did we leave it in the car?" No, everything's out of the trunk." I knew only too well by then where it was—on our refrigerator at home. I'd left it there until the last minute to chill, then, because Gary was crying as we left, I forgot it.

I was teased plenty—for it is a rule with me just before we leave the house on a picnic to go through all of the motions made at a picnic—looking straight at Pete and Marianne—something like this: "When you get to the picnic spot you start the fire with paper (in the paper inf—ure), matches (they're in) and because it is a dry day we won't need charcoal. Next a frying—pan (pod,) fat (pod), lifter (pod), pork rib (chats—someone jumps and gets it). . . . and so on right down to wet wash cloth to wipe off coal black hands.

But this time Gary's strange and unaccustomed noise had put me off and I did not check and we didn't have one of our main dishes. The kids won't let me forget that for a long time I know. For years it'll be "Do you remember the time Mum left the potato salad in the icebox, when Gary was 11 weeks old and crying?" Maybe they will even tell him when he's old enough to be interested. Kids are swell people. It was good for a lot of laughs.

NEW ONE-PAN BARBECUE

In frying-pan melt 1 tablespoon fat and add 1 lb. ground beef, 1-4 cup chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and brown lightly stirring. Stir in 1 No. 2 can tomato juice, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 teaspoon each prepared mustard and Worcestershire sauce and simmer 15 minutes. Thicken with flour and water paste. Serve over stir bakbeans and toasted hard rolls. Very popular.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

THANK-YOU NOTES FOR CONGRATULATORY MESSAGES

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

We were married a month ago, and at that time received quite a few congratulatory telegrams, and many printed cards of congratulation. Ever since after the wedding I followed your advice that "the bride-to-be should write each day a thank-you note for the wedding presents received that day." I felt very courteous and very polite! And now, since our return from our wedding trip, I have written thank-you notes for the presents that arrived at the last minute or even after the wedding. But I have not written notes of thanks for the telegrams or the cards. Should I?—Bride

Yes, do write a little note of thanks to each sender of such a thoughtful telegram and card-of-congratulation. Of course, this isn't absolutely necessary, but when one sends you a pleasant telegram or card, he wants to know it arrived and was appreciated. One or two sentences will be enough to how your thank-you. Your husband and other friends will be proud of you!

A PICNIC FOR THEIR "SWEET SIXTEEN PARTY"

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I'm to be 16 the last week in August, and for my "Sweet Sixteen Party" my mother and father have suggested I give a picnic in our large garden. We have all the equipment for outdoor cooking, and the main course would be grilled hamburgers with the usual accessories.) Of course I'd like to have an equal number of boys and girls, and to do this I'd have to ask several of the girls to bring a boy friend, and several of the boys to bring a girl friend. Mother thinks it would be easier to make this clear by writing the invitations. Would you please suggest how I should word these?—Nancy R.

I suggest you write:

Dear Katherine,

Please come to a picnic (grilled hamburgers featured!) I'm giving in our garden on Friday, August —, at — o'clock. And please bring a boy friend with you . . . let me know his name and address, if you'd like to have me send him a special invitation. I can't have a bouncer here.

birthday party without you!

Lovingly,
Nancy

(To a boy, "Dear Jim", and "Please bring a girl friend with you. Let me know her name and address if you'd like to have me send her a special invitation." And omit the last sentence.)

You may, is you wish, include the happy fact that is is your Sixteenth Birthday party.

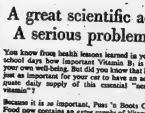
ATTENTION: CAT OWNERS

because of this news

millions of cats will be healthier, happier!

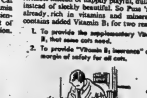


Puss'n Boots now contains extra Vitamin B_1 (thiamin)

A great scientific advance in pet nutrition...
A serious problem solved for your cat.

You know from health lessons learned in your school days how important Vitamin B_1 is to your own well-being. But did you know that it's just as important for your cat to have an adequate daily supply of this essential "nerve vitamin"?

Because it is so important, Puss 'n Boots Cat Food now contains an extra supply of Vitamin B_1 in every can . . . purposely added in scientifically measured quantities, as the result of Puss 'n Boots' continuing study of cat nutrition.



75 cats were studied for 5 years in our test colony.

Does your Cat get through Vitamin B_1 Worry?

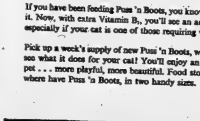
Some cats need a larger supply of Vitamin B_1 than others. Such cats (like many humans) need supplementary B_1. Unless they receive it they will lose appetite, weight and energy. They will be irritable instead of happily playful, dull looking instead of sleekly beautiful. In Puss 'n Boots, already rich in vitamins and minerals, now contain added Vitamin B_1 for two reasons:

1. To provide the supplementary Vitamin B_1 that some cats need.
2. To provide "Vitamin B_1 insurance" as a margin of safety for all cats.

Study showed cats benefit from extra Vitamin B_1.

— A Technical Triumph —

It wasn't easy to add Vitamin B_1 to Puss 'n Boots and keep it stable. Vitamin B_1 is sensitive to heat. It may be lost in cooking. And Puss 'n Boots is cooked in the can, to make sure it reaches you as absolutely pure, ready-to-eat cat food. But after much technical research and many experiments, we solved the problem. The vitamin is kept stable throughout the cooking.



Today, when you open a can of Puss 'n Boots you can be sure the added Vitamin B_1 is there, with all the health-giving benefits that mean so much to your cat's welfare.

What we Learned about Your Cat

More than five years ago we established a colony of 75 cats in model quarters. We fed them fresh food, canned food, every kind of food you are ever likely to feed your cat. Our veterinarian and nutritional specialists patiently observed the cats and their kittens, day after day, year after year, and kept detailed records of their diets and their physical condition.

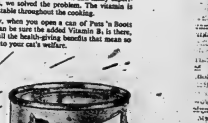
From this study one crystal-clear conclusion emerged: A most important problem in feeding your cat is to make sure that it gets the adequate daily supply of Vitamin B_1 which it needs.

Pick up a week's supply of new Puss 'n Boots, with extra Vitamin B_1, and see what it does for your cat! You'll enjoy an altogether more lovable pet . . . more playful, more beautiful. Food stores and pet shops everywhere have Puss 'n Boots, in two handy sizes.

FILLETS OR FLESH: rich in important protein and body-building proteins. Usually reserved for human consumption, but now received in Puss 'n Boots.

BONE STRUCTURE, for calcium and phosphorus. Made into fine meal, then received in Puss 'n Boots.

LIVER AND GLANDS. For calcium, vitamins A, B, D. Vital organ foods. Often rejected but now received in Puss 'n Boots.



Every can of Puss 'n Boots contains an added amount of the "nerve vitamin."

VITAMIN B_1 (Thiamin)

This vitamin is essential for a cat's health and well-being. Regular feeding of Puss 'n Boots assures an adequate daily supply.

SANDBAGS SAVE GERMAN CROPS

In an effort to save the summer crops, volunteer emergency workers pile up sandbags along the Leine River near Bothmerth, in northwestern Germany, where heavy rains have caused serious floods. Some 200 persons have enlisted in the fight to stem the waters.

ALBERTA HAILSTORM

Hailstones cover a street in the Calgary suburb of Highwood after a heavy hailstorm hit central Alberta. In Highwood some windows were broken and gardens flattened. Damage to crops is estimated in the millions of dollars. The Alberta hail insurance board reported $15 claims to date this season compared to 162 for the same period last year. (CP Photo)

BARGAIN RATES ATTRACT TRAVELLERS

When an airline offered bargain rates for an air trip to Britain, 450 Avro company employees of Malton, Ont., were booked for the trip and 400 were turned down for lack of space. Six airliners were specially chartered for the flight. The flight would cost a family of four close to $2,000 on regular schedule, cost only $640 under the bargain-basement plan.

THREE IMPORTANT QUESTIONS FOR FATHERS

... the answers are vital to their families

The answers to three simple questions may help show the difference which would occur in the standard of living of a family if a father were not here. These are the important questions:

Question 1. How much does his family spend monthly on groceries, rent, heat and light, clothes, medical expenses and other necessities?

Question 2. How much would the family spend if the father's expenses were eliminated?

Question 3. How much income would the family receive regularly without his pay check?

If the answer to question 3 is subtracted from question 2, one will get the minimum amount of monthly income a father should be planning to provide to protect his family... and a good way to do this is through the Metropolitan Family Income Plan.

Every father should consider these important features of the Metropolitan Family Income Plan:

1. Each father can choose the amount of monthly income needed—$100 a month, $200 or more.

2. If he should die at any time within 20 years, the Metropolitan Family Income Plan will provide this income for his family each month for the remainder of the 20 years, and then a cash settlement equal to the face amount of the policy.

3. If the father should live beyond the 20 years, he and his family can have continuing insurance protection for the full face amount of his policy as long as he lives.

Here is a way a father can help solve the problems of protecting his family today. Ask your Metropolitan Representative to give you the details on the Family Income Plan. It is easy to get in touch with him, for...

In Six Weeks 50,000 Baby Muskies Eat 10 Million Minnows, Each Other

Swarm of Bees Alarms Scores In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — A swarm of bees—estimated at 3,000—"buzzed" Decarie Boulevard in Montreal's west end Friday before losing out to an ambitious amateur bee-catcher.

Harold Smith, a car jockey at a west-end automobile firm spotted the bees after they had terrified scores of pedestrians by buzzing a foot or two above their heads.

The bees eventually settled on a bed of flowers. Smith got a honey-lined box, placed it by the swarm and waited for them to enter. He then closed the box with an old pair of overalls.

Smith, who plans to sell his catch for about $15 to a beekeeper, said: "There is little more danger attached to it than, say, collecting stamps."

GOOD TOURIST TRADE

PARIS (Reuters) — American tourists flocking to Paris have topped the list of all foreign visitors in the first six months of this year, according to figures from the French state tourist office. In the six-month period, there were 187,927 Americans in the French capital—more than 30 per cent more than in the first half of 1954.

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A hatchery director has outlined the law of diminishing returns as it applies to muskellunge.

Henry Jackson of the Deer Lake hatchery says he started last June with 4,000,000 muskie eggs, stripped from the parent fish and hatched artificially.

Of the resulting fry, a trial lot of 20,000 were transferred to a rearing pond at Rice Lake, 35 miles south of Peterborough.

This week, six weeks later, they were released into the lake and the pond was drained. The end result of six weeks of coddling and careful feeding was 8,000 baby muskies.

During the boarding period, Mr. Jackson said they ate 10,000,000 minnows from Rice Lake, and, their appetites unslaked, began on themselves. In all, the five-inch cannibals devoured 42,000 of their fellows.

"That is a good return," Mr. Jackson said. "You can see now why fish lay so many eggs in the first place. The death rate is appalling."

Little Benny's Notebook

I was walking on the Avenue with pop, and a little crowd of men was standing around 2 other men listening to them argueing politics.

One being a tall man with a short mustash and the other being a short man without any, and pop said, This is a grate country where every man is at liberty to spout his opinions into the free air in the face of any man who thinks otherwise, and everybody else is free to stand around and listen and stick to their own opinions like glue.

And we stopped to listen too, and the tall man was saying, If you socialists had your way we would all be ants in an ant heep with no place for a man with an individual thought in his head.

You're no individual, the short man said. You're a capitalist parasite living on the forced labor of the little people, he said, and the tall man said, You're no little person or any other kind of a person, you're just a bee in a bee hive buzzing at real individuals.

Both sounding madder and madder and making more men stop and listen, and just then a policeman pushed in, saying, Why dont you 2 guys hire a hall? Come on now, everybody, keep moving, he said.

Which everybody did, including the 2 men with the argewment, and I said, Well G, pop, is there any free liberty about, everybody having to move away just because they're standing there whether they're innocent or guilty?

Certainly there is, pop said. It shows we are all free to respect the law and we all have the liberty not to talk back to a cop, he said.

Being a good sneer and the end of the subject.

Thinks Ontario To Build Skyway Without Help

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Winters said in the Commons Saturday he believes the Ontario government has decided to construct the Burlington skyway bridge without federal help.

The bridge—to cost around $15,000,000—would span the entrance to Hamilton harbor at Burlington Beach. It is to be a high – level structure.

Last April, Mr. Winters indicated the federal government was withdrawing from an original agreement to pay one – third the cost of the bridge, because of a provincial decision to charge tolls.

In reply to a question Saturday from Hussell Reinke PC-Hamilton South, Mr. Winters said he had a conference Friday with Ontario Premier Frost and the mayors' of Toronto and Hamilton in Toronto.

"We discussed some of the aspects of this bridge as they applied to present and long – term civic planning," he said. "As far as I know, it is the intention of the provincial government to build the structure themselves."

Ohio Man Drowns As Boat Capsizes In Crowe Lake

CAMPBELLFORD, July 29. — Darkness ended dragging operations Sunday for the body of Harry F. Stantz, 39, of Canton, O., who drowned in Crowe Lake, 35 miles northeast of Peterborough, last night.

Stantz, fishing by himself after supper, apparently was thrown into the water when his small boat capsized. The craft, its stern weighted down by an outboard motor, was found partially submerged late last night.

Nasser Rebuked By U.S. for His Inaccurate Words

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sharply rebuked Egyptian President Nasser Saturday for "intemperate, inaccurate and misleading statements" about this country.

Nasser has charged, among other things, that the United States lied about Egypt's ability to build the Aswan high dam.

The American protest was delivered orally to Ambassador Ahmed Hussein by Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

State department press officer Lincoln White announced that Hoover told the ambassador the United States was "shocked by the many intemperate, inaccurate and misleading statements made with respect to the United States by the president of Egypt during the last few days and particularly in his Alexandria speech delivered on July 26."

Hoover declared the statements were "entirely inconsistent" with the friendly relations between the two countries.

White said the Egyptian ambassador told Hoover that he "could not accept the protest."

White declined to specify the particular statements of Nasser to which the American government had so strenuously objected. But officials said that following American and British withdrawals last week of a joint offer to help Egypt build the Aswan dam Nasser had made a series of charges.

In the course of a July 24 speech at Cairo Nasser pointed his words at American government leaders behind what he called "the uproar" in Washington. He shouted: "May your hate choke you to death!"

Worried about Bills?

Not Mr. Peake!

Mr. Peake was off work for a few months last year. It wasn't his fault and he is now working steadily again at a good salary. But while he was out of work bills piled up and he was constantly worried trying to meet the most pressing obligations and stall the others. Finally on a friend's advice, he dropped in to see us. After hearing the circumstances, our Loan Manager was able to loan him enough to settle all his bills, and on payments he could easily meet out of his income. "Going to Citizens was the smartest move I ever made," Mr. Peake says. You'll say so too. If you need money for any useful purpose, come in or call our Loan Manager today.

Shell suggests: tear out this chart and keep it handy during your trip.

Apple orchards. White picket fences. Golden wheatfields. Purple mountains. Cool quiet old inns; fresh-caught trout; a thick steak by candle-light. Through all this winds a great network of roads. It is all yours; the open road starts at your own doorstep. But there is danger in every mile. One turn of the head, one split second of inattention, one wandering glance—and you can be in trouble. Bad trouble. Shell hopes you'll take it easy; drive safely; turn the other fender.

Big Bang Like Firecracker When Stockholm Hit Doria

GIRL LIVES IN MASS OF TWISTED STEEL

In the wrecked bow of the Stockholm, a 14-year-old girl, Linda Morgan, was found low arm broken and in a dazed condition, but otherwise unharmed. She had been sleeping in the compartment at the Andrea Doria into which the bow of the Stockholm crashed and, presumably, she was caught in twisted metal of the bow and removed with it when the ship recolled after the impact.

DORIA SURVIVORS CROWD ILE DE FRANCE

Survivors of the ill-fated Italian liner Andrea Doria wave from the stern of the Ile de France in New York harbor. The Andrea Doria collided with the Swedish-American liner Stockholm and sank 45 miles off Nantucket Island. The Ile de France was one of the first ships to reach the disaster area and accounted for a major part of the rescue of 1,600 passengers and crew.

Fire Disables Eddy Paper Mill At Hull, Quebec

HULL, Que. (CP)—A Saturday night fire at the E. B. Eddy Company plant here put out of commission a mill with a capacity of 170 tons of newsprint a day.

Company officials said Sunday they did not know the cause of the blaze which started in the mill's basement and roared through the rambling, two-storey cement structure.

The building was one of several in the huge, sprawling plant that lines the Ottawa river across from Parliament Hill in the capital.

No estimate of the damage was available, but one unofficial report placed it at $350,000. It was not known how long the huge machinery, renovated only a few months ago, would be out of order nor whether it could be repaired at all. Spare parts are imported for work as usual in other plant buildings.

Hundreds lined the interprovincial bridge across the Ottawa River to watch as smoke billowed across the water. Hundreds more watched- from Parliament Hill.

A stock of newsprint rolls, stored in an adjoining building, was ruined when firemen, with water from an automatic sprinkler system.

However, another adjoining building, separated from the burning structure by a fire wall, was not affected. It contained a tissue-manufacturing operation.

Fireman John Legare was overcome by smoke while fighting the fire. He was taken to Montreal-Notre hospital Sunday after treatment. Another 50 employees left the building safely.

Liberals 'Whining' Is Reply To Charge Pipeline Debate News Slanted Against Govt.

OTAWA (CP) — The CBC came under Commons attack Saturday for its alleged imbalance in news coverage and news commentaries.

The criticisms of its news coverage were levelled by a Liberal — Russel Keirstead of Edmonton South—who charged CBC's reporting of the controversial pipeline debate was slanted against the government, and by Social Credit leader Low, whose party supported the government on the pipeline issue. Mr. Low did not mention the pipeline in his criticism, which was mainly that CBC commentators slanted their comment "strictly to the left."

The charges brought replies from George Hees (PC—Toronto Broadview) and Elmore Philpott (L—Vancouver South), but no cabinet minister replied.

Mr. Hees, accusing Liberals of "whining," said he was convinced that the CBC, The Canadian Press, the British United Press and the press gallery generally report the news both fairly and objectively."

The CBC bases its regular news bulletin on the news reports of The Canadian Press which include world news from Reuters and the Associated Press) and the British United Press. The CBC, however, arranges programs of current affairs news by commentators who may be reporters on the scene of a news event, or specialists in some particular pertinent topic.

Mr. Philpott, Vancouver newspaper columnist and a former CBC commentator, said news commentators on the CBC "are necessarily fair in their political broadcasts." Canada had the fairest system of political broadcasts in the world.

Mr. Reinke accused the CBC of slanting its news reports on the turbulent Commons pipeline battle by giving the people "a daily diet of distorted news and half-truths."

The CBC had bent over backwards to give opposition charges before play the government's replies on the pipeline debate. He mentioned several of the 92 parliamentary press gallery correspondents who delivered CBC news commentaries. These were positioned were Douglas Leiterman of Southam News Service, Arthur Blakely of the Montreal Gazette and Stanley Burke of the Vancouver Sun.

Mr. Low said Mr. Reinke's comments "very largely" were true, adding that there had been "very serious slanting of news."

He accused the CBC of giving more play to leftist viewpoints in selecting news commentators to give talks on British policy on Cyprus, Malta, British East Africa and Kenya.

"They (the commentators) would have done a better job of trying to destroy the Commonwealth and unity if they had been Communists themselves," Mr. Low said.

But Samuel Milton Shulman, Marcus Long, Leonard Beaton, Murray Ballatyne and Walter Josey among British and Canadian commentators he had listened to.

"The government policy is a straight out-and-out denial of free enterprise," he said. "In my judgment it encourages the board of governors (of the CBC) to look upon themselves as absolute dictators and omniscient manipulators."

Referring to the presence of CBC Chairman A. D. Dunton on the floor of the Commons, where he was advising Dr. McCann, Mr. Low said: "He feels he has ears pinned back just a little bit.'

Mr. Hees, a former member of the Toronto Argonauts football team, said that in sport "one learns to take a referee's decision without whining."

Referring to interjections by Liberals, he said "it is nice to hear members on the other side object squealing because it shows we are sticking them where it hurts."

Practically every newspaper in Canada had criticized the government's pipeline policy.

"To single out the CBC's reports in this instance as 'I belong whining on a very large scale."

The Liberals apparently wanted the proceedings of Parliament reported by government-selected parliamentary observers whom the government could exert complete control. The people of Canada would receive only the government's version of what transpired in the Commons.

"They would receive a true report," said Mr. Reinke.

Mr. Hees said it would be an important step forward in creation of the dictatorship "which this government's conduct in the pipeline debate made very clear the government is determined to achieve."

BIG PHILIPPINE FIRE

MANILA (AP)—A roaring fire which spread to death six persons and destroyed a large section of the business district in the big Southern Philippine port city of Davao, Philippine news service reported. Police said early estimates placed property damage at $1,000,000.

Boy Causes $75,000 Damage To Rail Bridge

HAMILTON (CP) — It may cost the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway $75,000 to repair damage caused Saturday when a 16-year-old boy tossed a bushful bank, et of burning paper into gas vau der the bridge.

The juvenile has been charged with arson and is to appear in court this week.

Three companies of firemen were called to extinguish the blaze which destroyed the wooden structure. Percy W. Hawkinson, district manager for the railway, said the bridge will have to be rebuilt and be replaced at a cost of $75,000.

Damage to the line, a main route, was delayed 30 minutes after the fire was put out. Communications facilities for telephones and track signals were out of commission for two hours.

Two Killed In Car Test

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The finish of a 7,000-mile car reliability trial was marred Sunday when two drivers were killed on the Hume highway.

The dead were Leslie Slaughter, 41, and William Mays, 31, both of Sydney. Those in the car crashed 50 feet down an embankment.

30 HOLDS HER JOB

CHICAGO (AP)—Ella Klatcher went job hunting 30 years ago, found a position she liked and has never left. "I'd like to stay another 10 years," Miss Klatcher said Sunday as workers began her celebrate her 80th birthday. Miss Klatcher, a secretary in a law office, observes, said: "I'm not even considering retirement."

Italian Consul at Toronto Plans to Ask Ald. F. Clifton Pointed Questions on Doria

TORONTO (CP)—Italian Consul Gian Piero Nuti said Saturday he plans to ask Toronto Ald. Frank Clifton a few pointed questions about the latter's statement that crew members of the ill-fated liner Andrea Doria took to the boats ahead of passengers.

The alderman, among survivors of the disaster Wednesday, was quoted as saying at New York that the Italian crew took to the boats without regard to the wherebouts of passengers. He also said the passengers lacked any kind of direction from the officers after the Andrea Doria was in collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm. The Doria sank 11 hours later.

Dr. Nuti's questions:

1. Why was Ald. Clifton in one of the first three lifeboats to leave the ship after orders were given for women and children to abandon ship first?

2. Who lowered the boat he spoke of? (Ald. Clifton in his statement said he got into the boat because it suddenly appeared before him and no one had instructed him otherwise).

3. Who lowered the rope that came to him from "somewhere?" (The alderman said the rope became part of conversation as he stood on deck and he grabbed it, later finding himself dangling above the lifeboat).

4. How is he justified in saying all the crew members left the ship first when he was among the first to leave?

(Ald. Clifton said one of the lifeboats in which he found himself was filled with crew members and the second, the one in which he finally got away, contained a mixture of passengers and crew "but I must say in fairness that it appeared to me that the crew in the boat were for the most part waiters and stewards who just didn't know" about seamanship.)

5. Who, then, stayed to pump the water from the ship and keep her afloat for so long?

Dr. Nuti said that interviews he has had with survivors who have returned to Toronto indicate the crew members acted in "a heroic" manner.

Commons to Sit Wednesday Eves

OTTAWA. (CP) — The Commons has decided to sit nights on Wednesdays to the end of the parliamentary session.

In the closing drive for prorogation — expected between August 11 and 18—the House has been sitting daily except Sunday and every night except Wednesday and Saturday night.

On Saturday is accepted a motion by Finance Minister Harris wiping out the Wednesday night off.

The Commons now will sit 43 hours weekly, compared with 25 1-2 hours earlier in the session, which opened January 10.

EXPANSION SATISFIES CEMENT DEMAND

Cement shortages that plagued Canadian construction ventures will be at an end next year, according to cement companies that have put $80,000,000 into expanding their capacity. The shortage began in 1951 and since then Canada has imported cement from the U.S., Poland and Czechoslovakia. When the expansion is completed, Canada may again become an exporter of cement. Cement producers have gambled on the building boom continuing and, even if it does, they believe there will be adequate supplies from Canadian plants.

Pit Infantry Against Machines In Alberta Test

By REUMAN MORIN

CAMP WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—More than 4,000 soldiers of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade will test their combat training today under simulated conditions of atomic warfare as the west's biggest annual military exercise begins.

Exercise Mobfoot in this camp 130 miles southeast of Edmonton will pit foot soldiers against highly-mechanized units and will test both under the theoretical use the threat of tactical atomic weapons—bombs, shells or missiles.

The three-day exercise will include low-flying air attacks and test the tactical mobility of an infantry battalion group equipped with armored personnel carriers as opposed to battalions of marching infantry.

Although the hypothetical area involved in Mobfoot is large, manoeuvres will be confined to the 226-square mile Suffield block, a train of rolling ridges separated by low-lying marshes dotted with lakes.

Policemen's Guns Save Rape-Slayer From Angry Mob

NEW YORK (AP)—A shouting fish-shaking crowd of 2,000 persons Sunday threatened a young laborer accused of raping a three-year-old girl and flinging her to her death from a rooftop. Police, guns still drawn, held off the milling throng.

Police said Diego Lugo, 24, had confessed. He was charged with homicide and held for arraignment today.

Lugo had been released from police custody Saturday after a Bellevue Hospital 12 days ago, police said.

The nude body of little Jeanette and Ida found early Sunday in a basement yard on Manhattan's upper west side.

Police took Lugo in handcuffs to the scene of the crime. A crowd quickly gathered and began shouting his wife, Norah Kovachs, took an axe from the opposite side of the ship.

Now the voyage was nearly ended. This was the night before landing. People were packing, many had gone to bed earlier than usual.

SAW LIGHT

Suddenly, Martin Sejda thought he saw a light off the starboard side.

In that same moment, Arne Smedberg, a seaman on the Stockholm, was standing on deck when a luxurious sigh. His bunk was well forward near the bow.

These are the busy crowded waters. They funnel transatlantic traffic into New York and New Jersey, and they carry heavy coastwise traffic.

Fog frequently shrouds the lanes but that night the fog was thicker than usual.

Martin Sejda was getting sleepy. He started to turn away from the rail when he saw something that froze him.

Four Members Of Family Die In Car Accident

TOURVILLE, Que. (CP) — Four members of one family were fatally injured in the collision near this community 70 miles east of Quebec.

Killed outright in the crash were Mrs. Amedee Joncas, 36 and her children Jean-Guy, 10, and Edgar, 15, Joseph Joncas, 68, grandfather of the children died in hospital at St. Jean-Port-Joli, 15 miles from here.

Four other children and Amede Joncas, 36, the father, were still in hospital. Attendants there described Joncas' condition as critical.

All the victims were in one car. The two occupants of the second car involved in the collision were not believed to have been seriously hurt.

Sweden Liquor Consumption Up

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuter)—A sharp increase in drunkenness and fatal traffic accidents following the abolition of liquor rationing in July, 1955, was announced today by the state alcohol monopoly.

Alcohol consumption in the first quarter of this year, the latest period for which full statistics are available, was 13,910,000 litres (about 2,000,000 gallons) in the same period last year when liquor was still rationed.

The number of persons sentenced for drunkenness in the first quarter of this year was 18,517 compared with 10,222 in the same period last year, an increase of 55 per cent.

Boy, 15, in Sightless World Suddenly Frozen by Lights As Death Peered Out of Fog

By ELSA ROMAN

"I saw lights. I saw her lights about three seconds before the crash. It was coming in at an angle, like it was trying to keep from hitting us."

In the ballroom, Myr. Grace McLean of Norfolk, Va., was dancing. Over her partner's shoulder, she could see a blaze of light through the window. It came closer, and closer. Then there was a crash.

RAN TO OTHER SIDE

"We saw the bow crush right into us. We ran to the other side of the ship. People kept saying, keep calm, keep calm."

This was at 11:20 p.m.

The shock of impact seemed different to different people.

"A terrific crunching sound . . . a shock . . . a shudder . . . it was just a heavy sea . . . Like a firecracker . . . It felt like a jarring stop grinding . . . I was having lunch and it seemed to me the ship's engines had just stopped suddenly."

The Stockholm's greatest hope, heavily reinforced against possible ice in northern waters—cut a hole 40 feet across at the widest point. It was shaped like an inverted pyramid.

The Stockholm's bow was torn, bent and folded back like a fingernail. Its pain per wound was not mortal.

But the Doria's was.

WATER POURS IN

The hole in her side was just behind the bridge and on the starboard side. Fortunately, the sea was calm. Even so, the first bulkhead withstood swell upon swell of water pouring in. Almost immediately, the ship was on a list.

In that instant, death came on both ships.

Aft in the Andrea Doria, it came to the people on that upper deck on the starboard side. In a relatively small area of cabins, this is what happened:

Mrs. Robert Carlin, well known in Brooklyn Democratic circles, had just stepped into the corridor intending to join some friends in the lounge. His wife was dead.

The crash knocked Carlin off his feet. He stepped back into the cabin. There was a gaping hole in the ship's side. His wife had vanished.

CRASHED TO DEATH

No. 52-53 — This space, like Cabin 54, took the full impact of the Stockholm's bow. Ciaafarra kept up a steady record. Apparently were crushed to death. Mrs. Ciaafarra was launched between the bulkhead and a spring of her bed. Linda, her daughter by a former marriage, was unhurt.

Nos. 56-58-Dr. Thure Petersen, his chiropractor, was buried out of bed, clear across the room, and slammed against the wall on the opposite room. He was knocked unconscious.

When he came to he heard screaming and cries for help. He found his wife pinned against the bulkhead. Her head and legs were broken. He gave her mouth to mouth and the help of another man, tried to free her but failed.

Stelco Employees Offered New 15 Million Wage Packet

HAMILTON (CP)—A new wage package valued at $15,000,000 during the next two years will go before workers of the Steel Company of Canada tonight and Tuesday for their approval or rejection. Acceptance is considered a formality.

The agreement was reached Saturday between Stelco and the United Steelworkers of America and after 10 days of conciliation hearings.

Judge Walter Little of Parry Sound, Ont., chairman of the conciliation board, placed the total equivalent value of the two-year package deal at 25½ cents an hour.

Under the contract is retroactive to last April 1. Stelco said it may be higher steel prices.

The contract was considered by some observers here to be better that the settlement in the United States steel workers received a 28.7-cents-an-hour package increase in a three-year agreement arrived at last Friday.

The settlement here averted a possible strike of the firm's 6,200 employees, 3,000 of whom had voted in favor of a walkout to get what they wanted. They had demanded a package deal amounting to about 40 cents an hour.

Details of the agreement will not be disclosed until after the membership meetings. However, it is understood it will pave the way for elimination of the wage differences among plants in the Stelco chain.

Said Judge Little: "In order to prevent repetition and rumor, I will say the agreement in principle covers the matters of pensions and the wage administrative agreement as well as wages and other benefits."

The union estimated Hamilton Stelco workers' made an average $1.89 hourly; the company figured it at $2.06. The average among steelworkers in the U.S. was formerly $2.46 an hour.

STEEL PRICE INCREASE

Stelco President H. G. Hilton said the settlement would result in an unspecified cost increase of more than 36 cents an hour. He added:

"Acceptance by Stelco of the recommendation of the conciliation board . . . was made notwithstanding full realization of the extent of the impact it would have on steel prices and the Canadian economy."

The difficult decision the company had to make this year was whether higher steel prices would be as damaging to the economy and the general public as would a lengthy halt in a large part of Canada's steel production at this time.

Jordan Government Planning To Ask Burns Be Replaced

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The Jordanian government in conjunction with other Arab states concerned intends to ask the United Nations to replace General E. L. M. Burns as chief of staff of its Palestine truce supervision organization, a ministry spokesman said today.

A list of cazes in which the Canadian officer is said to have shown a biased attitude in favor of Israel is being prepared by Jordanian authorities for presentation to the UN, the spokesman declared.

Egypt, Syria and Lebanon have been approached to prepare similar lists to support a joint demand for Burns' removal, he added.

Burns' contract with the UN is due to end next month.

IT'S STILL NIXON FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

An unusual political sequence occurred in the U.S. Republican party when Presidential Assistant Harold Stassen, top, announced that he would ask the Republican convention to accept Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, centre, as vice-presidential candidate instead of Richard Nixon, above. Herter, when told of the move, said he would nominate Nixon. President Eisenhower showed his preference by almost ignoring Stassen. But Stassen says he will continue to try to remove Nixon from the Republican ticket. —Central Press Canadian.

CHURCH OR JAIL CHOICE

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—John W. Carbone, 23, of West Haven must go to church every Sunday for a year—the same church where he was caught stealing from a poor box. If he doesn't, Judge Alfred J. Tuttle said in passing sentence, Carbone will go to jail for 30 days.

BOY, 15

Meanwhile, he heard Mrs. Clanfarra's cries for help. The doctor and the other man cut her free, returned to the Peterson cabin to get his satricals Mrs. Peterson. She was dead.

At least five sailors died on the Stockholm. Like seaman Sundeberg, their bunks were in the forward part of the ship. Sundeberg survived. He said:

"The first think I knew, everything seemed to cave in. Things were falling all over us. It was like lightning striking."

Beginning at 11:22, maritime listening posts heard this chilling exchange of messages:

11:22 (from the Stockholm): "We have collided with another ship. Please. Ship in collision."

11:25 (from the coast guard.) "Andrea Doria and Stockholm collided. Lat. 40-30 N. Long. 69-53 W."

11:30 (Stockholm to Andrea Doria): "If you can lower lifeboats, we can pick you up."

11:33 (Andrea Doria to Stockholm): "We are heeling (listing) . . . Impossible . . . put lifeboat at sea . . . Send immediate assistance . . . Lifeboats."

Then a few moments later, the dread S O S came from the Andrea Doria.

Literally scores of craft — big and small—headed for the point where the coast guard said the crash had occurred.

There were nearly 2,000 potential victims—1,134 passengers and 575 crew on the Andrea Doria, 530 passengers, 200 crew on the Stockholm.

Naval craft, freighters, even some pleasure ships attempted to reach the scene.

Most important, the giant French liner, Ile de France, was about 30 miles away. Her captain, Raoul de Beaudean, swung the big ship around as soon as he got the distress call and arrived in just under two hours.

"I prayed for a miracle," said de Beaudean. It was granted. On the way to the scene, the fog lifted.

The French ship came in with her lifeboats already swung out from the davits, ready for lowering. She put 10 in the water, from both sides, in less than five minutes.

People on the Andrea Doria, who could see her arrival now that the fog had thinned, burst into cheers and tears.

On that doomed ship, the whole human drama was being played out, the full range of emotions and motivations—of courage, cowardice, hysteria, brutal selfishness, near nobility of purpose.

People charged that there was no "abandon ship" order, or announcement of any kind, until around 2 a.m.—over two hours after the crash. There never was an announcement in English, they said.

Other passengers said the Italian sailors, unable to give directions in English, stood by pessimistically, nudging people forward when it was their turn to get into lifeboats.

Except for some struggling between passengers trying to get down to cabins after the crash and those surging up from below, there was no panic, passengers said.

The ship soon canted over to such a sharp angle that it was impossible to walk upright through the corridors or on the deck. Once out on deck, people either went down behind rope ladders, or simply slid down the oily sides of the ship.

Passengers and crew together formed a human chain to help women, children and older people down the steep, slippery sides.

A child, two-year-old Maria Donner, slipped and fell into the sea. Instantly, her mother — a strong swimmer — dove over the side after her. Mrs. Donner grabbed the little girl and both were picked up by a lifeboat.

Mercifully, through the night, the ship's lights stayed on.

Across about a quarter-mile of water, the lights of the Ile de France blazed brightly on the scene. More ships kept arriving. More lifeboats piled back and forth between them and the stricken liner.

Each time they approached, the lifeboat crews were risking death. If the Andrea Doria, now at a 45-degree angle in the water, had risen under suddenly, the suction would have pulled down all lifeboats nearby.

Finally, at 4:38 a.m. the Ile de France radioed: "All passengers rescued. Preceding to New York full speed."

The master of the Andrea Doria, Capt. Piero Calamai, and a group of his senior officers stayed aboard the dying ship fighting to save her.

But toward dawn they left the ship, their task clearly hopeless. LINER SINKS

By 8:30 a.m., water was lapping over her starboard rail. One giant propeller was jutting out of the water. A few minutes after 10, she began to sink. A bright burst of foam and bubbles surged up as she went under and two lifeboats that had broken free of the davits popped up above the surface of the ocean.

The Andrea Doria was gone.

Under navy escort, the Stockholm, meanwhile, began the long limping journey into New York.

As first the Ile de France and later the Stockholm and other rescue ships docked, bringing survivors, high emotion swept the piers. People anxiously scanned the faces of those coming down the gangplanks. From time to time, someone would rush forward to embrace a relative or friend, both in tears. A woman, wailing, kept murmuring, "Give me my baby."

Nobody could say for certain how many passengers and crew might still be missing.

And nobody cleared one of the major mysteries—his radar. An Italian cadet, John Costa of Genoa, said, "About 12 minutes after the collision, I could still see a ship on the radar screen." Similarly, the Stockholm's Capt. Gunnar Nordenson said his radars were working both before and after the collision.

It did fair to become another mystery of the sea.

Montreal Man Says Doria Crew 'Cool, Capable'

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal man who survived the sinking of the Italian liner Andrea Doria last Thursday Sunday described the ship's officers and men as "cool and capable" in carrying out rescue operations.

Nicholas Massue, 53, an opera singer who was aboard the vessel with his mother, Mrs. Alexandrina Massue, 77, and his niece Jonte, 13, said the seamen and officers "behaved with heroism."

Other survivers have charged the Italian crew with "gross negligence," and with leaving the passengers to "shift for themselves."

But Mr. Massue said: "My mother and I should we travel aboard again, will travel on the Italian Line with every confidence."

Mrs. Massue, his mother and niece arrived here wearing clothes borrowed from passengers on the Ile de France on which they were taken to safety.

RAW LITTLE OF CREW

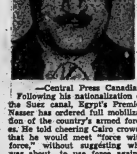
Another Montreal survivor, Dr. Harvey Hollinger, said only 75 to 100 of the ship's Italian crew were ever in evidence during the crisis after the collision.

"It is important to distinguish between cabin help, and the officers and sailors," he said. "I never saw any officers, and there were only a few cabin stewards and dining room help who stayed.

"Our waiter got to the Stockholm at 1.30. My wife and I made it by 4 a.m. I'm quite sure that only five Doria boats released about three passengers each."

He said he and his wife were in one of the last boats to leave the Andrea Doria with passengers.

Resume Dragging For Three Bodies



COLLINGWOOD (CP)—Dragging operations were to resume this morning in Georgian Bay in the search for three bodies still missing after a sailing tragedy July 22. Strong northeast winds Sunday prevented boats from going out.

The body of Mrs. Glen Hyland, 36, of Toronto, was found Sunday floating near the shore at the Blue Mountain camp for crippled children, west of Collingwood.

The body of Mrs. Hyland was the fifth recovered since four people set out in each of two sailboats. Bodies recovered earlier were those of Mrs. John Borland, Ralph Gorsline, Adam Smith and Harold Sanderson Jr., all of Collingwood.

Still missing are John Borland, Glen Hyland and Harry Jones.

NASSER SPARKS NEW CRISIS IN SEIZING SUEZ

—Central Press Canadian.

Following his nationalization of the Suez canal, Egypt's Premier Nasser has ordered full mobilization of the country's armed forces. He told cheering Cairo crowds that he would meet "force with force," without suggesting who was about to use force against Egypt.

Vitally concerned with the nationalization of the Suez, British Prime Minister Eden has frozen Egypt's sterling balance and Suez company funds in England. Most of Britain's vital oil comes by tanker through the Suez.

TEST CASE OF EXPROPRIATION

Residents of the St. Lawrence shoreline farmland that is being expropriated by hydro to make way for the power development are awaiting with the interest the appeal of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hanz of Iroquois, Ont., against the $30,000 price set on their property. They are appealing to the Ontario Municipal Board to have the price raised to $208,000. If their appeal succeeds, others in the area will undoubtedly start legal proceedings to increase their expropriation figures.

Thieves Take $645,293 From Fight Promoter

TORONTO. (CP) — Nearly $650,000 in non-negotiable stocks and cash were stolen during the weekend from the downtown office of Dave Rush, Toronto mining and fight promoter.

Police said they believe the thieves, who broke into the 14th floor offices of Daytona Investment Ltd., share of receipts of last Wednesday's heavyweight fight between Archie Moore and James J. Parker. Rush co-promoted the fight.

Financial transactions of the bout were handled by cheque. None of the funds was included in the loot.

Stolen were 491,000 shares of Desmond Mining, valued at 32 cents each, and $1,000 of Trans-Vision Television, valued at $5 a share. Also taken was $3,072 in cash. The total haul involved stocks and money valued at $645,-293.

Douglas Taylor, secretary of Daytona Investments, said officials could trace ownership of the stocks within seconds should anyone try to sell them.

Admits Beating Child to Death

LAKE ORION, Mich. (AP)—A 23-year-old furnace cleaner Saturday admitted beating a neighbor's three-year-old child to death with a jack handle when she resisted his attempts to molest her, police reported.

The nearly nude body of brown-haired Martha Little, who disappeared from a sand box at her home Friday night, was found off a country road 10 miles from her home. The back of her skull had been crushed.

Held for investigation on an open charge is Howard W. Moore, who married last month and moved next door to the Little family just a few days ago.

Police quoted him as saying he got the little girl in his car and drove to a secluded area about 45 miles north of Detroit. An autopsy revealed the child had been sexually attacked. She died from a severe skull fracture and brain hemorrhage.

Moore was arrested at a service station.

DOOR BOOKEY

Many important wrinkles, as far as Belleville is concerned, should be ironed out in Kingston tonight when the newly-stationed Eastern Ontario senior "A" hockey league meets for its inaugural confab under the new colors.

OHA vice-president Lorne Cook will chairman the meeting scheduled for the Community Centre at eight o'clock or thereabouts and delegates from the four member teams will be on hand to work out arrangements for the first season under the aegis of senior "A".

And there may be a few items that won't come out into open discussion. It is strongly rumored that all four squads have been player-shopping with strong invasions in western Ontario.

Whitby's Wren Blair makes no bones about the fact he has signed Stan Gagnon as playing-coach, also Harry Binkley, veteran and high-scoring defenseman of last year's senior "B" champions and one "Ted" O'Connor, older brother of Tommy who also played with the Dunlops last year.

"Ted", according to a Whitby publicity blurb, has a professional background and played for the Windsor Bulldogs last season. It seems he will have to get his release from the Bulldogs before donning a Dunlop sweater.

Kingston "Limestoners" management, who are dropping several of last years' Goodyear veterans in favor of, what they say, are junior "A" players over the age limit, jump, are reported to have been doing some extensive scouting and whisked on the so-called fertile hockey plains of western Ontario. And according to a television report made the other night, have contacted a number of National Hockey League clubs with regard to next-season reinforcements.

You can bet your grangeppy's store teeth, too, that optimistic Ray Harron, boss-man of the Cornwall Colts, is not letting any grass grow under his feet. The sponsor of the move to senior "A" status, Huron will no doubt scour the prolific Ottawa Valley district for ice-lane talent and should come up with some sound prospects.

Belleville, according to team manager Dreny Denyes, has acquired the services of an out-of-town hockey executive to secure players for his new senior "A" entry. No word has been received from the Belleville management as yet regarding the status of the junior group and the strong probability of a fifth or sixth, the sooner the interlocking business is forgotten, the better.

The matter of this schedule was taken up at a meeting of the senior "A" council a few weeks ago but was tabled after the western group unanimously declared itself in favor of such a schedule with the NOHA southern league. The OHA president will give the eastern group a definite answer by August 15. Vern Dreny Cook may have something on that subject at tonight's confab.

It seems to this department the Eastern League will have enough worries financing player and other operational expenses to say nothing of budget for extra travelling outlay to the not so wild nor woolly west.

On the other hand we do not believe the western teams would travel down this way for the subsidy reportedly offered them. If the five-team loop materializes in the east it will mean the four-club set-up in the vicinity of the Montreal Junior Canadiens playing a series of exhibition games during the schedule season, the league would be well advised to forgo or consider the proposed interlocking schedule with the western Senior "A" league. Incidentally, Sam Pollock, Junior Canadien mentor, will attend tonight's meeting.

Speaking of operational expenses with special regard to player salaries, Whitby's Blair has come forth with the statement that the Eastern League is setting a rigid salary minimum, with "no intention of paying the high rates of the western Ontario teams."

Blair writes that Whitby has set an even lower minimum and has severed by refusing to increase an offer made to an established senior "A" player. Any player, he says, who wants more money than offered, will not play for Whitby.

As was said before, tonight's confab should iron out a lot of wrinkles which should throw some light on the senior "A" situation.

Muscular Moose Big Factor In Bombers' Drive for Flag; Braves, Brooks Start Big Duel

By Skipper Patrick
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Skowron started looking the left field fence straight in the eye with the result he's now the big bat in the New York Yankees' drive for a fifth consecutive American League pennant.

The 25-year-old Skowron, affectionately known as the Moose, rocketed his batting average Sunday to .333—fourth best in the league—as the Yanks completed a sweep of their three-game series with Kansas City's last place As, 5-3. Skowron whammed two home runs Sunday.

In the three games at Kansas City the muscular Moose bit safely in 10 of 17 official trips, had five homers and batted in an even dozen runs.

Cleveland picked up a half game on the Yanks and now trails by nine after shutting out Baltimore twice 3-0 and 4-0. Herb Score allowed just six hits in the first and Hank Aguirre, recently recalled from Indianapolis, gave seven innings of brilliant relief in his first performance by two young left-handers.

DROVE IN EIGHT RUNS

Larry Doby had himself a day in Chicago's double bonus over Boston 11-2 and 6-3. The White Sox center fielder drove in eight runs with a pair of homers and a two-run double. Walt Dropo matched Doby's five RBIs in the opener, backing up Billy Pierce's pitching. The talented lefty now has 12 victories, tops in the league, with 10 victories.

Detroit and Washington split a pair on two fine pitching efforts. The Nats took the nightcap 4-1 behind Camilo Pascual's four-hitter, after the Tigers' Billy Hoeft turned in a two-hit job in the opener. The first game was Detroit's fourth shutout in 114 games (98 this year) and Al Kaline's 21st home after Bob Kennedy crashed a homer in the ninth.

On Saturday, Detroit got another fine hurling performance but lost. Righthander Paul Foytack limited the batters to equal the major league strikeout record of 19 for seven innings, but it didn't prevent Detroit from losing 5-3 to Washington Senators.

Skowron, a right handed hitting first baseman, got five of his first seven homers this season over the right field target.

Pitcher Herb Score (and Casey Stengel) told me to square around a little so I could pull the ball," Moose explained. "I've followed the good doctor's orders, moved my right foot back a little, and stretched out a bit. It's made the left field shorter for me."

All five of Skowron's homers in the last three games here have been to the left of the center field pole.

Both of Skowron's hits in four at-bats Sunday were home runs. He struck a solo homer in the fourth over the left center field fence and slammed a three-run round-tripper some 430 feet to almost dead center with Yogi Berra on base in the fifth.

Muscular Moose Big Factor In Bombers' Drive for Flag; Braves, Brooks Start Big Duel

By Jack Hand
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now comes Cincinnati's chance to close ground in the National League race while Milwaukee and Brooklyn slash away at close range in a four-game cutthroat series.

The Redlegs edged within 3½ games of the pace Sunday by polishing off the fading Pittsburgh Pirates in both games of a doubleheader. Milwaukee continued to find trouble in Philadelphia Brooklyn had to settle for a split with Chicago, breaking the Dodgers' eight-game winning streak.

After Cincinnati dropped three straight to Brooklyn, there were hints that the Redlegs were cracking. Instead they swept four from the Pirates and moved back into contention.

LAWRENCE IS VICTOR

Brooks Lawrence threw a four-hitter at the Pirates for Cincy's opening victory, 8-1 and Smoky Burgess came through with a ninth-inning double that broke a tie for a 3-2 edge in the second.

Curt Simmons was in charge of the Braves 5-2 with Roy Smalley's two-run triple breaking open a 1-0 game in the eighth inning. It was the fourth straight for Simmons and the Phils' ninth victory in 12 games with Milwaukee, the best record of any club in the league against the Braves.

Pee Wee Reese ran the Dodgers' winning streak to eight with an eighth-inning homer for Don Newcombe's 10th big league win. It but the Cubs bounced back with a 4-0 decision for a split as Bob Rush won his 100th game.

St. Louis sank the Giants deeper into the cellar with a 7-2 decision in 10 innings on Stan Musial's single, following singles by Ray Blasingame and Al Dark. Among the 12 Cardinal hits were three singles and a double by Dark, ex-Giant shortstop.

NOW EQUITY

An oddity of Cincinnati's double sweep at Pittsburgh was the fact that Burgess' double was the only extra base hit by this fence-busting crew. Buster Freeman was the winner in relief of Joe Croat as the Reds staged another ninth-inning spurt in the second game.

Milwaukee overcame a 2-0 deficit to tie the score in the fifth on Andy Pafko's 20th major league home run, only to see the Phils chase Warren Spahn in the eighth. Smalley's triple drove in two and he also came home on Richie Ashburn's single.

Willie Mays of New York and Bobby Del Greco of Cincinnati homered in the Polo Grounds before Musial's single broke it up in the tenth. It was Musial's first hit in 13 trips.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Bedard, Perry Rated Tops in Tennis Tourney

VANCOUVER—(CP)— Former United States Davis Cup player Bob Perry and Canada's top tennis ace, Bob Bedard of Montbrooke, Que., share top billing today at the start of the week-long Canadian lawn tennis championships.

Perry, 27, of Los Angeles, played against the Canadian Davis Cup team in 1952 and is fresh from a victory over another Los Angeles product, 30-year-old Noel Brown, in the singles of the Washington state championships Sunday.

Officials at the Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, host for the 57th annual championships, gave Perry top seed in the men's singles and ranked Bedard, who lost two singles matches to U.S. Davis Cuppers during the North American zone semi-finals right behind.

Third seeding went to Brown, a former professional recently reinstituted into amateur ranks, while Don Fontana of Toronto, Bedard's teammate on the Canadian Davis Cup team, got fourth seed.

Nineteen-year-old Stat Baumgardner of Los Angeles was seeded fifth, veteran Henri Rochon of Montreal sixth and Glen Bassett of Los Angeles seventh. Eighth and last seed was Ronald Finlay of Vancouver who won Canada's only match in the Davis Cup tie during the weekend.

Today's play is concentrated mainly on weeding down the formidable list — 7 entries—of men trying for the singles crown captured last year by Bedard at Quebec.

Barring rain, play should wind up Saturday with finals in most of the 11 separate events.

London Majors Extend Lead

By The Canadian Press

London Majors snapped a six-game losing streak Saturday night by defeating the last-place Ottawa Athletics in two games to move 1½ games ahead of the second place Brantford Red Sox in the Senior International Baseball League.

Majors defeated Oshawa Motors 11-8 by completing the ninth inning of a game suspended by curfew July 7, then took the regular nine-inning contest 7-6.

Facing just four batters in the ninth inning o the suspended contest, London ace Dutch Perking preserved Roy McKay's 8th victory of the season by handcuffing Motors with one hit.

St. Catharines Saints swept both ends of a Niagara District Senior doubleheader from Fort Erie Hornets to move closer to the three top teams in the league.

American Davis Cuppers Take Our Side Four Games to One

By AL MAKKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VICTORIA (CP) — An untried Vancouver tennis player Sunday scored Canada's only victory in the North American Davis Cup semi-finals and prevented a United States march to the zone championship in five straight matches.

Paul Wilday, making his first appearance of the series, rallied after a gruelling 36-game defeat in the opening set of the final singles contest to take the next three straight and defeat Barry Mackay of Ohio 14-16, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Earlier in the day the U.S. team had threatened to make a walkaway of the best-of-five series when Ham Richardson trimmed Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., 6-4, 9-4, 13-11.

Richardson's was the fourth straight victory for the American side, which clinched the tie Saturday by downing the doubles. Richardson and Herbie Flam had all but crushed Canada's hopes Friday when they defeated Don Fontana and Bedard, respectively, in opening singles contests.

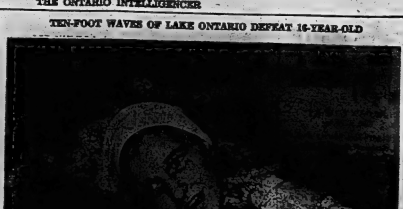
Wilday's only Canadian win of the tournament was watched by a scant 150 people at the Victoria ada. Lawn Tennis and Badminton club courts. About half the original crowd of 1,000 left before the first set, which lasted an hour and 30 minutes. The next fired out as playing time approached the three hour mark.

Richardson, a Rhodes scholar from New Jersey, was pushed to the limit in preserving his straight sets victory over Bedard in Sunday's opening match. He nearly lost the third set when Bedard the retriever, switched several times to an aggressive game.

The Wilday-Mackay opener was rarely exciting until the 33rd game when the youngster from Ohio broke Wilday's serve. Mackay aced Wilday twice running in the next game but lost his serve.

The final set, with play fairly even, was quiet until the eighth game when Wilday aced Mackay for 40-love, missed a chance at a love victory in the 10th game, Mackay, who double-faulted in the 11th but won his serve, double-faulted again in the 12th and lost his serve and game to Wilday.

Wilday leaned hard on his serves in the final games and fought Mackay through deuce four times before he put the U.S. youngster to smash a return out of bounds and give the match to Canada.



Florida Star Wins Women's Open Tourney

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Petite Mrs. Kathy Cornelius of Lake Worth, Fla., Sunday defeated amateur Barbara McIntyre by seven strokes in a scatter-shot playoff to win the women's national open golf championship.

Mrs. Cornelius, deadly around the greens, fired a one-over-par 73 over the Northland Country Club's so-called "tricky" course while the 21-year-old Miss McIntyre, a pretty college coed from Toledo, Ohio, saw her fine golf game go to streaks in almost every department for a wild score of 80.

It was a heart breaking comedown from her spectacular finishing surge Saturday when she shot a three-under-par 71 to tie Mrs. Cornelius with a 72-hole score of 302.

In Sunday's pressurized 18-hole playoff, the brown-eyed Ohio brunette constantly over-hit the 6,015 greens, pitched poorly and failed to make important putts.

TEN-FOOT WAVES OF LAKE ONTARIO DEFEAT 16-YEAR-OLD

Believing that Shirley Campbell had set out to swim across Lake Ontario from Niagara-on-the-Lake, Doreen George plunged into 10 foot waves and managed to progress 10 miles before being taken out. Doreen, a 16-year-old Toronto schoolgirl, would have been the youngest person to conquer the lake, had she been successful. Her father and coach say she will try again.

Palmer Takes Eastern Title Kesselring Ties for Third

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., shot a final round par 72 to finish with a 72-hole total of 277 and win the $14,000 eastern golf open tournament by two strokes from Dow Finsterwald who faltered in the stretch.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., came on strong to finish in a tie for third place with Ray Rosburg of San Francisco with a total of 281. The Canadian and the Californian each earned $1,400.

Palmer won the top prize of $3,800 and Finsterwald, of Bedford Heights, Ohio, took $2,120 second money for his total of 279.

Kesselring was under par for all his four rounds with 69, 71, 69 and 70 Sunday.

Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif. and Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., shared fifth place at 282, the latter pulling up with a final 68.

WINS SECOND

Palmer, in winning his second tournament on the U.S. circuit this year, was 11 strokes under par for the 72 holes.

Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., overslept and was five minutes late to the first tee Sunday. It cost him $583.33.

Mayer was penalized two strokes and went out last. He shot a 68, four under par, but post a $70 because of the penalty. It gave him a total of 282 for which he won $333.33.

A 281 would have netted Mayer the 1953 champion, $1,383.33.

Mayer said he overslept because he had been bothered by cold and took a sedative to help him sleep.

BOATING STUDY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives merchant marine commission will conduct hearings on pleasure boat safety Aug. 6 in Detroit and Aug. 9-10 in Chicago, Announcing the plans, chairman Herbert Bonner, D., N.C.) said the committee is seeking the views of boating groups and local officials responsible for pleasure boat regulation.

Miami Marlins, with 28 victories in 25 games since July 4, have moved to the top of the International League by one percentage point over Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Marlins displaced Toronto as the leader in the opening game of a Sunday, day-night doubleheader, when they defeated the fading Montreal Royals 5-4 in 13 innings while the Leafs were bowing to the Sugar Kings 3-1 at Havana.

But with a chance to widen the gap, the Marlins dropped the second game 5-4, Rochester also lost a chance to move into the lead when Richmond Virginians defeated the Red Wings 7-3.

Columbus Jets swept both ends of twin bill from Buffalo, 9-2 and 1-0, for their first doubleheader victory since June 10.

Satchel Paige pitched six scoreless innings in relief for Miami in the first game with the Royals and touched off the rally which led to the winning run in the 13th. The victory was No. 8 for Paige in 11 decisions. A single by Ed Bouchee drove in the winning run.

Bob Bowman hit his 18th homer for Miami but a four-run Montreal attack in the seventh was too much for the Marlins to overcome in the nightcap.

Ultus Alvarez, Havana first baseman, smashed a two-run ninth inning homer to upend Toronto. After scoreless innings, the Maple Leafs tallied in the eighth on Sam Calvetro's single, a forceout, a walk and Archie Wilson's stirring single.

Miles Jordan picked on his favorite ball guys, the Red Wings, in chalking up his sixth victory for Richmond. Three of his wins have been at the expense of Rochester. In two years he has beaten the Red Wings six times. Len Johnston, who went three for four, drove in three of Richmond's runs.

Southpaw Carl Duser, sidelined for 43 days with a sore shoulder, checked the Bisons with eight hits as the Jets won the first game.

In the nightcap, right-hander Glenn Cox got the decision over Karl Drews when Johnny Lipon tripled in the third and scored on a sacrifice fly. Russ Sullivan hit two homers and drove in seven of Columbus' runs in the first game.

Win Berths On Golf Team

MONTREAL (CP) — Veteran Don Doe of Granby, Que., and Eli Godel of Montreal Sunday won berths on Quebec's Willingdon Cup golf team but a playoff Wednesday among six players will be necessary to determine the fourth member of the team.

Joe Leblanc of Montreal automatically qualified for the team a week ago by winning the Quebec amateur title.

Doe, for many years one of the province's leading amateur players, carded a 76 and a 73 over the par-70 Mount Bruno courses Sunday to go with his 72 at Beaconsfield Saturday for a total of 221. Godel rallied from an 80 Saturday for rounds of 72 and 74 Sunday and a 54-hole total of 226.

Tied at 229 were Brian McGuigan of Montreal, Bob Spence of Montreal, Neville Best of Montreal, Tom Morrison of Montreal, D'Arcy Boucher of Ottawa, and Mike Darling of Montreal.

Play Better Golf

by Tommy Armour

About eight out of ten shots played out of the rough by the average golfer are unnecessarily because he clutches his club too rigidly. He goes into the rough sore and desperate. He forgets to study what's the best direction out of trouble and what will make the following shot easier. He also fails to think deliberately in selecting the club. He doesn't realize that if the ground is rather tight and not too long he'll be better off using a 4 wood to push the grass aside, instead of an iron that will cut the grass and cushion it between the club face and the ball. When in the rough take it easy, and remember the important thing is to get in the clear.

CANDLE PLANT BURNS

ANTWERP, Belgium (Reuters)) — Six firemen were injured and a whole street was evacuated here Sunday night when fire broke out in a candle factory, spread to an adjoining warehouse and licked around seven neighboring houses.

Eskimos Cut Ten Players

EDMONTON (CP)—Ten players including two Americans, were cut Sunday by coach Frank Ivy as he trimmed the Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos to about 40 players for their coming three-game exhibition football schedule.

The players were released within 24 hours of the team's green and gold intrasquad game which gave Ivy a chance to see his players in all-out action.

Ivy cut backs Tom Morris from Mississippi State and end Wayne Morris from Oregon.

Canadian players released included guard Earl Ford and centre Jim Lucas.

Grant came from Hamilton high school ranks and Ford from the University of Toronto.

'Phony' Baseball Scout Said Headed This Way

Minor baseball players and parents of the city and district are warned to be on the lookout for a man posing as a scout for the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club.

The man who is said to be headed this way, was last noted in Cobourg, where it is alleged he "got away" with two or three baseball suits, and left an unpaid hotel bill.

He is claimed to have contacted two or three minor players in Cobourg and promised to take them with him to Toronto.

The Toronto Leafs' management has stated it has no such man on its scout roster. He goes under the name of "Kent Vanstuen".

Scots in Jaguar Win Grand Prix Racing Classic

LE MANS, France (AP)—The Scottish team of Ron Flockhart and Ninian Sanderson streaked to victory today after 24 hours of gruelling driving in a renewal of the Le Mans Grand Prix endurance race marked by accidents, foul weather and one death.

Driving a private Jaguar, Flockhart and Sanderson covered 2,321 miles, an average speed of about 100.3 miles an hour, to win by minutes from an Aston-Martin driven by ace British racers Peter Collins and Stirling Moss.

Rain fell through most of the race, making the 8.38-mile asphalt circuit slick and trickier than usual.

Flockhart's and Sanderson's victory enabled a Jaguar to win the famous sports car test for the second straight year, although the factory-entered Jaguars fared poorly. During the race, the winners set a lap record of 113.1 m.p.h.

Although officials breathed a sigh of relief when there was no repetition of last year's disaster when 80 persons—many of them spectators—were killed, the race brought death to French driver Louis Rosy and caused several minor injuries.

Rosy piled his Pachard into a tree.

'Stork' Wins Yacht Race

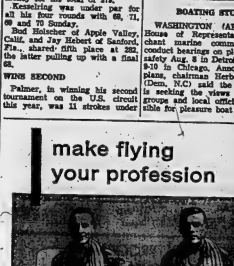
TORONTO (CP)—Stork, a sixmetre yacht skippered by Gerry Castle of Rochester, N.Y., outfought two other craft-Gallant and winds Sunday to win the George Cup.

The Stork entered the third and final race tied with Gallant from the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of here. Ilbis, also from the RCYC, was only a point behind.

The judges sent the yachts around the alternate triangular course after the five-boat fleet battled shifting winds and a reserve course on the first lap.

Final point tabulations gave Castle and his crew of Peter Tierny, Mike Doyle, John Morse and Ralph Roberts, 13 points. Gallant, skippered by Bob Morrison, had 12 points and Ilbis, with defending champion Denbeigh Taylor at the helm, finished with 10.

In taking the cup to Rochester, Castle squeezed out a one-second victory over Gallant to capture the series. The first four boats crossed the finish line 2 minutes apart. Morrison placed second in all three races, which started Friday.



The George Cup, a challenge trophy, is for Lake Ontario competition between United States and Canadian boats. It has been in competition since 1902.

HOW TO BUY A GOOD USED CAR

MORE ABOUT BRAKES!

A FIVE MINUTE ROAD TEST

Here is a very simple road test that will tell you a lot about the condition of the brake linings and their adjustment.

On a level stretch of road bring the car to a fairly quick stop from a speed of 25 miles an hour. If the car doesn't "pull" to right or left the adjustment is even and if there is no squealing or grating, the linings are likely in good condition and free from grease or dirt.

Even if a car fails in some tests, it can still be a good buy for the price asked. Every car at Pinder's is honestly appraised and the price is set according to its condition. That is why we can give you the BEST POSSIBLE CAR for the money you want to spend.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, July 31, 1956

March 21 to April 22 (Aries) — You can do much with this day that will enhance your whole week's efforts if you start early and keep up the good work all day. Mars in fine position, encourages vigor and good direction.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Venus' excellent configuration suggests getting work and difficult details accomplished as quickly as possible. You should feel highly stimulated, so do something about making real progress.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't get off "on the wrong foot" today and now set yourself back several days in accomplishment. Avoid hyper-sensitiveness and dissension. Know when to be silent.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You may meet stubborn opposition and superassertiveness in those about you, but everyone encounters these at times. How you react and act are what counts.

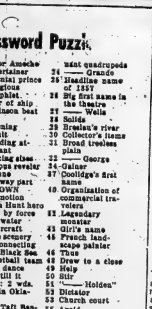
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Your Sun, going from negative to top-notch influence, makes this a mixed sort of day. It needs consistency. Incentive, an unruffled disposition.

August 24 to September 22 — (Virgo) — Read Gemini; your day's similar. The wrong start causes delays and, in personal relationships, usually means unpleasantness with consequent apologies and amends. Conscience and humor save day.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Venus advises you practical, well-balanced and intuitive persons to bring today's benefits and advantages into the fullest corners to brighten others.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — How many times have you said: "I wish I had done that differently, or not done it at all!" Under today's good rays do what you know you should — and vice versa.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Mixed influences prevail now. You can make the day a dandy, or stay on the sidelines watching others get ahead. So it's really up to you. Whatever you do, do well.



December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — This day will be largely what you make it. You have the key; unlock some added vigor, and a new twist to routine; be friendly.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Go seek, acquire — as most of us must today. No one is exempt from a certain amount of manoeuvering, reviewing, revising plans. Don't overtax yourself. But persevere steadily.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Without overriding others or misusing time, go after the things that you feel you must do to achieve in your field. You can go forward — diplomatically.

You born today, of the strong, magnetic Sign Leo, are independent, generous, impulsive. You can gain ground and make new friends in a "tight" spot, but can get yourself into trouble, too, by silly discussions, aggravating others. You may like luxury and comforts too much and neglect or defy fooling. At other times, are a whirlwind of activity and progress; can make remarkable strides, even in a new occupation or task. Aim at smoothness of activity and don't become discouraged when things don't go right.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was sitting at her desk writing something down, and she said to pop, My, William, where would the world be if it wasn't for organization and the cooperation of working together?

I'd like to know, too, pop said, and ma said, This afternoon I was peacefully ironing to the sound of The Loves of Lorrs Lang on the radio, and suddenly with no warning to its highest depths and I thought the world was coming to an end, but it was only a screeming roaring annouser declaring a commercial at the top of his lung powers.

That's one of the blights of so-called civilization I admit but what can anybody do about it, except the sponsors? pop said, and ma said, I can do something about it, and I did. I suddenly got my idea for cooperative action. Practically every woman I know is listening to the Loves of Lorrs Lang, so I rushed to the fone and called up Maud Hews and Martha Tibbits and Judy Ireson and made them promise to swoop to their radios and lower the volume to bearable proportions the moment the commercial started again. Well my dear, I got just the right time exactly in time to catch the commercial in full blast, and as I pounced on the volume dial I felt a wonderful sensation of being one of an army of 4, all rushing faithwards in batlie array at the sound of the foe within, she said.

My dear, that was a master stroke, pop said. If 4 women can rally to the call, why can't 4 thousand, or even 4 million? he said, and ma said, Why what I think, William.

And she wrote down the names of more ladies to call up about it.

LAND ON HIGHWAY

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Two Pontiac, Mich., men landed their crippled private plane at 100 miles an hour down a crowded highway outside Holland Sunday, with motorists leaving the road before them. Miraculously there was no collision. Ben Mercado, owner and pilot, and his passenger, Harold Lutman said they found their controls damaged.

ACCUSE SOVIETS NOW A FLYING BULB

VIENNA (AP)—An organization of former Austrian war prisoners accused Soviet authority Sunday of having killed 1,300 slave laborers and wounded 3,000 others in smashing two revolts in Russian Force radar and interceptors could find nothing. Sgt. Willard Irwin of the Cadillac police said one of the tourists said the object resembled "a light bulb with clear glass or like sunlight off the windshield o fa car." He said it was 3,000 or 4,000 feet high.

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP)—A Brilliant white light was reported in the sky near this Michigan resort town early Saturday by tourists and police. United States Air camps last year. The accusation was made in a letter sent to the Soviet embassy in Vienna by the chairman of the League of Former Austria War Prisoners, Karl Bleyer, and his deputy, Rudolf Neumann.

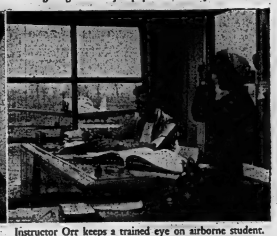
Canada's Future in the Air

Only woman in Canada to own and operate a flying school, Marion Orr of Maple, Ontario, passes on much of her zest for flying to the young men and women who come to her for training.

Sunday picnic flights, overnight hops and competitions keep enthusiasm at a high pitch. There are over 8,350 civilian pilots in Canada; more than 250 of them are women.

National Film Board Photos by Chris Lund.

Eager young Canadians are quick to realize their country's future is in the air. Strategically situated on the air routes of the world, Canada's role in the forefront of commercial aviation is assured. In the last decade the number of aircraft licenced in Canada rose from 900 to over 3,200; in one year the amount of air cargo carried by Canadian planes has doubled. New aviation horizons have been opened by the recent trend towards aerial surveying; Canada now leads the world in the development of airborne geological survey equipment techniques.



In her office at Aero Activities, Marion Orr plots a cross-country flight. Each flight is planned in minute detail before take-off. Accidents and mishaps are kept to a minimum by strict adherence to principles of safety in the air.

Well-paid jobs in civil aviation await commercial pilots. In 1955 Canada's 45 flying schools and 37 flying clubs trained 183 pilots to commercial standards, but the supply is still inadequate to meet the incessant demands of the air age.

A study of aircraft engines and instruments, as well as courses in navigation, meteorology and air regulations round out the training received. A competent mechanic, Marion Orr does much of the servicing required by her planes, Chipmunks and Aeronica Champs.

Instructor Orr keeps a trained eye on airborne student. From 10 to 12 hours dual flying is required before pupil is ready to solo. After 30 flying hours student may qualify for private pilot's licence and $100 grant from Canadian government.

Order Troopships From East To Sail Around Africa

Told To Avoid Suez Canal, Ships Go 4,000 Extra Miles

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt has made preparations "to meet any action" that the United States, Britain and France may take at their current London conference, an Egyptian foreign ministry spokesman said today.

He told reporters that, in the meantime, there is no change in running of the canal on the payment of transit dues. The Egyptian finance ministry said Monday dues for ships using the canal would be paid as in the past in London, Paris and Cairo.

Thunder and lightning were thrown into confusion in Port Said today, however, following the announcement Monday of the British Barclay Bank that it had received instructions from Egyptian authorities to halt all dealings in foreign currencies.

Ronald Batchelor, Reuters correspondent in Port Said, said it was learned authoritatively that the new nationalized Suez Canal authority was shipping currencies outside the sterling area to pay their canal dues in American dollars or Swiss francs and, if possible, direct to Cairo.

Other banks in Port Said could not confirm the Barclay Bank's instructions but if the foreign currency block is confirmed, settlement for goods arriving in Egypt could be made and the flow of goods into Egypt would be cut off from almost every country in the world.

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has ordered four troopships sailing to and from the Far East to avoid the Suez Canal by steaming the extra 4,000 miles around the Cape of Good Hope in southern Africa.

This was officially disclosed today as the West's Big Three prepared to wind up their Suez crisis talks by announcing proposals for a new international waterway under a new international control following Egypt's seizure of it.

The Big Three are expected to condemn Egypt's seizure of the canal.

Informed sources said today's meeting of the British and French foreign ministers and United States state department officials would complete plans for calling the world's leading shipping nations to a conference.

TOOK OVER LAST WEEK

Such a meeting would discuss a new international authority to run the 100-mile canal instead of the Egyptian authority which took over last week.

The major problem was whether Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser would go along with such a proposal. Another was what part the Russians would demand in any control plan.

Nasser kicked up an international storm Thursday when he announced Egypt had nationalized the key waterway, operated by a French-British company under a concession which had until 1968 to run. Britain applauded the Egyptian action.

FIND NO GROUNDS

Western experts continued to thumb their lawbooks, but so far could come up with no grounds for a legal challenge of the nationalization decree. Nasser said he would pay off the stockholders in the canal company at the market rate on Thursday. The London stock exchange is the biggest bolder, with 44 per cent of the shares.

Britain already have held two days of emergency talks. Prime Minister Eden said their sessions should wind up by Thursday at the latest. Pineau made an overnight trip to Paris to confer with members of the French cabinet.

Despite reports of some disagreement in the London talks, the Big Three representatives appeared to be agreed in principle that international supervision for the canal was inevitably the answer.

Informants said one probable point of conflict was a French suggestion that any control body be set up under the United Nations. That would bring in the threat of the Soviet Union into the picture.

AGAINST RUSSIANS

Britain and the United States were said to be seeking ways to keep the Russians out of the writ. To this, it was pointed out that Soviet ships represent less than one per cent of the traffic passing through the canal.

Nasser's radio reiterated the Russian view that Nasser was completely within his rights in nationalizing the canal.

"It a similar nationalization were carried out in Britain and this was disputed by some other power," a broadcast said, "the U.S.S.R. would of course side with Britain, for in that case right would be on Britain's side."

Khrushchev Says Nasser Within Rights

LONDON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, said that Egypt's right to nationalize the Suez Canal.

The Moscow Radio broadcast a speech by Khrushchev before a rally of builders of workers in the Soviet capital in support of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's decision to take over the 103-mile long waterway.

He said Britain and France have received the nationalization "with too much excitement."

"Unwise voices are even heard there saying for the application of some unspecified means of oppression, even of military operations," he said.

"I think that the common sense, experience, political foresight of the statesmen of Britain and France will allow them to find the correct comprehension of this historic act and make the proper deductions from it."

Khrushchev said in the Russian view "nothing illegal has in fact occurred here."

Canal Seizure Developments

DULLES TO LONDON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is sending Secretary Dulles to London to confer with British and France about Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

Senator radio reiterated the Russian view that Nasser was completely within his rights in nationalizing the canal.

GIVES ASSURANCE

CAIRO (AP)—President Nasser said today freedom of navigation in the Suez Canal will be guaranteed and "both the convention of 1888 and assurances concerning it in the Anglo-Egyptian agreement of 1954 are and will be fully maintained."

Today's Chuckle

"No, I won't marry you," said the girl.

"Then I love $10," said the boy, "at best my roommate $10 you would."

"Then I will," the girl declared. "I didn't know you had $10."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A disturbance moving eastward across Northern Ontario is causing scattered thunderstorms northwest of Lake Superior. These are expected to move into the eastern part of Northern Ontario this evening. Clearing is expected with another disturbance centred in Iowa has spread into southwestern Ontario. Eastern and central Ontario remain clear, cool.

AUTOMATIC RIGHT TO APPEAL DENIED IN MURDER CASE

Garson Says Provinces Should Be Consulted

OTTAWA (CP)—The provinces must, and will, be consulted before the federal government makes any move to give convicted murderers the automatic right to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

That was the contention of Justice Minister Garson Monday as he rejected a move by Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops), supported by all three opposition parties, to give persons sentenced to death for capital murder the Supreme Court as of right.

The proposal was defeated by the Liberal majority 67 to 32 during Commons study of a series of amendments to the Supreme Court Act and the Criminal Code.

TO AMEND ACTS

The main amendments to the two acts, all embodied in one bill now before the Commons, are two:

1. Applications for leave to appeal in capital cases would be made to five judges of the Supreme Court instead of one as at present.

2. Applications for leave to appeal all civil cases and criminal cases other than those where the death penalty would be made before three judges of the Supreme Court as of right would be $10,000 in any case at $2,000.

4. Creation of the office of the deputy-registrar of the Supreme Court to help publish and edit court cases.

The bill received second reading —approval in principle — and Monday started clause by clause study.

Fulton said he will call a meeting one of the recommendations of the Canadian Bar Association committee on capital punishment, on a matter of principle that Parliament should be able to approve or reject without going to the provinces.

He said that if civil cases involving $10,000 or more could be appealed to the supreme court as of right, then capital cases should be. "Certainly the accused's right to life is worth much more than any amount of money, he said.

Justice Minister Garson said that the provinces, administrators of justice in the first instance, must be consulted because costs would be involved in giving condemned murderers automatic right to appeal to Canada's highest court.

Recall Sailors From Leaves

LONDON (AP) — Some Royal Navy warship crews on leave in English ports were reported recalled to duty as the build-up of force is ordered in the Suez crisis.

The Admiralty declined to confirm the report. But any admiralty spokesman, asked about several ships, declined to comment. Her Ocean at Devonport, said the ship's normal leaves are being ordered."

French talks developed between British and American naval authorities at Malta, the central Mediterranean base of British and allied forces. Rear-Admiral M. K. Dietrich, commander of mine forces of the U.S. Atlantic fleet, arrived there by plane for two days of conferences.

Girl's Skin Blistered in Sunlight, Death at 13 Ends Twilight Life

DETROIT (AP)—A girl who could only live at night — 13-year-old Diane Eaton—is dead.

She suffered from a rare disease, called congenital porphyria, lack of a vital protein in the blood that deprived her skin of normal pigments.

Diane was stricken at the age of seven months. Doctors discovered that little water blisters that broke out on her skin turned into flaws when exposed to sunlight.

An operation was performed to remove her spleen, which also plays a part in forming blood content. That and the use of drugs to control infection gave Diane almost a normal life.

She attended the fifth grade in school. For recreation her parents took her for auto rides—but only in the evening after the sun had gone down.

However, Diane's face and hands, because they were most exposed to light, were nearly always infected. Her bones became brittle and she suffered many fractures—in her legs alone.

The child, one of three in the family, died Friday. She was buried Monday.

Captain of Doria Watched Stockholm on Radar Screen

NEW YORK (AP)—The master of the luxurious Andrea Doria said he followed the Stockholm on the approaching Stockholm on his radar screen before the collision last Wednesday that sent the ship to the bottom of the Atlantic.

Capt. Piero Calamai was quoted as telling reporters that he watched the oncoming liner as the Doria slid through the dense fog off New England.

The report that the captain mentioned the Stockholm on his radar confirmed Monday by Guiseppe Musso, president of the Italian Line, owners of the 30,000-ton Doria.

The Italian Line listed two known dead, 18 presumed dead and 29 unaccounted for among the Doria's 1,706 passengers and crew. Many of the unaccounted for are believed to have failed to register in the confusion at the various piers where survivors were debarked.

Two Stockholm crew members also in the crash and 10 others are missing and presumed dead. The presumed dead total for both ships is 71.

Miss Nancy Leo, 23, a Miami, Fla., stewardess on the Doria, filed a $200,000 damage suit in federal court—$100,000 against the Swedish American Line and $100,000 against the Italian Line. She alleged the collision was the result of "negligence and recklessness."

Miss Leo, a passenger on the Doria, claimed she suffered a broken leg and internal injuries in the crash.

The captains of both liners have declined to state publicly and in detail the "hows" and "whys" of the disaster. They say they will not make such official pronouncements.

Meanwhile, two passengers from the Doria told of an orderly evacuation of passengers from the stricken ship. The two—Rev. Richard Wojcik and Rev. John Dolcanaure—also said the ship's officers gave instructions at intervals during abandonment of the Doria. Rev. Wojcik and Father Dolcanaure are both from Chicago.

A number of passengers have alleged that some Doria crew scrambled for the lifeboats first and that there was a lack of instructions from the officers in the confusion. Both the officers and crew have denied the accusations. Some other passengers praised the crew's work.

Red Chinese Invade Burma, Said Hunting Opium Remedy

By NOEL LAZARO

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Several hundred Chinese Communist troops today were reported to have crossed Burma's wild frontier and advanced up to 40 miles into Burmese territory.

Reports from the border area said the Reds crossed in small bands and occupied positions in a 200-mile area from Mong Yawn (not Herte), at the northern tip of the country, and Kengtung, 40 miles the Salween River south of the wartime Burma road to China.

Prime Minister U Nu Sun met with cabinet leaders and chiefs of the armed forces. The government was expected to lodge a strong protest with Peiping, with which it maintains friendly relations.

The executive committee of Ba Yin's party, the anti - Fascist People's Freedom League, was told there is a "threat to Burma's security."

Communist patrols have crossed the 1,000-mile, poorly defined border before but always have withdrawn after Burmese protests.

Burma customarily has refused to borrow on local border commanders. The latest crossings, however, appeared to be in considerably greater force than previous incursions. They also followed reports from Burmese officials in the area that Chinese army units along the border have been reinforced with regular troops in recent months.

Because of the increased Communist threat across the frontier, Burmese army troops now are being rushed to the area to replace or bolster the thinly strung border police.

Red China's embassy in Rangoon had no comment on the latest reports.

One report from the area quoted Red Chinese soldiers as saying they were searching for "what," say," a plant believed to be a powerful antidote against morphine and opium or alcohol poisoning.

Ban on Bingo Recommended By Senate-House Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—Virtually complete prohibition of lotteries in Canada and of participation in foreign lottery tickets was recommended by a Parliament study.

The final report of a joint Senate-Commons committee, which worked two years on the inquiry, recommended laws against all lottery activity with three specific exemptions;

1. Lotteries licensed by authorities in aid of charitable, religious and community purposes with value of prizes limited to about $5,000 in any one year; no money to be paid to promoters and a proper audit to be made of operations.

2. Raffles of goods only for non-commercial purposes not to exceed $50 in face value.

3. Prizes permitted up to a total of $10,000 in one year in connection with the sale of agricultural tickets to agricultural fairs.

The committee recommended new laws from which all loopholes and ambiguities would be removed and the application of new and present laws against lotteries could be enforced.

It interpreted the game of bingo as being a lottery and its proposed restriction would apply to bingo.

On bingo the report said:

"The committee has already noted that at least one important judicial decision has held that bingo is a game of chance and falls under the gaming section of the Criminal Code.

"Other decisions have held that bingo is a lottery. The committee considers that in its essence bingo is more accurately described as a lottery in which prizes are distributed by means of chance rather than as a game in which players put their skill and luck against each other.

"In addition, it appeared to the committee that in practice voluntary organizations regarded bingo as lotteries as alternative methods of raising funds for worthy purposes. The committee recommends that the law be clarified by making it clear that such similar games be subjected to the same restrictions and controls as apply to lotteries."

Laws prohibiting lotteries should apply equally to advertising and sponsorship contests involving an element of chance, the committee said. Those which test knowledge, draws, give-aways and similar devices used by commercial enterprises to attract attention should be exempted.

"The committee considers that the present definition of a lottery advertising contest is not beneficial to the community. These contests are purely commercial in their inspiration and confer no social benefits. They are a form of gambling instinct and, because they are so widespread, undoubtedly stimulate it.

The committee was impressed by evidence submitted in support of such commercial contests "distorts the community's sense of values, diverts attention from prices and quality of merchandise, and may result in serious financial loss."

No change was proposed in the present law permitting the operation of midways—at agricultural fairs.

The report said strong representations were received that the exemption of admission tickets and exhibition premises, upon which draws for prizes are based, "is essentially some exhibition tax in form of rain insurance" and to guarantee satisfactory crowds.

Peterborough Baby Drinks Lye

TORONTO (CP) — Marilyn Jenske, 22 months, today was reported in fair condition with throat burns suffered Monday when she swallowed lye at her home near Peterborough.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milford Smoke of Alderville Reserve on Rice Lake was moved to the Hospital for Sick Children after treatment at Cobourg.

Marilyn was playing on the rear seat of her father's car Sunday night when she apparently found the lye and drank it.

CANADA WANTS COASTAL WATERS LIMIT EXTENDED

General Acceptance 12-Mile Rule Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is trying to extend her territorial waters from the present three-mile limit to 12 miles offshore, Prime Minister St. Laurent has told the Commons.

But the Dominion is trying to get general international acceptance of this, he said Monday night. Canada does not want water to be considered a claim of sovereignty 12 miles to sea "because of the number of divisions it has for trawlers and other craft. "We do not want to start a war."

Mr. St. Laurent said that even if the 12-mile limit is generally accepted by the States, Canada will have to allow historic—fishing rights of certain countries within that limit.

He also indicated that when the subject comes before the UN General Assembly next fall, Canada will seek international acceptance of another principle—that the limits be measured outwards from a base line stretching from headland to headland, instead of from the coast.

WILL BE LONGEST

Today more government bills come before the House than it reaches the 140th sitting day of the session, longest since 1940, it was reported. This is expected to extend beyond Aug. 11.

The prime minister's statements about territorial waters were made during Commons consideration of the House studied a bill to amend the Canada Shipping Act.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) urged a declaration of Canada's territorial waters. The government was "just chasing a will-o-the-wisp to be waiting year after year for some kind of international agreement."

Mr. St. Laurent said Canada would not get very far with such a declaration. There is no recognition from others that they should respect those territorial limits."

MEMBER ASKS WHY

He made his comment about not wanting a war when George Nowlan (PC—Toronto Broadview) asked why Canada didn't simply declare where its territorial waters lie.

"We always have to be meek-mouthed in our attitude to Britain," Nowlan said in a querulous.

Mr. St. Laurent replied, "but we do not find that it would be of serious advantage to use the word 'meek' in the relations between us."

His government felt its present course "is the one that is most apt to get recognition without any conflict."

Mr. Green said some South American countries have declared their rights extend 200 miles offshore. Some international agreement on the 12-mile limit was not reached—and it was "very unlikely"—Canada would be back where it started.

In the question of war, Mr. Green said, "But isn't there a time when Canada can and should take a stand against these territorial waters to be 12 miles from the coastline established in such-and-such a way?"

UNDERGOES OPERATION

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) Prince Pierre of Monaco, father of Prince Rainier III, underwent a 2½ hour stomach ulcer operation here Monday. The prince's condition was described as good.

Ellen Fairclough Rises to Defend Working Mothers

OTTAWA (CP) — A woman member of the Commons Opposition said Monday that N. C. Schneider, Liberal member for Waterloo North, is "off his rocker."

That was the reaction of Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) to Mr. Schneider's complaint that too many mothers working in industry are deserting their children during working hours.

He said that is one cause for the record rise in juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Schneider suggested that a government bill, requiring that women be paid the same as men for the same work, should also stipulate that working mothers who have young children are properly cared for.

Labor Minister Gregg sidestepped.

"I am sure the lady members of the House are much more qualified to discuss it than I am," Mr. Gregg said.

Mrs. Fairclough, who has one son, commented: "He (Mr. Schneider) is off his rocker."

Infant Baby Scalded

TORONTO (CP)—Paulin Doherty, 14-month-old Peterborough infant admitted Monday to the Hospital for Sick Children in boy scalds, today was reported in fair condition.

One doctor said the scalds are the worst he has ever seen on a child's body.

An ambulance reaching speeds of up to 100 miles an hour transferred Paulin to Toronto from the Civic Hospital, Peterborough, where for three weeks she had been under treatment.

The infant was scalded when her four-year-old sister Debbie accidentally turned on the hot water tap in the bath.

Work Too Hard, 36 Georgia Convicts Break Legs With Sledge Hammers

BUFORD, Ga. (AP)—Thirty-six prisoners broke their own legs with 10-pound sledge hammers rather than endure "inhuman" working conditions at Rock Quarry state farm.

Jack Forrester, state director of corrections, said a prison doctor told him 28 white and seven Negro inmates shattered bones in their legs during an afternoon rest period at a rock quarry where they were working half a mile from the prison.

He said the men placed their legs on rocks and "started whacking away" with the sledge hammers normally used to crush quartz at the 34-acre quarry. There were no cries of pain, he said.

Guards watching the 189 prisoners in the fenced-in quarry were unarmed, as is the rule, and said they did not notice what happened until they ordered the men back to work.

Warden Robert Smith said the injured men told him after the incident that they felt their wheelbarrows were too heavily loaded and the sun was too hot. Temperatures were reported in the low 90s at the time.

Smith said that prisoners work from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. with half hour breaks in the morning and afternoon and a two hour lunch break at noon.

Shirley Campbell Over Half Way Across L. Ontario

Fergus Girl Swims 17½ Miles In First 9½ Hours In Water

This Story Is Difficult To Swallow

NIAGARA - on - the - LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Shirley Campbell today covered 17½ miles in the first 9½ hours of her second attempt to swim the 32-mile girth of Lake Ontario between here and Toronto.

The 20-year-old Fergus, Ont. secretary, who slipped into the water at 4:30 a.m., as reported stroking a steady 52 strokes a minute under almost ideal conditions. Skies were clear and water calm at a temperature of 69 degrees.

Shoulder pains which caused some discomfort during the early hours of her swim appeared to have vanished.

Last year the young athlete covered 29 miles before she was pulled out of the lake exhausted. Two persons have completed the lake swim, Marilyn Bell, then 18, stroked to the Toronto shore in 1954 and John Jaremy, a 38-year-old swimmer from Toronto, made it last week.

Shirley would have to reach Toronto before 10:36 p.m. to beat Marilyn's time of 20 hours, 56 minutes. Jaremy was 17 minutes slower.

TORADTA, Japan (AP)—Passersby found 53 year-old Goichi Kawakami lying in the street, doubled up with pain. At 4 o'clock hospital doctors decided his stomach was inflamed. They operated.

Inside they found: 1 piece of wire, 12 razor blades, one fountain pen, one toothbrush, one pencil, one pair of chopsticks, one knife from an umbrella, 21 nails and 41 other items of hardware—all. it appeared, swallowed during the past six months.

Kawakami explained:

"I was told at a festival that there would be a big prize if I ate hardware."

"The patient is doing fine," Kawakami's doctors reported.

Trains Collide Near Lakehead, Three Killed

HURONIAN Ont. (CP)—Three railway men were killed early today when their westbound freight train collided head-on with a heavily - loaded eastbound ore train near this northeastern Ontario hamlet.

Both freights were Canadian National Railways trains.

A CNR spokesman said the victims included:

D. J. Shaw, engineer, and D. G. Gray, locked engineer, both of Fort William, and Robert C. Sturrock, 36, fireman, of Port Arthur.

All were killed when the lead locomotive of the 66-car westbound freight.

The railway spokesman said the crew of the eastbound diesel-drawn train, 70 cars of iron ore bound for the Lakehead from Steep Rock Iron Mines in Manitoba, Ont., were shaken up but were not available. No one else was reported injured. Their names were not available.

The accident occurred about 5:30 a.m. EDT in sparsely-settled bush country reserved by the CNR's Lakehead - Cochrane line.

Four Children Burned to Death

JACQUET RIVER, N.B. (CP)— Four children suffocated in a fire that destroyed their home in the nearby lumbering village of Jacquet River today.

RCMP said the fire apparently started in the kitchen where has not been determined.

The entire family except Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly were in bed, it was learned. The couple and Veronica Donnelly, 12, Agnes Donnelly, 2, and Gerrard Guitard, 9, managed to make their way out of the 1½-story frame house.

The four victims were said to have been sleeping on the second floor.

The Guitard girl and boy are Mrs. Donnelly's children by a previous marriage.

Sea Cadets Back From Presqu'ile, 18 in Nova Scotia

Thirty sea cadets under the supervision of Sub Lieutenant S. W. Shandraw returned last Saturday from a week's training and recreation spent at Presqu'ile Beach. An interesting program of boating and general naval instruction was carried on each day and the boys benefited greatly from their outdoor activities. Mr. R. Longhurst, bandmaster of the Sea Cadet Corps, visited the camp and conducted a number of practice sessions for the Corps band.

An additional group of eighteen cadets holding Able Cadet rank left for Sydney, N.S., on Saturday; July 28, for the annual training camp period which extends to August 10th and is held at HMCS "Acadia". Arrangements for this trip have been carried out by Lieutenant K. Richards and Sub Lieutenant Art Taylor.

These two camps form an important part of the regular training routine which all Sea Cadets attached to RCSCC "Quinte" have the opportunity to enjoy each summer and fit the boys for further intensive training in the fall when discipline are resumed at the local barracks.

Large Floral Display Pays Honor to District 4-H Clubs

Thanks to the Fair Board and the Parks Board, the work of 4-H Clubs in the Belleville district is getting favorable publicity through a beautiful large floral display taking the shape of the 4-H Club symbol, at the entrance to the Fair grounds. The floral display, made up of over 5,000 separate plants, was prepared by Gordon Nicholson, parks superintendent and Mrs. Nicholson. Shown at the unique floral display are, four Belleville district 4-H clubbers Roger Redner, Prince Edward county, Julia Savage, Stirling; Carolyn Thompson, Corbyville, and Ron Heath of Stirling.

This is the second year which the 4-H floral display has appeared at the entrance of the Belleville fair grounds and was prepared in recognition of the work which club members do in connection with the fair. Last year a picture of the floral display appeared in many farm newspapers across Canada.

Road Block Assists Police In Arrest of 5 Kingston Youths

Thanks to the sharp eye of Police Constable Steele of the city police department who spotted the licence number of a car reportedly stolen in Kingston, five Kingston youths were apprehended early today following a road block set up by Provincial Police near Bayside.

P.C. Davis was patrolling his beat when he spotted the Kingston car. He notified his desk sergeant with result the police cruiser in charge of P.C. Years and Constables McNutt and Calnan set up the road block at Bayside.

Apprehended were Sidney Beggs and Kenneth Caron, both 18, Duane McLean and William Cota, 16, and a 15-year-old juvenile.

Foxboro fishermen proudly display their second big musky haul in two weeks. This one tipped the scales at 23 pounds, eight ounces, slightly larger than the first catch which weighed 19½ pounds. Beaming their right to left, young Michael Lambros, his daddy Andy Lambros and Clarence Jaynes.

Eastminster Pastor to Be Inducted

On Thursday evening, at eight o'clock an induction service will be held in Bridge Street United church when the Rev. Alexander McDowell will be inducted into the pastorate of Eastminster United church. The Rev. Harry M. Davis, pastor of Bridge Street United church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. George Mindelly of King Street United church, Trenton, who will give the induction message.

Mr. McDowell, who formerly had the pastoral charge of Montrose United church in Prince Edward Island, comes to Eastminster with the best wishes of his former congregation. He will begin his pastorate next Sunday morning in the Sons of Jacob Synagogue, corner of Bleecker and Victoria Avenue.

Following the induction service, a reception will be held in the Sunday school rooms of the church for Mr. and Mrs. McDowell.

Search Party Finds Sulphide Merchant Dead

TWEED, (Special) — Rounding up cattle on his ranch-farm north of Sulphide, Pat O'Hearn, 56, several storeKeeper at Sulphide, suffered a heart attack and died last night.

He was found by a search party from his village some time around 11 p.m.

Mr. O'Hearn went back to his ranch early in the evening with two local boys to round up some cattle. The boys later went back to Sulphide leaving Mr. O'Hearn alone. When he failed to return home a search party was organized.

His body was discovered on the ranch by searchers.

Dr. A. C. Allen of Tweed, was summoned and Tweed coroner, Dr. M. G. Dales informed. An inquest was deemed unnecessary.

Canada Studying Procedure in Canal Seizure

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government is studying Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal but has made no decision yet to send a formal protest over the action, Prime Minister St. Laurent informed the Commons Monday.

He said Canada will be kept fully informed on British-French-United States talks on the problem.

Mr. St. Laurent was replying to Opposition Leader Drew, who asked whether the government has considered the possibility of making a formal protest to Egypt.

The prime minister's reply indicated that that point has been studied. He said he knows of no protest made by any commonwealth country except Britain.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) said news reports said Australia, New Zealand and South Africa have indicated support of any stand Britain may take.

Mr. St. Laurent replied that Canada has not been informed that the three Commonwealth members have taken that position.

He added that the government has been in touch with Prime Minister Menzies of Australia, who left for Chicago Sunday from a Canadian visit. He said Canada was told that Australia is concerned about possible interference with non-discriminatory administration of the canal.

Hooks Big Moira Muskellunge Using Six-Pound Test Line

Muskies of the Moira are, thus far, stealing the piscatorial thunder from their counterparts in Muscote Bay—and other haunts of the district.

Various parts of the river have yielded three fine specimens in the past few days while a fourth measuring 53 inches in length was found dead, the victim of a lethal spear.

Andy Lambros and Clarence Jaynes of Foxboro have been tempting the big boys with success of late. Not so long ago they hooked a 19 1/2-pound beauty from the river near Millers Marina in Foxboro. Friday last they duplicated their luck but with a better haul than practically the same river spot.

This time it was a 23-pound, eight-ounce muskie that went for their lure.

While on their muskellunge quests they came across a 52-inch-er that had been speared and apparently died after gaining its freedom. The body of the fish was badly decomposed but not sufficient to prevent the boys from getting pictorial proof.

However their biggest thrill to-date was Friday's catch. Lambros hooked the big fellow with—believe it or not — a six-pound test line baited with a flatfish on a spinning tackle.

There was no hour-long battle with this fellow. Either it was tired or resigned to its fate but it took no longer than twelve minutes to boat it, said Lambros.

The fish measured 48 3/4 inches from stem to stern.

And the boys were not kidding when they spoke of the two big ones "that got away".

Youthful Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lambros has had his fishing thrills. He was on hand when the 19-pounder was hooked and helped land it.

Hope to Interest District Teenagers In Lawn Bowling

Belleville's recreation committee and its Lawn Bowling Club have joined hands to promote a new sport for district teenagers.

Both groups hope to foster an interest in lawn bowling among the younger set and fall in line with other communities which already have proven that bowling is not a sport reserved for senior members of the family.

The club will supply an instructor to initiate the teenagers into fundamentals of the game. All that will be required of young newcomers is that they bring their own soft, flat shoes.

All wishing to avail themselves of the program should contact club president Gerald Hyde or the city recreation department at city hall.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials and western oils led the stock market to higher ground during light m rning trading today following Monday's moderate advance.

Trading was at a slower pace than Monday with 1,095,000 shares being exchanged by 11 a.m. compared with 1,405,000.

Aluminium climbed two points in industrials with the announcement that Aluminium Ltd. had recently confirmed its serious interest in the Yeelo River project —a $644,000,000 hydro-electric and aluminum smelter project in the West Africa Gold Coast—planned by the British and Gold Coast governments in partnership with the Aluminium Ltd. and British Aluminium Co.

Bank of Montreal gained 1¼ points to touch a new high of 38 among other industrial winners.

International Nickel advanced 1¼ points among senior base metals but the action was a little lower than Monday's close. Falconbridge Nickel Mines dipped 13 cents in lumbers. Consolidated Sudbury lost 15 cents.

Temagami gained 40 cents in coppers and Chibougamau Jaculet 25 cents. New Rouyn lost 18 cents. Gunnar and Consolidated Denison were among uraniums.

Canada Southern Pete added 30 cents in western oils at a new high of $14.50 while Home "A" was also ahead 30 cents. Canadian Devonian and Canadian Atlantic gained 15 cents.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Trading was slow on a heavy offering of common and medium grade fed cattle at the public stockyards today. Scant numbers of good and choice slaughter cattle sold actively steady. Cows and bulls were unchanged.

NEW TRADE OVERTURE

VIENNA (AP) — Communist overture to Latin America was reported Monday. Radio Budapest announced that a three-man Hungarian delegation had left for a week's stay in Bolivia "as an expression of good relations between Hungary and Bolivia."

Ford and Union Reach Agreement Without Strike

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A new two-year contract, termed satisfactory by both sides, has been settled by the United Automobile Workers (CLC) and the Ford Motor Company of Canada, it was announced Monday night.

Included in the settlement were wage increases, a cost-of-living bonus, pension, vacation and apprenticeship plan benefits, an additional paid holiday and separate seniority for skilled tradesmen at the Oakville, Ont., plant.

A clause providing for pay increases corresponding to official consumer price index increases was also included.

It was the first time since 1949 that there has not been a work stoppage during contract negotiations.

TERMS BE RATIFIED

About 9,000 hourly-paid employees in Windsor, Local 200, Oakville's Local 707 and the Toronto suburb of Etobicoke's Local 584 are covered by the agreement.

The contract terms, subject to approval of the UAW's international Ford council and ratification by the workers involved, were contained in a joint announcement statement.

As a package offer, the workers will receive a 26½-cent-an-hour increase, union officials said.

Chief part of the package is a six-cent-an-hour increase to all hourly-paid employees in the three locals, effective Monday. Effective Sept. 1, 1957, there is to be a wage improvement factor boost of six cents hourly.

COST-OF-LIVING ALLOWANCE

Skilled tradesmen and some other classes of workers are to receive the six-cent-an-hour boost in addition to the general six-cent increase.

Also effective Monday was a three-cent-an-hour cost-of-living allowance, to be recalculated quarterly, beginning Oct. 15, 1956. Effective Monday, on the days preceding Christmas and New Year's Day would bring the total number of paid holidays from seven to eight.

Major Lloyd Hill Conquers Rapids For Fourth Time

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Major Lloyd Hill has conquered the lower Niagara River rapids a fourth time.

At 9:30 p.m. EDT Monday night, after hundreds were sure he must be dead, the 37-year-old adventurer opened the escape hatch of his stainless steel barrel and swam to the shore of the Niagara River.

"I think that was the toughest trip I've ever made," he said afterward. "The barrel shipped about 12 gallons of water."

The spectators along the bank of the Niagara Reservation below the falls who watched the strange craft spin for three hours in a whirlpool would have agreed with him.

CAUGHT BY SWIRL

He made the first 2½ miles of his journey down the rapids in seconds, but was then caught helpless in the foaming water. Thrusted by the pounding against the sides of the barrel he decided to forego his planned journey to Queenston, eight miles further on, and swam to shore, towing his barrel behind him on a rope.

When he reached shore his army crash helmet, split across the top, was twisted back-to-front.

One of the ex-paratrooper's assistants did not escape as easily. After helping Hill into his craft at a point near the whirlpool bridge, kept secret to avoid public interference, Jack Noakes, 47, fell 190 feet down the gorge and had to be rescued by fire men.

He was taken to hospital, suffering chest injuries, a possible broken back and multiple cuts and bruises.

Commons Unanimously Backs Equal Pay for Women Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The principle of a government bill to provide equal pay for women in work controlled by federal labor laws received unanimous approval Monday in the Commons.

However, spokesmen for the Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties reserved their decision on the bill itself until they have seen the legislation.

The opposition groups supported a resolution, introduced by Labor Minister Gregg, providing that in employment under federal control women would receive the same rates of pay as men for the same work. The resolution later was approved and a bill introduced and given first reading.

The bill would apply to women "who are employed upon or in connection with the operation of any work, undertaking or business that is within the legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada."

WILL AFFECT MANY

Mr. Gregg said it would affect some 72,000 women employed in labor fields under federal jurisdiction. It would apply to the federal civil service and to women employed in communications, railroads, steamship and aviation lines and other types of interprovincial transportation.

Under the bill it would be an unfair wage practice for any employer "by discrimination in the payment of wages between sexes by paying wages to any female employee at a rate less than the rate at which he pays wages to male employees for work of comparable character on jobs, the performance of which requires comparable skills. . . ."

An exception would be where wages are paid under a seniority or merited increase system which in itself does not discriminate on the basis of sex.

A difference in the rate of pay between a female and a male employee based on any factor other than sex would not constitute an infringement of the act.

BOARD NOT APPEAL

The act would not apply to written contracts of employment or collective bargaining agreements negotiated before May 1, 1953.

Complaints under the act would be investigated by a labor department conciliation officer. If he was unable to effect a settlement the case would be referred to a commission of one or more persons which would hear evidence from both sides involved.

The minister of labor would have power to issue a final order to make the commission's recommendation effective.

Colin Cameron, Shaftesbury (L—Timiskaming) said the possibility of women being priced out of the labor market is the strongest argument for requiring that women affected would have to lay a formal complaint. Women were "not too foolish" and would not make complaints if they thought the economy of their industry might be jeopardized.

CCF to Restate Its Aims, Playing Down Nationalization

WINNIPEG (CP) — The CCF Bat, Mr. Coldwell added, it party intends, during its national convention here, to restate its democratic-Socialist Regina Manifesto in modern terms, taking the emphasis off nationalization and putting it on a program of "the next step."

The three-day convention opens tomorrow and about 200 delegates are expected to attend. Top officers indicated in interviews Monday that a re-interpretation of the 1933 manifesto to meet present conditions will be a major plan.

National leader M. J. Coldwell said the CCF for too long has been identified solely with a program of nationalization. But other forms of planning the economy have emerged during the last few years permitting a broadened platform for socialism to include a mixture of public ownership and free enterprise.

The restatement, if it materializes, will come at a time when CCF public support both federally and provincially has ebbed from a peak of 1945. Mr. Coldwell attributed the loss of votes to "the normal political pendulum." It was felt a modernized version of the manifesto may reverse the swing.

The Regina Manifesto was an outgrowth of the depression, a sharp criticism of capitalism which it blamed for the economic collapse, the CCF leader said. It suggested a policy of nationalization as a cure for the problems created.

would not constitute "a step" in that direction.

"This convention, if it wants to, will simply re-emphasize certain policies of the platform in terms of 1956 prosperity, not rewrite it."

Mr. Coldwell's idea of a CCF economy would include free enterprise, co-operatives and public ownership "in those industries which are oppressive and monopolistic."

BUGGY COUNTY UNWORRIED

CADIZ, Ky. (AP)—Trigg county has been mighty busy, but no one's worried. Census figures U.S.—Venable said 10,000 ladybugs were shipped into the county Monday from Dobbins, Calif. Venable said the bugs will be used to combat plant lice on tobacco.

TROIS - RIVIERES, Que. (CP) Scientists are still baffled by the deaths of thousands of fish in the St. Lawrence river at the site of the multi - million - dollar seaway project.

The dead fish have been showing up in greatly diminished numbers in the last few days, but the Quebec game and fisheries department is determined to find "Killer" in an effort to prevent a recurrence.

Canada to Apply Anti-Dumping Law To U.S. Cottons

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has formally notified the United States that Canadian anti-dumping laws will be applied on U.S. cotton products exported to Canada from American domestic prices.

Application of the laws will result from a U.S. government subsidy to American manufacturers of cotton goods for export, expected to begin next month.

BLOCK TRANSFERS

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—The Kenya government Monday blocked all monetary transfers between Kenya and Egypt. A treasury official said the effect of the move would be "rather serious" as trade between the two countries—worth about £150,000 in 1955—would probably be drastically reduced.

Russian Roulette Fatal to Youth

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Although warned to "quit fooling around" Bob Desmond, 16, Monday continued his game of Russian Roulette and died in hospital hours later of a gunshot wound.

Russian roulette is played by placing one bullet in a six-cylinder revolver, spinning the chamber and then pulling the trigger. With the youth at the time of the shooting were Stanley Gilling-water, 18, of Princeton and Donald Cockburn, 21, of Woodstock.

Gillingwater was reading a bible and Cockburn was paying little attention to Desmond until the police report shattered the silence of Desmond's room.

DEFENCE COSTS

"The Defence Department's shopping list, compared with the Canadian housewife's, looks like the distance between here and Mars — in inches," says Dave McIntosh of The Canadian Press.

This is an intriguing statement.

In the first place, this is the first occasion on which we have seen a shopping list which looks like a distance, whether in inches, miles or light-years.

In the second place, even if one is able to go through the mental exercise which this comparison requires, one is sure to alight on one's head when one considers the distance to Mars — in inches. It is astronomical, or perhaps we should say astronomically astronomical. That, we suspect, is exactly what Mr. McIntosh meant to suggest.

The reference to the distance to Mars in inches, though, gives us a clue as to the difficulty in comparing the Defence Department's expenditures with those of the Canadian housewife. Distances in space are never stated in inches, for the simple reason that the inch is not a suitable unit of measurement for such distances. Similarly, the housewife's budget is not a suitable yardstick by which to judge the Defence Department's expenditures, and any effort to use it for this purpose will only serve to confuse the issue as much as stating the distance between here and Mars in inches.

That being said, there is no harm in looking at some of the figures quoted. A new destroyer will cost the Defence Department — what is the taxpayer — $33,000,000. That is a sizable sum but some will get a greater shock out of a much smaller figure, $3,500,000 to modernize a frigate which originally cost $2,000,000. A CF-100 Mk. 5 fighter will cost under $700,000 and that is a bargain price for the initial model of this jet set us back $122,000,000, including the cost of research and development. One year's installment on the cost of the Mid-Canada radar warning line will require $45,000,000.

Training an officer cadet set us back $30,000, which makes one wonder whether the cadet should not be replaced by the know-tow as more in keeping with the circumstances when that amount of money walks by. By comparison it only takes a $1,000,000 to send three officers to Britain a which to study overseas. Included in the cost of the brigade, we presume, is the $5,162,000 which it will cost to transport the members of the brigade, with their dependents, overseas and the $1,185,000 which will be spent to rent married quarters in Germany. Four army schools in Germany will cost $410,885.

Turning again to the air force, we find that we shall spend $18,300,000 as this year's installment on the new supersonic CF-105 jet, total cost of which will be $100,000,000.

By the way, what is the distance between here and Mars, in inches?

A SENSELESS ORDEAL

Last Friday Doreen George tried to swim Lake Ontario.

Doreen is 16.

She fought the cold and rough waters of the lake for 10 hours before she was taken out of the water. In that time she covered only 10 miles.

She battled against the Toronto Star, "was lost at midnight, when Doreen, worn by five hours of battling 10-foot waves, told her handlers she could swim no further. Then it was almost two hours later before she was taken from the water.

Listen to Walter Skol, Toronto Star correspondent tell the story:

"Sponsors, sponsors, her father and members of the Lakeshore Swim club tried every psychological trick in the book to get her going.

"'Come on and continued the urging until 1:45 a.m. when she was finally pulled out. When she was told the wind and water had died down, she said 'Yes, but I've already had hours of them.'

"When her sponsors continued to refuse to take her out, Doreen, in tears and her voice choking in her throat, finally pleaded, 'Please Daddy, make them take me out. I can't stand it any more. I'm cold.'

"She tried to swim to the escort boat — commanded by a woman. A high-pitched voice screeched 'Get the boat back, get back, don't let her touch it.'

"During the final hour and three quarters Doreen was not once able to lift her arms above the water. She just treaded water and pleaded. Finally her escort boat pulled around and a dejected girl was lifted from the lake."

Doesn't that make one's blood boil?

Here was a mere child, 16, who had fought waves for ten hours and finally with no chance of winning, to be taken out of the water. She was not close to victory, there was no excuse that a few moments' effort would bring her realization of her fondest dreams. Yet, for almost two hours, she was senselessly exposed to a continuance of her ordeal.

If those in the boat had been strangers and had refused to offer her succor, there would be general condemnation, probably an official investigation and quite possibly a charge if the police could find a law to fit the case.

This observation might suggest something to those in authority.

Housebusband's Dilemma

(New York Times)

Solicitude at the proper time and in the proper place is an excellent thing, but there is a solicitude which is little better than insulting. The man of the house who is not a child has a grammar school. He knows the way to the refrigerator, the stove and the cry a dish. For three years in the Navy, he repeats, he made his own bed. But these undeniable facts do not seem to impress the lady of the house, who is taking the children to the beach for two weeks, leaving him to fend for himself, brilliantly. Will he be lonely? What if he gets sick? Does he know the extra blankets are in the closet, in case it gets cold? By her queries and comments she makes it unsurprisingly clear that she considers him only a little better than totally helpless, and she implies that his survival of the two weeks is a moot question.

Alone in the house at last, he can relax and view the matter tolerantly. Sitting at the kitchen table over a sandwich supper (light suppers are really much more filling) in the evening, he ponders the unpredictable workings of the female mind. He concludes that it is too engrossed in petty things to comprehend the larger truths of the universe, which certainly is the self-evident explanation for its failure to master the mechanics of housemanship as readily as a woman. Satisfied with his conclusion, he puts the dishes in the sink and changes out of his street clothes. The dishes, of course, are to be washed and dried and carefully replaced in the cupboard.

But large things grow from small beginnings. Two days later he notes with some surprise that the sink is cluttered with unwashed dishes, cups, luncheon utensils and silverware. Somehow he has got into the habit of using them. It is time to get to them. Rust is showing on some of the spoons and forks. Tonight there will be a general policing of the place. It is a strangley unkempt look that would have been amiss back at Pensacola.

But things come up. Things always come up to interfere with well-conceived plans. The dishes remain unwashed, save for those used for each meal. Trivia is accsilated by the fact that the cupboard seems to be empty of clean cups, and the refrigerator seems to be running out of the condition of its life. It has all come about because of a fundamental lack of planning. Then and there he sits down with pen and paper. A grocery list is drawn up, sufficient to last him for the remaining week. But the list is somehow lost. This could have happened on the following morning when the belated discovery that the clean shirt pile had been exhausted sent the man of the house on a somewhat vexed journey to the laundry room, there to retrieve from the soiled clothes bag the shirt discarded the night before. The trouble stems, he concludes, from a simple lack of repetitive discipline. Such repetitive and desultory process fails somehow to instill the surroundings with quite the sparkle that is required for. The man retires for the evening with a pensive air, shining Alone with his thoughts, temptation suddenly steals upon him. The lady of the house is returning in two days and there is no doubt that a great deal will be made of all this. Yet, for a normal fee, could not a cleaning lady be employed on the morrow? And could not she turn the house once more into a place of shining beauty? The man of the house smiles up at the ceiling. That, of course, is the answer. And no one will ever know.

These Things Confucius Say

(Ottilia News-Letter)

Those telling the Confucius say jokes which are making the rounds again are no doubt finding them amusing, but for the sake of the younger people we might not know perhaps it should be pointed out that the ancient Chinese sage is being credited with many sayings which he could never have anticipated.

The wiseman of the "Far East" who lived 500 years before Christ would be the last to claim many philosophical sayings as testimony to his greatness but these be intended for serious reflection.

Even a brief review of a few of his famous quotations will show how little he would be known to the Chinese of his age as K'ung Tzu had such a profound influence over his countrymen. Perhaps most quoted is the Golden Rule he gave to people to:

"What you do not like when done to yourself, do not do to others."

A few of the other sayings of Confucius which have come down through the ages are:

"A poor man who does not flatter is lonely, a rich man not proud, are are passable characters; but they are not equal to the poor man who is cheerful, and the rich who yet love the rules of propriety."

"Learning undistressed by thought, is labor lost; thought unassisted by learning is perilous."

"The superior man is dignified, but does not wrangle; social but not a partizan. He does not promote a man simply because of his talk, nor does he put good words aside because at the man."

"A man can command his principles; principles do not master [illegible]."

"The cautious seldom err."

The full teachings of this remarkable Chinese sage are included, in the Confucian Classics, and more can be learned about his great principles of good in a book by J. Legge, "The Life and Teachings of Confucius." Perhaps more easy to get is "The Basic Teachings of Confucius," which Miles Menander Dawson has arranged the actual words of the master in connecting narrative.

When asked about the rule to return good for evil, the Oriental sage said: What then will you return for good? No return good is for good; for evil, return justice."

"They who are without virtue cannot abide long in a condition of enjoyment."

Confucius gave his view of the superior man in a reference to archery by saying: "In archery, there is something like the way of the superior man. When the archer misses the centre of the target, he turns around and seeks the cause of his failure within

Railroad Folklore

(Christian Science Monitor)

Folklore seems to gravitate around some callings without benefit of green aspect. Around those of the soldier and the railroader, since the dawn of history. Around that of the railroader, too, not more than a century and a quarter old. Perhaps since day songs the legends will grow up around the airplane pilot and the cross-country truck driver. That is the future, and one that railroader is still going strong.

A couple of months ago the city of Jackson, Tennessee, opened the house of "Casey" Jones as a public museum. Its exterior and furnishings it has been restored as nearly as possible to the original pattern. The legendary but actual engineer occupied it with his wife and children up to the fateful night in April, 1900, when he rode Engine 382 into the rear end of a freight ahead, his fireman, on his orders, jumped to save.

A restored Engine 382 is there, too, along with railroad memorabilia of the day. Casey Jones helped reopen her old home — 56 years after his death. He was Sim Webb, "Casey's" Negro fireman.

Behind his last run upon retirement just a few weeks earlier and over the same right of way that "Casey" was another railroader destined, perhaps, to become another legend. He is Engineer Albert T. McMillan, affectionately known as "Pokey" McMillan, who steamened by six years in the cab when "Casey" met his fate. And he has been piloting crack trains ever since — a total of 57 years at the throttle.

No wonder railroading makes folklore.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE HANDSHAKE

Of all the greeting customs that have come down to us, the cordial, honest, friendly handshake stands in my book, takes first place. There is a sincerity about a hearty handshake that is at once inspiring and expressive. It's a good custom, so superior to the face kissing of the French and perhaps other nationalities. Some even take it on the nose!

This handshake is largely a greeting custom. It appears after an important decision, of by a group and is also made when all around after papers are signed or a decision is reached, as a act of friendly understanding. To see a group of men greet one another with a hearty handshake is a very inspiring to me. It's what the whole world needs, a friendlier, more cheerful spirit. It becomes quite a key to character and to the man the honesty of that one, and unfortunately you may suspect from his handshake something that is not. Strength and power is centered in the palm of man's hand, and connected with the heart. I read somewhere that "the shaking of hands can convey a whole range of messages, from feeble indifference to zealous conviction." People like to boast of shaking hands with a great person, and I can understand such a desire. It gives one a lift just to shake hands with another, but it must be remembered that any famous person is honored to shake hands with those who may have helped to give him that fame!

I never forget an incident when I came to Chicago from college. I had my seat that came to me. I did something for a noted citizen and when the job was finished, I was paid a dollar. But taking my hand he said: "George we believe in tipping our friends" and much more than scores of dollars.

Cooler uniforms for the members of the Bellevile police force will be provided for wear next summer. Mayor Harry Hill informed us today that at a recent meeting of the police commission the matter was considered and it was decided to furnish the lighter clothing.

Mrs. Wilcox with her son and daughter of Norwich, Ontario, and Miss Pollard of Paris, Ontario, are guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Beal, Everett St.

The Bellevile Municipal Band under the direction of Bandmaster Joseph Longworth presented a program of enjoyable music at Frank Smith's hot air camp at Madoc on Thursday evening. The occasion was the official opening of the camp for the northern tourist trade. Free moving picture were shown.

Temperatures: Today — Max. 79, min. 51.

Mr. Cobb Brown, Foster Avenue, is spending a vacation in Montreal.

Mrs. Ed. Cooley and Mrs. W. G. Black were the lucky winners on the Belleville Golf Club this afternoon.

30 YEARS AGO

July 31st, 1926

In a baseball match at Madoc yesterday the Bellevile Juniors were defeated by the team of that town, the score being 6 to 1. The outstanding player for Madoc was Casey the pitcher who was assisted by all the Belleville players. Manager Ken Culling of the Belleville team was greatly pleased with his new pitcher, Casey, who is a southpaw. He pitched a good game and it was not his fault that Bellevile lost.

Post office clerks win game. In a match match at the Agricultural Park between the post office clerks and the letter carriers the former team won, the score being 15 to 5. The following composed the former team: Massey, Rogers, Waddell, Kesler, Lang, Trudell, Davenport, and Cook. Carriers, — Farrell, Lloyd, Bird, Hinchey, Burton, Symons, Baker and Andrews.

Tomorrow evening Grand Master Wallbridge of the I.O.O.F., will dedicate the new lodge room which will be occupied jointly by members of Belleville and Mizpah lodges. The lodge rooms are situated in the Roberts Block, Front Street, and the building is known as Alberta Hall. Some Grand Lodge officers will be present.

Mr. Frank Wallbridge, Major Cook and Captain Hyman of the 155th. Battalion, now stationed at Kingston with the battalion, were in town today.

Mr. James Riggs is visiting friends in Lindsay.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Warham have returned from Colborne where they visited friends.

50 YEARS AGO

Dr. R. J. Morgan, of Kansas City, an old Bellevile boy, is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Ostrom of Montreal, formerly of this city, are visiting relatives here.

Mr. J. L. Vaughen, barrister, of Portland, Oregon, has left for his home after visiting his parents here.

Mr. Frank Conkrite left today for Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. Curry of Madoc was in town on business today.

Mr. James Malyea, Pinnacle Street, will celebrate his 80th. birthday anniversary tomorrow.

A horse owned by J. W. Fox of Thurlow township was killed by lightning recently; it was insured.

Ald. S.-V. Sinclair, chairman of the gas committee, informs us that he has authority to install seventy new gas services and they will be in use by early fall.

Boxer Like War Casualty

(Manchester Guardian)

We all become a little of what we hate, or much the same thing we like to dose our enemies with their own medicine.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, who plays boxing, has come up with a fighting book called "The Ignoble Art" in which she punishes all who have to do with the sport and deplores the aggressive spirit it encourages in men and in society.

She attacks not only those who run and watch prize fights but also the cult of the amateur in the whole. Little difference apart from the vest with which he preserves the decencies in the sense of social distinction — and the whole "masculine code" which is the code of gentlemen, which to start punching each other as soon as they get out of their perambulators and into their first playground.

Mrs. Summerskill will get perverse pleasure from the way in which the British Medical National Insurance dances to the attack, as it were round her. National Insurance brick chapters linking her theme to the highest needs of mankind and achieving her knock-out on the phrase "the peace of the world."

All the same, her arguments will take a lot of answering.

Dr. Summerskill knows professionally what happens when the brain is repeatedly hammered by head blows.

The punch-drunk deficit is no joke. Her, perhaps, have his best interests been served by making him, as he has been made in America, a figure of tragic romance.

(The bull in the corrida has been likened to Othello, but that does not console the bull.)

The truth is that the battered boxer, at the end of his fighting life — and he joins the high mortality rate at least in the certainty of being finished at forty — may be as bad a case as the severe war casualty.

Given the benefits to himself and others, that may be claimed to have justified his sacrifice.

Dr. Summerskill, the challenger, is waiting to hear of them.

Personal Health Talks

Who Sold You That Phony Arthritis?

A Virginia correspondent tells me in 8,000 words that I'm a little addicted to "pills" and that Aunt Polly and Uncle Pete saying they have found medicine that conquers arthritis. It is John Doe, M. D. and Robert Roe, M. D., who tell the world that first this wonder drug and later that one (cortizone, ACTH, etc.) will do the trick.

(What I said was that the trick specialists and "clinics" racketeers tell Aunt Polly and Uncle Pete that the new remedy gives great "promise"—and Polly and Pete see that the story gets on the front page.)

The Virginia correspondent then consoles me by saying "I am 100% with you when you say diet has considerable to do with arthritis."

Not with me, Skipper, I have never said anthing of the sort. Evidently you have confused some other quack's stuff with mine.

The only cause of arthritis, so far as I am aware, is infection, and a doctor who diagnoses arthritis and prescribes or administers treatment as though the trouble were a specific disease amenable to a specific remedy is just stringing the patient along. If the doctor believes there is chronic inflammation of joint tissues, he should, at least he can do is try to determine what causes the inflammation—whether it is streptococcus, staphylococcus, tubercle bacillus, Treponema pallidum, gonococcus, Brucella abortus.

The Virginia correspondent, having gone through the best advertising "literature," doth his tallith and his teeth, feels qualified to instruct the ordinary doctor in pathology and therapeutics.

The many doctor Yankee Wisacres are condescend to read this column occasionally, this one is so eager to teach me the facts of life that he can't quite grasp the distinction I make between real arthritis and the rheumatic. Real arthritis is joint inflammation, as already explained. It accounts for not more than 5 per cent (one in twenty) of the cases of chronic joint disability. Perhaps 10 or 15 per cent of the cases of joint disorder you see when you say diet has considerable to do with arthritis."

Perhaps 10 or 15 per cent of the cases of joint disorder you see when you say diet has considerable to do with arthritis—the consequence of strain or injury; and in many of these traumatic joint disabilities, orthopaedic surgery will restore nearly if not quite "normal function."

In the great majority of cases of joint disability, the joint is painful (over a year) there is no inflammation at all, no ills of any kind, but just physical degeneration of the joint tissues, and this is what I (ignorantly) call arthritis.

Rheumatic is physical degeneration of joint tissues. The joint or joints in this disability are stiff, their inflamed nor infected.

Rheumatic degeneration is due to nutritional deficiency through the years.

YESTERDAY AND TOMORROW

Psychologists are always telling us very interesting things about the forces which have made us to what we are. Our heredity, they say, is responsible for part of our mental and psychic beings. The environment in which we grow up has contributed something. Psychiatry often explains a particular fear or complex in someone's personality by attributing it to an event which took place long ago in his childhood.

But perhaps all this analysis places too much emphasis on the past, and not enough on the future. Of them."

What is past is behind us; it is done and cannot be altered. But is making us human beings. Even us minds and wills by which we can determine our future.

Tomorrow can be different—can be better, happier, cleaner if we start with what we make it so. This is part of what is means to be a human being with free will. The past is past. It is not an easy choice, and the longer we put off making it, what we are, and yet it has given each one the power to determine tomorrow different from all

By GREGORY CLARK

In the smoking compartment of the Pullman sleeper, five of the Pullman sleeper, five of the eight of us were obviously men heading on holidays. And it was spired that we were all fishermen. Some of us had been to the same places, but several of us had fished where others were going, and the conversation waxed lyrical, so that even the non-boilyers of the latter were beside the point when the porter signalled that it was bed.

One lake was mentioned, famous for its trout fishing, and up spoke the former teen-ager. "I'm going to start punching each other as soon as they get out of their perambulators and into their first playground.

Duke of Windsor Renews Interest In Alberta Ranch

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Windsor is taking a new interest in his 4,000-acre cattle ranch in the Alberta foothills.

The duke is a large shareholder in a newly-formed Canadian company which has leased the ranch to establish breeding herds of Hereford and Galloway cattle and Wessex pigs.

First shipment of 25 head of cattle from Scotland will reach the ranch in September. It is known as the E. P. Ranch, or "Edward Prince." The duke may visit the ranch in the near future.

Assessment, Debt Both Increase

TORONTO (CP) — Taxable assessment for Ontario municipalities for 1955 was a record $6,367,472,000 or an increase of more than 11¢ per cent over the base of 1949 and 1943, the municipal affairs department reported Monday.

Gross debenture debt of Ontario's municipalities was a record $707,340,000 or 172 per cent more than the 1943 base. Tax arrears were reported 2½ times as high as 10 years ago.

Burns Are Fatal To Truck Driver

BRAMPTON (CP) — Eighteen-year-old Alvin Galbraith of Claude, Ont., died in hospital Monday night, eight hours after he was pulled from the flaming cab of his gravel truck after a three-vehicle collision at nearby Snelgrove.

Hospital officials said Galbraith died of third-degree burns.

Six others, including drivers of the other two vehicles, Albert Ashley, 54, of Caledon, Ont., and Joseph Strychaki of York Township, were injured.

Strike Against Shipping Firms

DULUTH, Minn. AP)—A strike against 11 United States Great Lakes shipping firms started Monday when 1,050 Steelworkers pickets were posted here and at Superior, Wis., along vessels made idle by the steel strike.

Involved are about 2,000 members of the seagoing Steelworkers Local 5,000, which now is negotiating with fleet operators in New York City, John C. Currie, business representative of the local, said.

The union's contract expired July 15 during the strike against basic steel industries.

Wick watering is a successful method of insuring moisture for house plants during your absence. 1. Use flat, thick "wick" of heavy cotton or glass fabric. 2. Place one end in large container of water elevated above plant.

3. Bury other end in soil of plant.

"Wick" will supply even, constant moisture while water supply lasts.

U.S. Firms Make Higher Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — United States corporations on the whole continue to make more profits than in the previous years. But weakness in some key industries pull the average gains down from the heady percentages they were showing some months ago.

In the first six months of 1956 net profits after taxes for 448 corporations, the first to report, averaged 5 per cent higher than in the first half of 1955. But a year ago the average gains were 34.7 per cent higher than the first six months of 1954.

About three out of four corporations, however, show increases this year.

The industries which as a group declined this year from the profits they reported a year ago include automobiles, auto suppliers, glass, aircraft, breweries, railroads and electric equipment.

Stassen Takes Month off Work To Fight Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Stassen is taking a month off from his White House job to help him try to swerve the Republican vice-presidential nomination from Richard Nixon to Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

President Eisenhower granted his request for a leave of absence Monday.

The leave, effective Thursday, was announced in a White House statement issued at Gettysburg, Pa., where Stassen conferred with Eisenhower for 20 minutes Monday.

Stassen is the president's assistant on disarmament matters and has a desk in the executive offices.

There was immediate speculation on whether the president's action might have implied a go-ahead for Stassen or whether, on the other hand, it represented a desire that Stassen divorce his highly controversial political activities from his White House assignment.

U.S. Develops 'New Principle' Atomic Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is developing various types of atomic and hydrogen weapons based on "new principles" and is expanding its plants to be ready to turn them out in quantity.

This was disclosed today by the Atomic Energy Commission in its semi-annual report to Congress covering the six months ended June 30.

The AEC said also that the U.S. now has become "the free world's leading producer of uranium ore"—has—taken the production lead from another country during the last six months. The AEC declined to say which country, but presumably it was Canada or the Belgian Congo.

As for weapons, the AEC said its two weapons research laboratories—one at Los Alamos, N.M., and the other at Livermore, Calif.—were "working on new principles" and that, as a result, "the United States family of weapons in various stages of research, development, and production engineering, is increasing rapidly."

The report gave no details as to the "new principles" involved in current developmental work. An unofficial scientific view, however, was that they involve new ideas concerned with weapon assembly and geometrical design rather than any new concepts of nuclear physics.

18 Survivors Of Mountain Accident Safe

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore. (AP)—The 18 maimed and injured survivors of a mountain climbing accident are safe today after a long ordeal at the bottom of a flame-filled crevasse.

Fifteen-year-old Lynn Kaufman of Larchmont, N.Y., was killed in the mishap Sunday on the slopes of the 11,235-foot Cascade peak of Mount Hood. She was pounded into a snow drift when her 18 climbing companions tumbled down a 40-foot cliff onto her already broken body.

The climbers were roped together on a single lifeline when one of them slipped. Then the whole screaming group lost footing and catapulted 400 feet down the steep slope and plunged into the crevasse, one on top of the other.

Tom Pfau of Salem, Ore., who also was climbing the mountain, saw them fall. He hurried down to this resort lodge and spread the alarm that brought more than 100 rescuers to the scene.

It took more than two hours to get all the injured out of the pit, and nearly 12 hours to bring them here by litter and snow tractor. Only two were able to walk.

Stelco Contract Details Given

HAMILTON (CP) — Details of a two-year 33½ - cent - an - hour wage package deal between the United Steelworkers of America and Steel Company of Canada Ltd., were released by the company Monday night.

Still to be approved by union members, the contract provides a wage increase of 10 cents an hour during the first year, making the basic hourly wage $1.65½ and 5 cents on a top of $1.70.

During the second year workers will receive an eight - cent hourly boost, with the basic $1.73½ and the top $3.22.

The new contract, retroactive to last April 1, runs until March 31, 1958.

Tourist's Body Found in Crowe Lake

MARMORA (Special) — The body of Harry F. Shantz, 50-year-old Canton, O., tourist who drowned in Crowe Lake, west of here Saturday night, was recovered this morning.

The discovery ended a search begun on the lake Sunday. Directed by constable Archie Radie, OPP Campbellford detachment, dragging parties and skin divers hunted for the dead man.

Shantz, staying at a cottage with his wife, apparently went out Saturday night to try out an outboard motor. He was wearing hip waders at the time. His wife first noticed the boat, apparently empty on the lake, and David Millen, Toronto, a weekend vacationer, went out to investigate. He found a life preserver and Shantz' hat in the boat.

Don Shannon, Jack Fraser and Doug Wilcox, members of the Marmora Skin-Diving Club, helped search for the body.

Opposition Says Tax Law Change Is Too Sweeping

OTTAWA (CP) — Four little words amending the federal income tax act would give broader taxing powers to the government, opposition members contended Monday night in the Commons.

The present provision enabling the revenue department to tax "the value of board, lodging and other benefits" paid to an employee would be widened by the addition of the phrase "or any kind whatsoever."

Finance Minister Harris said during clause-by-clause study of income tax amendments, forecast in his March 20 budget speech, that the four-word phrase is designed to cover such benefits as the use of company-owned motor vehicles and company-paid employees' fees to golf and service clubs.

However, he did not specify what other benefits would be covered when Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) and Thomas Barnett (CCF — Comox-Alberni) asked for elaboration.

J. Waldo Monteith (PC—Perth) was informed by Mr. Harris that it is not the government's intention to tax the issue of uniforms to policemen and firemen.

The present provision of tax-free benefits derived from an employer's contributions to a registered pension, group insurance or health plan would not be changed.

Mrs. Ann Shipley (L—Timiskaming) said that doctors, above all self-employed taxpayers, should be allowed to deduct from their taxable incomes contributions to pension or annuity plans.

Twelve Perish As Fire Sweeps Nursing Home

PUXICO, Mo. (AP)—Fire swept through the Reagan Nursing Home late Monday night and claimed the lives of 12 of the 13 residents, most of them in or beside their beds.

Nine of those who perished were from 73 to 91 years old. All were from Puxico or nearby towns. One was bedfast.

Only Mrs. Sherry Frederick, an elderly patient, escaped. Two men scrambled up to the roof of the front porch, broke out a window of her second floor room and pulled her to safety.

The body of Mrs. Bertha Reagan, 53, who overhauled the old three - storey building and opened her nursing home 21 months ago, was found in the first-floor kitchen. She apparently was trying to get out the back door but it was locked.

Her seven-year-old grandson, David Reagan, was found on the third floor. All the others were in the second floor of the. Lois Rodgers, 30, entered as a patient only Monday.

Everyone in the house apparently was asleep when the fire broke out.

Coldwell Not Planning to Quit

WINNIPEG (CP)—M. J. Coldwell reiterated Monday that he has no intention of resigning as national leader and president of the CCF party.

Here for the three-day national party convention which starts Wednesday, the 67-year-old CCF leader said he is willing to continue as party leader if convention delegates re-elect him.

However, he indicated that his two posts, national leader and president, were a heavy burden and added that in a few year's time the party may wish to relieve me of one or both."

WEDDINGS

McCUMBER—POST

Gladiall, mingled with baby's breadth and interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely setting in Eldorado Standard church, on Saturday, July 21st, at 3.00 p.m., for a pretty summer wedding when Vivian Eileen Post, of Madoc, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Post, became the bride of George Nathan McCumber of Frankford, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCumber. The Rev. J. R. Walsh of Brockville, officiated.

Mrs. Frank Robinson of Madoc, provided the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Beverley Tracy of Roslin, a recent pupil of the bride, who sang "Till Walk Beside You", before the ceremony, and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. George Ketchenon, was radiant in her floor-length gown of white nylon lace and net, fashioned with fitted bodice and matching long-sleeved bolero with Peter Pan collar. She wore a headdress of white roses and baby's breath and a finger-tip veil of embroidered nylon net, and carried a white Bible centred with red Sweetheart roses and gypsophella.

Miss Lamoine Post of Madoc, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was gowned in ballerina-length embroidered blue silk nylon over taffeta with matching bolero. She wore a matching headdress of blue roses similar to that of the bride.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Betty Ketchenon of Madoc, cousin of the bride, and Miss Joan Robinson, also of Madoc, as bridesmaids were attired in pink gowns made on identical lines to that of the maid of honor. They wore matching headdresses of pink roses.

All attendants carried nosegays of pink Sweetheart roses, white pom 'mums and carnations.

Mr. Alfred Van Dusin of Oshawa, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsman for Mr. Wayne Post, of Madoc, brother of the bride, and Mr. Grant Guild, of Batawa, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Trinity United church parlors, Madoc, where the bride's mother received the guests gowned in blue figured dacron with white accessories, and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother, wearing blue silk crepe and corsage of similar roses, assisted in the receiving line.

The bride's table was pretty with its white damask cloth centred by the tiered wedding cake surrounded by the bridal bouquets.

For travelling to White Face Mountain and other points in New York State, the bride chose a tailored suit of rose-beige wool knit in white accessories, and corsage of white feathered 'mums. Mr. and Mrs. McCumber will reside in Frankford, upon their return.

Those attending were from Madoc, Eldorado, Trenton, Frankford, Stockdale, Roslin, Clarendon, Marmora, Brockville and Oshawa.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honoured guest at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. William Andrews and also one held at the home of Mrs. Ward Howard of Madoc.

TRIPP—CLAPPER

St. Andrew's Anglican church, Wellington, was the scene on Friday, July 20, for a seven o'clock wedding when the Rev. Charles K. Gale, rector of the church, united in marriage, Ann Marilyn Clapper of Wellington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Clapper of Belleville, to Keath Grant Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tripp, Mauve and white 'mums interspersed with ferns adorned the chancel rail.

The wedding music included the "Wedding March" from Wagner's Lohengrin; "I Love Thee So" as a prelude, and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride was becomingly attired in a pale blue suit with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

Miss Helen Joyce Valleau of Belleville, was her only attendant, wearing a beige suit with brown accessories and corsage of bronze 'mums.

Mr. Bruce Tripp of Wellington, attended his brother.

The reception was held at the bride's home, 26 Geddes Street, Belleville, where the bride's mother received, wearing white printed nylon, white accessories, and corsage of pink rosebuds. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who was attired in navy and white figured nylon with white accessories, and corsage of pink rosebuds.

For travelling to Toronto and other western points, the bride wore her wedding suit. Upon their return they will reside in Halifax, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Royal Canadian Navy.

Guests were present from Toronto, Belleville and Wellington.

MURCHIE—BUCKLEY

A lovely double-ring wedding took place on Saturday, July 14, at 11.00 a.m. in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, when Mary Bridget Buckley of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buckley, became the bride of Joseph John Douglas Murchie of New Brunswick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Murchie. The Rev. William J. Buckley of Fenwood, uncle of the bride, officiated. The Rev. T. E. Brieland of Reed, Ontario, was present in the sanctuary. Snapdragons in pastel shades, adorned the altar.

Sister Mary Wilhelmina provided the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, who sang, "Ave Maria"; "O Lord I Am Not Worthy"; and during the signing of the register, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in her bridal gown of nylon lace over net with matching lace jacket featuring a Peter Pan collar dotted with seed pearls, and long, sheath-like sleeves ending in lily points over the wrists. The waltz-length skirt fell in graceful folds. A tulle net headdress with seed pearls held her fingertip veil, and she carried a white, mother-of-pearl prayer book adorned with red roses and rosebud-banded streamers.

Miss Jewel Murchie of Niagara Falls, Ontario, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor, wearing a light blue gown of brocaded net over taffeta with matching bolero and mitts, and picture hat. She carried a nosegay of roses and baby's breath tied with blue satin streamers.

Miss Joan Shaw of Belleville, as bridesmaid, was attired in pink brocaded net over taffeta fashioned on lines similar to that of the maid of honor, with pink accessories and pink picture hat. Her flowers were the same, with pink satin streamers.

Mr. Louis Buckley of Corbyville, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom. Also Mr. Robert McKay of Trenton, and Mr. Cletus Rahin, also of Trenton, ushered.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride in Corbyville, where the bride's mother, wearing navy blue with white accessories, and corsage of red roses, received the guests. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Eldon Hickey, of Niagara Falls, who assisted, was gowned in printed everglaze cotton with corsage of pink roses.

For travelling to New Brunswick, the bride wore a figured dress of everglaze cotton with navy duster, while picture hat and accessories, and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Murchie will reside in Belleville.

Guests attended from Belleville, Trenton, Picton, Read, Tweed, and Niagara Falls, Ont.

The bride's gifts to her attendants were matching necklaces and earrings; and the bride groom's gifts to his attendants, cuff links.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at miscellaneous showers; one at the home of Mrs. Jack Joiles, Belleville, assisted by Mrs. Richard Parm and Mrs. George Wright, as co-hostesses; and at at the home of Mrs. Leonard Walsh of Corbyville, Ont.

Wind Seems to Have Created This Year's Fashion Silhouette

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—"The wind seems to have created this year's fashion silhouette," according to designer Jean Desses.

Anyway, that's his story. It true, the wind is not a very good fashion designer.

The Desses collection, shown Monday night, is a hodgepodge of flying panels, pannier and window curtain draping, multi - layer summer skirts and big bow trimmings.

The one really original note is for collar which continues right down the back as a panel, sometimes ending at the waist and sometimes at the hem. These may be buttoned down or removable.

INTRICATE DRAPING

Desses, a Greek designer who married Soveta Frederica of Greece, goes in heavily as usual for intricate chiffon draping. A typical number, in lilac chiffon, drapes one hip tightly and leaves the other flowing free with windblown panels.

There are draped wraparound sheath skirts, stiff flared cone skirts, and big formal skirts, sometimes hooped and cut in petals. One chiffon skirt is covered with lace-trimmed handkerchief points.

The Oriental influence is seen in tunic-length jackets with high Chinese necklines and slit sides. Bows or puffs often sit on the hips for emphasis.

M. Aitken, M.P., To Be Honored

NEW YORK (CP) — Margaret Aitken, Canadian columnist and member of Parliament, will be honored with 16 others here tonight as a "distinguished achievement."

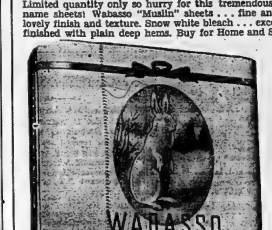
First presentation of the awards will be made at the convention dinner of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs and the Soroptimist International Association.

Miss Aitken, Toronto Telegram columnist and Progressive Conservative MP for York-Humber, is the only Canadian receiving the award.

Women Fail To Roller Skate For 66 Miles

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two women who started out to roller skate 66 miles from here to Emerson, Man., Saturday didn't quite make it.

Mrs. Eileen Kilborn pulled up at Morris, 41 miles south of Winnipeg, with a blister on a toe while Mrs. Jan Lord skated another 13 miles to Letellier before darkness forced her to give up.



Mrs. Kilborn got her blister when a wheel on her left skate fell off and she was forced to push herself along on one skate for 1¼ miles.

ved Great Love Story, Woman Preacher, 79, Dies

ONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Maude den, 79, London's first woman acher, whose romantic wedding to rried man was hailed as one the world's great love stories, d at her home here Monday. was 79.

e book she wrote three years r her husband's death, Dr. den described how she met e George William Hudson w in 1901. They fell in love were not married until Octo- 1944, because Shaw was mar- to an invalid wife.

he book, A Threefold Cord, d of the woman preacher's life n Shaw and his invalid wife. Dr. Royden said in her book that en she first met Mrs. Shaw, "I in love with her at first sight." She said: "This was the real ginning of a love which changed our three lives. If she had not ved me and I her, what happened afterwards would have been possible."

VED WITH THEM

Dr. Royden lived with the Shaws many years. She said in her book that Mrs. Shaw did not wish her husband and her friend to transgress their moral standards or hers, but "she did want us to have all that was possible for us—not love only, but passionate love."

But, Dr. Royden wrote, they lived by the orthodox Christian standard of sex morals.

Mrs. Shaw made her husband promise that he would marry Dr. Royden immediately after her death. But the marriage was short-lived. Shaw died the same year—1944—at 85.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

PLAN NOW FOR YOUR FALL COMPLEXION

After a shampoo, dry hair outdoors if possible but, once dry, do not expose it, uncovered, to direct sunlight.

From coast to coast in America's most elegant "watering places" it is becoming a serious sin for woman who looks like a "sheltered beauty" is the one who will count by summer's end—and she knows it—is strengthened almost to the point of a fashion dictate by the advance news of fall clothes.

Says famous beauty and fashion authority Lilly Dache: "Baking in the sun is definitely out for now —and later. Not only will you make up to a lighter skin, but you will protect your face and arms so that you don't have to repair the damage prior to donning your new fall wardrobe."

For the sheltered beauty appearance by daylight and by candlelight, Miss Dache has worked out the following makeup formulas which will have your skin in "peaches and cream" condition by early fall.

Daytime: In the sun, a painted up face looks it, and astute subtlety should be the keynote here. As some tanning is inevitable for today's active woman, don't try to hide your skin tone during the day. Keep the warm glow of the complexion and wear a powder that matches your skin exactly. A special foundation will protect your skin and make the powder cling. Rouge can probably be dispensed with altogether by most, but if it is used, it should be only the faintest touch and should match the lipstick. By all means choose a lipstick in one of the light tones and one with as much pink as your costume and skin allows. This is not the season for obvious eye makeup during the day; the light touch does it. Try mixing a brown and black pencil in darkening your brows. Eye shadow in a shade to accentuate the color of the eyes should be used—but only at the outer corners and slanting upward. The touch of color will add sparkle to the eyes without being obvious.

EVENING: For candlelight or moonlight, Miss Dache has three makeup variations providing for the blonde, the brown-haired and the brunette. For the blonde she recommends blonde opalescent foundation, rose naturelle powder, bud pink cream rouge and lipstick; for women of medium coloring: pink opalescent foundation and powder, bud pink or accent rouge and lipstick. The brunette, who is fastest to show the tanned look, turns into a siren in Tintas opalescent foundation and powder, accent lipstick and rouge. Eye shadow for any of these types should be grey, grey-blue or violet. For sheer drama, gold or silvery eye-shadow should be used, either alone or over the colored shadow. And for a really ethereal look try the new mauve or green face powder dusted over as a finish.

Lilly Dache is always concerned about the look of the "whole woman" and it is logical that she

One Platter Chicken Dinner

By Mary Moore

Believe it or not folks, as I type this onto the stencil little 13-weeks old Gary is lying upside down on my knees. Talk about the one-armed paper-hanger!

Visitors are coming and going at this house so thick and fast that it looks like the corner of Bloor and Yonge Streets in Toronto. One night we had a 1942 Morris-Oxford parked behind an air-conditioned Cadillac.

I like all of this activity as long as I have time to shop for and cook the food for these friendly folk, while they talk to Marianne and admire Gary.

One meal that I cooked that seemed to take a minimum of time and effort and yet looked and tasted like company food should, was

EMEN'S FRIED CHICKEN ON RICE

This is the entire main course and it takes but one large platter.

To serve 2 quarter 2 frying chickens and wash and dry them well. Then shake them in a paper bag containing 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper 1-2 teaspoon celery salt and 1 teaspoon paprika—dredge them all over. Have about 1-2 to 2-3 cup half butter and half fat melted in a deep frying pan and brown the chicken quarters in it on both sides, turning frequently. When all sides are browned add 1-4 cup boiling water, cover tightly, reduce heat as much as possible and cook about 35 to 40 minutes longer. Paprika dramatizes is fork tender. It must be turned about three times during this process. Uncover the last five minutes to make crust crisper.

As soon as the lid is on the chicken and it is settled down to its slow cooking, put some rice on to cook.

STEAMED RICE

Two cups eight you will need three cups raw long-grain rice. Cook it in exactly 8 cups boiling water and 2 teaspoons salt and 2 tablespoons butter in top of double boiler over boiling water, covered, for 40 minutes. This is easy, requires no watching, and kernels are all separate.

Arrange the rice in a border on a hot platter, lift chicken quarters in centre of hot platter. Pour gravy over chicken:

GRAVY

Add the flour remaining in the bag to the pan fat and stir until blended. Add 2 or 3 cups milk or enough to make a gravy of desired consistency, stirring until thick. About five minutes before dishing up time, put in the cooked green peppers which have been seeded and cut into 1-2 inch rings. Don't cook these until soft— just until hot and slightly limp. They make a generous garnish and are your green and only vegetable.

Serve with this delicious platterful of food a huge tossed green salad with some chives and crumbled Roquefort in it to give it some zip.

Neighbors, Friends Present Farewell Gifts

A large number of friends and neighbors gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams, Cannifton, to spend an evening of fellowship before their departure to take up residence in Belleville. A social hour was spent in visiting and recalling many happy times.

Jack and Meta were then asked to sit together and the Rev. R. J. McCrea and the Rev. W. R. Merrick spoke in appreciative terms of the good work and splendid influence of Mr. and Mrs. Williams and their family.

Mrs. D. C. Brenton read an address expressing the regret of the community that they were moving away, but wishing them much happiness in their new home.

Mrs. Roy Pound and Mrs. Ross Pound presented Mr. and Mrs. Williams with a floor lamp and a table lamp, and Carolyn Brenton brought in a small gift for Vivian, Barbara and Beverley.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams expressed their delighted thanks for the lovely gifts. They said how much they had enjoyed their life in the community and their work in Cannifton church, and they hoped their friends would continue to visit them in their new home.

Everyone joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows" and "The More We Get Together."

Refreshments were served and the visitors took leave of Mr. and Mrs. Williams with many good wishes.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

MANNERS OF THE "SUMMER VISITOR"

When you are a "summer visitor" in any community, don't stoop to cut the grass, rude smart-Aleck that puts you in the class of "invaders." See yourself as others see you, particularly as the proud-of-their-community townspeople see you. They welcome and admire a summer visitor who is courteous, who has fine and proper consideration for all, friend or acquaintance or stranger, in all places and under all circumstances.

GIRLS AND BOYS WITH HOSPITABLE HOMES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Do you think that a fellow expects a girl to invite him to her home to dinner or perhaps to some other occasion such as a family picnic, etc.? I was dated her about a dozen times? Is it necessary for the girl to do this? If so, how many times should she go out with him before she asks him to her home? This information from you is to settle a dispute between my friend and myself.—B.

There are no definite suggestions about this. There couldn't be, for some families just by means and inclination to be "given to hospitality," want to share their homes with friends of theirs and of their children's; while others cannot afford to, or find it too inconvenient, or just aren't interested in having guests.

Naturally a man who is interested in a girl, who has been her host on several occasions, would be delighted to be invited to her home to share its hospitality. This should be by way of gracious gesture of her family, not a "payment" to him for "how many times" he has dated the daughter. And fortunate is the girl or boy whose family make their home a happy center of hospitality for the friends of all who live in that home!

BOTH GIRL AND MAN SHOULD RETURN GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I have just broken my engagement and have returned my engagement ring to my ex-fiance. Should I also return to him the Christmas, birthday and Valentine presents I received from him?

2. When we became engaged and he gave me my engagement ring, I gave him a very handsome and quite expensive engagement to present to me?—E.T.

1. Yes, you should return to him all his gifts to you. This is the correct thing for you to do. Surely you don't want . . . or at least you shouldn't want, to keep these things in your life, constant reminders of an ill-starred engagement.

2. Yes. What is proper and fair for Jill is proper and fair for Jack.

BRIDE'S FATHER MAY GIVE HER IN MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband was killed in World War II, and since then I have made my home with my parents, who have been wonderfully kind to me. Before David went overseas, we had a small wedding in our church, and my dear father gave me in marriage. Now I am to marry again, a small, informal church wedding, and I would like to have my father give me in marriage. Would this be correct procedure for a second marriage?—H.D.

Yes, it is correct procedure, and very fine procedure, for your father to give you in marriage at your second marriage.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ARE YOU MAKING THIS STORY UP, PERHAPS?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 17, and I think I'm in love with a fellow of 20, but he is so cruel I don't know whether he loves me or not.

Whenever we go anywhere, he makes me crawl behind him and kiss the ground he walks on. He says if I don't, it means I don't love him, but I do.

Another thing is that he tries to do things to me in the movies that nice boys wouldn't do, and sometimes he doesn't even speak to me when he sees me. Yet he says we're going steady.

Do you think he loves me?—C.M. Dear C.M.:

Is this really a true story, or have you been reading some low-type dime novel you shouldn't have been reading that put very unwholesome ideas in your head? I can believe what you say about the shameful way this fellow behaves in the movies, but I find it hard to credit your tale about being forced to crawl behind him and kiss the ground.

Just in case it may really have happened that you've become infatuated with a depraved type of young man, however, I'll say this to you:

If you have any sense at all—and it doesn't sound as though you had, when you talk about "love" in connection with this creature—you'll stay just as far away from him as you can possibly get. I can assure you that no good will ever come from associating with him, and it is all too likely that something downright bad might happen. Unless you keep yourself at a distance from him, and so show him that you want no more of him, it will be your own fault if you get into serious trouble.

I suggest, also, that you give little thought to how your parents would feel about all this if they knew what was going on, and how it would affect them if you did go into some kind of very unpleasant predicament with this worthless fellow.

Tribe's Flag Hopes Flickering; Braves Blast Brooks In Series Opener

Sport Slices

Rare, Medium, Well-Done

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

BEST OF LUCK!

The end of a provincial rainbow looms in sight for a Belleville Lawn Bowling Club rink on Saturday. On that day the finals of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Ontario championships will be played on the Oshawa club greens in an all-day round-robin affair, in rinks, doubles and singles.

For the third consecutive year a Belleville rink is aspiring to provincial and Dominion honors. This year Ken Ashley, Bruce Miller, Gord Wallbin and Gerry Hyde will carry the Belleville banner to what is hoped it's first national lawn bowling title.

The rink has had sensational success thus far this season having won the club, district and zone playdown titles and now enters the finals against three other zone winners.

The winner of the provincial title will represent this province at Vancouver during the last week in August when the Canadian championships will be held in the west coast province. Rinks will be present from Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia to compete with the Ontario entry.

The Belleville team, if they come up with the calibre of play that marked the finals of provincial playdowns, give the other zone winners a real run for the honor of being named provincial titlists at Oshawa and the best wishers of the local club and sportsmen generally, go with them in their efforts to capture the honor. The other finalists are a team from Windsor—Jackson Park, skipped by W. Perry and from Galt —George St. Club, skipped by James Law and last year's provincial champions from Toronto, Bailey Beach, skipped by Tom Mead.

CIVIC HOLIDAY CLASSIC

Civic holiday marks the fifteenth annual Corbin Gold Trophy men's rink tournament on the greens of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club with 64 rinks from as far east as Montreal and as far west as Hamilton and many points in the between competing for the coveted trophy, the Corbin, Belleville and Bradings Gold cups and the valuable prizes which accompany them with thirteen other sets of prizes as well. well.

This annual tournament is one of the best staged in Ontario and annually draws a large turnout of players and spectators for the colorful activities which prevail throughout the day and evening. Play gets underway at 9:30 a.m. and everyone is invited to be on hand at any time during the day and watch the games.

Last year's winners of all four trophies will be on hand again to defend their honors and a number of new teams will also be on hand as well as many old faces for this year's renewal of this classic bowling event.

For the past two years he was a member of the famous Fort Henry Guard, the colorful unit that made international headlines with its precision drill and other tactics in Washington and London. He was also the continent with the guard this summer and apparently severed his connection with them shortly after his return to Canada.

WRESTLING

Twill be the high and low in Memorial Arena come Friday evening. The dashing debonair pride of the Paris boulevards Edouard Carpentier who captured the hearts of the faithful here a couple of weeks ago, is back again and will stratosphere his agility in an effort to pull one Sky-Hi-Log out of the arena mists.

The clever Frenchman has been a sensation wherever he had wrestled in Canada. He drew an all-Canadian record attendance in Montreal a few weeks ago, attracting nearly 24,000 pewsters to the scene of activities. He will not however be permitted to use stilts in his attempted conquest of Sky-Hi.

Garnishing this tid-bit will be another star attraction with the Lewis brothers clashing with the hood Fenyves and this looks like a real jolly old brawl. Angelo Savoldi, a newcomer will appear in the preliminary.

Mantle, Adcock Within Reach Homer Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves are within reach of the major league record for home runs by one player against a single club in one season.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees belted 14 against Cleveland Indians in 1926 for the major league mark. The National League record is 13, by Hank Sauer, then with Chicago Cubs, against Pittsburgh in 1954.

Mantle, who tops the majors with 34 for the season, hit his eighth and ninth of the year against Cleveland Monday night in a 13-6 victory. The Yankees have seven games remaining with the Tribe.

Adcock walloped his ninth off Brooklyn pitching in Monday night's 8-5 Milwaukee victory. It was his 22nd of the season. The Braves have seven games remaining with the Dodgers.

Girl, 11, Stars On Ball Team

HAGERSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Diane Keit, 11, who says she became interested in baseball at two has outplayed three boys to win the second-base position on the Pee Wee baseball team here. She is the only girl on the team.

Diane, whose batting average is .300, says she tries all the harder because friends tease her about playing with boys. She has three years she also has been but girl for the intermediate team.

"I don't have too many girl friends but the boys will always play catch with me," she said. "Or we go over to the diamond and practice hitting and flies."

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Keit of Hagersville, 15 miles southeast of Brantford, Diane said that at two she used to toddle around the bases after watching her father play for the intermediates.

Mrs Keit said that if Diane wants to play baseball it is all right with her.

"It is a good clean sport and better still I can always find my daughter when I want her," she said.

Mantle Jets Two More Homers As Bombers Rip Indians 13-6

Aaron Blasts Brewers Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Mantle is swatting the Cleveland Indians out of the American League pennant race.

The New York Yankee slugger smacked two more homers off Cleveland pitchers Monday night and drove in six runs, as the Yanks reclaimed a 10-game lead over the second-place Indians with a 13-6 victory.

Cleveland's pennant hopes, already dim, were reduced to a mere flicker. If the Yanks play only .500 ball the rest of the way, the Indians will have to win two out of three.

In other games, Detroit beat Jinx Frank Sullivan and Boston 4-1 on Virgil Trucks' three-hitter; Bob Nieman's 10th inning homer beat Kansas City for Baltimore 6-5.

Mantle's two homers, his 33rd and 34th of the season, put him one game ahead of Babe Ruth's pace when he hit 60 in 1927.

He's hit safely in all 15 games against Cleveland and is batting .373 against them. That's a major reason why the Yanks have won the last eight contests between the two teams.

No. 33 came in the second inning off starter Bob Lemon, who also was the loser as he landed in the lower right field stands. That was the inning in which New York scored seven unearned runs while making only three hits.

It started with two outs and a third baseman Al Rosen. Then came a single by Gil McDougald and a ground-out by Whitey Ford, scoring the first run. After Billy Martin walked, Mantle and Joe Collins was allowed first base when Rosen dropped a throw from Jim Hegan, forcing in the second run. Then came Mantle's grand slam, his 21st of the season and fifth of his career, knocking Lemon out of the box. Art Houtteman came in, allowing a walk, a single and a sacrifice fly to tally another run.

No. 34 came off Bob Feller in the fifth, scoring Billy Martin, and was a sharp blow over the right field fence.

Trucks, who walked eight, gave up singles to Billy Klaus and Dee Boddicl and a homer to Mickey Vernon while the Tigers won it with two runs in the fifth on two-out singles by Frank House and Jim Small.

Nieman's bust-up homer, his 19th, was off reliefer Tom Gorman. Oriole starter Ray Moore was charged with a man on for a 3-1 lead, but gave way as the As rallied. Mike Fornieles won it in relief.

Marlins Gain Over Idle Leafs; Nip Bisons 6-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Miami Marlins, taking advantage of an off day in the schedule for their closest rivals, today had moved out in front in the International League by a half-game.

The Marlins turned back the Buffalo Bisons 6-5 in the circuit's only game Monday night for their 21st victory in their last 26 games. The triumph broke the virtual tie for first place with the Toronto Maple Leafs and left the third-place Rochester Red Wings a game back.

Forrest Smith paced Miami's 12-hit attack with his 16th homer, a base clearing triple and single to run his total of hits to 14 in 25 times at bat since joining the Marlins last week. He drove in four runs.

Dick Farrell, although touched for 13 hits, stuck it out until two Bisons had been retired in the ninth. Bill Serena's 13th homer made it a 6-5 photo finish. Whereupon Satchel Paige came on the scene and fanned Norm Sherry on three straight pitches for the final out.

"Old Trucks" Still Has Fire In Right Arm

By DAVE DILES
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

DETROIT (AP) — They don't call him "Fire" anymore, but Virgil Trucks has proved that "the old man still has a little bit left."

The Detroit Tiger righthander, who made his living with a blazing fast ball before many of his teammates were creasing sheets unattended, teased the Boston Red Sox Monday with a sparkling 3-hitter.

The Tigers won the game, 4-1, belting Frank Sullivan after accumbling to the tall righthander 11 times in succession.

"I don't call it a 'fast ball' any more," laughed the beefy Alabaman with a struck, out 4th year in his first year in-organized baseball, back in 1941.

He spent four seasons in the minor leagues and since then has pitched nearly 2,500 innings of major league baseball.

"After so long," Trucks said after his victory Monday, "the old fast ball just isn't there. When I came up to the majors, I had a fast ball—and very little else.

"But when it goes, a pitcher goes, too—unless he can come up with something else to help him stick around for a while longer."

Trucks has come up with just about everything else. He throws a good curve, a slider, a changeup and the occasional knuckleball.

"Don't forget the slip pitch," he cautioned.

That's the one the aging Tiger hurler has "patented." He refuses to disclose the "secret" to it, and the Detroit catchers guard its delivery like a military secret.

"It's really not much," Trucks confesses, "but it helps out a little here and there."

Indian Hooks Record Salmon; Dresses 80 Lbs.

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)— Peter Tom, 78-year-old Tlingit Indian, has brought home what sportsmen believe is the largest king salmon ever taken on sports tackle. The fish dressed out at 80 pounds, six ounces.

Tom said the fish's frantic flailing loosed two screws on his reel and he lost part of the reel temporarily. He retrieved one screw from the bottom of his boat, replaced it and landed the fish after half an hour's fight.

The salmon, caught near Angoon, a coastal town, was estimated to weigh between 92 and 94 pounds when caught.

Montreal Junior Canadiens 5th Team In Eastern Ont. Senior A Loop

Are Named Ottawa Canadiens Will Play 16-Game Schedule; Loop Withdraws Western Idea

Ottawa Canadiens, known last year as the Montreal Junior Canadiens, will form the fifth club in the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" Hockey League this season.

Canadiens were admitted to the loop on a limited basis at a meeting held in Kingston last night. They will play four games each with Belleville, Kingston, Whitby and Cornwall.

Following admission of the colorful club, the league moved to withdraw its proposal to play an interlocking schedule with teams of the western Ontario senior "A" league. It also set an entry deadline for August 12. It is not expected the Pembroke Lumber Kings will forward an entry.

The Canadiens will play five other quota of eight home games in the Verdun Que., arena. Cornwall will play two of its home games, there, while Belleville, Whitby and Kingston will make the trip once. The remaining home games of the Canadiens will be played on opposition ice. In other words they will be seen in action three times in Belleville, Kingston and Whitby.

In addition the team will play a limited schedule in the professional October Hockey League and will enter Lurcier Cup play with Ontario junior "A" clubs.

Sam Pollock, manager of the Canadiens, stated, however, that the club which plays in the junior series will not be the club that plays in the Eastern League. The older players will round out the squad for the eastern Ontario schedule.

All games played in the Verdun arena will be televised in French.

CHANGE IN OFFICIALS

The league unanimously agree on a change in the officials situation. It moved that next season a referee and two linesmen will act as arbiters instead of two referees as heretofore. The linesmen will be local officials. This, it was stated will reduce expenses. Referees in senior "A" hockey draw higher stipends than those in the lower brackets.

Montreal Canadiens were represented by Mr. Pollock, Belleville by Drury Denyes, Whitby, Wren Blair and Kingston, Reg. Walton, and "Yip" Radley. Art Casterton and Les Douglas, Kingston, manager and coach were present with press and radio.

Ontario Hockey Association vice president Lorne Cook chaired the session which lasted until near midnight.

Vice proxy Cook stated that OHA president Frank Buckland gave instructions that the Pembrooks Lumber Kings were "not to October.

East-West Grid Exhibitions Dates Named

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian professional football teams pull the wraps off their 1956 talent tonight. Before the season officially opens Aug. 18 in Western Canada, coaches from Montreal to Vancouver should have a fairly good idea on their season's prospects.

Hamilton's Civic Stadium is site of the opening exhibition game when the Tiger-Cats, runners-up to Montreal Alouettes in the Big Four in 1955, meet Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Conference. From then until the Aug. 18 opening of the WIFU, every eastern and western pro club will have played at least two games.

The Big Four season opens Aug. 22.

Possibly the most eagerly-sought "for fun" game is scheduled for Montreal Aug. 8 when the Alouettes host to Edmonton Eskimos. The Esks, under coach Pop Ivy, have beaten coach Peahead Walker's big red team the last two Grey Cup finals.

Here's the exhibition games lineup between Big Four and WIFU teams:

July 31: Saskatchewan Roughriders at Hamilton; Aug. 2: Saskatchewan at Montreal; Aug. 3: Saskatchewan at Ottawa Rough Riders; Aug. 4: Edmonton Eskimos at British Columbia Lions; Aug. 8: Edmonton at Montreal; Hamilton at B.C. Lions; Toronto Argonauts at Calgary Stampeders; Aug. 10: Edmonton at Ottawa; Aug. 11: Calgary at Hamilton; Aug. 13: Toronto Argonauts at B.C. Lions; Aug. 14: Winnipeg at Hamilton; Aug. 16: Winnipeg at Montreal.

Brooklyn Swaps Rocky Nelson For Indians' Dale Mitchell

BROOKLYN (CP)—Rocky Nelson, a terror in the minor leagues but still unproven in the majors, went back to the organization that gave him his start Monday as Brooklyn Dodgers unloaded the power-hitting first baseman in favor of a lighter but more consistent hitter.

The Dodgers, with a collective pinch-hitting average of .083, sent Rocky to St. Louis Cardinals for the $10,000 waiver price and picked up outfielder Dale Mitchell from Cleveland Indians on a price slightly in excess of that figure, plus a minor-league player to be named later.

Nelson, who has powdered the ball with Montreal Royals of the International League for several seasons, was called up last June by the Dodgers, who installed him at first base and shifted Gil Hodges to the outfield.

The experiment failed all around. Hodges, the best fielding first baseman in the National League, was not as comfortable in his new position. And Nelson, apart from a few key hits, didn't provide enough at the plate to make the move worth while.

Relegated to a pinch-hitting role, his average fell steadily and at .208 in 21 games when Monday's deals were brought through.

At 34, Mitchell is three years older than Nelson, but he has been a major league since he broke in with the Indians in 1946 with a lifetime batting average of .314.

Used sparingly in pinch-hitting roles this season, the lefthanded-hitting outfielder is batting only .133 for Cleveland and isn't known to hit for distance.

But a Brooklyn official commented:

"He's fanned only four times this year. And that's just about what our pinch-hitters do in one game.

If things break better for Nelson, he could find a spot in the Cardinal lineup, where first-baseman Stan Musial has always expressed a preference for an outfield spot.

Since his first hitch with the Cardinals, Rocky has had trials with Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians before establishing himself as the International League's most valuable player at Montreal last year.

The Indians, meanwhile, replaced Mitchell on their roster by bringing back veteran outfielder Sam Mele, who had been released earlier when Cleveland recalled rookie Rocky Colavito from the minors. Mele, 33, had a .321 record for the Indians when they let him go.

In Montreal, Rene Lemyre, general manager of the Royals, said he "had been hoping to get Rocky back from the Dodgers, but I knew he had to be waived out of the league first."

Lemyre said he felt the Royals may benefit from the deal by obtaining a replacement as it is improbable that Brooklyn would let Nelson go solely for the $10,000 waiver price.

Rider Halfback Joins LA Rams

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coach Frank Filchock of Saskatchewan Roughriders says halfback Alex Bravo has reported to the training camp of Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Filchock made the announcement here when the team passed through Winnipeg on its way to eastern exhibition games.

Bravo figured to become the middle man in a hassle between the NFL and Western Interprovincial Football Union. The Rams had declared him their property on the option clause basis.

Linda Wagg Tosses No-Hitter Beats RCAF

Pitching sensationally, Linda Wagg, buried a no-hit no-run game here last night when the Belleville Combinettes blanked the Trenton RCAF lassies 15-0 in a scheduled Belleville District Ladies' Softball League game.

Miss Wagg had the flygals eating out of her hand throughout. She struck out three and walked none. Only one RCAF player reached first and that on an error.

The Combinettes pounded out 16 hits behind the Wagg hurl including four home runs. Eva Simmons drove out two baggers with Carolyn Brock, Shirley Fox getting one e Sandra Slade was good for a of singles.

Miss D. McKellar was on mound for the RCAF girls.

Combinettes lead the league w five wins and one defeat. T meet Brighton Wednesday n on the latter's diamond.

Stampeders Cut Eight Players

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders, of the Western Interprovincial Football Union cut eight players Monday, including the much bellyhooed halfback Aramis Dandoy of the University of Southern California.

Coach Jack Hanemier announced the cutting of five United States players and three Canadians when the club returned from three weeks of training at Nelson, B.C.

Dandoy, an outstanding player in the Rose Bowl game last New Year's, was cut because of continued injuries during training.

Others dropped from the squad were imports Joe Mastrogiovanni of Wyoming, Dick Toon of North Carolina State, Bill O'Hara of Lewis and Clarke College, Portland, Ore., and backfielder Pat Gleskiak of Montana and Canadians Harry Wilson, Ron Lane and Dave Tomlinson.

Red Sox Nip London 6-5

Brantford Red Sox moved to within one-half game of the badly-limping London Majors in the Senior Intercounty League race Monday night as they edged the league leaders 6-5 at London.

Brantford first baseman Luther Clifford unleashed two home runs last night to drive in four runs. Clifford, the league's leading batter, made his first circuit clout in the first inning scoring two teammates.

udio One Back in Top Ten ielsen Audience Rating List

By CHARLES MERCER

EW YORK (AP) — For the time in a couple of years dio One (CBS-TV, Mondays 10 EDT) has cracked the top of the Nielsen audience rating . It happened thanks chiefly the efforts of an intense and ilous young man named Robert ridge who took over the helm the dramatic series a few ks ago.

Theoretically the series is still nly known as Studio One Sum- Theatre, to differentiate it- hor apologetically—from the ular Studio One.

The emergence of Studio One ks is big in light of the fact that or two critics have inferred. the dramas Herridge has been ducing are not exactly light fare for hot weather. "Until summer ly is a cliche in television, a rather absurd argument by ana- ology" because the public likes and lettuce season, let's have no roast beef on our TV sets.

NO SUCH THING

But Herridge answers that se- ments don't apply.

"There is no such thing as light summer fare on television. As a producer you put on the best 52 shows a year you can, regardless of the season. Whether your play is comic, tragic or lyric in theme, the essential thing is that it be strong, rich, compelling theatre." That is just what he's been doing. And it's encouraging to see the public recognizing it.

Favorites Reach Third Round Canadian Tennis Tournament

By PETER BUCKLEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian lawn tennis championships, in the 57th annual run-through, move into their second day today after an opening that provided few tough matches and still fewer surprises.

The week-long tournament, which has attracted some 400 entries in 11 separate classifications, started Monday under a cloudless sky.

Officials at the Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, site of the first national championships on the west coast since 1947, had to juggle only nine courts in an attempt to knock the entry list down to manageable proportions.

Giving byes to 51 of those listed in the men's singles, the officials sent 76 unknowns through a first round in the early singles and then lined up the 13 survivors with 49 who got byes for an all-round-complete second round.

SEEDS ADVANCE

All eight seeded men advanced to the third round without dropping a set.

Top-ranked Bob Perry, lanky 23-year-old player from Los Angeles, walked over Terry Egan of Vancouver 6-0, 6-0 and is drawn to meet Ian Mosey of Vancouver in the third round today.

Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., 24-year-old veteran, is David Cooper who is ranked second, had a rough time handling rugged 16-year-old Mike Crane of Oakland, Calif., but displayed strong control and won 7-5, 6-4.

Davis Cupper Don Fontana of Toronto won 6-1, 6-3. Earl Baumgardener, 19-year-old star from Los Angeles, went to 6-4, 6-4, before knocking out his opposition, while sixth-placed Henri Rochon of Montreal won 6-2, 6-1.

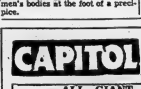
Glen Bassett of Santa Monica, Calif., and seventh, took his match 6-1, 6-1 while eighth-seeded Paul Willey of Vancouver ended up with a 6-0, 6-1 victory.

In women's singles 41 entries were down to the end of the second round.

Climbed Everest, Killed in Alps

VIEGE, Switzerland (AP) — Thomas Bourdillon, 32, a member of the British expedition that conquered Mount Everest in 1953, has been killed climbing a mountain in the Swiss Alps.

Bourdillon, a physicist and rocket expert, and R. M. Viney separated from a group of six other Britons climbing 11,200-foot Mount Aussertorn, in the Loetschberg Massif of southern Switzerland. Much will depend on



Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was thinking to herself serious, and she said to pop. After all, William, I'm not saying that our friends aren't all very nice, but I mean after all, the only way you can meet intriguing new people is by travelling, so perhaps we really ought to go somewhere for a week or 2 this summer, don't you agree William?

A hundred and one per cent, my dear, pop said. I can think of dozens of intriguing people we met in our travelling days, for instance that friendly little cuppie we met on the boat cruise. Ah, what warm hearted little people. They followed us around like puppy dogs the whole 3 weeks of the cruise. Even when we locked ourselves in our stateroom they came up to tap tapping on the door, bless their friendly little hearts, I don't recall their name, but I'll never forget the cute baby legs; how his wife never stopped chewing gum from morning till night, he said, and ma said, Now William, you mustn't judge a rule by its exceptions.

Do you remember Mr. and Mrs. Guffett? pop said. They made us play bridge with them on our last trip to Sunrise Lake, and I'm sure we improved their game, because nobody could of made 3 a worse. Showing them was quite an education, and how she used to laff at his old minstrel jokes till the tears came to everybody's eyes, he said, and ma said, Oh, hush and never mind. I think I'll just use the vacation money to buy myself some really nice summer clothes and enjoy them with all the comforts of home, she said.

They failed to return Sunday. Their companions later found both men's bodies at the foot of a precipice.

AT THE BELLE — The town marshal declares his intention of taking over the local boardinghouse lock, stock and mortgage in its beautiful owner in this scene from the thrilling epic on the early law enforcers in "The Proud Ones". Robert Ryan and Virginia Mayo are co-starred with Jeffrey Hunter, Robert Middleton and Walter Brennan. "The Proud Ones" is playing for the last times today at the Belle Theatre.

Study what the ace master bridge players do in a title match and you may come to some odd conclusions. Times are when it looks as if they have too much confidence in a partner or none at all.

The recent Vanderbilt cup title went to a deserving team of top performers. But as usual among stars, some of their breaks seemed to come from acts unworthy of dubs. Take this deal:

NORTH
♠ 9 5 4
♥ 5 3
♦ K Q 10 9 6 4
♣ 10 5

WEST
♠ Q 10 7 2
♥ Q 10 7 2
♦ 8 7 5 2
♣ K J 9 6

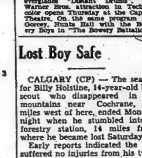
EAST
♠ K J 10 8 7 3
♥ J 8 4
♦ A J
♣ A 4

SOUTH
♠ A 6 2
♥ A K 9 6
♦ 9 3
♣ Q 8 7 6 3

This spread was one of those sent me by Al Sheinwold of the New York World Telegram. He reports the bidding as follows:

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	2 ♣	Double	Pass
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	Pass

My students learn that south has the makings for an opening bid of one. As a defender he should pass with a singleton in clubs. It is an order for north to bid something if west does not intervene.



All right, all right. So an expert does not always do what a novice is taught to do. So, he bids two clubs to keep opponents from knowing his strength. Or for some other reason best known to himself.

When west doubles two clubs for penalty, south learns he is in bad shape with clubs as trumps. So, a student learns to redouble in hope that his partner will rescue to his best suit.

But north isn't so an expert will not stoop to such tactics elementary. Instead, he scores himself with a bid of two hearts. It is a hope for a safer haven and gives partner a choice.

When this is also doubled by west, is north an innocent bystander? Is he waiting to see how tricky south can get to theft mutual licking? Is he saving all those diamonds for his best girl?

By passing, north lets his side go down four tricks doubled. In this some hidden form of brilliance? If so, gimme a dumb palooka.

Lost Boy Safe

CALGARY (CP) — The search for Billy Holstine, 14-year-old boy scout who disappeared in the mountains near Cochrane, 20 miles west of here, ended Monday night when he stumbled into a forestry station, 14 miles from where he became lost Saturday.

Early reports indicated the boy suffered no injuries from his two-day wanderings through the rugged terrain.

Ex-Western Star Tim McCoy Returns to Once-Familiar Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "After you've been a star, there's nothing just to do parts in pictures."

This was Tim McCoy talking of his return to film acting after a 14-year absence. The famed cowboy actor, who never played anything but a starring role in films until recently, commented that his own feelings had nothing to do with it.

"Heavens, I don't mind playing supporting roles," he said. "The thing that worries me is how it will affect other people.

"Except for a light little group of pioneers, I consider most of today's movie makers newcomers. I fear that when they consider me for a part they'll say, 'Tim McCoy? Why, I remember him as a kid. He must be 70 years old and confined to a wheelchair. Or they might think I will ham up the picture because I come from the old days in pictures.

I can testify that Tim is no invalid. He presented many figures when he arrived for lunch in his gabardine suit, boots and broad-brimmed white hat. I was astonished when he confessed he was 62.

Tim returned to films to play a general who makes peace with the Indians in Run of the Arrow. The role should have come easily for him. He was a real western cowboy-man—and a general.

He had the temporary rank of brigadier - general at 29, serving as adjutant-general in Wyoming. His advent to movies was freakish.

Paramount was filming the western spectacle, The Covered Wagon, and a location man had fouled up the negotiations with Indian extras. Tim, who could speak sign language with several tribes, was enlisted to help.

He did so well that Paramount invited him to bring a bunch of Redskins to appear in a prologue to the picture at the Grauman's Egyptian. The stunt was a success, and he repeated it in Lone Jack and Paris.

"When I got back, MGM decided to cash in on all the publicity I had gotten and signed me to star in western pictures," he

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, August 1, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A strong, inspiring day for essential matters, occupational duties, matters concerning home and family. Extremes and extravagance should be avoided, however.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Unique ideas and plans equally sponsored with familiar interests. This can be an unusual and responsive period. Have high aims but don't overdo. Think of health.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — An exciting influences now and perhaps this is well: it may keep you from overdoing mentally or physically. Day is friendly for all wholesome and necessary interests, healthy exercise and travel.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Peak rays for you, with your Moon, the Sun and Uranus in auspicious array. Delicate, artistic matters, unusual professions, painting, acting, journalism, writing, caring for children favored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — As similarly favored as Cancer, you should chalk up this day as one of your best and be reasonably productive. Recreation activities, outdoor sports, concerts honored.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — A different and pleasant recreation could be of great good to you now. Taboo worry, extravagance, overdoing in anything. Good reading a tonic.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — This will depend upon the extent of your schedule and the urgency of it. Rays favor routine matters, difficult work, railroading, building roads, domestic and children's affairs.

You born today are stimulating, eager to achieve, willing to try something unusual if it shows promise, value. You have a bright, buoyant personality, are sometimes quick of temper but are equally ready to forget and forgive; can be reached through the heart rather than by being "bossed." You are courageous, honorable, loyal to country, home, and high principles. Curb a tendency toward extravagance, living beyond your income. Pray when troubled.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — The position of Mars and Saturn stress a need for quiet action, calm judgment. There's no need to rush or overrun. If consistently steady in tempo, you will accomplish more without strain.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Your admonition now is to slow down sensibly, make time for proper planning and allocation of tasks so as to get the most from your efforts. Fine rays for labor, love, new home interests.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — A quieting, restful day if you choose to have it so. Remember, you can achieve as much in this sort of way — and keep health better, nerves calmer — than by trying to maintain a hectic, exciting pace.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Uranus is one of the well aspected planets on this mixed sort of day. If you are alert, ambitious and don't daily over non-essentials, you should have quick success and time for leisure as well.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Much will depend upon your own attitude. Be pleasant, responsive and beneficial on the day. Don't expect unreasonable returns from efforts or investments, however. Day will yield gain in proportion to endeavor.

Ontario Unlikely To Soon Accept Hospital Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario, pleading financial difficulties, may indefinitely postpone participation in a national hospital insurance scheme, it was learned at Queen's Park Monday.

Spokesmen for the provincial government said Health Minister Martin's recent prediction that Ontario will soon accept the federal government's proposals on the scheme is without foundation. They denied that Premier Frost indicated, during talks with Mr. Martin, that Ontario is agreeable to the scheme.

Mr. Frost, they said, feels strongly that there are provincial problems more pressing than health insurance and would be reluctant to undertake participation at a time when he believes Ontario is not getting sufficient financial aid from the federal government under tax - rental agreements.

Under the federal government's health proposal, Ottawa would assume half the cost of the initial stages of the plan. It would only go into effect if a majority of the provinces representing at least half the country's population participate. This would require either Ontario or Quebec to join. Thus far, only the three Far - West provinces have accepted.

Aircraft Firm Answers Critic

LONDON (CP) — The Gloster Aircraft company has issued a statement replying to criticism by Canadian-born Bill Waterton, former chief test pilot for the company.

It says the "grave allegations of negligence and incompetence" made by Waterton in his book The Quick and the Dead are not "substantiated by the facts."

It adds that Waterton was fired by the company "since he showed a "marked disinclination to continue the necessary research flight testing" of the delta wing Javelin aircraft.

The Edmonton-born pilot, a former RAF squadron leader, said in his book that the company repeatedly ignored his warnings about the Javelin's control system and his suggestions for modifications until one of Waterton's assistants was killed in a crash during a test flight.

Waterton added that senior officials of the company and RAF officers at the supply ministry had told him not to be too critical because "we've got to get some of these Javelins out."

Keep it under your hat!

The bright idea of a New York Fire Commissioner gives us an idea, too. He liked his dress cap; disliked the regulation fire helmet — but he recognized the ever-present danger of falling debris. So he simply had an inner shield of aluminum made and fitted into the cap.

And that's where our idea comes in! A lightweight aluminum shield that would fit under a wayward husband's fedora and save him many a skull abrasion when he sneaked in late at night to a rolling-pin reception by the little woman. Ah! aluminum, the useful metal!
